TO HELP "WIN THE PEACE"

There is under consideration in Washington this week an important piece of legislation, designed to keep 20 million American automobiles rolling for the duration of the war, to which, we believe, entirely too little attention has been paid by the public.

This bill—it is called the Ellender-Patman Tire Conservation Bill—offers definite, sensible solutions to the problem of how to keep the nation's vital motor transport moving in the face of a rubber shortage. This would be accomplished by retreading 30 million tires every year with all-reclaim-rubber capping stock; and to those who point to the shortage of rubber and say it cannot be done, the Rubber Manufacturers' Association has said that it can be done. The bill would stabilize tire prices and release for immediate sale those odd-sized and lower-level tires which are obviously of no value to the war effort.

There is a further provision in this bill, which, it seems to us, is even more important than its other sections, from the standpoint of "winning the peace" which must follow the winning of the war. Designed to contribute to the maintenance of free enterprise, this measure provides that, for the duration of the war, all tire sales and service be turned over to independent tire and gasoline dealers, so that these "little businesses," by getting all the business that is left, may be sustained until Victory brings a lifting of tire sale restrictions.

This would mean that the rubber company-owned factory outlets and the big oil-company-owned super service stations would turn retail tire business over to these "little fellows," during the war, retaining for themselves only the wholesaling function.

But it is important to point out that this measure would hurt nobody. In the first place, these big companies are prospering through war contract work, and don't need the comparatively small amount of business represented by tire sales.

But beyond that, it is a fact that both the oil companies and the rubber companies do most of their business through independent dealers—so it would mean, for them, simply concentrating on wholesaling, so their own independent dealers could exist. Doesn't that seem fair?

The Recorder urges you to support these Tire Conservation Bills. There is entirely too little attention paid by Washington to the maintenance of free enterprise. We must make every effort to see that it does not disappear.

OIL AND RUBBER

To argue that the oil industry is trying to prevent the manufacture of synthetic rubber from any process whatsoever, whether it involves the use of petroleum or not, amounts to arguing that this industry is hell-bent on its own destruction.

The situation is simple enough. The very life of the oil industry depends upon the maintenance of motor car transportation. The industry has big war orders, of course—but civilian consumption of gasoline and lubricants are still the foundation of its business. And when the war is over, the motor car will represent its principal market. It is clear to oil men, as well as the rest of us, that the industry can't continue to sell to motorists unless they can obtain tires.

Even if every ounce of synthetic rubber were manufactured from petroleum products the money value to the oil industry would me microscopic in the light of its total business. And, in many instances, the industry is operating government-owned synthetic rubber plants without profit. From the purely commercial point of view, rubber simply represents a means to an end so far as the oil industry is concerned—and the end is the sale of gas and lubricants. It is in the oil business—not the tire business.

There are many synthetic rubber formulas, and some involve the use of petroleum, and some do not. Only the chemists and the engineers can decide which is best, quickest and most practical. The position of the oil industry is one of complete cooperation with any program which promises to solve the critical rubber problem. It is devoting all its resources and facilities toward that goal.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 27

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JOSEPH: AN EXAMPLE OF FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 45:1-15; 47:11, 12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4:32.

Forgiveness, opening the way for the restoration of fellowship and the showing of kindness, brought the story of Joseph and his brethren to a happy ending. Under the good hand of God the story which began with tragedy is brought to a conclusion of blessing.

Following the earnest plea of Judah, the heart of Joseph could no longer withhold itself from the full expression of affection and devotion to his family.

I. Love Overcomes Fear (vv. 1-4).

Joseph tenderly shielded the family troubles from the eyes and ears of strangers by sending out the Egyptians. It was the first step of consideration which paved the way for reconciliation. How often just the opposite is done—airing family affairs before the world, and humiliating those who may be in the wrong, thus making it difficult for them to admit their guilt.

Then, too, this was a moment too tender and delicate to be seen by outsiders. The tears of a strong man like Joseph mean a deep movement of spirit—a solemn and often a sacred moment.

It should also be noted that the brothers were afraid, and well they might be, because of their sin against Joseph. After almost 50 years these unrepentant men found themselves face to face with the one whom they had supposed they had disposed of, and they knew their sin had found them out. It always does, sooner or later, but inevitably.

How great and noble was the forgiving love of Joseph; an example to us, especially appropriate and needed in a world of hate and bitterness.

II. Grace Overrules Sin (vv. 5-8).

The guilt of these men was none the less and Joseph could not remove it, but he encouraged them by showing how God had used their evil devices to work out His own good pleasure. He can make the wrath of man to praise Him (Ps. 76:10).

It is worth stressing again that in the very hour when the prospects for Joseph's future usefulness seemed ruined, God was opening the door to the greatest experiences of his life and was preparing him to serve the thousands whose lives were saved by his wisdom and ability in the years of famine.

Nothing is more important in the life of a child of God than to be yielded to His will, unmoved by circumstances, abiding His time, responding to His guidance whether it be by the opening or closing of doors, prosperity or adversity. And herein is the marvel of it all—even sin may be overruled by God's grace for His own glory. That does not invite anyone to sin that grace may abound (Rom. 6:1, 2), but it does offer encouragement to the one who has fallen, that God can redeem the years that the locust have eaten (Joel 2:25).

Our lesson also sets us an example of how true forgiveness acts, something we need. So often when forgiveness is asked or granted there is an "I can forgive but I can't forget" attitude, which means that while hostilities have ceased, at least temporarily, there is no real friendship or the disposition to show kindness. Is there any real forgiveness at all in such an attitude of heart and mind? We fear not.

III. Kindness Provides the Best (vv. 9-15; 47:11, 12).

It might have been enough to send food and a kind greeting with the brothers to their own land, but love does not seek the minimum expression of its feeling. It asks not how little, but how much can I give or do.

Bringing his aged father and brothers into the land of plenty was not enough, Joseph also gave to them the "best of the land" (47:11). His thoughtful consideration in sending for his father (Gen. 46:5-7) was part of the same piece of kindness.

Joseph puts to shame the modern "hard-boiled" attitude toward needy and aged members of the family. In their eager and relentless pursuit of fame or riches, many ignore or trample upon the members of their own families. Often they are ashamed of the broken bodies, the humble apparel, the broken or uneducated speech of their parents. They fear lest their new-found friends in the circle of wealth and supposed "position" will think them strange or ridiculous. God pity the man or woman who is ashamed of a humble or aged father and mother!

Joseph, who really had an exalted position gained by merit and by the blessing of God, never forgot his place before God as a son in the family and as a brother. Let us consider him and do likewise.

FALL FISHING IN KY. REPORTED GOOD

Fall fishing is coming in to its own again and reports being received in the Division of Game and Fish offices here indicate that catches are good in practically every section of the state.

Rains have been scattered and streams have cleared within the past few days. Anglers should take advantage of the next few weeks to get in their best fishing of the year before winter sets in.

Floods destroyed more than half of all vegetables in Perry county and left many families with no gardens.

Fifteen farmers in Hancock county are keeping a record of their returns from priming tobacco.

This Week On The Home Front

With the desperate demands of war taking up every scrap of metal that can be found—and with our freedom from Nazi conquest depending on whether or not that metal can be found—it is vital that our metal products be conserved.

George A. Moore, Priorities Field Service district manager in Cleveland, late last week told a meeting of merchants that every pound of metal diverted from war use would lengthen the conflict by just so many days and the American casualty lists by just so many names. Then, speaking of plumbing and heating appliances, he added:

"If anyone thinks that the people do not sense the inconsistency in reading one page of their newspaper an article in which their President urges them to scour their homes for every bit of useless scrap that can be found in order to manufacture a maximum of steel to win the war, and then finding on another page a large advertisement of some prominent merchant urging them to come to his place of business to purchase articles made out of good usable steel for purposes far removed from winning of the war, he is guilty of a gross underestimate of their intelligence.

"And if anyone believes that there isn't a growing irritation over this—an irritation that will swell into a roar of anger when the casualty lists begin to mount—against these merchants who display many flags before their store, but who are actively pushing the sale of every restricted article in their stock, he is harboring a very dangerous delusion."

His point was that the WPB placed in the hands of merchants the responsibility for conserving the supply and that many of them had found ways to press their sales and still stay within the letter of the law—even going so far as to advertise the restricted products while using the words "sold only in accordance with government regulations."

Then he called on the merchants to sell as few of the restricted items as they could and so observe the spirit of the war-necessitated regulations.

Simplification schedules have been issued to cover saws, axes, hatchets, adzes and light hammers.

• • •

War expenditures for August were $5,182,000,000, including Treasury disbursements and RFC expenditures.

• • •

Fifty-four more defense rental areas have been designated.

• • •

The new all-purpose ration book has been sent to the printer. It is the first of four designed to provide a swift means for rationing any article almost at the instant a shortage is foreseen. It contains 192 coupons on eight pages. Your sugar ration books will be known as No. 2.

• • •

Green tea drinkers are going to have to learn to like black tea. The green tea supply has been frozen. Upstate New Yorkers and those in the farm areas of the north central states drink the most green tea.

• • •

Authority to ration farm machinery and equipment has been subdelegated to the secretary of agriculture.

• • •

Dried prunes and raisins will be placed under price ceiling at the grower level.

Coupon rationing of fuel oil in 30 eastern and mid-western states probably will begin about Oct. 15, but will cover all oil used after Oct. 1. Until and including Sept. 30, the average householder may purchase up to 275 gallons without coupons.

• • •

The OPA has ordered more vigorous grading requirements of both beef and veal by every meat packer. Choice-grade (AA) meat must now be inspected by Department of Agriculture graders. Action will be taken on the three lower grades, if necessary.

• • •

Hominy feeds have been exempted from the General Maximum Price Regulation.

• • •

Apple butter prices will be adjusted upward approximately 10 per cent from current maximums at the packer level.

• • •

Reported violations of price ceilings on school supplies by school systems which sell supplies to pupils is under OPA scrutiny. Markups, reductions in count or quality were charged. Schools facing dealer markups above the March level should complain to OPA.

• • •

First rent-control enforcements suits have been filed in Cleveland against two prominent apartment house owners.

• • •

The OPA has turned down in a blanket order 33 applications from 26 packer-sellers of beef or veal carcasses of wholesale cuts asking for upward adjustments in their ceiling prices.

• • •

Authority to ration meat to consumers has been delegated to OPA by the WPB. Poultry, game and lard are expected.

• • •

Ceiling prices for fall and winter knitted underwear have been set.

• • •

Nationwide conservation of chemical fertilizers to save nitrogen for war purposes has been ordered by WPB. Fertilizers using chemical nitrogen cannot be used on grains sown this fall, if they are to be harvested as grain. Golf courses, cemeteries, lawns and shrubs don't get any.

• • •

Closing of one district branch (Youngstown) and abandonment of plans to open 10 others in this five-state region have been announced by OPA. Limitation of funds is responsible.

• • •

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' index of the cost-of-living stands at 117.4 on the basis of the 1935-39 level, approximately 19 per cent higher than in August, 1939. The cost of foods not subject to price ceilings shot up nearly 10 per cent from mid-May to mid-August.

• • •

To provide technical assistance in developing specific standards for inclusion in OPA regulations where quality is a factor, OPA has set up a standard division.

GOOD LIGHT MEANS BETTER GRADES NOW AND A BETTER JOB LATER

Sight is the most precious of the five senses. Eighty-seven per cent of all that children learn is through their eyes and their ability to fill useful jobs and enjoy the blessings of life depends so much on good eyesight.

You want your child to have every advantage, so see that he has plenty of good light for home study. Time and again it has been proved that good light helps children learn more rapidly . . . results in better grades.

Put an I. E. S. Study Lamp on the table where your child does his homework. And have good light elsewhere throughout your home—well shaded and free from glare. Light all of each room, too, not just part of it.

Good light today is so inexpensive that no one can afford the cost of poor light. Protect priceless eyesight. Enjoy better light tonight.

Homework's a snap with an I.E.S. Study Lamp equipped with 100-watt bulb. Its white glass diffusing bowl sifts out harmful glare ... provides both direct and indirect light in abundance. Ask for a free trial.

Waste Fats Money Helps Finance

Los Angeles — Housewives of Southern California are contributing a large part of the money they receive for waste fats to Civilian Defense activities.

Cans have been placed on meat dealers' counters where the housewife or the butcher may drop the nickel or dime received for the fats. Dealers report that a large percentage of waste fats receipts go into these cans because in this manner the women contribute both the grease and money to the war effort and the OCD is enabled to buy many necessary supplies.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. FULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814 Main Madison, Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthrists and many other ailments. Altho when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are in directly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

W. M. U. NEWS

The W. M. U. of Union Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 9th. The meeting was called to order at 2:15 by our president, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy with the singing of W. M. U. hymn "The Light of The World is Jesus" and repeating of the Watchword, with opening prayer by Mrs. Sally Huey. A brief business meeting followed with good reports given by all group leaders.

It was with deep regret that the resignation of Mrs. Elaine Greenup was accepted. Mrs. J. A. Fothergill was appointed to fill this vacancy for remainder of this year.

Motion was made and carried to make a contribution to the Baptist Camp at Clear Creek. Plans were laid for our Personal Service Work to be carried out on last Wednesday of September.

Due to the illness of Mrs. Greenup, our afternoon program was under the direction of Mrs. Alma Head and was taken from Royal Service. Our devotional was brought by Mrs. McWethy and was taken from Ex. 24:9-11, The Covenant at Sinai. Singing of hymns "My Faith Looks Up to Thee and Sweet Hour of Prayer" followed with parts of program given by the following members: "Faith" by Miss Lucy Newman; "Soul Winning" by Mrs. Anna Smith; "Work In Our Cities" by Mrs. Ray Newman; "Work In New Orleans" by Mrs. Mrs. Alma Head; prayer was offered by Mrs. J. A. Fothergill and an interesting talk was given by Mrs. Sally Hicks; "Empowered by The Holy Spirit" by Mrs. Edith Hedges.

There were 15 members and 1 visitor present for this meeting, and it was hoped that more friends and members will be able to attend when we meet again on Wednesday, October 14th.

Mrs. W. S. Friend, Pub. Chmn.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Two Big Features

"What's Cookin'" starring the Andrew Sisters will be on the full length features shown at the Gayety, tonight and Friday. This is a splendid picture, filled with musical hits. Don't miss it.

Plus

Edmund MacDonald is still wondering if deer can shoot. MacDonald, who plays a featured role in "Castle in the Desert," the new 20th Century Fox hit featuring Sidney Toler as Charlie Chan, was given a day off recently and decided to go deer hunting.

MacDonald was busy getting his rifle out when he heard a loud report and the thud of a bullet into a nearby tree.

With that Mr. MacDonald decided it was better to buy his venison and returned home.

SATURDAY

Skinny Ennis, popular band leader featured in Republic's latest Judy Canova starrer, "Sleepytime Gal" organized a Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps when he was a lad in grade school.

This started his professional career, which has brought him singular success as a band leader and radio and screen personality.

He appears with Bob Hope on the Pepsodent show, and has meanwhile appeared in numerous films.

In "Sleepytime Gal" he has a real-life role, playing the harried orchestra leader, beset with all the tribulations that traditionally upset band leaders.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Robert Benchley has the time of his life in his new Paramount comedy, "Take a Letter, Darling," co-starring Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray. As a tired business executive he has an office equipped with more than a score of parlor games with which he whiles away the time. He lets his partner, Rosalind Russell, run their million-dollar advertising agency and she does it very well, with the help of her private secretary, Fred MacMurray.

There's plenty of romantic trouble, however, when MacMurray and Miss Russell find it difficult to keep their minds on their work.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

A spotlighted feature of "Broadway," Universal's new film adaptation of the hit play of the same title, is an exotic tango featuring George Raft and Janet Blair. It is executed to the stirring beat of "La Cumparsita."

Raft is noted as one of the foremost dancers of films, having been previously starred in "Bolero" and "Rhumba." In "Broadway," he enacts the role of a night club hoofer in "the roaring '30s." He has Pat O'Brien in the role of "the toughest cop on Broadway," as his co-star.

VERONA

The local school starts into its third week and the first two weeks have gone very nicely. The P.-T. A. plans to begin serving this week. They will be glad to receive donations of any kind from the patrons of the community.

Misses Gertrude and Irene Ryan have resumed their high school work in Newport.

Miss Mildred King went to Lexington Sunday to begin her college work at the University of Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shetter are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Roberts.

Miss Evelyn Coffman is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Ransom, before returning to Richmond to enter school.

The S. S. picnic was a great success, with plenty of food, games, contests and ice cream. We regret there were so few present.

Mrs. John Boyer and children spent the week-end with her parents at Worthville.

Miss Althea Marie Fooks delightfully entertained her classmates with a party on Saturday afternoon. Everyone enjoyed the games, ice cream and cake.

The Sunbeams are urged not to forget their meeting at the church on Saturday afternoon.

LOWER GUNPOWDER

Miss Bobbie Huff spent from Friday until Sunday with her grandfather Sebree, while Mrs. Sebree was called to the bedside of her brother Everett Ryle, who underwent an operation at Christ Hospital, Friday afternoon for gall stones and appendicitis. He was reported to be doing nicely Saturday afternoon. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Harold Love and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Huff and daughter spent the day with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Sebree.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ryle spent Sunday with Mr and Mrs. Tom Huff.

Our revival will start the first Sunday in October with Bro. Montgomery in charge. All are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Sebree spent the day Friday with their daughter, Mrs. Ivaree Huff, of Florence.

President Issues Fire Prevention Week Proclamation

The following proclamation has been issued by the President of the United States establishing Fire Prevention Week beginning October 4th:

"Any loss of human life, any interference with production, any loss of critical materials hinders and impedes our war effort.

Uncontrolled fire, even in normal times, is a national menace. It kills or disables thousands of our people and destroys a significant portion of our national wealth each year. Today, when every machine is being taxed to its fullest productive capacity, when new hands are working with unfamiliar tools, and when agents of our enemies are seeking to hinder us by every possible means, it is essential that destructive fire be brought under stricter control in order that victory may be achieved at the earliest possible date.

Nothing less than the united vigilance and effort of all the people will suffice to break the grip of this menace. Fire hazards everywhere must be detected at once and eliminated. Loss of life and property from blaze and smoke must be reduced in every State of the Union. Prevention of all uncontrolled fires must be our goal.

Now, THEREFORE, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 4, 1942, as Fire Prevention Week; and I earnestly request the people of the country to give special heed to the importance of taking active measures during that week, and throughout the year, to conserve our human and material resources from the destructive toll of fire; and I direct the Office of Civilian Defense and other appropriate Federal agencies to initiate programs for emphasizing the importance of attaining these objectives. I also desire to enlist the cooperation of State and local governments, of educators and civic groups, and of the press, the radio, and the motion-picture industry, with a view of promoting widespread realization of the dangers of fire and knowledge of the methods of controlling it.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed."

Done at the City of Washington this fifth day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

(Signed)
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.
(Seal)
By the President:
CORDELL HULL,
Secretary of State.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST
Sam Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 10:00 a. m. C. W. T. Tommy Stevens, Supt.

The Bible School is experiencing a substantial increase in attendance. An interesting variation in the program is provided by the specials given by the various classes.

The old and familiar Church bell was heard Sunday, Sept. 13 for the first time in many years. Its beautiful tone seemed an omen of better things to come. We are indebted to Bro. Bob Williamson and Charlie Brown for this good work.

The good women of the Church have nearly completed their work on the auditorium interior and have raised a substantial sum through direct contribution to finance the work. We shall soon have one of the best looking and equipped rural church buildings in this area. Thanks to all the volunteer workers. If you haven't seen the fine work we are doing, Sunday morning would be a good time to investigate.

We look forward with earnest expectations to our day of Homecoming, now definitely set for the first Lord's Day in October. We have secured special talent for the occasion in Bro. Ben Allison and wife, who will have charge of the afternoon session following the basket dinner at noon. Bro. Allison and Mrs. Allison are missionaries from Manila, P. I. and were in this country and preparing to return when the Phillipines were attacked. Mrs. Allison's mother and father are among the missing in Manila at the present time, having been missionaries there for over forty years. Bro. Ben will have his movie projector and will show many interesting scenes from this center of world interest. Mrs. Allison will bring a full set of native costumes and other interesting items. This is the chance of a life time for this community to hear a speaker of international repute. Put this date on your must calendar.

LOCAL PASTOR TO LEAVE POST

WILL TAKE UP NEW DUTIES AS MACHINE SPECIALIST IN ARMY AIR CORPS—REVIVAL MEETING POSTPONED.

The rather sudden news came Tuesday morning that Rev. Roy A. Johnson, pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church, had enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps, and that he must report for duty at Ft. Thomas Induction Center on Monday, October 5th.

Rev. Johnson had tried on several occasions to enlist in the Army, but had been rejected, and his name was placed on the reserve list until such time as he could be used. He received word Tuesday morning to report in Cincinnati for his examinations for a machine specialist and was successful in passing both his mental and physical exams Tuesday. He will report at Ft. Thomas Induction Center Monday for his final check-up and induction into the U. S. Army.

The local revival meeting, which was scheduled to start on this same day, October 5th, will be postponed for the present, and Sunday, October 4th will be Rev. Johnson's final messages as pastor of Burlington Church.

This news comes as a considerable shock to everyone throughout the County, as Rev. Johnson was loved and respected by everyone who had the pleasure of making his acquaintance. He not only was a splendid minister and community leader, but was an outstanding man and took a very active part in all community activities.

He will be greatly missed by his church—in fact, by all the churches in the county, as he was a sincere Christian leader and always ready and willing to be of service to his fellowman. But this is war, and knowing Rev. Johnson as we do, we know that he feels his country needs his services now and he is ready to take his place and render whatever services are most needed in these trying hours of world conflict.

EUROPEAN CORN BORER REPORTED

IN VARIOUS SECTIONS OF COUNTY—FARMERS IN INFECTED AREAS SHOULD DISPOSE OF CORN STALKS.

The European Corn Borer is wide spread in Boone County, according H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The positive identification of the borer by Dr. W. A. Price, State Entomologist of the Experiment Station. and Mr Encil Dean, State Seed Inspector, on visiting several farms in the county on last Monday removed the suspicion of farmers over a wide section of the county.

Dr. Price warned farmers not to become alarmed as farmers are still getting sixty or more bushels of corn per acre in the worst infected areas of Northern Ohio. The successful growing of corn, however, does involve certain specific changes in our corn production practices. These practices will be discussed by Dr. Price in a county meeting with farmers in either late November or early January.

Farmers who have infected fields are urged to disposed of all the corn stalks above ground by either putting the corn in the silo, shredding the entire stalk and cows using it for feed and beeding, or by burning or turning under the old stalks and cobs completely before May 1st.

Several additional clean up practices that will be helpful will be discussed at a County meeting. Samples of the European corn borer larvae can be seen at the County Agent's office.

Karl Keim, of Florence was a brief caller at this office Monday afternoon of this week.

Farmers Interested In Local Farm Bureau

Many farmers have expressed interest in a Boone County Farm Bureau organization during the past several months, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Their interest has not been toward any commercial angle but purely for an active farmers' organization working for general agricultural improvement.

Recently a representative of the State Farm Bureau Federation visited with several leading farmers and found local interest most favorable. Plans are being made to hold a county meeting around the middle of November to determine if county organization plans should be completed this year.

SPEED LIMITS SET 35 M. P. H.

FOR ALL RUBBER-TIRED VEHICLES—NATION-WIDE RATIONING OF GASOLINE PLANNED NOVEMBER 22.

Leon Henderson, Price Administration, announced Saturday night nation-wide rationing of gasoline will begin November 22 and the nation's 27,000,000 motorists thereafter will be required to submit their tires for Federal inspection every 60 days.

Simultaneously, Joseph B. Eastmen, Defense Transportation Chief ordered speeds of all rubber-tired vehicles in the United States limited to 35 miles an hour.

Eastman requested owners and operators of tank trucks to limit their operations in general to short hauls of 100 miles or less.

Extension of the gasoline rationing plan now in effect in 17 Eastern States to the remainder of the nation, compulsory tire inspection, and the thirty-five-mile speed limit, are designed to save rubber and tires. They were among the recommendations made by Bernard M. Baruch's Rubber Investigating Committee.

Owners of cars in the present unrationed area will be required to register and will receive a basic gasoline ration for their cars to allow 2,880 miles of travel a year based on gasoline consumption of 15 miles to the gallon.

Additional mileage up to 470 miles a month may be obtained by the motorist who can show his original allotment is insufficient to meet occupational needs, who shows either that he has formed a car-sharing club to keep his car filled to capacity while in use, or there is no other means of transportation available to him.

In ordering the thirty-five limit, Eastman announced he would request all state Governors to put such a limitation in effect in their states by proclamation or otherwise, and to enforce it strictly.

The speed limit becomes effective October 1 for all vehicles except those operated by common carriers in scheduled regular route service. For those in the latter group—trucks and busses operated on regular schedules over regular routes—the order becomes effective October 15.

After the ceremony, Mrs. Ingram returned here to continue her duties as teacher for the present. Plans for the future were not made known.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET

The regular all-day meeting of the Lloyd Memorial Society will be held at the home in Florence, on Saturday, October 3rd. All members are urged to attend.

NATION-WIDE OBSERVANCE

OF NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK SET OCTOBER 1-8—WARTIME EFFORTS STRESSED BY ALL NEWSPAPERS.

In war, as in peace, the American newspaper measures up to its responsibilities as a valuable, essential American institution. In war, as in peace, its purpose is that of service to people of the nation.

These are war times and each newspaper worthy of the name and deserving of support is doing its full share in the war effort which will determine the future of freedom as we have known freedom.

With its every issue, it builds morale for people of its community and sends assurance to the men of the armed forces in camps and on the fighting fronts that the folks at home are back of them.

In its every issue it stresses the "must" of that patriotic support of the government, that unity of action, so that the battle for freedom may be won.

It leads and encourages the gathering of the scrap so essential to our production of war equipment for our men on the battle fronts. It promotes the assistance the government must have from all of us in financing the war thru the purchase of war bonds. It has led and promoted the needed assistance of the Red Cross and the USO.

Each newspaper, whether large or small, daily or weekly, has done all of these things, and more, without compensation, as a part of the service it offers as an American institution. Without the influence exerted by the press of the nation, we would be but an incoheslve mass, a ship without a rudder, a flock without a shepherd.

With such a record of service, it is proper and altogether fitting for the people of America to pause for a time to consider he value of the newspaper to all of us collectively and to each as an individual. It is for that purpose that Newspaper Week was established.

HAMILTON FAIR OCTOBER 9TH

IS ANNUAL EVENT AT SCHOOL—INTERESTING PROGRAM IS PLANNED WITH MANY EXHIBITS EXPECTED.

The 4-H Community Fair at the Hamilton School will be held on Friday, October 9th, according to an announcement made this week. The fair is an annual event for this community and has always been well attended.

SCRAP IS VITAL TO WAR PROGRAM

SAYS CHARLES H. MULLICAN IN TALK AT BURLINGTON, FRIDAY—STATE QUOTA IS 100 POUNDS PER PERSON.

Speaking to a small but enthusiastic crowd at Burlington courthouse Friday afternoon, Charles H. Mullican, Louisville advertising executive stated that "scrap" is one of the most vital materials in the war effort today, and every one having scrap should make an effort to collect this vital material for the mills, immediately.

Kentucky's quota during the state's newspaper-sponsored scrap metal campaign is 100 pounds of scrap per person. In stressing the immediate need for scrap metal, Mr. Mullican said: Kentucky, which ranks 38th in the list of states in the collection of scrap metal, has accepted the challenge and will move near the top of the list at the end of the campaign sponsored by the newspapers."

The newspaper scrap campaign will get under way immediately and will continue through October 31. The goal for Kentucky has been set at 285,000,000 pounds.

"Unless citizens of this and other states collect their quotas during the coming campaign, steel mills throughout the nation will be unable to operate at capacity," Mr. Mullican said.

Pryor Tarvin, editor of the Kentucky Times-Star and district chairman of the campaign made a brief talk in which he urged every man, woman, boy and girl in his district to make an active campaign for all available scrap metal in their neighborhood.

The newspaper campaign was a result of a meeting of newspaper men with Donald Nelson, chief of the War Production Board and leaders of the Army and Navy in Washington several weeks ago.

Boone County citizens are urged to make a thorough check of their property and to gather every available pound of scrap metal on their premises. Their contribution may shorten this war by months and possibly years. Let's all do our part in this big campaign.

Cincinnati Man Arrested

GASOLINE RATIONING

National rationing of gasoline, as recommended by the Baruch Committee, is not proposed because there is a shortage of motor fuel. To the contrary, there is an abundance of gasoline of all ordinary grades, and in the producing areas the oil companies are hard-put for storage facilities. Gasoline rationing is to be imposed, instead, to save rubber—and to save rail and water transportation facilities for other uses.

At the present time, gasoline is rationed in 17 Eastern states. According to Lean Henderson, it will be extended to the balance of the country on precisely the same basis. That means that the average motorist will be entitled to four gallons weekly—enough to carry him about 60 miles. Supplemental allowances are given to "essential" drivers. Practically all pleasure driving will be eliminated for the duration.

The effects of this will be felt most severely in the West. In the East, with great cities and heavily concentrated populations, the motor car has not been nearly so necessary as it is in the West, where distances are vast and cities are few and far between. Furthermore, public transportation has naturally attained a higher state of development in the big population areas. The street car and bus systems, outside of the largest cities, are simply not adequate to handle the load that has long been carried by private automobiles.

Drastic restrictions on automobile use will work a veritable revolution in this nation. West of the Mississippi, where distances are great and interurban transportation limited, no one can estimate the effect of the slow-down that will occur. The motor car dominated our fashion of living ever since the First World War. To millions of people, the family car is practically as necessary as food and shelter. During the twenties and thirties, there was an ever-increasing migration away from towns and cities into suburbs. Men and women lived ten or twenty or more miles from their places of business. Just how these people will get back and forth now that car operation is to be cut to the bone, is an unanswered question. It is impossible for them to move closer to their jobs, for the reason that there are severe housing shortages in all areas which have war industries of any kind.

The desirable solution to this problem is to produce enough artificial rubber to keep ours cars moving. But it seems impossible to find out just how well or badly the synthetic rubber program is doing. The oil industry is making progress in the manufacture of rubber from oil derivatives. The tire companies say that they can produce tires from reclaimed rubber which will give fair service if driven slowly. A start is being made to produce another kind of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol. However, there seems little question but what the program in general is still moving too slowly—and that is largely the fault of the government. No two high public officials have been able to agree on just what should be done. As a result, it will probably be a long time before anything resembling even an emergency supply of rubber is available for civilians.

Within the next year, without rubber, transportation problems will become acute. Tires are really beginning to wear out in volume now, and more and more cars are going into dead storage for lack of rubber. This is going to hit farm production in a critical manner. Street car and bus companies are doing the best job possible, for the most part, but they simply haven't enough rolling stock to meet the need. Interurban transportation was abandoned long ago in many parts of the country, and the tracks were torn up. We in America depend almost entirely on the motor car for short-haul transport. So the lack of rubber remains our Number One domestic problem.

WHAT ABOUT GOVERNMENT MAN POWER?

The nation's shortage or faulty distribution of man power, more than any other one thing, has made it difficult for industry to attain what President Roosevelt has described as but little more than 50 percent of the maximum possible war production and that its maximum capacity could be reached "only by stripping our civilian economy to the bone."

How to find the necessary man power to reach our maximum war production capacity is the nation's most troublesome question. Many ways have been tried to solve this problem such as freezing jobs, hiring women, training new workers and scores of others. One fruitful field of man power has been overlooked—the federal government payroll. It is over-loaded with possible war production man power.

At the end of the eighth month of World War II it has over 2,300,000 civil servants, as compared with the 917,000 federal government employes at the end of World War I. Today's list is growing by the thousands every day. Many of these men and women could help the war effort more by filling war jobs in the factories or the farms than they possibly can in the government jobs they fill. This applies particularly to the thousands of new public servants, now in the process of being hired by three separate government departments to re-negotiate war contracts for the purpose of recapturing excess profits.

The services of these men will not be needed if the government sets up the right machinery for recapturing excess war profits. They will not be needed, if the law is amended, because then the Internal Revenue Bureau's trained staff could do the job quicker, better, at far less cost and with infintely less confusion than could the new bureaucrats. In the second place their information demands of industry, under the provisions of public law No. 528 which created their jobs, will force industry to hire an estimated 300,000 additional men to supply this information.

None of this waste, expense and confusion will be necessary if this law is amended to provide a percentage limit on sales after taxes, instead of before taxes as it now does, because the Treasury Department's regulations and procedure will be applied by its present staff.

Unamended, this law will siphon an estimated half million men and women out of war production work and put them at work which inevitably will hinder the war effort. This seems foolish and it is foolish. The only reason it could happen, is happening, is that the millions of fathers, and mothers, son, sisters, wives, relatives and friends of men in our fighting forces have not yelled their heads off at the government in out-raged protest over its own waste of the nation's man power, which is our most precious war asset, our most limited raw material that cannot be replaced quickly.

These 500,000 more or less men and women who may be siphoned off from production can be kept on their productive jobs if the people will demand that Congress amend public law No. 528 so that the job of collecting excess war profits, after taxes, is given to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for October 4

FAITH IN CHRIST AS OUR PERSONAL SAVIOUR

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:13-15; Romans 5: 1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 5:1.

Salvation through Christ is the way, and the only way, into the Christian life; therefore, there could be no other subject more suitable than that of our lesson to begin our brief series of "Studies in the Christ Life."

Our lesson for today tells us first how one comes into a personal saving faith, and then gives Paul's statement of the result of saving faith in the changed life of the believer.

I. The Opened Heart (Acts 16: 13-15).

Paul and his companions on their important errand for the Master, bearing the news of the gospel, had first known His guidance by hindrance, by the closed door; and then by the direction of the Spirit into the open door, revealed in the vision of the man of Macedonia.

Here in Philippi they found not only an open door, but an open heart, one which the Holy Spirit had made ready for the preaching of the Word of God. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17).

Note that while Lydia was a woman of ability and culture, and a worshiper of God, yet she needed the message of redemption through faith in Christ.

Lydia evidenced the truth of her profession of faith by open testimony and by a desire for fellowship in putting forward the work of God (v. 15). Salvation is by faith apart from works, but a saving faith is always one which works.

II. The Transformed Life (Rom 5:1-11).

This is one of the great passages of Scripture, rich in doctrinal instruction, presenting through Paul an illuminating discussion of justification by faith.

This lesson affords an opportunity for teachers to learn and present to classes much needed truth along the line of Bible doctrine. There is not enough teaching of this type. People seem to prefer a little devotional study, or the discussion of current events, possibly in the light of prophecy. These are good, but it is of first importance that Christians be informed regarding doctrine.

We find in this Scripture the glorious transformation of life which comes to the one who takes Christ as Saviour, as we note the seven results of God's justifying grace.

1. Peace (v. 1). The human heart craves spiritual peace and knows that it can be found only when sin has been dealt with and put away. For sin cannot be condoned or ignored. There must be justification, and that can come only through Jesus Christ our Lord.

2. Grace (v. 2). A peace with God brings the peace of God into our hearts. We have that peace because we have by faith come into the place of God's favor. No longer strangers or outsiders, we have come in ("have access") to His place of grace and favor.

3. Hope (vv. 2b, 5a). Our faith not only brings present peace, but causes us to see future glory. Such a hope puts us in a right attitude toward God, and the things of life, including tribulations (v. 3), are rightly valued and understood. Even our troubles become evidences of His love in which we may glory.

4. Love (vv. 5b-8). God's love which gave His Son to die for our sins becomes the "shed abroad" portion of every believer in Him. It was an unmeasurably great love, and it all centers in Calvary.

5. Saved From Wrath (v. 9). The wrath of God is minimized or denied in much modern theology, but it is nonetheless a very "real and awful affection of the divine nature." But the Christ who died for sinners will surely deliver the saints from the wrath of God against sin.

6. Reconciled (v. 10). The death of Christ, which justified man has accepted by faith, brought reconciliation. Atonement had been made for sin, and the One who died is alive again, a living Saviour.

7. Joy (v. 11). And why not? Such a revelation of what our redemption includes should make every believer in Christ rejoice in God. The One who is the sinner's judge is the believer's joy! That is the glorious transformation which takes place when one believes.

Some unbeliever who has read these lines thus far must by now be eager to have these things true in his life. Well, why not? "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31). Then read again those majestic and joyful words in Romans 5:1: "Therefore being justified by faith, we have"—yes, I have "peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Children's Feet

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

Ninety-nine out of a hundred babies are born with good feet, even if they do appear to be flat at the start. We say babies are born with flat feet because the bony masses in a new-born baby's feet are held in place by fat pads. As the baby starts to stand and walk, these fatty pads are absorbed and muscles take their place. But about the third year the arch of the foot should be pretty well defined if the child is going to have any arch. We say if, because every one isn't intended to have a high arched contour to the foot anymore than every one is meant to have the same color of hair or eyes.

Perhaps when the child starts to stand he is overweight, or undernourished or has gone thru a serious illness. In that event the muscles may not develop enough to produce an arch in his foot. He then grows with a nautral flat foot. The condition is rarely painful. However, many cases of flat feet can be averted if the child is provided with shoes that hold the weak foot in alignment. Such shoes are usually wedged slightly under the inner border of the heel bone. This prevents tipping in of the ankles and by over correction has a tendency to cause the muscles on the inner border of the leg to shorten. These muscles are the ones which keep the foot arched.—Adv.

This Week On The Home Front

Would you enjoy that extra cup of coffee if you knew it cost a life or took up convoy space needed for other things?

Not much, you wouldn't.

Or if you had a few extra cans of it stored away, wouldn't you feel pretty uncomfortable to think of what you had done?

Certainly!

Yet hoarders are responsible for a large part of the inability of some stores to keep their customers supplied on a normal basis. At an informal meeting of northern Ohio coffee roasters, wholesalers, chain store executives, and independent retailers last week, it was said that if consumers denied themselves only one out of three cups of coffee and if hoarders would realize the damage they were doing their neighbors and their country, the present available coffee supply would go around very nicely.

Certainly, the voluntary sacrifice of one out of three cups of coffee is a small test of self-discipline in a time of war when thousands must discipline themselves to face death itself.

Meat supplies for civilian consumption have been limited, and the Secretary of Agriculture has requested consumers to limit themselves to 2½ pounds per person per week. Meat packers have been told to limit deliveries to stores during the final quarter of 1942 to the following percentages of the deliveries they made in the same period of last year: Beef and veal, 80 percent; lamb and mutton, 95 percent; pork, 75 percent. Restaurants will be asked to share in the reduction.

How to dress school children this winter is a new problem for mothers in this war-time year of fuel conservation. Temperatures from 5 to 10 degrees lower than previously can be expectd in most of the nation's schools if the recommendations of 65 degrees is accepted.

Porous weaves, such as knitted goods and napped fabrics, get first choice because they enmesh dead air and use it to insulate the body. That's for indoors, where the air is still. Outdoors, a tight weave is more important because it breaks the wind. Corduroy combines the virtues of both weaves. Long-sleeved underwear and sweaters stop the cold on arms and shoulders where it is first felt.

Get that useless jalopy to the scrapyard! The flow of scrap from auto graveyards of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, dropped 4,000 tons in 30 days to a total of only 26,177 tons. Fifteen dollars is the top price, but the contribution to your nation's safety cannot be estimated.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCT. 5-10TH

BOONE COUNTY ASKED TO JOIN IN OBSERVANCE—CHECK ALL FIRE HAZARDS AND HAVE THEM REMOVED.

Boone County is urged to observe our National Fire Prevention Week, October 5th through the 10th. Fire is one of the great enemies in our Victory Program. Last year there were more than 1754 fires in Kentucky, totaling $1,136,000 loss. These buildings and materials and man labor loss can not easily be replaced during our war emergency period.

Carl W. Jones, State Director of the National Rural Fire Prevention program, has urged that every buildin owner analyze his fire prevention program on the following points:

Check chimneys for cracks, etc.; clean out flues; check lightning rods for breaks and ground connections; remove all paper and waste materials from attic and basement; check stove and furnace pipes; caution against petrol products in starting fires; caution against use of naptha and gasoline to clean clothes either inside or outdoors; destroy oil rags, etc., or keep them in closed glass or metal container; do away with rubbish and trash piles; remove dust, shavings and cobwebs from electric switches and machines; keep matches in metal containers, away from children, and don't carry lose matches in pockets; "no smoking" signs around outbuildings; gas tanks 75 feet away from buildings and properly labeled; check all electric appliances and repair same; use only approved fuses; don't burn dry grass or weeds; be careful with hot liquids; (handle hot liquids cautiously); brooder house to be 100 feet or more away from other buildings.

All 4-H Club, Utopia Club and neighborhood leaders have been requested to assist in the fire prevention program.

Belleview Church Will Have Home Coming Services Sunday

The Belleview Church of Christ will enjoy an old fashion day of Home Coming this Sunday. The Church has been busily engaged for the past few weeks with a general redecoration of the auditorium most of which is now completed. All former members of the congregation and its other friends in this community are invited to come home and see the work accomplished and to enjoy a full day of worship and Christian fellowship among old friends and relatives.

The program for the day is an attractive one. Bible School will begin at the usual hour, 10:00 a. m., C. W. T., with studies in the book of Romans; Morning worship and communion at 11:00. The sermon subject for this hour will be "Narrow Beds and Short Covers." A basket dinner, such as only the Belleview ladies can spread will be served at noon, arrangements having been made to meet any unforseen inclemency of the weather.

The afternoon session promises to provide a spiritual feast long to be remembered in this community. The Rising Sun Church of Christ will have full charge of this session, furnishing its own special music, etc. Bro. Benj. Allison and Mrs. Allison will present a very interesting resume of their work in the Philippines and a general view of the present situation in that part of the world. Bro. Ben will also show a movie of scenes and places of interest from the islands. Mrs. Allison will assist in this program, bringing with her native costumes, etc. The afternoon session will begin at 2:00 C. W. T.

The evening worship will close the activities of the day with inspirational hymn singing and evangelistic message.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The Hebron Homemakers' Club went to Butler State Park, on July 8th for the annual picnic. Thirty-five met the bus at Hebron and we left in the rain, but the sun came out before we had gone half way and we had a beautiful day.

We had lunch as soon as we arrived and we had everything that could be mentioned for a picnic and everyone seemed to enjoy the lunch.

After resting for a few minutes, most of the crowd went swimming and the rest went boat riding. After swimming we played games and went sightseeing. We decided to have supper before we left, as we had plenty left from lunch. We then left for home, tired, but all feeling we had spent a grand day.

We had games and songs on the bus going and coming. Everyone I talked to said they had a grand time and hoped we could go again soon.

The regular monthly meeting of the New Haven Homemakers' Club was held at the Richwood Community House on Tuesday of last week. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jake Cleek. At noon a delicious covered dish luncheon was served and enjoyed by all. After lunch the lesson "Style Trends" was given by Mrs. Harry Moore. The next meeting will be held on October 20th at the New Haven School at 1:30 p. m. E. W. T. All women of the community are invited to attend.

Green beans, corn, okra and apples were dried at food demonstrations in Caldwell county.

ALL-GRASS FARMING MIGHT BRING ABOUT HIGH-PRICED FEEDS

In view of the labor situation, some farmers are planning to put more of their farms into grass, increase livestock production, and grow less cultivated crops. For a few farmers this plan might be all right, points out E. J. Nesius of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, but if all farmers did it a feed shortage would result that might seriously affect the war effort.

"Livestock require less labor than crops, especially 'crew labor,'" Nesius admitted. "However, livestock must be fed, and as much of the feed as possible should come from the same farm where the stock are fed. Farmers are taking increased risks when they depend on buying feeds. Purchased feeds may be low in quality, as well as high in price. Possible transportation difficulties must be taken into consideration. Cost of production may be increased, when feeds are purchased, and this is something a farmer always must watch.

"The livestock-feed ratios are favorable at present. They might lead one to conclude that feeds can be purchased and labor devoted to something else. Even though the cost of labor and materials are higher, and may continue to be higher, than in the past, in most cases grain and hay can still be produced cheaper than they can be purchased."

WHITE ROCKS LEAD ON KENTUCKY FARMS

White Plymouth Rocks have displaced Barred Plymouth Rocks as the most popular breed of chickens in Kentucky, says the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association. Barred Rocks now are in second place, in point of numbers, with Rhode Island Reds third and White Leghorns fourth. The New Hampshire, a relatively new breed, has pushed into fifth place.

Not many years ago most farm flocks were collections of non-descript chickens, representing a mixture of breeds. The Dominique once was a favorite breed. It resembled the Barred Plymouth Rock.

Through the guidance of the Poultry Improvement Association and the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics, and with the help of good breeders and improved hatcheries, non-descript flocks are gradually being eradicated. In their place are well-bred pullets and hens of standard breeds that have been bred for high production.

SEE

THE CORN YOU BUY

With hybrid corn, the important thing is NOT where the seed was grown, but how it performs where you plant it. The best way to compare varieties and decide which ones suit you the best is to see them growing side by side in a soil and climate similar to yours. That's why DeKalb has more than 3300 proving grounds or demonstration fields, scattered throughout the corn-growing areas.

Another reason why you should visit your DeKalb proving ground is to keep acquainted with the newest varieties that DeKalb is continually perfecting.

Be sure to visit the DeKalb proving ground in your neighborhood. Your DeKalb dealer will be glad to show you the varieties that you are interested in and what they will do for you on YOUR FARM.

According to reports, Mr. Westbay was found dead in bed and attending physicians stated he had been dead about three hours before the body was discovered.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Donnelly funeral home, Covington, Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. with brief services at the grave in Highland cemetery.

DAIRY FEED COSTS SHOW BIG SPREAD

The feed cost of butterfat produced 5,225 cows in 13 dairy herd improvement associations in Kentucky in July varied from 11 cents to 26 cents a pound. The lowest cost was in the Pennyroyal region of the southwestern part of the state, and the highest was in Jefferson and Oldham counties. The highest average production for the month was 35½ pounds of butterfat per cow, made in Boyd county, where the feed cost was 21 cents a pound. The next highest production was in Calloway county, where feed cost an average of 12 cents per pound of butterfat.

LOCAL BOYS AND GIRLS WILL JOIN

IN BATTLE FOR COLLECTION OF SCRAP—DRIVE BEGINS OCTOBER 5—PRINCIPAL WILL ACT AS MAJOR.

The boys and girls of Boone County are part of a national junior army which on October 5 will begin a great attack.

The attack is against the worst enemy within our borders today. The enemy could stop our factories from making guns and ships and tanks and planes. The enemy could prevent those weapons from being made by preventing manufacture of the steel out of which parts of these weapons are made.

That enemy is starvation of the steel mills.

But the school pupils of our nation, organized in a great junior army, are going to feed the mills. They are going to find and bring together the things out of which tanks and ships are made—things like rusty pipe, broken bed springs, air guns that won't shoot any more. Around Boone County that is junk, scrap. But after it has gone through the mills, it is bombs for the Nazis and bullets for the Japs.

Each school principal is Major in the Junior Army. Under each Major, come the Captains, the teachers. School boys and girls of each room will be the Lieutenants, Sergeants, Corporals, and Privates of the Junior Army. Those who do well will be promoted, just like real soldiers in the fighting army.

A fighting army uses maps and scouts every foot of ground. Members of the Junior Army will scout the same way for the pieces of junk. From map plans, each will be given a place to scout. So the Junior Army will scout all of America, each street and road, each city block and country farm, finding junk.

For, so long as the junk lies ungathered, it is part of the starvation enemy of our steel mills, our war factories, and our fighting men. The boys and girls of Boone County are going to find and take prisoner all of that enemy in this part of our nation.

The Boone County schools have organized under the following setup:

1. Child is paid for all scrap delivered to the school in stamps.
2. Donated scrap may be credited to the School, 4-H Fair, Red Cross, or U. S. O.
3. No payment will be made until scrap is sold.
4. A Victory Banner will be awarded to the school collecting the most scrap per pupil.

This nation is facing a serious shortage of scrap metal. A shortage that threatens to slow down war production of ships and tanks and guns. Blast furnaces are cooling off for lack of scrap! Scrap is needed at once, by the ton, to win the war and Kentucky can and WILL supply this urgent need.

Lying in the barnyards of Kentucky farms, in tool sheds, under bridges, buried in gullies, and attics and basements and garages, all over the state, is the very material that is so urgently NEEDED. It is within YOUR power to round it up and turn it in. Spend the next two weeks rooting for it—dig it out and be ready for the big state-wide scrap metal collection drive that starts October 12th. It means money to YOU! It means VICTORY to your country!

Read the Simple, Fair Contest Rules

1. ELIGIBILITY—

Every person residing within a Kentucky county is eligible to contribute to the county's total collection.

Persons and their families engaged in the business of buying and selling scrap iron or collecting it on a commission are NOT eligible to compete as individuals or firms. They may, however, help to increase the county's total by initiating scrap collection, the contest credit to go to the original owner who turned it in. All the organizations, competing as such for one of the prizes, are eligible to collect scrap metal to be entered in the name of that organization. The same material, however, may NOT be credited to both the organization and the individual. Every individual living in the state and not engaged in the business of collecting scrap metal, is eligible to compete for the prize to an individual.

Every state Junior Organization (in units) such as 4-H Clubs, Boy Scouts, F.A.A. Clubs, Girl Scouts or Camp Fire Girls, is eligible to compete for Boys' and Girls' prizes.

2. PROCEDURE—

The County Salvage Committee in each county in the state will be in charge of collection of all scrap metal entered in the contest.

All scrap metal turned in must be credited to the one turning it in by means of an official receipt indicating the pounds received at delivery point. Credit in the contest will be given ONLY on the basis of these receipts. Be sure to get and vote your receipt.

Credit in the Scrap Metal Contest will be granted only on scrap turned in from Oct. 12 to Oct. 31 inclusive.

3. CONTEST JUDGES

The judges of this contest will consist of a committee of three, to be named by Judge E. C. O'Rear, State Salvage Chairman, and Mrs. T. C. Carroll, State Salvage Chairwoman.

The decisions of this committee of judges as to the winners in the contest will be final.

A Week of The War

Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported September 21 that Australian troops have cleaned out the entire Milne Bay area at the southeastern tip of New Guinea, thus consolidating the biggest Japanese defeat of the war in the Australian zone. Despite heavy fighting in the Owen Stanley mountian pass where the Japanese have thrust forward to within 32 air miles of the Allied base at Port Morsby, Gen. MacArthur's bombers and fighters have made heavy raids on Japanese troops and on key enemy bases in the northeast Australian zone in a continuing offensive.

A strong Japanese naval force, including battleships and cruisers, was attacked by Army bombers northeast of Tulagi, with possible hits on two battleships, the Navy reported September 19. After the attack, the Jap fleet turned and fled northward. U. S. Marines continued to hold their positions in the Solomons despite constant air attacks from the enemy and successful landings of small numbers of enemy troops and supplies. U. S. planes destroyed 41 more enemy planes in the Solomons fighting. Army planes in several raids on Japanese-held Kiska in the Aleutians destroyed many installations and inflicted the following damage two minesweepers sunk, six ships damaged, 500 troops killed, seven large and small planes destroyed. Two U. S. planes were lost in a collision.

Army headquarters in London announced a force of American parachute troops have been in Britain some time undergoing intensive training. Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet Nimitz said the December 7 damage to Pearl Harbor has been repaired "far beyond expectations." The Navy announced the aircraft carrier Yorktown was sunk June 7 after it climaxed 104 days of continous battle crusing by locating the last of the four Japanese carriers which attacked Midway. News of the Yorktown's sinking was withheld, the Navy said, because the enemy possibly was not aware of it. The Navy also announced three more United Nations merchant ships were sunk by enemy subs in August.

Rationing and Rubber Situation

"Three-fourths of the Nation faces the prospect of uncomfortably cold homes this winter," Price Administrator Henderson said in announcing coupon rationing of fuel oil which will reduce consumption by 25 percent. Machinery for the program will be set up by October 15. The area affected includes the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia, where gasoline rationing is already in effect, as well as Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kentucky.

The Office of Price Administration said apartment houses and commercial, industrial and institutional establishments able to convert oil burning furnaces to coal, but which refuse to do so, will be denied fuel oil rations. Only hospitals, where such a move would present serious health hazards, will be excepted. Special provisions will be made in the rationing program for sections of the country with "unusual" climate. The OPA said consumers in the rationed area may fill their tanks up to 275 gallons between now and September 30, but oil purchased during this time will be deducted from their allotments for the entire heating season.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard, acting on authority from Mr. Henderson, issued a temporary order to ration new farm machinery and equipment, appointing Fred S. Wallace, AAA Administrator, to administer the program at the national level. OPA placed a printing order for the first issue of 150 million "all-purpose" ration books, to be called War Ration Book Number 2 designed for rationing any article or commodity, and to distribute throughout the nation probably before Christmas. William M. Jeffers, President of the Union Pacific Railroad, was appointed Rubber Director by President Roosevelt and WPB Chairman Nelson with "full responsibility for and control over the nation's rubber program in all of its phases."

Labor Supply

War Manpower Chairman McNutt said he considers adoption of national service legislation inevitable in order to place talents where they will best serve the war effort. The mere existence of power to force an individual to serve where he is most useful is probably all that will be necessary, he said. Labor shortages are becoming more acute and now exist in 35 centers of war production, he reported. Selective Service Director Hershey said that to keep producting going and at the same time furnish men for the armed forces, industry should establish now an orderly replacement program.

The WPA and the U. S. Employment Service set up a system whereby capable, certified persons on WPA rolls will be directed to jobs in industry and agriculture as needed. Approximately 850,000 persons were employed or awaiting assignment to WPA projects July 1—20 percent of the total active file of the Employment Service.

Transportation

At the request of WPB Chairman Nelson, the Defense Plant Corporation authorized Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, to construct th e giant experimental cargo planes at a cost of $18,000,000. The first is expected to be completed in 15 months, the second in 20 months, and the third in 25 months. Mr. Kaiser also was asked to draw up plans for a factory in which the planes could be produced in volume in the event they are needed. The Senate passed and sent to the House legislation authorizing the Government to acquire private or public transportation facilities for the carrying of Federal employees and war workers to and from their jobs—only, however, when existing facilities are entirely inadequate.

Farm Prices

Price Administrator Henderson said if farm prices are allowed to rise under existing price regulations the cost of food to the American people will be increased by two billion dollars in the remainder of this year. Agriculture Secretary Wickard said cash farm income this year will give the farmers a per capita income 33 percent greater than they received on an average in 1909-14—in large part due to greater per capita production.

The Commodity Credit Corporation will finance an Agricultural Marketing Administration program to purchase pork products processed from approximately 1,000,000 hogs, designed to relieve the price squeeze on small packers and to assure large supplies of processed products from the record 1942 spring pig crop. Small packers are considered those who killed less than 250,000 hogs in 1941, including slaughtering by affiliated companies, and who cannot continue to process hogs profitably. The OPA announced it will place its first ceilings on fruit at the producer stage on dried prunes and raisins.

Army

War Secretary Stimson told his press conference that the health of the Army in training in the U. S. is better than ever before during wartime and it is expected the general hospital admission rate will be about ten percent lower in 1942 than in 1941. Throughout 1941 and so far this year, the death rate has been the lowest in the history of the Army. Through the Army Administration Officer Candidate School, enlisted men who have been accepted for limited service and enlisted men between the ages of 45 and 50 may receive commissions and if they have equal qualifications, they will be given preference over men eligible for combat duty, the War Department said.

Selective Service

Selective Service Director Hershey said the size of the Army this year has been increased from the 4,500,000 total announced as the 1942 objective by Chief of Staff Marshall in June. Gen Hershey said he expected married men with children would be called "the last quarter of 1943 at the very earliest, but I would like to hedge to the extent that the army's requirements may go up;" 18 and 19-year-olds must be drafted next year, or "1,000,000 or 1,500,000 family men" will be taken; and it is expected unmarried men with dependents will be called this year.

Rifling a gun barrel, a delicate machining job, is being done 30 times faster than a few months ago.

More than 100 pounds for every person in Nebraska was collected within three weeks during the State-wide "prairie fire" scrap drive, which netted 65,000 tons of scrap.

"We are faced with a serious shortage of Scrap Metal . . ."

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY
Two Big Features

Both Paul Kelly and Helen Parish, featured in Universal's "Tough As They Come" were child stars in films. Kelly was known as a youngster as "The Vitagraph Boy" a then infant picture industry He grew up in Brooklyn and later became famous in Hollywood. Miss Parrish bowed on the screen with Babe Ruth in his film "Babe Comes Home" and later was an "Our Gang" luminary.

"Right to the Heart" will be shown as an added attraction for tonight and Friday. Don't miss this double bill.

• • •

Saturday's feature will be the Weaver Bros. and Elviry in another of their enjoyable pictures, "Shephard of the Ozarks." The serials, "Don Winslow of the Navy" News and Cartoon will be added features.

SUN., MON., TUES., and WED.

A companion piece to "Mr. Chips" was found by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for Greer Garson in "Mrs. Miniver" Jan Struther's touchingly human story of an average English woman of the middle classes facing the horrors of warware on the home front. The picture, teaming Miss Garson and Walter Pidgeon, tells of the quiet heroic courage and abiding faith of a people under air attacks and raids.

The story deals with Mrs. Miniver and her husband, Clem, living in a quiet village. Their son is at Oxford. He joins the R. A. F., becomes engaged to the village belle. There are air alarms; episodes in air raid shelters. Clem joins the older men, going in ramshackle boats to aid in the rescue at Dunkirk. Finally an air raid wrecks the village, kills many—but with calm courage and faith, the villagers continue to "carry on," as they listen to their vicar in the shell-torn church.

Miss Garson's role is appealing and inspiring. Pidgeon typifies the sturdiness of the average Britisher.

Limit Is 16 Rabbits For Dealers, Ruling

Frankfort, Ky., September 28—Dealers are specifically forbidden to have more than 16 rabbits in their possession at any time, Guy H. Herdman, Assistant Attorney General, pointed out today.

In a letter to Brock Brothers, Maysville dealers, he cited that the game laws limit hunters to not more than a two days bag at any one time and that a day's bag limit is eight. Then he quoted a 1942 amendment saying:

"No person buying wild animals more than a two days' bag at any one time a greater number thereof than the legal limit allowed in the possession of the hunter."

FARMERS URGED TO JOIN IN DRIVE

FOR SCRAP METAL—GREATEST SOURCE OF SCRAP WILL BE FOUND ON FARMS—WIN A PRIZE BY DOING YOUR PART.

The greatest single source of scrap metal in the county—the farms, has not yet been worked intensively. The simple reason for this is the fact that since early spring few farmers of the county have had any time for diversion from the all essential job of producing food for our country at war and our Allies.

It's been a busy, busy season, with pressure on every farmer, working short-handed or with no help at all. But now, with harvest about over it's a forgone conclusion that our farmers will respond to the urgent appeal, and to the last man.

The need for scrap metal to make steel, with which to implement our war efforts is critical NOW, and before the month is out we want every pound to be on its way. Here's what every one on the farm can do as his part:

First. Right now start gathering into a yard near your road every piece of scrap iron or steel on your farm. Search everywhere, in the house, in and around the barn, the tool shel and all other buildings; along fence row, in fence corners, in a gully. Don't leave a piece. Rubber of any kind, rags, rope and burlap are also wanted and will be collected, but scrap metal is most important. We must have that, and quickly, too.

Second. Keep wire, metal sheets and lighter pieces separate from the heavier, solid ones. Keep copper, brass, zinc, aluminum separate, too. This will make handling easier and bring more money when delivered to a scrap dealer.

Third. Have accurate information or estimate ready when a canvasser calls. This may be a Boy Scout, 4-H Club boy, WPA worker or a neighbor. If he hasn't yet called he will be to see you sometime in the next week or two. Tell him what you have, its location; estimate its weight. Also whether you have means to deliver in town, or if necessary to a nearby point on wagon, sled or log chain. Lastly, whether you wish to receive the proceeds of sale of your scrap or whether you wish the proceeds to go to any charity or organization you name.

Fourth. When canvasser calls back turn over your scrap promptly at the place and in the way he has arranged. The place may be at your gate, down the road two farms, or at the head of your road. It is his job to arrange deliveries according to weights, locations and trucking facilities so that everyone's scrap can be handled in the easiest quickest way, and with the greatest effectiveness and economy.

Just a word about the sale of your scrap. Many people designate Red Cross, USO, Boy Scouts, a church, a school or some favorite charity to which the money therefor is to go when received from scrap dealer. That is fine and generous and greatly appreciated by all. But don't hang back or be in any way ashamed to demand the money from the sale of yours. You may have a personal use. You may wish to make contribution in person, or may feel you have done your share. That's alright for in either case our Country needs your scrap.

Let's do our share. Let's get in the last pound. All deliveries count now on the newspaper awards. Let's earn one for the county, for our club or for ourselves. Most of all, let us all be loyal and true to our Country and our armed forces, defending our freedom.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The Bullittsville Homemakers' Club held the first meeting of the year at the home of the clubs' vice president, Mrs. Huey Aylor on Sept. 17.

The new officers who were present were, Mrs. William Hill, president, Mrs. Huey Aylor, vice president and Mrs. Albert Willis secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was especially interesting as the accomplishments of the past year were recounted and the programs and projects for the coming year were arranged.

During the business session the new president appointed the standing committees for the year. Mrs. Charles Engle, who is clothing chairman, was appointed leader for the clothing project, with Mrs. William Anderson as her assistant; Mrs. Jonas Stevens, citizenship chairman and reading chairman; Mrs. Albert Willis, 4-H chairman; Mrs. Huey Aylor and Mrs. Albert Willis leaders for home furnishings and the foods project; and Mrs. Charles Engle exterior beautification.

Those placed on the honor roll for perfect attendance for the past year were Mrs. Haynes Bruce, Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. Albert Willis. Mrs. Huey Aylor and Mrs. M. M. Lucas missed only one meeting

In the absence of the Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Mrs. Hill stressed the use of enriched bread and flour in the home and also the saving of waste fats, which are greatly needed for the making of explosives for the war.

The clothing chairman, Mrs. Charles Engle gave a very interesting talk on fabrics and fall style trends.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Hill on Thursday, the 22nd.

AIRPORT WORK TO BEGIN NOV. 1

ACCORDING TO TENTATIVE PLAN—CAA ALLOTS $2,000,000 TO START BUILDING OF FIELD NEAR HEBRON.

Construction of the Boone County Airport near Hebron, at an approximate initial cost of $2,000,000 has been approved by the Interdepartment Air Board at Washington, according to an announcement made by Senator Alben W. Barkley.

Kenton County fiscal court members tentatively set November 1 as the date to start work on the new airport. It is expected that building of the airport will be by private contract. County officials are confident that machinery for grading and other work will be available under this condition.

In announcing the approval after receiving word of it from the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Senator Barkley said the CAA would improve the field by constructing three 5,500-foot runways and by grading and lighting the airport. Plans for ultimate development of the site call for eight runways, four of which will be approximately 7,000 feet long.

The airport, owned by Kenton Fiscal Court, is on a Boone County plateau overlooking Constance, Ky., which is just across the Ohio River from Anderson's Ferry, Ohio.

Designed to serve Covington, Newport, Cincinnati, and the adjacent Middle Ohio Valley, the airport site, which embraces approximately 800 acres, is 11 miles and 22 minutes from Fountain Square, Cincinnati. It will be closer in both distance and elapsed time when new roads authorized by the Kentucky Highway Department have been constructed.

Preliminary steps looking to the development of the airport were undertaken more than a year ago by a group of Kenton County citizens working in cooperation with Kenton and Boone County officials. They were aided by the late Judge N. E. Riddell of Boone County, Judge C. L. Cropper, and County Attorney Charles W. Riley of Boone County.

The site of the new airport will be served by two new roads to be built by the State, one connecting with the Dixie Highway, the other with Lower River Road.

The plans approved provide for a Class 4 airport, the highest type set up by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. When completed the airport will be one of the largest in the Middle West, it was understood.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rudicill, and son of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cason of Middle Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudicill, of Williamstown, spent Sunday with Mrs. J. W. Goodridge. Bill Ab, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rudicill is convalescing nicely from an appendix operation performed at a Paducah hospital several weeks ago.

SCRAP DRIVE IN PROGRESS

PAPER TO BE COLLECTED IN BURLINGTON, WALTON AND FLORENCE—WOOLPER BRIDGE BEING DISMANTLED.

You have been wondering what you were to do with all that paper accumulated since Boy Scouts were forced to leave off collecting last spring. Well, here's your chance to unload Saturday if you live in Burlington, Walton or Florence. Tie them up in bundles of fifty to a hundred pounds, using wire or strong twine and just leave at your curb. State Highway trucks will collect and proceeds of sale will go to Boy or Girl Scouts.

And don't forget to lay out any rags, rubber and, most important, any scrap metal of any kind which you are willing to donate to the Scouts, together with Red Cross and USO. It's surprising how a piece of scrap will pop up when and where you least expect, and after you are sure it has all been disposed of. Search again and help the Scouts make this collection.

The work of dismantling the county bridge over Woolper Creek on the Petersburg-Belleview Road was started this week. This will be weighed up and sold for scrap, and should add in the neighborhood of twenty tons to the County total, to be counted in the current Newspaper Scrap Campaign.

CONDUCT SONG SERVICES

Mike and Rachel Acree

Mike and Rachel Acree, of Covington, are conducting the song services at the Burlington Baptist Church revival which is now in progress and will continue through Wednesday night, October 14th.

The public is cordially invited to hear Rev. Roy Johnson in this series of services. His messages are inspiring.

OCTOBER CALL SET FOR 29TH

TWENTY-NINE WHITE AND TWO COLORED WILL BE CALLED THIS MONTH—TEN ARE REJECTED IN LAST GROUP.

Thirty-one men will be inducted into our Armed Services on Thursday, October 29th, it was announced this week by C. G. Kelly, clerk of the local Draft Board No. 8.

Boone County's call for October will consist of twenty-nine white men and two colored. The colored men will be inducted on Friday, October 23rd and the white on October 29th.

In the September call which was made up of forty-four men and sent to Ft. Thomas on October 1st, there were ten of the group who were rejected for physical disabilities. They were Andrew Coyle, John C. White, Lawrence Barnes, James E. Falls, Robt. Louden, Jas. Anderson, James Waters, Aylor Stephens, James Bristow and Harold Allen.

Boone County's supply of 1-A men is exhausted and reclassification of married men will be our only source of man power in the months to come, with the exception of the young men who become of age since the last registration.

Florence School To Conduct Junior First Aid Classes

The Florence High School has started their classes in Junior First Aid training at the Florence school with fifty high schools girls enrolled, it was announced this week by their instructor, Mrs. Nora G. Layne, Florence.

Mrs. Layne is also giving private instructions in the standard and advanced course of First Aid to R. C. Lucas, of Williamstown, Ky., who is planning to enter the Navy soon. The Red Cross courses will give him a rating in the Navy.

Hamilton Fair Offers 65 Classes

The twelfth annual Hamilton Free Community Fair will be held at Hamilton School grounds on this Friday, October 9, between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Sixty-five classes are open to exhibitors. Chambers and Grubbs funeral home, Walton; and Dixie Chevrolet Sales, Walton, are donating ribbons for all exhibits.

A splendid school, 4-H Club and recreational program has been planned for the day. The community invites all patrons and their friends to attend and enjoy the day in the annual Community Home Coming Day Lunch will be served by the Hamilton Parent Teachers' Association.

Fish And Game Club Meeting Postponed

The regular meeting of the Boone County Fish and Game Club scheduled for Thursday night, Oct. 8, has been postponed until Thursday night, October 15th, due to the revival meeting being held at the Burlington Baptist Church during this week and which will close on Wednesday night, October 14th.

Members of the club are requested to attend this meeting.

Boone County Observes Fire Prevention Week

Boone County is urged to cooperate in observing National Fire Prevention Week from October 5 to 10th, inclusive. Last year's Kentucky losses from fires exceeded $1,136,000. Fire prevention is so important in our war effort that President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation setting aside the entire period as Fire Prevention Week.

The following is a list of twenty-six pointers that the County Agricultural Extension Service recommends that every rural home check on this week:

Discuss the fire problems with the whole family.

Carelessness causes most of the fires. With proper precaution most rural fires can be prevented.

1. Equipment that may become necessary: Keep a ladder tall enough to reach highest roof. If you have no pond nor cistern near home, keep barrels of water handy with a few buckets in the barrels or close by. Other equipment that you should keep available in a definite place: grubbing hoe, rake, shovel, spade, hose.

2. Go through attic, basement and closets and remove all waste paper and rags. Many of the things you have stored in these places will be useful as salvage and the remainder represents hazards.

3. Don't carry loose matches in pockets. Put matches in box or carry a lighter.

4. Advice to smokers: Make a practice of breaking matches in two after lighting pipe, cigar or cigarette. We know you won't burn fingers more than once.

5. Never smoke in bed. Many have lost their lives or have received serious burns.

6. Forbid smoking in and around all outbuilding or haystacks.

7. Inspect chimneys for cracks, loose bricks, loose mortar obstructions. Repair.

8. Install spark arrestor for chimney to prevent large sparks from starting fires. The mesh in screen should not be langer than 5-8 of an inch nor smaller than 5-16 of an inch. The spark arrestor should extend upward 9 inches from chimney and should have a gross area surface twice the net flue area.

9. Clean soot out of chimney before starting fall fires. An easy way to do this is to put a couple of bricks in a cement sack or similar sack and fill in enough straw to make sack bulge enough to touch sides of chimney lightly. With a rope work sack up and down chimney flue to clean sides. A tire chain dangled up and down chimney will clean fairly well. Soot at bottom or chimney must be cleaned out.

10. Keep metal flue stops in all unused openings at all times.

11. Keep firescreen in front of fireplace.

12. See that no stove or furnace pipe are eaten out with rust. Replace rusted pipes.

13. Put all hot ashes from furnace and stoves in metal containers.

14. Look over your electrical equipment. Discard old frayed extension cords and repair defective parts.

15. Use wall plugs for your outlets, etc., with no extension cords on floor.

16. Use only approved fuses. Keep cobwebs and shavings away from switch box and all electrical machinery.

17. Label all kerosene and gasoline cans properly and never use them in starting fires. Don't use gasoline or inflammable cleaning fluids to clean clothes either indoors or outdoors for static electricity may ignite no matter how careful you are.

18. Gasoline tank should be more than 30 feet away from any building.

19. Shut off gasoline motors while refueling.

20. Open lights such as lamps or lanterns should be handled very carefully. Don't set lamp near edge of table nor on window sill where it might ignite curtain or fall off. Fix stationary snaps in barns for lantern or have a wire fixed on which you can slide lantern to be of most advantage to you. Never set a lantern down in a barn, nor use near hay mow. Get a flash light for the latter purpose.

21. Rubbish and trash piles should be eliminated. Go through them systematically and you may find valuable salvage for Uncle Sam and many things that may be used. "Don't burn" is the best advice, but if you feel that you may do so, select a clear, quiet day and plow around with several furrows before starting fire.

22. Don't burn off grass fields, woodlands or fence rows. You may unwittingly start a serious fire.

23. Spontaneous combustion of hay is caused from not curing it properly before storing. Occasionally it is caused from a leaky barn roof. Check hay once a week for six weeks after storing is a good precaution.

24. If you have lightning rods check for possible breaks and see that they are properly grounded. If there are any breaks, the rods are a liability rather than an asset.

25. It would be a good plan to ground properly all metal roofed buildings at least at opposite corners. If buildings is large, would suggest each corner be grounded.

26. Keep oily rags or mops in closed metal or glass containers to prevent combustion.

Miss Mae D. Shannon

Miss Mae D. Shannon, a native of Hebron, Ky., died Tuesday at her home 2107 Sinton Ave., Cincinnati, after an illness of several weeks. She was 70 years old.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Louise Vogel, Hillsboro, O. and two nieces, Mrs. W. T. Kennedy, West Covington and Mrs. Gladys Scobie, Cincinnati.

Funeral services were conducted this morning (Thursday) from the Bullock and Catherman funeral home, Ludlow. Requiem high mass was intoned at 9 o'clock at St. Ann Church, West Covington. Burial was in St. Mary Cemetery.

National Newspaper Week Observed In Ky.

The following proclamation was issued by Keen Johnson, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, the newspapers of the United States, of which Kentucky newspapers have been an active and integral part, have ably and continuously demonstrated their leadership in the maintenance of the democratic way of life, in the preservation of the Four Freedoms which are dear to the hearts of every free citizen of a free country, in the courageous leadership in the social and economic life of community, state, and nation since the founding of the first Colonial newspaper in 1704, and more particularly, since the founding of American nationality in 1776, and

WHEREAS, this leadership has been most evident in the trying days of our war effort to combat the hosts of those who would destroy the nation and the people of the nation, and who would destroy our Freedoms of which not the least of these is the freedom of speech and of press, and

WHEREAS, our nation's newspapers have given unstintedly of their time and space and effort that will lead to the final, triumphant, and ultimate Victory, and

WHEREAS, the nation's newspapers with Kentucky's newspapers in the van, are sponsoring a nationwide scrap metal drive as a demonstration of their leadership in this war effort.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, hereby proclaim October 1 to October 8 as

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK IN KENTUCKY

AND call upon every citizen in the state to join with the newspapers in celebration of this Week in a suitable manner, and to join with the newspapers in the scrap metal drive to its successful and complete end.

Done at Frankfort, Kentucky this the twenty-fifth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, and in the year of the Commonwealth the one hundred fifty-first.

KEEN JOHNSON,
Governor Commonwealth of Kentucky

GLENN HATCHER
Secretary of State.

Mrs. Lavina Kirkpatrick is spending several days this week with Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Reese, of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati.

18-19-Year-Old Army Volunteers Will Enter Branch Of Own Choice

The War Department announced the opening of an intensified campaign for the recruiting of 18 and 19-year-old volunteers for the Army. This group will be given a much wider range of choice than before in their privilege of picking the arm in which they are to serve.

Under the new ruling, recruits of 18 and 19 may volunteer specifically for the Quartermaster Corps, the Ordnance Department, the Chemical Warfare Service, the Medical Department, and the Corps of Military Police, in addition to the previous range of choice between the Infantry, Cavalry, Army Air Forces, Coast Artillery—including Anti-Aircraft and Harbor Defense, Field Artillery, Armored Force, Engineers and Signal Corps.

"This system of selective service is of vital importance to the Army today as a supplement to Selective Service," stated Lieutenant General Brehon Somervell, Commanding General, Services of Supply. "It is not enough for our Army to be as big and as well-equipped as the enemy's—it should also be as well-balanced in age groups. The Army invites American youth to answer that challenge.

"The privilege of electing their branches of the service can safely be given to the men in the younger age group for precisely the reason for which the Army needs them—their adaptability and ready response to training."

In each of the five services newly added to the list as well as its eight branches previously open, there are ample opportunities for advancement and a chance to apply for officer candidate school.

No release from Selective Service Boards is needed in the case of 18 and 19-year-old volunteers. The consent of their parents, however, is required.

We welcome the following new subscribers to our list: Mrs. Atha M. Walton, Erlanger; James Lee McNeely, Maderia, O.; Wm. McGuire, Petersburg; Mrs. George Shinkle, Hollywood, Fla; Mrs. Nellie Kottmyer, Constance; Mrs. George Ramler, Erlanger, R. 4; Dr. John H. Bustetter, Florence; Mrs. Bill Retschulte, Florence R. 1; Omer Easton, Walton, R. 2; and Mrs. Anna Cain, Northport, Mich.

GARDEN CONTEST CLOSED TUESDAY

SIXTY-SIX BOONE COUNTY 4-H MEMBERS PARTICIPATED IN VICTORY GARDEN CONTEST—METALS TO BE AWARDED.

The Victory Garden Contest, in which sixty-six Boone County 4-H Club members participated ended Tuesday, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. Five gold metals, provided by the Sears, Roebuck & Company, will be awarded to the winners during achievement exercises to be held by community organizations in November.

One of the five will be named to compete for State honors, in which four representatives of the blue award will each receive $25.00 War Savings Bond. The State winner, selected from these four, will compete for sectional and national honors, awards for which include all expense trips to the National 4-H Victory Congress scheduled to be held in Chicago next November, and $100.00 U. S. War Savings Bonds to the highest scoring participants in this Extension Section.

Jas. W. Kelly Injured In Auto Crash Wednesday

James W. Kelly, age 81 years, of Burlington suffered injuries early Wednesday morning in an auto-truck wreck on the Burlington-Florence pike at the Camp Ernst Road.

Mr. Kelly suffered lacerations of the face and left arm and several minor bruises. Mrs. Kelly, who was driving the car received only minor bruises and shock. They were taken to the office of Dr. M. A. Yelton for treatment.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Camp Ernst Road and Florence Pike, the car and truck traveling in opposite directions. W. A. Waters, driver of the log truck, was uninjured, but it was stated that both car and truck were damaged considerably.

Miss Elsie Ewald, of Price Hill, spent last Friday evening with Mrs. Bess Rouse.

STATIONED IN ALASKA

Wayne See, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne See, of Dam 38, received word from their son Wayne, Jr., stationed at the U. S. Naval Base in Alaska of his completing a course in radio. He has been promoted to R. M. 3—2. He enlisted in January 1942.

PETERSBURG BOY ARRIVES HOME

MASTER SGT. FRANK HELMS SPENDING 30-DAY FURLOUGH AT HOME—WAS WOUNDED IN PEARL HARBOR ATTACK.

Master Sergeant Frank Helms, of Petersburg, Ky., arrived home recently from Hawaiian Islands to spend a thirty-day furlough with his family before entering Officers' Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla.

Master Sergeant Helms enlisted in the United States Army on June 6, 1935 and served at Ft. Thomas in the 10th Infantry and in the Quartermaster Corps until June 5, 1938. In July, 1938 he re-enlisted to be assigned to the 64th Coast Artillery in the Hawaiian Islands. He served in this capacity until April 6, 1940, at which time he was transferred to the Air Corps as a member of the 23rd Bombardment Squadron. While here he was made Technical Sergeant in April 1941 and later in February 1942 he was appointed First Sergeant. He was then transferred to Headquarters and Headquarters Squqadron 5th Bomb. Group H., where he remained until he left the Islands to return to the States to become Master Sergeant and attend Officers' Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla.

On December 7, 1941, Helms was wounded in action at Hickam Field, Pearl Harbor, and was hospitalized for 25 days. He received the Purple Heart award for valor in service here.

Master Sgt. Helms arrived at his home, Petersburg, last week, and on Saturday was united in marriage to Miss Marjorie Hodges of Petersburg. The many friends of this fine young couple join in wishing them much happiness together.

Hodges-Helms

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hodges to Master Sgt. Frank B. Helms, son of Mrs. Nellie J. Helms, Petersburg, was solemnized at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, October 3, with Rev. Noble Lucas, officiating.

The bride was lovely in blue velvet with white trim, wearing a corsage of white gardenias.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Elizabeth Hodges, sister of the bride, wore white flarinel with a corsage of red roses.

The groom in uniform of olive drab, had as best man, Edward Helms, his brother.

As relatives and friends entered the living room and glanced thru the archway, their eyes fell upon an altar of white with background of ferns, set off with large white baskets of goldenrod and white pom pom chrysanthemums.

Refreshments were served immediately following the ceremony, before the bride and groom left for the week-end.

Master Sgt. Helms has a thirty-day furlough enroute from Honolulu, Hawaii, where he has been for the past four years, to Miami Beach, Florida, where he will spend the next three months in Officers' Candidate School.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Hildreth of Crescent Springs, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jones, Georgia Lee Easton, of Latonia, Mr and Mrs. Robert Jones, and Mrs. George Scott and daughter, of Florence spent Sunday with Maggie Easton at Idlewild.

PICTURES WILL BE ELIMINATED

IN COOPERATION WITH THE GOVERNMENT TO CONSERVE NEEDED MATERIALS—BOYS IN SERVICE ONLY EXCEPTION.

In order to conserve much needed metals used in the production of printing plates, this newspaper has adopted a policy of eliminating the use of unnecessary pictures in our columns for the duration of the war.

Local pictures are not produced in our plant. They must be sent to Cincinnati to an engraving plant and a newspaper printing plate made from the picture. In order to make this plate, three of our most needed medals are used in its production. This plate, when finished, can be used for several months without becoming damaged, and is usually filed away at this office.

The government has asked that we curtail the use of pictures in order to conserve for the war effort. Therefore, we are adopting the policy of using only pictures of the boys in our Armed Services, who are out there doing a great job for us here at home. All other pictures will be considered non-essential and unless you have either a plate or mat, we cannot use your picture. This does not mean, however, that we will not be glad to use pictures if you already have your plates made, for we realize the value of pictures today, and hope the time is not far away when we can use any and all pictures sent us.

Until this time arrives, we ask the cooperation of everyone, and request them not to send in non-essential pictures for publication, but rather confining their requests to pictures of our boys in service, which we are glad to use anytime.

We feel that this is not only a splendid way to let the boys know we are thinking of them while they are away, but it is a valuable service rendered to the boys' family and friends here at home who have given a son or husband to the Armed Services.

Please remember that printing plates can be made only from black and white pictures and any colored or tinted pictures cannot be used at anytime.

Radio Star Will Speak At Florence P.-T. A. Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Florence P.-T. A. at the school building on Monday night, October 12th, at 7:45 p. m., at which time Mrs. Nancy Prentice, noted Radio star and child psychologist from station WCKY will appear on the program.

All members and interested persons are asked to be present.

COOK NAMED CHAIRMAN

"For Over Fifty Years"

AN UNTOOTED HORN

On the walls of production plants throughout the country there are posters that carry this challenge: "All Americans who have an invention or an idea which might be useful to their country are urged to send it immediately to the National Inventors Council" of the Department of Commerce at Washington.

Close to 100,000 responses have been received to the general invitation to "Invent for Victory." The Council is headed by Dr. Charles F. Kettering, the genius who has become famous on account of his inventions to improve automobiles, including the self-starter. The Council also includes Orville Wright of airplane renown, Dr. William R. Cooldidge, inventor of the X-ray tube, and Dr. Thomas Midgley, Jr., who played a leading role in the development of tetraethyl gasoline.

The Council has a staff of 55 engineers, and they know all the answers that concern the possibilities of ordnance, aircraft, chemistry, electricity, and anything that spells V-victory!

Some of the large corporations set apart laboratories and workshops and cooperated with the Inventors' Council by offering prizes for inventions. All suggestions to the Council are receiving careful attention. Acceptable plans and suggestions are taken up with officials of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission and the Office of War Production.

This is at least one Council that has not been accused of seeking publicity. It has issued fewer than half a dozen news releases since its organization in October, 1940—and perhaps that is why most of this item is news to our readers.

It all goes to prove the truth of the old line that "he who tooteth not his own horn the same shall not be tooted."

However, word comes from Government war headquarters that many of these responses to the call to "Invent for Victory" have been of such great value that more will be heard about them when the time arrives that they will no longer need to be guarded as military secrets.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

Highway travel has been cut 35 per cent in 27 States, due to the gas and tire conservation program. This is shown by a report of the Public Roads Administration.

Fuel oil rationing throughout the East this winter "is no fun" for owners of oil-burning furnaces that cannot be converted to coal burners. Lots of folks are already suffering from cold-feet—in anticipation of a shortage of fuel next winter.

If the taxation plans keep on expanding and take all the money that citizens can scrape together it will not be possible to inflate one's pocketbook enough to pay the excess taxes—at least, that's what a top radio broadcaster has been telling the world recently.

Despite all the honeyed promises of CIO and AFL that there will be "no strikes" the daily papers are full of news about strikes and threats of strikes. There were 25 major strikes in one week, last month. Automobile plants, airplane factories, metal trades, aluminum workers, steel, mine shipbuilding and war production industries throughout the country were involved.

America's industries face more uncertainties concerning future earnings in the face of terrific taxation and postwar contingencies and rehabilitation than ever before in history. Business—big and little—is riding the bumps and has very little idea where and when it will be able to get off.

Ships that pass in the skies will go faster and farther than all the ships that ever passed in the night.

An Army Flying Fortress left San Francisco a few days ago, and landed in Australia 36 hours and 10 minutes later, breaking all previous records. Another trans-Atlantic flyer left New York and landed in Europe 19 hours and 54 minutes later.

WAR BOOSTS NEED OF SOAP

American soap makers are commended by the Department of Commerce in its weekly bulletin "Domestic Commerce," for their success in maintaining the quality of their product in spite of wartime handicaps. Calling attention to the fact that even in peacetimes the United States uses more soap per capita than any other country, the Department says:

"Because production and sale of soap reached a new peak in volume last year, it would be wrong to assume that easy times were the rule for the manufacturers. Far from it. Many problems confronting these manufacturers might have been almost insurmountable, since the complexities were of foreign as well as domestic origin. But problems only stimulate some industries. The soap makers' research programs had to be accelerated so that formulas might be adjusted to conditions."

Thus far the war has increased rather than diminished the use of soap in this country. While the weekly soap ration of people in Occupied Europe is an ounce and a half a week, in Germany two and a half ounces, in Italy an ounce and a quarter and in England five ounces, the weekly per capita soap consumption in the United States is eight ounces.

In the frantic search for soap fats and fat substitutes European nations according to "Domestic Commerce," are even using pumpkins and melons.

THIS YEAR plan to get all the eggs you can from your laying house space—fill your laying house and keep it filled! One hen needs 4 sq. feet of laying house floor space—and a good hen, fed for production, can lay 200 eggs a year. That means 200 eggs a year from 4 sq. feet of laying house floor space—and that counts more than the number of eggs per hen!

Set yourself a goal—make every 4 sq. feet of laying house floor space do a capacity job. Keep a good hen in that space and feed your birds a real egg-making ration. Come in and see us for details of a plan for doing the job—the Purina Balanced Income Plan!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

LOYALTY TO CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:14-17; John 6:66-69; Philippians 3:7-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—What things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ.—Philippians 3:7.

Loyalty is undoubtedly one of the finest traits of mankind. Because of its strength, its fidelity to duty, etc., shrewd men have learned to play upon man's loyalty, making it serve evil and ignoble ends. Unworthy causes, having thus gained the interest of man by fair means or foul, have demanded blind loyalty. Even in the carrying out of crime there has been the suggestion that there is some kind of a code of honor, a loyalty among thieves.

All this does not change the fact that there is a high and holy impulse in man to stand true to the right; and in the Christian, to be found ever loyal to the Christ, whose we are and whom we serve. Faith in Christ (our lesson of last week) is rightly followed by loyalty to Him. It manifests itself in three ways.

I. Following Christ (Mark 2:14-17).

Without obedience there is no use talking about loyalty. When Jesus said: "Follow me," Matthew (Levi) arose and followed. He was a sinner (v. 17), a man of the despised calling of tax-gatherer (v. 14), but he was ready for the call of Jesus.

Notice also that following Christ carries with it the privilege and obligation (it is both) of making Him known to our friends. Matthew did not wait until he had made a new circle of friends and then invite them to a feast. He celebrated his entrance upon the new life of faith by a friendly and effective testimony before his friends who were publicans and sinners.

Notice the words of Jesus in verse 17. It is not good people, satisfied in their own self-righteousness, who get to heaven. It is sinners, saved by grace, who will there magnify the Saviour's name.

II. Faithfulness to Christ (John 6:66-69).

It is one thing to begin, but quite another to persevere in well doing. Jesus had been doing many miracles and a host of followers had flocked to Him. He had not only done great deeds, but had spoken beautiful words about the Fatherhood of God, the power of the Holy Spirit, etc. He had fed the five thousand, and they liked that too.

But now He had talked about a broken body, about partaking of His flesh and His blood, and they did not like it. This reached too deeply into the necessity for a personal spiritual experience, and one that spoke of sacrifice, and many of the disciples "walked no more with him" (v. 66).

How perfect a picture of the "religious experience" of multitudes of men and women in our day.

The true disciple, however, stands truest in just such an hour. "We believe," said Peter, and he spoke better than ever before in his life. "We don't understand everything (that's the thought back of "To whom shall we go?"), but we believe, and we will stand fast." Blessed word of loyalty!

Observe that Peter and his brethren recognized Christ as the "Holy One of God," that is, God's Son in a unique and intimate sense. One close to and participating in the holiness of God. Loyalty will not hold on any lesser concept of Christ. There is no incentive to real service and sacrifice in the watered-out religious faith of the modernistic liberal!

III. Forsaking All for Christ (Phil. 3:7-11).

There were a number of things in the life of Paul as a natural man of which he was justifiably proud, but which in the light of his relationship to Christ paled into insignificance. The best this world can offer looks like rubbish (v. 8)—which it really is—when one catches a glimpse of Jesus Christ.

Turn your eyes upon Jesus,
Look full in His wonderful face,
And the things of earth will grow strangely dim
In the light of His glory and grace.

However, that experience of Paul's was only the beginning of a life of devotion to the Lord, which is expressed in words the depth of which we cannot fully plumb. What does it mean to know "the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made comfortable unto his death"? We do not fully know, but certain we are that it speaks of a fellowship with Christ that is very deep and intimate; a life of power, because He lives in and works through the believer; a sharing with Him of the hatred and bitterness of the world, yes, of death, if need be, for Him, in the assurance of resurrection.

This is an "all out" Christian experience, nothing held back, nothing thought to be too difficult or trying—everything gladly given in unstinted love and devotion to Christ. Now the Christian church is languishing for the want of those who will forsake all to follow Him in complete faithfulness.

How Much Will His Eyes Change?

"Little Bright Eyes" will be "Big Bright Eyes" before he outgrows many more pairs of shoes. And, while most babies are born with good eyes, figures show that by school age, one out of five has defective vision . . . and the number grows to two out of five at college age.

You don't want your child to be handicapped in his studies by poor vision, so provide enough light and the right kind of light for safe seeing throughout your home.

Place a reading lamp with bulbs totaling at least 100 watts beside every chair where eyes are used for close visual tasks. Have enough light elsewhere in each room to prevent contrasts of light and shadow. See that all light sources are well-shaded and free from glare.

Good light costs only a few cents a day more than poor light. Enjoy better light tonight!

OBITUARY

R. T. Stephens, son of the late Solon and Victoria Stephens was born November 15, 1862, departed this life at Christ Hospital, Sept. 27, 1942. He had the misfortune of falling, breaking his leg in two places, from which he never recovered.

Mr. Stephens spent his entire life in this community, with the exception of two years spent in Kansas. On September 1, 1886 he united in marriage with Lizzie Presser, who preceded him to the grave six years ago. To this union four children were born, Mrs. Francis C. Moler, of San Francisco, Calif., Lee M. Stephens of Newport, Ky., Floyd Stephens of California, and Minnette Stephens at home. He is also survived by one grandson Floyd C. Moler, of California.

He was a member of a pioneer family, his ancestors having been among the first to settle in this part of Boone County. He was a member of the Belleview Masonic Order for 59 years.

"Uncle Dick" as he was called by his many friends will be greatly missed and his memory will be cherished in the hearts of many for years to come.

LINCOLN STORY FOUND FICTITIOUS BY DR. HENRY BROMLEY

Chicago—"Abraham Lincoln is not taking part in the Kentucky County dry-wet contests which are rapidly drying up the state,' 'says Dr. Henry W. Bromley, of Cynthiana, Kentucky, Vice President of the American Business Men's Research Foundation.

"But the Lincoln story invented by Colonel John D. Goodwin, director of the Wet Forces in Atlanta, Georgia, away back in 1887, has been dusted off by the syndicated wet propaganda organizations and is appearing in saloons throughout Kentucky, and other states, on placards printed and distributed by the Calvert Distilleries, as well as in paid newspaper advertisements, usually signed by "Taxpayers Association.

"The poster and advertisements attributed to Lincoln a statement oppositing Prohibition, although he was in fact a temperance lecturer and life long abstainer.

"Although the current poster and advertisements give no authentic traceable source for the alleged quotation it was originally asserted to be found on page 182 of the Journal of the Illinois House of Representatives, December 18, 1840.

"The clerk of the Illinois house has certified 'Said record does not show such a statement by Mr. Lincoln' and further reported that the State Historical Society made extensive research and could not find this statement 'anywhere of record.' "

The Hon. Sam Small, famous Atlanta journalist traced the invention to Colonel Goodwin (the wet leader) and executed an affidavit that said Colonel Goodwin had not only originated the statement, but had admitted doing so, to Small.

"So far" concludes Dr. Bromley, "Neither the Calvert crowd nor the 'taxpayers' have put out posters or advertisements stating that President Lincoln was murdered by a drunk-crazed assassin while Lincoln's guard was absent, drinking legal whiskey at a 'patriotic, tax-paying' bar nearby which is an historical fact."

PARASITES, POOR FEEDING, BLAMED FOR SHEEP LOSSES

Internal parasites and improper feeding cause a continuous loss to the sheep industry in Kentucky. Examinations of dead sheep at the Department of Animal Pathology at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station reveal that internal parasites caused the death of 27 percent of the animals examined; 20 percent of them died as a result of starvation or improper feeding, and 13 percent died from pneumonia due to exposure, a lack of proper housing and poor sanitation.

Increased numbers of sheep on relatively small permanent pastures, without proper rotation have resulted in heavy infestation of pastures, yards and barns with the eggs and larvae on internal parasites. In some instances farmers drench their flocks for worms every 30 days in an effort to control internal parasites. The fact that this treatment must be repeated every month indicates that the parasites are not controlled.

Pasture rotation as practiced by most farmers consists of a change of pasture every three to eight weeks. This system is good for the pasture, but is ineffective from the standpoint of parasite prevention.

Animal rotation is as essential for the health of animals as crop rotation is for the successful production of farm crops. The continuous use of pastures, lots or ranges for the same species of animal causes the land to become heavily contaminated with parasite eggs and larvae.

Most species of animal parasites will not live in the open for more than two years. It is not practical or necessary to attempt to destroy parasite eggs or larvae on pastures with disinfectants. Sunlight and cultivation or the use of the land for some other species of animal will give the desired results. Pastures that cannot be cultivated should be used for a different species of animal every year or used for the production of hay for two years.

Every effort should be made to have a clean pasture for young animals. This is a pasture that has not been used for that particular species of animal for the past two years.

Farmers Have Personal Interest In Efforts To Control Inflation

Washington, Sept. 21—Farmers and the people of towns which do business with farmers have very personal interest in efforts to steady crop prices as part of the program to control inflation. For after the inflation of World War 1, it was they who suffered most from the resultant deflation.

Once Bitten

A look back helps us to see more clearly the why and the what of the program now being worked on by Congress and by the federal administration.

During that war period, prices went up. Because farms made big profits, many farmers wanted more land. Other people wanted farm land as a good-paying investment. Land prices went up, speculators helped the prices go higher. Farm land buyers frequently paid part cash and gave a mortgage for the balance.

As people had more money to spend, both the farmers and the people in farm towns, they tried to improve their way of living. Bigger schools and better roads and new bridges were voted. Much of the cost of these was carried by bond issues—promises to pay borrowed money later on. In the same way, some people built new homes with mortgages on them, others mortgaged their places to get part of the money for improvements to farm or home.

Then the bottom dropped out of crop prices. Land values tumbled after. In the years which followed, hundreds of thousands of farm families which couldn't keep up mortgage payments lost their homes. Merchants who did credit business with farmers went into bankruptcy. Thousands of small town banks failed.

For 20 years the prices of farm crops failed to average parity—prices which would give the crop grower the same buying power that farmers on the average had during the 5-year period before the first world war broke out, August, 1909, to July, 1914.

Twice Careful

Now a new war is pushing prices up again.

Prices of some crops are still far below parity, other prices are well above parity. But the national average—and this is important because laws are made and rules administered nationally—the national average of farm products has reached parity.

Again, as in other wars, wages and the prices of manufactured things have followed the rise of crop prices. If history were to repeat itself, wages and those other prices would stay up longer, and never come down as much as crop prices when high inflation is followed by low deflation.

But this war is different. In our nation, as in other countries, government is trying to prevent the pain of post-war deflation by preventing inflation now. Whatever the disagreements about details, that is the intention within Congress and within the Administration.

Already, prices are fixed on many things that farmers as well as other consumers buy. Installment buying has been cut down. Sugar is an example of how rationing shares things fairly among all the people. Wages are beginning to be stabilized. People are being encouraged to pay off debts, to save in war bonds. Taxes are going up, but far short of paying war costs. And steady prices for farm products are being developed by Congress.

Hindsight and Foresight

Hindsight gives farmers an idea of the value of price-control at an average of parity for their products.

The high point for prices received by farmers in the World War 1 inflation was in May of 1920. (A year later crop prices averaged less than half as much. But the high point for the buying power of farm crops—before prices had gone high on the things bought for farming and by farm families—was in 1917.

In 1917, the first year the United States was in World War 1, farmers and farm communities on the national average could buy more with what crops sold for than they could later on when crop prices were much higher. Here is the comparison by years of what the prices received by farmers would buy at the prices on the things bought by farmers—

1915	91	1919	106
1916	94	1920	103
1917	117	1921	75

If, in that war, there had been a stabilization to prevent inflation, farmers would have been best off if the stabilization came during the first year the United States was in the war. Because, although crop prices go up first, other prices which follow step up longer and don't drop back as far. (That resulted after World 1 in 20 years loss of average crop parity buying power.)

There is also another practical business reason for farmer agreement to stabilization of farm prices at the parity average—

President Roosevelt spoke of the desirability of a floor under crop and livestock prices as part of the stabilization program. He urged that this protection against loss continue into the post-war years. The bills now in Congress provide price floors. Under a stabilization program which includes both floors and ceilings, farmers have a two-way protection against post-war trouble. The ceilings prevent inflation and the consequent deflation. The floors put farmers on a virtual contract basis the same as any other producer of war goods. When the war ends, the business men with war contracts will be paid their contract prices. With price floors, the farmer is guarded against loss on his production, undertaken for war purposes.

There is also a practical political reason for farmer support of a stabilization program which offers them so many advantages. This reason is that an attempt by farm groups to get higher than parity prices now might seem like a try at "profiteering" to the other groups in the United States, which far outnumber farmers, as result, those bigger groups might refuse to allow the protection for American farmers during the post-war adjustment period which evidently is intended by the Administration and by members of Congress.

American Heritage

The nation is caught in a grasp of steel,
In the hand of a merciless foe,
Whose only desire, is to pilfer and steal,
And fill the people with heartache and woe.

But we are Americans, who stand for our rights,
A peace loving nation, but when abused will fight
For the freedom and justice our fathers gave us,
So for the same thing they fought, the same we must.

And though the years roll on, and still the battle roars,
But in the end the Stars and Stripes shall soar;
Up in the heavens, in a mighty sweep,
And over the world, 'til far out in the deep.

And God shall look down from on high,
With favor, and say, "For freedom your sons did die."
For yours is a heritage, for which to be proud,
So when the time comes, you stand with heads bowed,
And you'll say, "America, my country is free,
And, Oh dear God, we owe it all to Thee."

The above was composed by Robert Clements Ryle, Barrack 903, 617 Tech. School Sy. Sp., A. A. F. T. S., Madison, Wisconsin

NOTIFY SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD OF ANY CHANGES

It has come to the attention of the field office of the Social Security Board that many persons who have social security account numbers have changed their names through marriage or for other reasons and have never notified the Social Security Board, it was said today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager.

"It is advisable to notify the Board of any corrections that should be made in data on application blanks, such as date of birth, mother's and father's name, etc., and all changes in name," Mr. Decker said.

All residents of Northern Kentucky Counties may apply at the Covington field office for a change in records form. Those applying for a change in name should show their account number cards. If the card has been lost, a duplicate may be requested. A record of the number should be kept until a new account number card bearing the corrected name is received by the wage earner from the central office of the Board. The employer should also be informed of the change so that the name reported by him will be the same as shown on the corrected account number card.

The reporting of such corrections and changes is necessary in order that the Social Security Board may maintain accurate records at all times, Mr. Decker said. He added that it would not be necessary to report any change in address.

Just to make sure, a Midwest youth enlisted in both the Army and Navy. When the Army called him, he was at a Naval Training Station.

AN UNFAIR HANDICAP

Many parents who would sacrifice everything for a child's benefit thoughtlessly permit the child to face life handicapped by impaired sight. Glasses will not only help the child in lessons. Also they will restore confidence in his or her abilities! Bring the child in.

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedevilled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is really no end of the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of the body.

What can you do about it.

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided, "There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to rise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngster of eighteen. You will not be old at forty! There is no secret to it. You don't have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simpliest things in life bring the greatest joy.

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery, aches and pains due to foot comfort.—Adv.

Our men need tanks, ships and guns. The steel for these must be made from 50% scrap metal. But the Nation's steel mills don't have enough scrap on hand to last even 30 days more! Keep 'em running. Help build up a huge scrap stockpile—the bigger the better.

GO down into your basement—your storeroom. Climb up to the attic too. Look at the unused stuff you're sure to find, and realize how important these odds and ends can be.

Important to a kid half way around the world. Important to a blue-clad gob—to a flyer, racing to reach the target before some knifing Messerschmitt can find its mark.

That old metal means steel for these men. And steel means armor plate for safety—weapons and ships for Victory.

Without it they'll die. They're not afraid of that—but it's better to give a life for a cause than to be sacrificed by thoughtlessness. And it's better yet to live, knowing that the folks back home didn't let them down.

And we won't let them down! Monday starts our big scrap collection drive—and you're going to help make it a good one. Don't let up because you see a full junk yard or a brimming salvage depot. That's the way they've got to be to make sure the mills won't run out!

YOUR NEGLECT WILL COST SOME BRAVE BOY'S LIFE!

The Office of Price Administration cut the meat last week!

In order to conserve sufficient meat for the armed forces and for lend-lease purposes, the OPA set limits to the amount of beef, pork, veal, mutton, and lamb that may be distributed for civilian use

Deliveries to civilians from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 by those who slaughter more than 500,000 pounds a quarter were limited to the following percentages of such deliveries in the corresponding period of 1941: beef, 80 percent; pork 75 per cent; lamb and mutton, 95 percent; veal 100 per cent. Other slaughters were limited to the amount of their 1941 deliveries.

Shortly before this curb was set on meat deliveries, the OPA took action to check the rapidly rising cost of live cattle by limiting top prices which slaughterers and wholesalers may charge for the dressed product. Twenty-three cents a pound is the top price to be paid for choice or Grade AA steers and heifers at that level, for example.

This move eliminates the advantage held by certain buyers whose ceiling prices were unduly high and who, heretofore could afford to outbid buyers with lower ceiling prices.

Rubber Director William M. Jeffers asks all American newspapers, daily and weekly, to carry a special message as often as possible until gas rationing has been started. His suggested text for a "boxed" item was:

"You Can Save Rubber and Help Win The War If You Will Do These Things:

"Drive only when absolutely necessary; Keep under 35 miles an hour; keep your tires properly inflated; have them inspected regularly; share your car with others."

* * *

WPA officials have been directed to step up the training of women and older unskilled workers to fit them for skilled and semi-skilled jobs in war industries. Over 5,000,000 women must be added to payrolls in 15 months.

* * *

America's farms and dairies will make available almost 18,000 tons of steel for war production in the next 12 months by getting along with simpler and fewer milk cans. A WPB has limited the amount manufacturers can use and has ordered a reduction in the number of types.

* * *

Automobile graveyards are producing about 20 percent of all the iron and steel scrap being used in the war-time steel industry. That's how important your old jalopy has become. Call the scrap man if the old job is out of commission.

* * *

Retail grocers who attempt to evade WPB restrictions on roasted coffee by the sale of green coffee are in jeopardy of losing their entire coffee business and of suffering other penalties.

* * *

The nation is warned that its big scrap drive will produce large piles of metal which may stand for some time before being picked up. Victory stock piles cannot be moved away at once because of the transportation problem involved, but their size measures their community's determination to win the war.

* * *

The familiar mason jar, known to generations of housewives, is a war casualty, but it will survive. The WPB has banned the use of zinc for making lids after Oct. 10. The order saves enough material to make 35,000 tons of brass for munitions uses. Porcelain lids with steel rims will be used.

* * *

Maximum prices for 45 imported spices and spice seeds have been set.

* * *

A new OPA order raises the ceiling prices for attaching rubber toplifts to women's shoes, but eliminates the extra service charge for repairs made to the heel in the attaching process. The prices vary according to quality and sizes.

* * *

Special trains have been forbidden, new runs may not be added to railroad schedules and trains may not be run in extra sections unless such extra sections have been run at least 20 percent of the time in the last 90 days. A new ODT order acts to conserve equipment.

* * *

A supplementary recapping quota slightly more than doubles the month's original quota—and the OPA asks all eligible passenger car owners whose tire casing are worn smooth to apply at once for recapping certificates.

* * *

American shipyards have reached their promised goal of three ships a day.

* * *

Creation of a War Liabilities Adjustment Board to facilitate the use of all productive capacities during the war and to assure small business enterprises the opportunity of re-entering a competitive economy after the war ends has been suggested to the Senate by WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson.

* * *

All states have agreed to enforce the 35-mile speed limit. Anybody going faster is a Hitler-helper.

* * *

The OPA has "frozen" the sale of used tires and tubes and soon will ration used tires.

* * *

Retailers' representatives have been meeting with OPA men to work out ways of eliminating "luxury" services.

* * *

Preferred mileage for cars carrying students, teachers, and school employees to and from school is to be provided by the OPA.

* * *

The nation's 3,800 concrete products manufacturers have been urged to maintain production to supply these materials as a substitute for lumber, of which there is a shortage.

The Bureau of Governmental Requirements has urged schools and other public institutions to obtain supplies without priority aid, if possible, or to devise substitutes.

* * *

Men's rubber boots and work shoes have been rationed.

* * *

The munitions output increased 8 percent in August over the July figure, the WPB says.

* * *

Apple butter prices have been increased approximately 10 percent at the packer level.

MAIL SOLDIERS' XMAS GIFTS BEFORE NOVEMBER 1.

READ THE RULES—The following rules, issued by the Postoffice Department in cooperation with the Army Postal Service of the War Department, apply to the mailing of Christmas parcels for members of our Armed Forces serving outside the continental limits of the United States.

TIME OF MAILING—Christmas parcels and greeting cards should be mailed during the period beginning October 1 and ending November 1, 1942, the earlier the better. Each package should be endorsed, "Christmas Parcel." Special effort will be made for delivery in time for Christmas.

SIZE AND WEIGHT—Christmas parcels shall not exceed 11 pounds in weight, or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. However, the public has been urged to cooperate by voluntarily restricting parcels to the size of an ordinary shoe box and the weight to six pounds.

USE CARE IN PREPARATION—Remembering the great distance this mail will be transported and the necessary storage and frequent handling, it is absolutely necessary that articles be packed in substantial boxes or containers and be covered with wrappers of sufficient strength to resist pressure of other mail. Each parcel is subject to censorship and delay may be minimized by securing covering to permit ready inspection of contents.

PROHIBITED MATTER—Intoxicants, inflammable materials, poisons or compositions likely to damage mails are unmailable. No perishable matter should be included in parcels.

HOW TO ADDRESS PARCELS—Addresses must be legible. Parcels addressed to overseas Army personnel should show in addition to the full name and address of the sender, the name rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, A.P.O. number of the addressee and the postoffice through which parcels are to be routed. Units located within the continental United States may be addressed direct, using name, rank, organization and location.

POSTAGE MUST BE FULLY PREPAID—The rate on parcels of fourth-class matter (exceeding eight ounces) being the zone rate applicable from the postoffice where mailed to the postoffice in the care of which parcels are addressed.

GREETING MESSAGES PERMISSIBLE—Inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas", "Don't open until Christmas" and the like may be placed on the covering of the parcel if it does not interfere with the address. Cards may be enclosed and books may bear a simple dedicatory inscription.

INSURANCE AND REGISTRY—Gifts of value should be insured. Articles of small size and considerable value should be sealed and sent as first-class registered mail.

MONEY ORDERS—The Army Postal Service recommends use of postal money orders to transmit gifts of money to members of Armed Forces outside the United States. These are cashed at A.P.O. in local foreign currency at rate of exchange on date of presentation.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Candle-lighted love scenes are on their way out in Hollywood. What with wax, fat, suet and such being on the priorities lists and citizens purchasing candles by the thousands for use in blackouts, the studios are hard put to maintain a stock of candles. In "The Gay Sisters," for example, George Brent and Barbara Stanwyck were supposed to have a romantic scene over a candle-lit table in her apartment. But it was figured that because the candles would have to be of identical lengths in all angles and takes of the shot, two dozen candles would have to be used.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

The history of the United States mail is faithfully recounted in the Wallace Beery film, "Jackass Mail," at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

The Jackass Mail spanned the gap between the pony express and the arrival of the railroad in the great Southwest. Marjorie Main plays the owner of a spur line of the mail in the picture, which accurately depicts the dangers that threatened the mail drivers in the 1850's.

RED CROSS NURSE MAKES MONTHLY REPORT

All county schools were visited by the nurse during September, and most of the children in the second grade had a full health inspection.

There is an unusual amount of impetigo (fall sores) this year. The best way to handle this would be for each child to go to his doctor for treatment. This is done as far as possible, but some of the children cannot get to a doctor, and for these we are trying to treat them through the school.

A young girl whose case has just been diagnosed as tuberculosis is in a serious condition. There are a number of small children in the family, and if possible she will be sent to the one and only State Sanitarium in the state, which is overcrowded, and even if one has the money it is next to impossible to get in. No one can go for less than $1.25 per day plus X-ray and other incidental expenses.

One of our P.-T.A.s which thought it could not do anything on corrections last year, has appointed a committee for this work and asked the nurse to report needy cases.

Several urgent tonsil cases are pending until plans can be made to get them done.

If the tire and gas rationing do not prohibit, a Home Nursing Class will be started in Bullittsville district in October. This is the same class which was started last spring, but the women were too busy with gardens and canning to get to it, so it was decided to postpone the class until fall.

Plans for October are mostly work in schools and emergencies.

Storage Demonstrations

Mr. Jesse Brooks, from the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, will give the following storage demonstrations:

Wednesday, October 7, 12:30 E. W. T.—New Haven School; 2:30 E. W. T. Colored Homemakers at Walton Colored Church

Thursday, October 8, 2:30 E. W. T.—George Casper, on Limaburg Road. Everyone is invited to attend.

GROWS 10 TOBACCOS

Luke Jones, a farmer in Robertson county, Kentucky, grew 10 varieties of burley tobacco this year. All were inoculated with mosaic disease, and five were badly affected. Kentucky 52 and 53 did the best, with 52 maturing earlier than 53. County Agent A. A. Williams reports the best tobacco crop in years in Robertson county.

A Week of The War

Following passage by Congress of the Second Price Control Act, President Roosevelt ordered ceilings placed over wages, salaries, profits, farm prices and rents, and appointed Supreme Court Justice James F. Byrnes as Director of Economic Stabilization with the job of developing a national economic policy.

Justice Byrnes resigned from the Court to accept the new position. He will have authority over all Government agencies in the economic field and will be assisted by a fourteen-man Economic Stabilization Board composed of eight agency heads and six private citizens.

Maximum Prices and Rents

Immediately following the President's Executive Order, Price Administrator Henderson imposed emergency 60-day price ceilings on virtually all exempt food items, bringing 90 percent of the family food budget under rigid control. Previously only 60 percent was controlled. Under control for the first time are butter, cheese, evaporated and condensed milk, eggs, poultry, flour, dry onions, potatoes, fresh and canned fruits and juices, dry edible beans, cornmeal and mutton. Food retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and processors are affected. Each dealer's price is frozen at the highest level he charged in the five days September 28 to October 2, inclusive. The permanent ceilings later may entail some price reductions, Mr. Henderson said.

Administrator Henderson also completed new orders freezing all uncontrolled urban and rural rents at levels of last March 1. He announced the Office of Price Administration would amend existing regulations to prevent eviction of tenants resulting from sales of rental property, a practice which he said in many cases has become a device to avoid the effect of rent control. Previously rent control was limited to approximately 400 designated defense rental areas.

Stabilization of Wages

The President's Order had the effect of freezing all wage rates for the time being until the National War Labor Board has a chance to act in individual cases. Wage rates may not be changed—up or down—without the approval of the NWLB. The Board may adjust wages "to correct maladjustments or inequalities, to eliminate substandards of living, to correct gross inequities, or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war."

Salaries in excess of $5,000 a year may not be increased without the approval of Stabilization Director Byrnes unless an individual has been assigned to more difficult or more responsible work. Director Byrnes was given power to place a $25,000 limit on salaries after taxes but with due allowance for life insurance premiums and fixed obligations previously incurred.

Farm Prices and Production

Mr. Roosevelt ordered prices of raw and processed Agricultural commodities "stabilized, so far as practicable," at September 15 levels and in conformity with the standards laid down in the new law. The new price control law provides farm price ceilings cannot be set below parity or below the highest market level between January 1 and September 15, 1942, whichever is higher. If such ceilings are too low to reflect increases in farm labor and other costs since January 1, 1941, the President is directed to raise them. The Legislation calls for a 90 percent parity "floor" under cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts, the floor to be established by means of loans. The loans may be held down to 85 percent, however, on corn and wheat used for feeding livestock and poultry.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard, speaking at Tylertown, Miss., said Agriculture in wartime must be limited to "producing only the farm products which are absolutely essential." He said farm production for 1942, nearly a record, might not be exceeded for years, and future production might not be sufficient for all needs at home and abroad. "Next year we will need a farm production even greater than this year's (but) I am not at all sure that total production will be even as large."

The War Front

The Navy announced that U. S. Army troops, "covered and supported by units" of the U. S. Navy, have recently occupied positions in the Andreanof group of the Aleution Islands. Occupation was effected without enemy opposition. This chain of some 24 islands stretches for 240 miles and the largest of the islands is about 275 miles from Japanese-occupied Kiska and is well adapted for use as an air base. The Navy said U. S. heavy bombers and fighter craft are already operating from air fields in these islands.

During a week of heavy fighting in New Guinea, Gen. MacArthur's ground forces drove the enemy back some 40 miles from a point 32 air miles from the Allied base of Port Moresby past Efogi village, last important Japanese base on the southern side of the Owen Stanley mountains, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported October 5. American Flying Fortresses based in Britain attacked an airframe factory at Meaulte and a German airfield at St. Omer October 2nd, and returned without losses after shooting down 13 enemy fighters.

U. S. submarines operating in Far Eastern waters sank five enemy ships and probably sank two more, and damaged another. Army, Navy and Marine Corps fliers from September 25 to 28 destroyed 42 Japanese aircraft and damaged three others in the Solomons, without combat loss of any U. S. planes, and hit two enemy cruisers, damaged another ship and probably sank a large transport. The Navy reported the 8,378-ton Naval transport George F. Elliott and the small transport Gregory were sunk in the Solomons but most of their personnel was saved. The Navy announced Oct. 5 that the 1,526 ton submarine Grunion has been overdue in the Pacific for some time and "must be presumed to be lost." The normal completment of the vessel would be 5 officers and men. The torpedo sinking of four more United Nations merchantmen was announced.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

The many friends and relatives of Jess Louden, Sr., gathered at his home Sunday to help celebrate his 66th birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Louden, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Fleek and son, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fleek and Jean and Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Louden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leeomer Louden, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Louden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harrod and son, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jarrell, Mr. and Mrs. Paris Kelly and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kelly and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Pendry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Flave Louden, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCormick and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Louden and baby, Mrs. F. H. Webster and son, Paul Alvin Presser, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Louden, Mrs. Marie West and daughter and Miss Loretta Snelling, Mrs. Albert A. Staggs and Anna Mae, Mrs. Hubert Louden and son, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Lambert, Duley Koons and the host and sons Robert and Wendell and daughter Zelma Lee.

A Philadelphia refining company recently junked old and idle equipment and obsoleter plants, netting about 1,000 tons of steel for the scrap metal campaign—or enough to provide all the steel needed in manufacture of fifty Flying fortresses.

Deadline On Capital Stock Taxes Set Nov. 28

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue announced today that an extension had been granted to November 28, 1942, for the filing without penalty of capital stock tax returns for the year ended June 30, 1942. This action was authorized by a Joint Resolution recently passed by Congress and approved by the President September 29, 1942. The law in effect before the approval of the Joint Resolution required the filing of returns by July 31, 1942, but authorized the Commissioner to grant an extension of not to exceed sixty days. The effect of the Joint Resolution was to permit an extension of an additional sixty days, or until November 28, 1942.

AIRPORT LAND IS PURCHASED

GO-AHEAD SIGNAL FOR CONSTRUCTION OF BOONE COUNTY AIRPORT GIVEN AT SPECIAL MEETING.

The go-ahead signal for construction of Kenton County's $2,000,000 airport in Boone County was given at a special meeting of the Kenton County Fiscal Court, Tuesday.

Action on the matter was in the form of a resolution, which received unanimous approval of members of the court, and will be sent immediately to the Civil Aeronautics Administration authorizing the beginning of construction on the project.

Kenton County Attorney William E. Wehrman informed the court that all negotiations for the airport site have been completed, all rights obtained, and that work may proceed on the project.

He told the court that he has completed purchase of an additional area of about 57 acres at a cost of $11,500. This ground was needed to allow clearance at the ends of runways on the airport.

Approximately 800 acres comprise the original site, and the cost of all of the land totals $113,000, Mr. Wehrman said.

The court directed Mr. Wehrman Tuesday to file three condemnation suits for 100-foot rights-of-way for construction of the proposed new highway from the airport, over Commonwealth avenue, Erlanger, to the Dixie Highway. The roadway will have a 40-foot surface. Highway Department officials are to get construction on it under way as soon as all rights-of-way are cleared, it has been reported.

Report Scrap Metal Sold Thru Any Source

A lot of scrap material from the county is being hauled to dealers without any record by the Salvage Committee. Unless this information is obtained such material is not counted in the county's totals, the work of those concerned is almost doubled and the owner, too, will be subjected to repeated requests and trouble from unnecessary call backs.

Please therefore report any scrap hauled in by your own truck or hired truckers. Give date, your name, address and total pounds to one of the following:

County Agents office, Burl. 412.
Boone County Recorder, Burl. 30.
Walton Advertiser, Wal. 30.
Mr. Allen H. Gaines, Wal. 33.
J. B Heizer, Jr, Wal 1365.

Mrs. Mayme Hawes is improving nicely, following an injury to her foot, which she received Monday, when a heavy piece of furniture fell on her ankle. She was removed to Christ Hospital for examination. X-rays proved that no bones were broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kneipp (nee Mary Blanch Rouse) are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl, born October 8th at Christ Hospital, named Verna Lee.

RENT CONTROL AFFECTS BOONE

LEVEL MUST GO BACK TO MARCH 1ST IN BOONE, KENTON AND CAMPBELL COUNTIES.

Federal control of residential rents, including freezing of rents at the level prevailing March 1, will be established in Boone, Kenton and Campbell Counties, November 1st, the Office of Price Administration in Washington announced.

These three Northern Kentucky counties will be a part of the Cincinnati area, which will also include Hamilton, Butler, Clermont and Warren Counties in Ohio. The local area is one of 97 defense-rental areas in the United States and Alaska over which such Federal control will be established.

The new order will affect approximately 982,000 persons in the Cincinnati area. A rent control director will be named for this area.

"Legal control of rents and complete stoppage of unwarranted evictions will be in effort for over half of the nation's entire population by November 1," Leon Henderson said.

Fugate Child Bitten By Rabid House Cat

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fugate, of near Bullittsville was bitten by a house cat Saturday and remained in a serious condition Tuesday afternoon, at which time it was discovered that the cat was infected with rabies.

According to Mr. Robt. Grant, owner of the farm on which the Fugates reside, the small child was playing with what appeared to be a very tame house cat that had come to the Fugate home when the cat attacked the child, causing severe wounds on the legs and feet.

The cat was killed by Sheriff J. T. Williams, Monday, and the head sent to the Lexington Public Laboratory for inspection. Late Tuesday afternoon an answer was received by the Sheriff that the head showed a very bad case of rabies and recommended that treatment be started immediately.

B. C. Gaines Receives Fractured Leg Thurs.

Mr. Bernard Gaines, Burlington, suffered a fractured leg last Thursday and was removed to Christ Hospital, Cincinnati for treatment where he remained until Sunday.

Mr. Gaines was injured as he jumped from the barn loft into a pile of loose hay in the driveway of his barn near Burlington. Both bones in his left knee were broken below the knee. He was returned from the hospital Sunday and is reported to be doing fine at this writing.

RENAKER NAMED BANK PRESIDENT

AT MEETING HELD SATURDAY BY BOARD OF DIRECTORS—G. S. KELLY PROMOTED TO CASHIER.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peoples Deposit Bank at Burlington, held last Saturday afternoon, to fill the vacancy of President, caused by the death of Judge N. E. Riddell, A. B. Renaker, cashier was promoted to the Presidency. W. P. Beemon, who has been acting head of the bank since the death of Judge Riddell retains the office of First Vice President. C. L. Cropper, assistant cashier was promoted to second vice president and board member, and G. S. Kelly, assistant cashier was promoted to cashier. Miss Nell H. Martin retains her position as assistant cashier. Miss Lucille Cotton has been added to the personnel as stenographer and bookkeeper and will assume her duties with the bank November 1st.

It will be of interest to the stockholders to know that all of this has been accomplished with a substantial saving in annual salary expenses over the past year.

Mr. Renaker, a brother-in-law of Judge Riddell has been with the bank as cashier since organization 37 years ago. The bank opened for business on November 6, 1905.

Mr. Beemon has been in continuous service with the bank as director since organization and has never missed but two board meetings within that time. He was elevated to the vice presidency upon the death of A. W. Corn a year ago and has been acting head of the bank since the death of Judge Riddell, September 1st. The board insisted that Mr. Beemon accept the presidency, but on account of his age and extensive farming interests he declined and requested that a younger man, Mr. Renaker, accept this position. Judge Cropper has been with this bank and its merged institution for the past 17 years and was appointed County Judge to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Riddell's death. Judge Cropper will give a limited part of his time to banking duties as his office of County Judge will permit.

Mr. Kelly has been with this bank and its merged institution for the past 25 years. Miss Martin has been with the Peoples Deposit Bank for the past 32 years. Miss Cotton was bookkeeper in the Sheriff's office four years for her father, W. B. Cotton, and at present is secretary to H. R. Forkner, County Agent..

While titles have changed with some of the present officers, their duties will be approximately the same. Chas. W. Riley, County Attorney has been retained as attorney for the bank.

Resources of the bank at present stand over a million and a quarter dollars.

Members of the Board at present are: W. P. Beemon, A. B. Renaker, Al Rogers, Dr. S. B Nunnelley, C F Blankenbeker, F. L. McGlasson, and C. L. Cropper.

Utopia Club Meets Thursday, Oct. 22

Boone County Utopia Club members will hold their October meeting at Burlington on Thursday, October 22nd, at 8:30 p. m., according to Elva Akin, reporter.

Home storage and home canning discussions will be led by Lucien Bradford and Elizabeth Forkner. All members and others interested in Utopia Club work are urged to attend.

Feldhaus-Noble

Miss Jeanette Feldhaus and Mr. Daniel Noble were quietly united in marriage Saturday, October 3 at 2 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Roy A. Johnson, pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church.

Miss Feldhaus was attired in a tailored ensemble of soldier blue and cola brown. Her mother, the only one present for the ceremony was dressed in black. Mr. Noble was attired in a navy blue suit.

At present the young couple are making their home with Mr. Noble's mother, Mrs. James Noble, of Petersburg.

Their many friends in Boone County wish them many years of happiness.

Miss Alma Rouse, of Walton, Mrs. Otis Rouse and Mrs. George Porter were dinner guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Sullivan.

Receives Promotion

Corp. Willard L. Stephens

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Stephens, Burlington, received word recently that their son, Corp. Willard L. Stephens, has recently been promoted to the rank of Corporal, having been in the service for sixteen months.

Corporal Stephens, better known here as "Punk" is now stationed at Ft. Omaha, Nebraska in the Quartermaster Detachment. He entered the armed services in June 1941.

LEGION POSTS TO HOLD MEETING

ANNUAL MEETING HELD OCTOBER 6

BY BOONE COUNTY HOMEMAKERS AT FLORENCE—"KEEPING THE HOME FIRES BURNING" THEME OF MEETING.

"Keeping the Home Fires Burning" was the theme of the 7th Annual Meeting of the Boone County Homemakers' Association which was held at the Florence Methodist Church, Tuesday, October 6th. Mrs. Alan Gaines, Walton, president had charge of the program which began at 10:30 E. W. T.

Singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and a Salute to the Flag gave a patriotic note to the opening. A moment of silence in recognition of men in the Nation's Service was followed by the reading of the "Collect for Club women," by Mrs. Roscoe Garrison, Burlington.

In greeting the assemblage, Mrs. Gaines pointed to the world situation as it affects local people, and challenged each Homemaker to make her opportunities count most for the Peace which is sought in Victory.

The theme song "Keep the Home Fires Burning," led by a quartet, Mrs Virginia Goodridge, Mrs. Mabel Sayre, Mrs. Virgil Grayson

SCRAP COLLECTION TOTALS 419,255 LBS.

IN FIRST DAY OF DRIVE—COUNTY QUOTA SET AT 541 TONS—AWARDS TO BE GIVEN FOR GREATEST NUMBER POUNDS.

Four hundred nineteen thousand two hundred fifty-five pounds of scrap material were reported as collected in the County last Monday night, when the School Children's Campaign neared it closing and the Newspaper Campaign opened. Over 360,615 pounds were trucked, carried dragged and pushed by wheelbarrow to the school yards where the children weighed, sorted and built mountainous piles under supervision of principals and teachers. This is a remarkable showing.

The schools of the county have done a wonderful job in the scrap drive, and more is yet to come in as we go to press. In the several schools in the county, there was approximately a total of 360,615 pounds of scrap late Tuesday afternoon. This means that for each child in school in Boone County, there was an approximate average of 190 pounds collected.

When the schools have completed their tabulations, and their totals finally checked, we will publish a total of each school, and its per capita rating.

This makes a wonderful start in the campaign sponsored by the State's newspapers, in which our County's quota is 541 tons by October 31st. But no one can afford to lighten their efforts in this vital service to our Country. A lot more remains to be done and we are all resolved that the county shall disgorge its last pound this month.

The farm-to-farm and home-to-home canvass starts this week and every one will be urged to avail themselves of the privilege to donate or sell until all scrap material is gone its way. Please gather and have yours ready now for immediate delivery.

The County Salvage Committee will offer a $25.00 Series E War Bond to the Scout, 4-H Club, Future Farmer or other high school boy who, in this canvass secures delivery of the greatest number of pounds over 40,000. Rules for this award will be made known to those boys engaged for this work.

Two Men Fined For Violation Of Victory Speed Limit

Two men, both of Kenton County, were arrested and brought before Judge C. L. Cropper this week for violation of the new Victory speed limit of 35 miles per hour. Both were fined, one receiving a fine of $10.00 and costs and the other $25.00 and costs, according to the extent of the violation.

Judge Cropper stated that be intended to enforce the new law and that all violators brought before him would be fined.

Revival Services Set For October 19th By Bullittsville Church

Revival services will start at the Bullittsville Christian Church, October 19th at 8:00 p. m. E. W. T., it was announced this week.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

CERTIFICATES ARE REQUIRED

TO OPERATE TRUCKS AFTER NOVEMBER 15—TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEES TO BE SET UP IN COUNTY.

The office of Defense Transportation has issued General Order ODT 21 requiring that all trucks operated after November 15, 1942 have a certificate of war necessity. Because of the importance of moving farm products to processing, storage and consumption centers, the Department of Agriculture will, through State and County USDA War Boards establish county Farm Transportation Committees and otherwise make its facilities available to assist the Office of Defense Transportation and Office of Price Administration with the regulation and rationing programs as they affect transportation of farm products.

Information received at the County Agent's office states that the County Agricultural War Board will set up the County Transportations Committee according to instructions. The committee is to be composed of the Chairman of the County AAA, two farmer representatives; a truck representative and a dealer of farm supplies in the county; an alternate member having the necessary qualifications shall be appointed by the County U. S. D. A. War Board for each members other than the chairman.

Broadly, the , responsibility of these committees will, include: (1) Developing transportation programs within the county; (2) assisting farmers and truckers hauling farm products and supplies to fill out the applications for Certificates of War Necessity, and (3) assisting farmers in submitting applications for new trucks.

Graves-Doane

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Graves and Mr. Tommy Doane was quietly solemnized on Monday, September 21 at 8 p. m. at the home of Rev. Charles Grant, pastor of the Methodist Church.

The bride wore a gold woolen dress with brown accessories, and a shoulder corsage of gladioli. Her attendant, Miss Marjorie Adams wore a gold woolen dress with black accessories and a corsage of gladioli. Roy Clements acted as best man.

Mrs. Doane has been secretary at the State Feeble-Minded Institute for five years, and will continue to make her home in this city.

Mr. Doane, who formerly resided in Frankfort, is now stationed with the second Marine Aircraft Wing at the United States Naval Air Station in San Diego, Calif., as pharmacist mate.

His many friends of Boone County wish him luck and happiness.

Remember our boys in Service—keep them happy with mail.

Specialist Discusses Local Storage Problems

Simple methods of improving home storage of fruits and vegetables were demonstrated by Jesse Books, Extension Engineer, College of Agriculture, in a meeting at George Casper's farm near Hebron on last Thursday, according to the county extension office.

Methods of improving the keeping qualities of home basement and cellar structures and construction of small earth mounds were demonstrated at the meeting. Plans for improving and the construction of home storage facilities are included in Extension Circular No. 266 which is available at the County Extension office.

FARM BUREAU PLANS MEETING

JOE BETTS, DISTRICT ORGANIZATION DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES MEETING FOR FRIDAY, NOV. 20TH.

The Kentucky Farm Bureau has completed plans for holding a meeting at Burlington in Boone County on Friday evening, November 20, according to Joe Betts, District Organization Director. A number of Boone County farmers have requested that a meeting with representatives of the Farm Bureau be held.

The Farm Bureau has been the most active farmers' organization working on State and National Farm problems. It is hoped that all farmers interested in a strong farmer organization will make plans to attend this meeting next month. Boone is the only county in the Northern Kentucky District that does not have a Farm Bureau organization at the present time.

Miss Carolyn Cropper and Edward Rogers, Jr., attended the football game between the University of Cincinnati and Centre College last Saturday night.

BUY MORE WAR BONDS!

There is a great deal of talk at this time concerning proposals for enforced purchasing of War Bonds. Some such plan as this may become inevitable under any circumstances. And it is certain to be adopted in the relatively near future unless the people substantially increase their voluntary purchasing of Bonds and Stamps.

The Treasury some time ago established a goal of $1,000,000,000 worth of Bond and Stamp sales monthly. That goal has not been reached. It must be reached and passed if the war is to be properly financed, and if excess purchasing power, the creator of inflation, is to be reduced.

American business has responded superbly to the War Savings challenge. The banks, for example long ago started stressing War Bonds in their advertising and in displays. They have done everything in their power to encourage the public to buy, and they have paid out of their own pockets the heavy promotion costs.

A similar work on a nation-wide scale is being done by retailers. The chains were the pioneers, and thousands of independent stores have joined in. Retailers are making special efforts to increase the sales of Stamps as well as Bonds, and they have been notably successful. A very high percentage of all War Savings are made thru stores today. In their case, as with banks, the participating stores are paying all the expenses, and they are promoting Stamps and Bonds in every possible way.

The public has responded fairly well to these drives—but not well enough. In these days, when wages are at record levels and almost any many or woman can quickly obtain a good job, all of us can afford to take all or part of our change in Stamps when we shop in stores. All of us can afford to buy one or more Bonds each pay day. Certainly, giving up some luxuries is a mighty small price to pay to help the war effort along. The duty of every American is plain—to cut his personal expenditures severely, and to put the money into War Savings. Remember that next time you go to a bank or to a retail store featuring Bonds and Stamps.

EXPERTS ARE WRONG

Before Pearl Harbor, the feeling was generally held in this country that Japan was a third-rate military power which could be soundly defeated in a matter of weeks or months. Alleged experts had long written that Japan's military equipment was inferior, that her navy was in no way a match for ours, and that she was on the verge of economic collapse. Since December 7, we have learned how tragically wrong these experts were. Japanese army striking power is very great, and her generals know the art of warfare. The individual Japanese soldier is crafty, brave, cruel, fearless of death, and fanatically determined on victory.

Up to recently, the bulk of the American people also held another theory concerning Japan. They believed that the majority of the Japanese people were pacific and desirous of peace, and that the nation was thrust into war by a handful of warlords who controlled the Japanese army, navy and civil government. Once Japanese forces were given sharp set-backs by the United Nations, many reasoned, the warlords would lose face at home and the present military government would be replaced by a popular government which would sue for peace.

That is a heartening theory, perhaps—but, unfortunately, men who are in the best position to understand the Japanese character have small faith in it. Ambassador Grew, who represented the United States in Tokyo for ten years, and who recently returned to this country as part of the exchange of diplomats between belligerents, has made a number of extremely interesting speeches and statements on the subject. Mr. Grew says, in essence, that Japanese leaders have completely "sold" the Japanese people on this war. Anti-British and anti-American propaganda has been an official Japanese activity for many years, and has been carefully nurtured by the controlled Jap press and radio. The unspeakable treatment given captured United Nations soldiers by the Japanese in Hong Kong and elsewhere, is the direct reflection of that propaganda. The ordinary Japanese trooper reflects the point of view of the common people of Japan—and he is as cruel and fanatical as his leaders.

The civilian population of Japan has accepted, apparently willingly, sacrifices which are almost incredible. In Japan everything is rationed. The clothing and the food available for civilians is qualitatively bad—everything must go to the army and navy. The masses of the people eke out an existence on rations which would cause swift starvation in most countries. But they don't complain. They are convinced that the price is well worth paying for the "glorious destiny" which their Samurai leaders have promised. They work tremendously long hours, and they have little relaxation and no luxuries. Prices have gone up while wages have remained stationary. Yet they look forward with confidence and longing to the day when the United States and Britain will be crushed, and Jap leaders will dictate harsh peace terms in conquered Washington and London.

In view of some realists, the Jap may, in the long run, prove to be a tougher nut than the German. In the last war, Germany cracked fast once she began to suffer severe defeats. The Teutonic fanaticism is hardly on the same scale as that of the Oriental with his implicit faith that death in battle will be followed by an eternity in the happiest and most abundant of heavens. The Japanese people, these authorities argue, will never accept defeat, or ask for peace. They will go on fighting—and increase their barbaric practices—to the very end. Therefore, the only way to beat Japan is to scourge her at home. It is important that we take back the territories she has conquered, with their rich resources—but it will not prove decisive.

The Japanese islands are roughly about the size of the single state of Montana. Inside some 1,500,000 square miles are all the Japanese centers of population, all the Japanese factories, all the Japanese facilities of production and transport and distribution. Due to her lack of coal, she has attained an extraordinarily high degree of electrification, and the bulk of her industries are powered from a series of hydro-electric installations in the mountains. Before she can be crushed, it is likely that it will be necessary to knock out these installations, and make her industrially impotent. And that will require air raids on an unprecedented scale. It is generally believed that her defenses against raids, in her vital factory areas, are very good.

The Solomon Islands action marked the start of our offensive in the Pacific. Before that, we were almost entirely engaged in defensive operations. How long it will be before we can take the offensive on a major scale, either in the Pacific or in Europe, is a question that can only be answered by the High Command—and when the time comes, it will speak with deeds, not words. It is a gigantic undertaking, and it will be long and arduous.

RUBBER AND GAS

The Baruch report on the rubber question marked an intelligent and forthright approach to the country's Number 1 domestic problems. The most important recommendations concern national gasoline rationing, a 35-mile speed limit, compulsory tire inspection, production of synthetic rubber at the rate of 1,100,000 tons a year—and the suggestion that more rubber be made available to the public for retreading and recapping tires in order to maintain necessary civilian driving.

No one can deny that the elimination of unessential driving is now necessary. But we must not make the mistake of establishing an arbitrary rationing system which would cripple production in many parts of the country. In the West, for instance, thousands of people must drive 20, 50 or 100 miles a day in the course of their farming and business operations. If this part of the country was too severely limited in auto use, there would be a catastrophic slow-down in activity in all lines.

The big thing now is to make unprecedented efforts to increase synthetic rubber production—as well as to conserve what rubber we have in all practical ways. The appointment of William M. Jeffers as chief of the rubber drive, is a step in the right direction. Mr. Jeffers is a business man of distinction, and he is a man who is used to getting results.

The American car owner will cooperate fully in any program laid down by the government. And it is the duty of the government to place in effect a wise and flexible system of rationing and conservation which will permit necessary driving for civilians, according to location and activity.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GROWTH IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:40-52; II Peter 1:1-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.—II Peter 3:18.

Growth is a normal thing. We expect it of the child, and when it fails we know that something is wrong. Just so there is something very decidedly wrong in the life of the Christian who fails to grow in grace. If a child fails to grow we are alarmed, but if a Christian does not grow we hardly notice it, or at most only express our regret. We need a revial.

I. Normal Children Will Grow (Luke 2:40-52).

While Christ was God manifest in the flesh, He was at the same time true man, and as a boy He developed and grew in a normal way.

Unless we meet the tragedy of arrested development we need have no concern about the fact that a child will grow physically, mentally and spiritually. The Lord has placed in the babe in a mother's arms the potential qualities of the man or woman to come. Our chief responsibility is to provide the opportunity for the development of those abilities and qualities which the child has, and of guiding that growth in the right direction.

That is all a parent has to do, but it is enough to call for all the wisdom, judgment, patience and skill of the best of us. Yes, and even that is not enough, we need the wisdom of God and His grace upon our lives to do this vital work as we ought.

The qualities in a boy or girl which will count gloriously for God may be dreadfully effective for Satan if we permit him to get control of our children. May God help us to be alert and skillful in rearing our boys and girls.

While it is true that we can do more for the guidance of physical and mental growth than spiritual (because that is a matter of the grace of God), we can lead the steps of the little child to the house of God; we can teach him to pray and to trust God, and we can set an example of godly living before him. That is all we can do; but again we say, it is enough to demand our best effort and more.

II. Normal Christians Will Grow (II Pet. 1:1-8).

In Christ there are "all things that pertain unto life and godliness." There is no need of some added experience, of some new and striking enducement, for all the unbelievably great possibilities of Christian grace and growth are in Him. We need only to recognize that fact and yield to Him, and there will be the full development of Christian life and experience.

We have, in practice, so far departed from the normal in Christian life that we can hardly believe that the above is true. In place of the normal Christian life according to God's standard, we have established a standard based on the average Christian life. If we equal it we are satisfied, and if perchance we surpass it we count ourselves among the "more spiritual" ones. And all the time the average standard is far below the normal Christian life which God not only expects, but is ready to enable and empower us to live.

Peter tells us in this passage that the great and precious promises of God in Christ are not only to enable us to escape the corruption of this sinful world, but to go on to a place where we will neither "be barren nor unfruitful" Christians. How will this come about? Verses 5-7 tell us.

Faith supplies in itself (rather than "add to," v. 5), if there is "diligence" (that is, true Christian devotion), a number of other splendid qualities. First comes "virtue"—really moral courage, or nobility of character. What a fine step forward! Then comes "knowledge," that is, a discernment which will give practical skill in effective daily living for Christ. Such spiritual discernment will naturally lead to "self-control" — something much needed by most Christians.

The self-controlled one will always have "patience," that is, the endurance to stand every hardship and trial. We need to be more patient not only with others, but also with ourselves, even in this matter of Christian growth of which we are speaking.

A life like that is a life of "godliness," which will blossom out into real "brotherly kindness." There isn't too much of that in the world today, even among Christians. Let's revive it! Then what? The one who loves his brother will love the whole world (charity, in v. 8, should read "love"). Why not? Are we not all brethren, who know Christ, regardless of race, position or creed?

Let such virtues "abound" (v. 8), and no Christian life will lack in rich fruitfulness for God in Christ. If Christian people would let the new life within them grow, it would surprise us and them what God would do through them for His own glory

Poor posture may be directly caused by defective reasons eyestrain, impaired hearing, or bone defects which may occur in children during adolescence. Thrusting the head forward to see better may be associated with nearsightedness. Cocking the head toward a speaker may indicate loss of hearing, or bone defects which may indicate loss of hearing in one ear. Marked "round shoulders" may be a sign of some disease of the bones of the spine. All children should have competent and thorough physical examination, including tests of sight and hearing, before entering school, and at regular intervals thereafter.

If the mind and the body are healthy, the will is after all, the directing factor in maintaining good posture or correcting bad posture. The feet play a very important part in body balance, as they support the entire weight of the body both in standing and in moving and holding it upright against the downward pull of gravity. The feet being the foundation of the body are very important in regard to good posture and without proper fitted shoes, weakness will develop in the muscles causing the bones of the feet to sag and throwing the whole body out of posture. You cannot have good health and unhappy feet.—Adv.

HAVE BETTER LIGHT FOR BETTER SIGHT

The precious eyesight of little children needs all the protection that good lighting can offer, to avoid the dangers of eyestrain. Although most babies are born with good eyes, by school age one in five children has defective vision and by college age the number has increased to two out of five.

For the sake of your children's eyes, as well as those of others in the family, check up on your lighting today. Don't risk eyestrain when good light is so cheap.

Ask for a free light meter check-up of your lighting. Let us measure the amount of light you now have and show you how it can be improved at small cost. There is no charge for this service. Phone for an appointment today.

A Week of The War

U. S. Army Headquarters in Britian reported that 115 American Bombers, in their first large-scale daylight sweep over Occupied France, shot down 48 Nazi planes, probably destroyed 38 more and seriously damaged at least 19. Never before had so many German planes been shot down in a single operation over Western Europe as we brought down by the massed fire of the American Flying Fortresses and Consolidated B-24's. Only four American ships were lost and the crew of one was saved. The bombers made a destructive attack on the Lille industrial area.

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters in Australia announced October 12 that Lockheed medium bombers scored two direct hits on a large Japanese seaplane tender in the Solomon area between the Bismarck and Solomon Islands. The Navy reported October 10 a Japanese destroyer was sunk and a heavy cruiser and destroyer were damaged by American airmen during continued enemy attempts to land reinforcements on Guadalcanal. The enemy under cover of darkness made several small landings in the Solomons, but U. S. forces shot down 21 Japanese planes, torpedoed a cruiser, and bomber and strafed enemy troops and equipment on Guadalcanal. Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters also announced that the biggest force of Flying Fortresses ever sent against a target in the Australian zone made an unusually destructive raid on the largest Japanese base in this area, Rabaul. Australian troops continued to drive the enemy back into the Owen Stanley Mountains and removed the threat to the Allied base of Port Moresby.

From new bases in the Andrean-of Group of the Aleutians, Army bombers, escorted by Airacobra and Lightning fighters, kept Japanese held Kiska—less than an hour's flying time away—under "continual fire" during the week. The Navy reported aerial reconnaissance showed the Japanese apparently had given up their hold on both Attu and Agattu in the Western Aleutians and concentrated on Kiska.

War Taxes

The Senate passed and sent to conference with the House the 1942 War Revenue Bill which the Treasury estimated will yield $9 billion in new revenue annually. Of this total approximately $1,076 million would be refundable because the bill provides an extra 5 percent "Victory Tax" on all individual incomes above $12 a week. —part of which would be refunded as a credit on other taxes a year later or as a post war refund. The new bill will make 42 to 44 million persons subject to Federal taxes, compared with 28 million at present, and will bring total Federal revenue up to $26 billion year.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson announced a five-step Government plan to keep every passenger car rolling for essential mileage" throughout the war: (1) Rationing of used tires and recaps, and new tires now in stock, to provide as far as possible the minimum essential mileage to each of the nation's passenger cars. (2) Actual control of each car's mileage thru the rationing of gasoline to prevent uncessary driving and to hold the national average down to 5,000 miles per car per year. (3) Compulsory periodic inspection of all tires to guard against abuse and to prevent wear beyond the point where they can be recapped. (4) Denial of gasoline and of tire replacement to cars whose drivers persistently violate the national 35-mile-an-hour speed limit. (5) Capacity use, through car sharing, of every car on every trip so far as possible.

Fuel oil consumers in the 30 States affected by oil rationing will be able to obtain their ration application forms from their dealers soon after October 13 and should fill them out as soon as possible and mail or deliver them to local War Price and Rationing Boards, OPA said. Fuel oil ration coupons for private dwellings will be worth 10 gallons each for the first heating period—October and November—the OPA announced. Coupon sheets for the entire five periods of the heating season will be issued shortly, OPA said, but only those for the first period will be assigned a definite gallonage value in order to assure flexibility" in fuel oil allotments

Maximum Prices

Price Administrator Henderson announced a new alternative pricing formula, effectived October 15, for the following groups of food products: breakfast cereals, canned fish, coffee, sugar, cooking and salad oils, canned fish, coffee, sugar, cooking and salad oils, canned vegetables, dried fruit, lard, rice, hydrogenated shortenings and other shortenings. The action, which will result in "slightly higher prices" for consumers, was taken to relieve pressure on wholesalers and retailers caught between March quotations under the general regulation and the amounts they must pay producers. Mr. Henderson said American housewives should check the prices of food brought under price control last week by making a list of the prices paid from September 28 to October 2 for the various items of the same quantity and quality.

Civilian Supply

The War Production Board cut the production of flashlight batteries 50 percent and other types of dry cell batteries 10 percent from last year levels. The Board announced that construction using non-metallic materials and equipment to insulate buildings so that fuel can be saved may be undertaken without specific authorization: The order will not apply to construction begun prior to January 1, 1943. No heavy forged hand tools, such as bars, hammers, picks, tongs, etc, which do not conform to the size, type, grade, finish, weight and quality established by WPB, may be produced except on approval of the board. The WPB ruled that plastic tubes are not acceptable as turn-ins for new tubes of tooth-paste and shaving cream, and cut the percentage of tin which may be used in tooth paste tubes and shaving cream tubes.

War Communications

The Board of War Communications ordered long distance telephone calls relating to the war effort and public safety to be given priority over all other calls, effective November 1. Calls concerning moving armed forces during combat operations, urgent orders for the armed forces, immediate dangers due to presence of the enemy, disasters materially affecting the war effort or public security, will get first priority. Operators will give precedence to priority calls at all times.

War Crimes

President Roosevelt stated "the barbaric crimes being committed by the enemy against civilian populations in occupied countries" are continuing, and "I now declare it to be the intention of the Government that the successful close of the war shall include provision for the surrender to the United Nations of war criminals. The perpetrators of these crimes shall answer for them before courts of law."

WCKY Musical Program Stars

These staff musical stars of WCKY, Cincinnati, will be heard on featured programs through this fall and winter. They are (1) Singers Sylvia Rhodes and Pat Burke, (2) Bobby Keys, director of the Pan Americanos; (3) Baritone Franklyn Stewart, WCKY-CBS artist; (4) Elaine Bauer, new 17-year-old WCKY contralto;●(5) Vibraharpist Bobby B. Baker, director of the WCKY Orchestra; (6) Johnny Bartley and David Carter Deane, piano-oriagnist duo and (7) Jackie Gibson and the Western Sisters, singers of ballads and folk songs.

OIL MEALS TO HELP LIVESTOCK FEEDERS

The smaller amount of feed grain per animal available for the coming year may be offset, at least in part, by the use of more protein supplements, especially oil meals, says a statement from the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Due to the increase in livestock production, it is estimated that there will be 6 percent less grain per animal in 1943.

There is enough tankage to balance only about a sixth of the corn that will be fed to hogs. To balance the rest, skimmilk, pasture and oil meals must be used. Fortunately, there are abundant supplies of soybean, cottonseed and linseed oil meals. At the present price of corn and tankage, these oil meals are worth about $54 a ton, but are selling for less than this figure.

Cattle running on poor pasture or being wintered on non-leguminous roughages and harvested grains should receive one and two pounds of oil meal per day respectively.

When oil meals are used to replace most or all of the tankage in feedings hogs, finely ground limestone should be kept before them.

The big supplies of the oil meals will help to produce more meat in two ways. Their use will permit the production of a given amount of meat with less harvested grain. Then, the adequate use of such protein supplements will result in larger, more rapid and more economical gains.

Remember our boys in Service—keep them happy with mail.

EXPERTS TELL HOW TO KEEP SHEEP HEALTHY

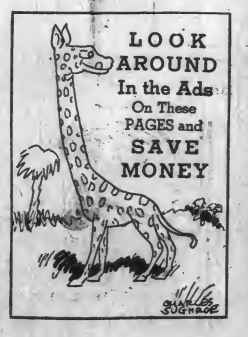
While sheep suffer from various diseases, the Kentucky Experiment Station says the most serious losses are due to worm. These losses include deaths, loss of flesh, unthriftiness and anemia. Wormy sheep require more feed than those that are relatively free from worms.

The common names for the principal internal parasites of sheep in Kentucky are nodular worms, stomach worms, hookworms, intestinal worms, tapeworms and coccidia.

Phenothiazine removes nodular worms, stomach worms, hookworms and a number of the intestinal worms. The mixture of bluestone and blackleaf 40 removes tapeworms and some of the intestinal worms. There is no effective treatment for lungworms or coccidia.

It is very important to protect the young lambs from worms. This requires a worm-prevention program of long duration.

Sheep that are brought to the farm from any source should be kept isolated from the flock for at least three weeks. During this time they should be treated first with phenothiazine and two weeks later with the bluestone and blackleaf 40 mixture.



The entire flock should be treated with phenothiazine two months before lambing begins and in July or August after the lambs are weaned.

The ewes should be treated with phenothiazine one week to ten days after lambing and then placed on a clean pasture.

Flocks that show evidence of tapeworm infestation or have had an unusual amount of trouble with worms should be treated with the bluestone and blackleaf 40 mixture two or more times.

The skin and the membranes of the eye of wormy sheep lose their pink color and become white. An examination of the flock every week or ten days will indicate when it is time to treat for worms.

In addition to treatment, clean pastures are an essential part of a worm-prevention program. A clean pasture is one that has had no sheep on it for one year or, better, two years. It may have been used as a pasture for other farm animals, as a hay field or been under cultivation. Clean pastures will help to control all worms, including lungworms and coccidia for which there is no treatment. If a worm-prevention program is followed for two or three years the number of treatments required for worms will be reduced.

ROOT-ROT DISEASE CAUSED TOBACCO TO START OFF SLOWLY

Root-rot disease and not wire worms prevented some tobacco from growing properly the early part of this season, according to the reply of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station to inquiries of farmers. When slow-growing plants were pulled up and found riddled with wire worms, farmers were inclined to place the blame on the worms.

In fertile soil, Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant disease man at the station says wire worms caused little injury to plants which were not too spindly when set. In most cases investigated this year, he found black root rot the cause of slow growth.

Unless the soil is known to be free from the root-rot disease, Dr. Valleau advises growing varieties resistant to this disease. At least three such varieties are available to growers: Ky. 16, which is well-known throughout Kentucky; Ky. 41A, a variety developed at the Agricultural Experiment Station, which is, if anything, slightly higher yielding and of at least equal quality to Ky. 16; and a variety called Canadian, some strains of which are resistant to the root-rot disease.

Dr. Valleau has this to say about the general tobacco growing situation: "In war time, when labor is scarce and expensive, growers should take every precaution known against failure, because failure is not only a loss to them financially but is a loss of that much labor and land to the nation."

PLANT TREES THIS FALL

By N. R. Elliott, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Kentucky needs at least 500,000 trees planted this fall on the farms in the towns and cities, along the highways and around public buildings. In fact, if a half-million trees were planted each spring and fall for the next five years, Kentucky would have as many trees growing as it had ten years ago. Fall is one of the best times of the year to plant trees in Kentucky.

The loss of this most valuable crop to Kentucky has been so gradual that few people realize what has happened, and yet there are areas in the state comprising parts of counties, and in some instances almost an entire county, where there are scarcely any good timber trees growing today. A few years ago practically every farmer could cut a tree or two and have it sawed into plant, two by fours and other pieces of lumber that are always needed on every farm for repairs and the building of new buildings. Today, the farmer thinks only of buying any lumber needed, with the result that many repairs are often neglected to the point that fences and buildings have to be replaced entirely, when a few plank or posts would have made them useful for many years. The war is taking a tremendous amount of lumber and in many sections what few good walnut and oaks that were left are being sold and taken away.

Everyone knows that it takes years to grow good big trees, but unless we make a beginning to replace our timber we will never have it again. On account of this condition, farmers and property owners everywhere are urged to plant large numbers of trees.

Fortunately, Kentucky has a soil and climate adapted to the growing of many of the very best kinds of trees, and in many sections it will be possible to find these young trees along the fence rows and streams. When this is the case, all that is necessary is to transplant them to more favorable locations so that all the cost involved is the labor of transplanting.

A partial list of trees that are excellent for both lumber and shade would include Red Oak, White Oak, Sweet Gum, Tulip or Yellow Poplar, Sugar Maple, White Ash, Black Walnut, Black Locust, Linden, Hickory, White Elm, Black Gum, Sycamore, Red Maple and Black Oak. These are all native to Kentucky and while there are others that might be mentioned, the trees in this list will satisfy most demands.

The Extension Division of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics has a circular, No. 371, "How to Plant Shade Trees," which gives the latest and best information available on the planting of trees. This circular will be sent free to anyone requesting it.

URGES PURCHASE OF BETTER FERTILIZER

Farmers could have $3 to $5 a ton by buying high-grade fertilizers, according to Agricultural Experiment Station's annual report on commercial fertilizers. Farmers who buy low-grade fertilizers pay freight and other charges on "inert filler" of little or no value, the report states. A ton of poor fertilizer has the same freight charges, and costs as much to mix, bag and handle, as does a ton of fertilizer containing more plant food.

As an example, the report says that it takes three tons of a 2-8-4 fertilizer to supply the same amount of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash that are contained in two tons of 3-12-6 fertilizer. The three tons of the low-grade fertilizer cost $75 last year, and the two tons of 3-12-6 cost $62.60. Thus a saving of $12.40 could have been made by buying the high grade fertilizer. Also the buyer could handle only two tons of material instead of three tons.

As another example, the report says that 1,600 pounds of 4-16-8 fertilizer cost approximately the same as a ton of 2-8-4 fertilizer. It contains, however, 24 pounds more nitrogen and 16 pounds more potash, and the same amount of phosphoric acid, as the ton of 2-8-4.

The Experiment Station considers that any mixed fertilizer which has a total plant-food content of less than 20 percent is a low-grade fertilizer. Approximately 70 percent of the mixed fertilizer sold in Kentucky last year contained 17 percent or less of plant food.

Get Out and Get In!

What? No that reply does not starle us, because we know that some people are not getting out and getting in the scrap drive or the War Bond and Stamp drive as they should, so it must be they do not know of either or have they heard of it and still do not know? How then may they know?

They may know by watching the children. Oh! if every American could get the enthusiastic spirit that our boys and girls have. They seem to realize that the soldiers in uniform who carry the emblem of our Nation, and the leaders of our country are in need of more than lethal weapons or more than legislative enactments—they apparently know that the spirit to win, to fight, to give their all on the home front is their duty. They appear to appreciate their heritage, and realige that it needs protecting.

Yes, they may win a prize—a War Bond or some Stamps, and we may lose it for them. Now is the time for us to win our prize—their future. Surely we who have enjoyed the blessings of Liberty for ourselves will not permit its destruction for posterity.

Friends of Mrs. Roscoe Curtis will be sorry to learn that she is a patient at Christ Hospital. Mrs. Curtis became quite ill May 30th and since that time has suffered severely. Several days ago she was examined by Dr. Reed Shank and Dr. Langdale, after which she was placed in Christ Hospital suffering from thyroid glands. She will be at the hospital for sometime. It is hoped by her many friends that she will soon enjoy good health. Her room number is 205.

FARMERS CONSERVE TIME AND LABOR

Kentucky farmers are learning tricks to save time and labor, during this critical period of manpower shortage, according to the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

One man found that he could fill his 32-foot tobacco barn with one extra hand and a device quickly made on the farm. He nailed three light boards together to make a triangle, then fastened two 10-inch long pegs to two corners. To the third corner he tied a 65-foot hay rope, running it over a pulley fastened to a board across the top tier. From five to seven sticks of tobacco were placed on the device by the man in the wagon who elevated the tobacco to the man in the top of the barn.

Another farmer will save time and labor by shucking his shocked corn into tobacco baskets which hold two and one-half to three bushels. Bang oards on a wagon box will permit another farmer to husk from shock to wagon.

A 12-foot hay frame made a self-feeder for feeding ear corn to the hogs on another farm. The frame, with the ends boxed in with scrap lumber, was fastened at an angle to the side of a building. The lower edge of the frame was 6 inches from the feeding platform and 2 feet from the building.

A manure spreader, loaded with ear corn, provided a quick way for a farmer to spread ears on sod land for his hogs.

BUY CAREFULLY; STRETCH PENNIES

"It's patriotic to be thrifty," says a message of the 4-H club department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture to farm boys and girls. "Good wartime buyers make every penny count. We may have to pay more for the things we need, but let's be certain we need things before we buy. In buying food we can choose what is plentiful. It is poor patriotism to hoard. Shop around and compare prices and values. Inquire about the value of the articles you plan to buy if the label does not tell what you wish to know. If you have something to sell, be sure it is good value and will not disappoint the buyer. Substitutes make it necessary for us to think about the possible value of articles. We should not ask for useless wrapping. We still can think of new ways to be thrifty if we start thinking along that line."

MUCH LOW-GRADE FERTILIZER SOLD

Of the large amount of fertilizer sold in Kentucky last year, nearly three-fourths was low grade, according to the Agricultural Experiment Station's annual report on commercial fertilizers. About 50,000 tons of commercial fertilizers were sold that contained 17 percent or less of plant food. This means that about 13,000 tons of inert filler or worthless materials were bought by farmers.

The Experiment Station considers that any mixed fertilizer that has a total plant food content of less than 20 percent is a low-grade product, and a poor bargain for any farmer.

BEAVER LICK

Mr. and Mrs. George Baker are at home again, after a trip to North Carolina.

Marvin Kite and wife, of Zion Station, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Kite, Saturday.

Mrs. Fannie Howard has accepted a position as telephone operator with the John Shillito Co., of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Hattie Hood and son Howe, moved Thursday to the school building they purchased recently. Mr. and Mrs. Crouch of Big Bone have moved to the house vacated by Mrs. Hood.

Miss Dixie Jones and friends, Miss Ellis and Miss Gibson, all of Ludlow, visited Mrs. Boyd Jones Friday night, while Mr. Jones enjoyed a short visit with his parents at Richmond.

Mrs. Elbert Moore underwent an operation for goitre at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Saturday. She is improving nicely at this writing, and her many friends trust she will soon be well again.

Mrs. Jake Cleek, Mrs. Walter Pennington, Mrs. Harry Moore and Miss Wanda Pennington attended the annual meeting of the Boone County Homemakers at the Florence Methodist Church, Tuesday of last week.

BIG TOBACCO WHERE COVER CROP USED

County Agent H. S. Long says the best tobacco in Scott county was where vetch and wheat were turned under and phosphate and manure used. One man who turned a heavy growth early in the spring had tobacco shoulder high and of fine texture. He expects the yield to be 1,800 to 2,00 pounds to the acre.

Another Scott county man found phosphate and manure superior to complete fertilizer and manure in the production of high-quality tobacco. The part of the field getting manure and 500 pounds of phosphate to the acre grew tobacco that matured earlier and of finer texture than grew on the part of the field where 800 pounds of 6-8-6 was used to the acre. Crimson clover was turned under in both instances.

AGED COUPLE MAKES MONEY FROM POULTRY

Among the successful poultry raisers in McCracken county, Kentucky, are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hough, 73 and 75 years old. Records kept by Mrs. Hough show a net profit of $721 in the egg-laying year just ended. They keep about 500 layers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hunt, also of McCracken county, make $750 to $1,000 a year from flocks of 500 to 750 birds. County Agent Joe Hurt notes that they have the latest equipment, including automatic litter carrier, feed elevator, feed mixer and grinder, gravity water system, built-in feeders, screened windows, and devices for controlling ventilation.

The nickel which went into the 1941 output of nickel-plated tableware would have supplied all the nickel needed in production of 43 heavy tanks.

Army engineers are surveying navigable rivers in the Middle West to locate sunken wrecks that may have metals and other materials for the scrap drive.

Erlanger Brothers Convicted Of Murder

Four Erlanger, Ky., brothers were found guilty on a charge of first degree murder Thursday by an all-woman jury which recommended mercy at Dayton, Ohio. The verdict makes life sentences to the penitentiary mandatory.

The brothers are Hiram Richardson, 27; Tom, 26; Wade, 20; and Gentry, 16. They were convicted of killing Everett De Weese, 30, when he rushed to the aid of a cafe operator whom they attempted to rob in West Carrollton, O.

They were captured near Germantown, O., by a posse several days after the shooting which occurred July 18. Their trial lasted a month and was heard by the first all-woman jury to sit in a first degree murder case in Montgomery County, Ohio.

This Week On The Home Front

Acting on the directives of President Roosevelt, Price Administrator Leon Henderson last week spread emergency price ceiling over virtually all food items hitherto exempt from control and acted to bring every dwelling unit in the country, urban and rural, under rent control.

By these moves, he increased from about 60 percent to a full 90 percent, OPA's control over the average family's food budget.

The 60-day emergency food price ceilings, which became effective Monday, Oct. 5, froze prices at the highest levels they reached during the five-day period from Sept. 28 through Oct. 2.

The only important food stuffs now free from price control are fresh fruits and vegetables (except potatoes, dry onions and citrus fruits, fresh fish, and peanuts—all items of a more or less seasonal character.

The Administrator made it plain that the emergency price levels are not necessarily those which will be carried into the permanent regulation.

"We are not satisfied with the prices generally prevailing in the five days between Sept. 28 through Oct. 2 on several important food items," Mr. Henderson said. "Prices of some uncontrolled foods have been running wild. We have now curbed them. We shall, therefore, look into the matter of setting some of them back to a more normal relationship to the rest of the food field."

However, Mr. Henderson warned that some moderate price increases will be necessary in certain limited food groups in the very near future. These will result from issuance within a few days of regulations designed to relieve the price "squeeze," on those food wholesalers and retailers who have been unable to transact business under their present March ceiling levels. The food items involved in these impending increases represent about 15 per cent of a typical grocery store's sales.

These adjustments, the Administrator disclosed, will be embodied in three types of regulations—one giving wholesalers and retailers an alternative pricing formula on 11 groups of food products; one permitting specific increases on new pack canned fruits, and related items; and another covering a small number of highly seasonal items, such as apple cider and maple syrup.

The 4,000,000 American boys and girls, who must ride school buses, have been promised they will continue to get to their classes this winter. But the ODT warns that stops must be reduced and other savings made.

Fifteen pounds of steel will be the maximum allowed for a full-sized bed spring after Dec. 1. A single or twin-sized bed spring will be limited to 9 pounds of steel. The full-sized springs normally contain 60 to 100 pounds.

Dried egg prices have been put under a ceiling rule.

More than a million farm and small town homes in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, and Michigan, will be affected by the new fuel oil rationing. These are the users of kerosene, which is still used for lighting and cooking in vast areas of the country not yet serviced by electricity. Every dealer who sell the "coil oil" must register with his local War Price and Rationing Board and every prospective purchaser must then get his rationing allowance from the boards. The registration of consumers is expected to start Oct. 22, and continue for one week. There will be no strict limit on quantities allowed, but the boards will be allowed to use their knowledge of local needs and conditions in determining the rations.

* * *

The government would like to have those who eat more than 2½ pounds of meat a week to cut their consumption to that figure and would like to have those who eat less than that to use more meat. The 2½-pound figure is the mark set for voluntary rationing which must serve until full rationing is possible. If you have to eat less meat, cereals will help make up the lost iron. The legumes—dry beans, peas, soybeans, and peanuts—will help make up Vitamin B-1. Dairy products will make up the protein, and poultry is almost identical with meat in food values.

The 2½-pound limit for voluntary meat rationing includes the bones. The pup's ration comes out of your own, if you feed him pork, beef, veal, lamb, or mutton, and if you eat in a restaurant, that counts just as if you had eaten at home.

* * *

Arrangements have been completed for the manufacture and sale of 2,258,000 stirrup pumps for protection against fires started by incendiary bombs. The retail price ceilings range from $3 to $3.80.

American food is getting to Russia in greater quantities. August shipments of grains and cereals brought the delivered total to 187 million pounds.

The only types of footwear rationed are men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes.

Changes in the form of the tire rationing certificate have simplified its issuance and use.

LEAFLET DESCRIBES HEMP SEED HARVEST

Farmers wanting tips on harvesting hemp seed should call at their county agent's office for a copy of "How to Harvest Hemp Seed," published by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Information in it is based on interviews with experienced growers, who described their methods of handling the crop. It tells when and how to cut hemp, how to shock it, and how to thresh and clean the seed.

Mrs James Robert Wilson left Monday for Texas, where she will join her husband, who is stationed at Randolph Field

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gatewood spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown.

Mr and Mrs. Chas. Hedges spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Newman.

Worst headaches for engineers laying war-oil pipelines are river crossings. The two-foot pipe from East Texas fields to Illinois has already tunnelled beneath six rivers on its way to the main crossing at the Mississippi.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

For being tagged with strange-sounding screen names, Dorothy Lamour is certainly without a rival.

In "Beyond the Blue Horizon," the new Paramount Technicolor jungle film the pretty star is known as Tama, In "Jungle Princess" her name in the picture was Ulah. Script writers had her called Mrama in "Hurricane." Tura was her name in "Road to Singapore," and in "Moon Over Burma," it was Arla. Dotty likes the names.

• • •

SATURDAY

Hollywood likes the Texas accent of John Kimbrough, former All-American football star, who makes his debut in 20th Century-Fox's production of Zane Grey's "Lone Star Ranger." They like it so much that an entire movie script was changed into his language.

Before "Lone Star Ranger" went into production, Director James Tinling went over the script with John and altered the dialogue to conform with Kimbrough's typically Texan expressions.

• • •

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy compliment each other perfectly behind the scenes, as well as on the screen. Stan is usually the creative side of the team and Oliver the editorial.

Ideas leap from below Stan's bristling tonsure like pop-corn from a roaster. Then Ollie incorporates them into their scripts.

Laurel and Hardy's latest frolic, "A-Haunting We Will Go," comes to the Gayety Sunday for a two-day showing.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Johnny Kimbrough, the ex-All American football star from Texas A. & M. makes his second starring appearance in the movies in 20th Century-Fox's "Sundown Jim." Featured with the star are Virginia Gilmore, Arleen Whelan, Joseph Sawyer, Paul Hurst and Moroni Olsen.

Plus

Connie Gilchrist has appeared on the stage, radio or screen since she was fifteen years old, but it wasn't until she played in M-G-M's "Grand Central Murder" that she encountered her most difficult scene.

It didn't demand a single word, either. All she had to do was puff a big, black cigar vigorously.

Just as she completed the scene, a package was delivered to her. It was a box of cigars from Red Skelton.

ANNUAL MEETING

and Mrs. Curtis Moore, opened the fireside report session introduced by the Citizenship Chairman, Mrs. John Boyer, Verona. Her subject was "Throw Another Log on the Fire." Each activity stressed by the organization, charity, Red Cross, 4-H Club work, Civilian Defense, health, safety, community welfare, contributes much to the building of morale on the Home Front. Miss Johnna Mae Terrill, Petersburg, membership chairman, reported an increase in the active membership and plans for reaching other Boone County women as she talked about "The Fire Tenders." "Appropriate Clothing for the Job" was the topic Mrs. John Vest, Walton, used to report the project work in clothing. She pointed to the savings in money and time, made possible for the Homemaker by the use of information given in selection, care and renovation of clothing. "Smoke Signals" were used by Mrs. Mabel Sayre, Florence, to report on the publicity given the Homemaker Clubs.

Clipping booklets were brought to this meeting by local chairmen and displayed. Mrs. Edward Peel, Hebron, was awarded a kitchen gadget prize for the best.

"Lights and Shadows" showing up the home furnishing report and the estimated savings or pleasure added to living due to this work was given by Mrs. Earl Morehead, Taylorsport.

The Exterior Beautification committee improved home grounds, roadsides, and public grounds, according to Mrs. Courtney Kelly in her talk "No Ashes to Smother the Flame."

Mrs. Roscoe Garrison stated that the county and state Homemakers' libraries offer excellent reading material to help keep minds alert and up-to-date as she gave her report on "Keep the Fire Draft Open." There had been average of 40 books loaned each month during the year, and "Mrs. Miniver" was the most popular of the fiction.

"The Homemaker holds an important place in the war effort as she plans nutritious meals and thus provided 'The Power for the Stoker'" Mrs. Joe Berkshire, Florence, Nutrition Chairman, said as she praised the women for their response to improved practices presented in the foods lessons during the year.

H. R. Forkner, County Agent, commended the Homemakers for their part in the program to increase production of the farm food supply and "provide the fuel" for defense workers on war, industry and home fronts.

The 4-H Club report was given by Mrs. Geo. Morith under the subject "Fire Tenders in Reserve." She reported that there were 173 girls in ten clubs enrolled in 243 projects of foods, clothing and canning. She presented Betty Forkner, and Jewell Vice, of Burlington and Wanda Pennington, New Haven, who wore their costumes which they had made in club work. Each girl told the cost of her outfit, the estimated savings and number of hours she had spent in making it.

In an effort to provide the "sparks of encouragement" Mrs. Mary Scott More, Home Demonstration Agent, reported that seven subject matter specialist had held meetings in the county; that she had held 254 meetings of adults and juniors; that by visits, office calls, letters and publicity some phase of the Extension Service had reached all homes in the county during the year.

A delightful cold plate lunch was served by the Women of the Methodist Missionary Society.

The afternoon session was opened with a musicale presented by the Burlington and Florence School Bands under the direction of Dean Bloss. The young people played patriotic and popular numbers.

Mrs. W. B. McCormick, Verona, called the roll which was answered by 128 members from ten clubs. Members of the Constance Club were awarded kitchen gadgets by Miss Johnna Mae Terrill for having the largest percentage attendance of their membership present.

Mrs. Moore awarded gadgets to Mrs. Joe Berkshire, Florence; Mrs. Vernon Pope, Burlington; Miss Gladys Klopp, Petersburg; Mrs. W. Hill, Bullittsville for perfect attendance at major project training schools. Also to Mrs. Leo Flynn of Walton for her foods note book.

Mrs. Jake Cleek spoke to the group in behalf of the Red Cross Blood Bank, and urged the Homemakers to contribute.

The speaker, Mr. J. F. Williams, Referee and Director of the boys' work in the Cincinnati Juvenile Court, was presented by Mrs. Gaines. Basing his remarks upon his experiences with the young people brought into the Court, Mr. Williams urged adults to be mindful of the fact that it is their behavior which is responsible for delinquencies among the youth of the community. The emotional strain of this war period is reflected in the behavior of both adults and youth. The law enforcing agencies must become personalized friends before the most successful guidance can be brought about, according to the speaker.

The meeting was adjourned following the singing of "God Bless America."

An interesting "Foods and Nutrition Exhibit" was arranged by Mrs. Joe Berkshire. It featured well planned meals and a daily dietary.

Guests, included Miss Lullie Logan, Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, Mrs. H. V. Lnker, Mrs. Claudia, C. D. Benson, Edgar Graves, H. E. White and Thomas Carr.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers met at the courthouse for their October meeting, with Mrs. Pope presiding.

Mrs. W. Moore displayed some samples of dress coating and drapery material and explained the different kinds of material we would have to substitute for the duration. We were urged to check carefully what we buy, inspecting tags and asking especially about the washing quality.

In the afternoon Mrs. Riley gave the lesson by demonstration on cleaning rugs and lamp shades. The lesson sheets were full of many useful suggestions and receipts. We must all remember it is very important to take care of what we have.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Courtney Kelly's.

COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION

NAMED AT MEETING—WILL PASS ON FARM TRUCK APPLICATIONS FOR CERTIFICATES OF WAR NECESSITY.

Mark Cook, Chas. L. Hempfling, Robert L. Green, Calvin Cress and L. W. Gulley have been named members of the Boone County Farm Transportation Committee. Lillard Scott, S. B. Scott, Otis Readnour, and Gaines L. Robinson were named alternate committeemen by the County Agriculture War Board.

The committee consists of chairman of the County AAA Committee, two farmer representatives, a truck man, and a dealer in farm supplies. Alternate members will serve when regular members are unable to serve. The committee will serve without compensation.

The committee will pass on farm truck applications for certificates of war necessity. Every truck must have a certificate of War Necessity by November 15th in order to operate. This application must be forwarded to the Detroit ODT Office and returned before the 15th.

A committee from the County Agricultural Office will assist truck owners to fill out applications for certificates of war necessity on three days this week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The schedule of these meetings follows:

New Haven School, Thursday, at 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. E. W. T.

Hebron School, Friday, 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. E. W. T.

Walton (basement Bank Room), Saturday, 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. E. W. T.

Burlington courthouse, both Friday and Saturday evenings, starting at 8:00 p. m. E. W. T.

All truck owners who have not already filled out their application should bring their forms to one of these meetings. Failure to properly fill out these forms by the dates may cause delay in the issuance of certificates and may prevent these trucks from operating during the delay period.

Nutrition Meeting Called For October 27

There will be a called meeting of members of the county Nutrition Committee in the grand jury room of the courthouse on Tuesday evening, October 27, at 8:30 E. W. T.

Rev. H. M. Hauter, Florence, Chairman will have charge. At this time a check-up will be made of work done by local committees and plans will be made for further nutrition work in the county. All local chairmen are urged to attend. Invitation has been extended to school principals. Anyone who is interested in the effort to "make America strong by making Americans stronger" will be welcome, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

NAMES OF ARMY MEN ARE WANTED

BY REV. CLARENCE WALKER, PASTOR OF ASHLAND AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH, LEXINGTON BOOKLET WILL BE SENT FREE.

Rev. Clarence Walker, pastor of the Ashland Avenue Baptist Church, Lexington, Ky., wants the names of thousands of men in the armed forces of the United States.

For several months, the noted Kentucky pastor has been sending a forty-page booklet, "Walter Doesn't Live Here Any More," to every soldier, sailor and marine whose name and address he could obtain.

This book tells what happens when a saved man dies, and was written following the death of Rev. Walter Walker, a younger brother of the Ashland Avenue pastor. It is written in simple style, with the teaching of the Scripture as to what takes place when a Christian dies clearly set forth in its pages.

Thousands of copies have already been sent to men in uniform and Rev. Walker has received hundreds of letters from the men in service expressing appreciation for the help received. Costs are defrayed by interested friends.

Send all names to Clarence Walker, 808 Aurora Avenue, Lexington, Ky.

Combined Bands Will Sponsor Minstrel

The date has been set for the "Black and White Blues" a minstrel to be given by the combined bands at Florence November 3, Hebron November 5th, and Burlington, November 10th. The minstrel will be given at the three schools mentioned above.

Special musical numbers will be rendered, trios, solos by various members and special instrumental numbers by band members.

Members of the cast are as follows: Dewey Ray Benson, Snowflake; Wayne Jones, Applejack; Calvin Kelly, Atlanta; Gerald Clore as Birmingham; James Gayle Smith, Interlocutor. Others will be announced next week.

The band has spent much time in preparation for this bit of entertainment for you. Please show your interest in the band by your presence.

Walton-Slade

The marriage of Miss Lola Mae Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allie Walton, of Hebron to Mr. James Slade, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Slade, of Cynthiana and Covington was solemnized at the Hebron Pentecostal Church, Saturday evening, October 17th, with Rev. J. Bishop of Newport officiating. Preceding the ceremony Miss E. Theim gave a piano recital and Rev. Bishop sang the selection "Because." Mrs. George Wohrley and Rev. Bishop sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

As the first strains of the Wedding March were heard, the groom and his best man Mr. Franklin Judy took their places at the altar which was beautifully banked with ferns and flowers and lighted by seven branched candlebra. Miss Donna Walton, cousin of the bride came slowly down the aisle, followed by the bride who entered on the arm of her cousin, Prof E. H. Walton, who gave her in marriage.

The bride was lovely in her gown of white satin and lace. The fitted bodice of lace had heart-shaped neckline and long fitted sleeves. The skirt of satin was gathered to the low waistline and draped at the back to form a short train. Her fingertip length veil of net edged with lace was fastened to a coronet of pearls. She carried a satin covered Bible with a corsage of white pom-pom Chrysanthemums and shower of ribbon and lily of the valley.

Miss Donna Walton was gowned in a bouffant frock of ice blue satin, and wore a shoulder length veil of matching net. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and bronze Chrysanthemums.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Out-of-town guests were Miss E. Thiem of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Walton, Miss Geneva Kock, Miss Louise Heitman and Miss Violet Kock of Dayton, O., Mrs. Jos. Lowry of Meridian, Miss.

Webster-Stephens

Word was received here Tuesday morning of the marriage of Miss Geneva Webster, of Covington to Corp. Williard L. Stephens, of Ft. Omaha, Nebraska. Although the message did not contain any details, it was stated that the marriage took place in Omaha, Neb., several days ago..

Miss Webster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sim Webster, 1540 Greenup St., Covington, and Corp. Stephens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Stephens, of Burlington and is stationed at Ft. Omaha, Neb., in the Quartermaster Division. They will make their home in Nebraska for the present.

Howe-Smith

Word was received here this week of the marriage of Pvt. James S. Smith, 412 Technical School Squadron, Kessler Field, Miss, to Miss Thelma C. Howe of Walton, Ky. The ceremony took place at the Biloxi Baptist Church, Biloxi, Miss., on Sept. 12th at 6:30 p. m.

Pvt. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Smith, Burlington, R. 2 and Miss Howe is the attractive and popular daughter of Mrs. Mary Northcutt Howe, S. Main St., Walton, Ky.

For the past nine years prior to induction in the U. S. Air Corps, Mr. Smith has been connected with the Boone County School system having taught in the Florence Consolidated school for the past seven years.

Mrs. Smith will remain at Biloxi with her husband until the latter part of November at which time he will have completed an A. M. course and will be transferred to another field for specialist duty.

LOCAL P.-T. A. PLANS PARTY

FOR HALLOWE'EN, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31 AT BURLINGTON SCHOOL—FUN NOT RATIONED.

The Burlington P.-T. A. will give a Hallowe'en party at the schoolhouse Saturday night, October 31. Priorities have been secured for all sorts of merriment, and there is no question but that preparations have been made for a whopping big time. Features will include, refreshments for all, prizes, fun for the kiddies, a costume contest and booths of all sorts.

The prizes for the best masquerades in the adult class or adult and children class will be awarded on a unique basis this year. First, second and third prizes will be given on the following classes: Representation by masquerade and actions of a book title or some scene or action from a book. For example some one might come fully dressed except that their shirt was gone. This could be "Gone With the Wind." Or, Dewey Benson might come in, dressed as a colored woman, carrying a cake of ice, and followed by his fox hounds. That would be Eliza crossing the river on the ice from "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Prizes will also be given for the best representation of any historical happening, or present occasion. For example of this: Someone might come dressed to represent a bull, with another person dressed up, chasing him. This would be the "Battle of Bull Run," or a couple dressed in fishing togs with all the appurtenances might represent two of the local disciples of Isaac Walton fishing in Woolper. Ahy idea in either of these two contests will be acceptable and the contestant or contestants must have a slip of paper telling what they are representing to be given to the judges.

There will also be prizes for the tackiest costume and prizes for the best dressed male and female children.

In addition to all the above, there will be guessing contests, a thrill section and—well, you come and see what the—represents. It will be something you never dreamed of.

The price of admission will be 5c for the costumed persons and 10c for those who aren't costumed. Watch these columns for more about it next week.

R. C. McNay Ill At His Home In Erlanger, This Week

R. C. McNay, president and owner of the Boone-Kenton Lumber Co., Erlanger was confined to his bed the past week, suffering from a severe cold and bronchial trouble. He was somewhat improved Tuesday afternoon, but will probably be absent from his business for several days.

Former County Road Engineer Is Ill

C. W. Goodridge, former County Road Engineer of Boone County, has been quite ill at his home in Erlanger for the past few days, but was reported to be slightly improved Tuesday morning. For a number of years Mr. Goodridge has handled the daily paper routes of Erlanger and is loved and respected by all who know him.

Wildlife Pictures To Be Shown At Fish And Game Club Thurs. Night

James J. Gilpin of the State Wildlife Conservation Department will shown a number of films tonight (Thursday) at the club house of the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association at 8:30. These pictures will be of interest to everyone.

Mr. Gilpin will visit the various schools during the day, showing at Burlington, Hebron and Florence.

He has visited our county several times during the past few years and has always been well received. Mr. Gilpin explains the pictures as they appear on the screen. His pictures and talks have proven very interesting and educational.

The public is cordially invited to attend the showing at the club house of the sportsmen tonight. Bring your friends.

HAVE WE MISSED YOUR SCRAP METAL?

Do you still have scrap metal or rubber that you wish to be turned in through your County Salvage Committee? If so, please call your nearest telephone exchange and ask for 999 and your scrap will be reported to proper authorities. The various telephone exchanges are acting as scrap reporters.

Apples A "Victory Food" Special

Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, urges all housewives to make good use of "Victory food" special offered by local stores and sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Marketing Administration.

Apples are featured from October 14 through October 31. They are flooding the markets, and consumers will definitely lend assistance to the market and distributing agencies by purchasing their fall and winter supply during these two weeks.

Fill the cellar apple barrels or the ones you are sinking for outside storage. Plan to use apples for munching, pocket lunches, baking, salads, pies, tarts and sauces. Sulphur several gallons if you cannot easily store them. Call or write requests, for information on any of the above practices, to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Burlington 412. If your neighbor missed this article you are serving your country by calling her attention to this information.

Archaeologist Will Speak At Belleview

Belleview Church of Christ has been fortunate in securing the services of Robert T. Drake, head of the Archaeology Department of Cincinnati Bible Seminary for an illustrated lecture, this Sunday evening. Prof. Drake has traveled extensively in the ancient East, as the companion of Dr. J. Adams of the Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, and has an interesting collection of pictures from the Holy Land, which will be projected by stereoptican.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service. The above will be a part of the usual evangelistic worship service. Time 7:00 p. m. C. W. T.

Civilian Defense Council To Sponsor Benefit Dance

There will be a dance given by District No. 9, Civilian Defense, at Zimmer's Gardens, Florence, Ky., on Friday night, November 6, it was announced this week.

The program is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p. m. and all proceeds from the occasion will go into a fund to purchase much needed equipment for the Defense Council in District No. 9. Everyone is invited to attend.

New Variety Sorghum Produces Superior Grade Molasses

The Williams variety of sorghum cane has produced heavier yields of high quality molasses, according to reports of S. B. Scott and Son, of Grant, and L. R. Vice and Son, of Burlington, R. 2. The report of A. T. Knox, of Florence, Route 1, is expected to show similar results, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The Williams variety of sorghum under experimental and demonstrational conditions in Eastern Kentucky has proven the outstanding variety. Last spring the county agent's office was able to secure 8 pounds of seed from Mr. Roger W. Jones, superintendent of the Quicksand Experiment Station. This seed was distributed among three leading sorghum growers.

The local reports show that the Williams variety grows bigger and taller than the common orange variety; blows down badly, if planted too thick; has less skimmings in the evaporation process, has better flavor and this year produced an average of 250 gallons of molasses per acre. Mr. Scott has made 100 gallons of sorghum and Mr. Vice 50 gallons from the demonstration plots.

George McGlasson, of Erlanger, was in Burlington on business last Tuesday.

75 COMPLETE 4-H PROJECTS

SCORES OF OTHERS WORKING TO COMPLETE PROJECTS AND RECORD BOOKS BEFORE NOVEMBER 1ST.

Seventy-five Boone County 4-H members have already completed projects and reported their individual achievements in records kept on the year's work, according to Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, and Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Scores of other club members are working to complete their projects and record books before November 1, and records of these projects reach the County Agent's office daily. Each boy or girl whose work is satisfactorily completed will be awarded an achievement certificate from the State 4-H Club office in Lexington, during achievement meetings to be held by local clubs in November.

The Hamilton 4-H Club in which 20 of the 25 members have finished their project work, leads other clubs in the county in the total percentage of completions.

Successful Meeting Closed At Baptist Church Wednesday

The local Baptist Church closed a very successful meeting last Wednesday night, with large crowds in attendance from the first night throughout the services. There twenty-seven churches represented in the services.

The meeting was a huge success from all standpoints with eight members added for baptism, and four by letter. Last Sunday afternoon many of the members drove to Erlanger Baptist Church to witness the baptizing of the following: Miss Mary Alice Poston, Miss Alberta Holmes, Miss Gladys Jean Congleton, Harold Congleton, Edward Clore, Earl Webster, Courtney Kelly, and Albert Kirkpatrick. Those coming by letter were Mrs. Mabel Easton, Mrs. Violet Webster, Mr. O. Webster, and Mrs. Mae Holmes.

On October 11th there were 227 in Sunday School, the largest number to attend these services in the history of the church.

Mike and Rachel Acree led the song service during the revival and were never better. The pastor, Rev. R. A. Johnson brought the messages. The church, the community and all attending were greatly blessed.

Lockhart-Houston

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Lockhart and Pvt. Robert L. Houston was quietly solemnized on Wednesday, October 14 at 3:30 p. m. at the home of Rev. O. M. Huey, Baptist minister of Florence, Ky.

Miss Lockhart, a former resident of Covington is now affiliated with the Air Service Command of Patterson Field at Fairfield, Ohio.

Pvt. Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Houston, of Florence is now stationed at Barksdale Field, Sherveport, Louisiana.

The ceremony was witnessed by Margaret Schaefer, of Erlanger and Allen Holzworth of Union who reported for duty Thursday, October 15th.

Florence P.-T. A. Will Sponsor Jitney Party

The Florence P.-T. A. will sponsor a Jitney Party and musical at the school house Friday, November 13th. The band will be the feature of the evening. Plenty to eat and fun for all. Come, let's all get acquainted and enjoy the evening.

Celebrate 42nd Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Martin were entertained at their home on Youell Road, Sunday October 18, in honor of their 42nd marriage anniversary by a number of friends of the Covington Lodge of Elks No. 314. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brennan, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Geisen, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John B. Odenthal, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Loschaivo, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, Jr., Master Gordon Martin, Master Donald Martin.

A delightful chicken dinner was served by Mrs. H. S. Tanner of Youell Road, after which the guests participated in games of 500 and bridge, Mrs. Edward Brennan capturing first prize.

Specialist To Assist In Local Hemp Meeting

Jesse Brooks, Engineer from the College, will assist in a hemp threshing demonstration on the farm of J. C. Acree, 1½ miles north of Hamilton School in the East Bend Bottoms on this Friday, October 23rd, at 2:00 p. m., Eastern War Time. All hemp growers and those who may be interested in growing hemp next year are urged to attend, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Hemp is a war emergency crop. Our farmers will probably be called up to make a substantial increase in acreages next year. Because this is a new crop, all interested farmers should avail themselves first hand information on production, harvesting, and marketing of this crop. The above meeting will be most helpful.

Tobacco Grading Demonstrations Set November 17

Two tobacco stripping and grading demonstrations will be held in Boone County on Tuesday, November 17th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The demonstrations will be presented by Mr. Chas. E. Campbell, Federal Tobacco Grader. Mr. Campbell is formerly from Walton and has an excellent record as a tobacco grader.

The location of the meetings will be announced later.

John Woodford Conner

John Woodford Conner, age 91 years, passed away at his home in Erlanger on Friday, Oct. 16th, following a short illness.

Mr. Conner, a former resident of Union, Boone County, was the oldest member and deacon of the Erlanger Baptist Church, and faithful to his church until his death. He had been a resident of Erlanger for the past 20 years.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the Erlanger Baptist Church, with his pastor Rev. R. D. Martin, presiding. Chambers & Grubbs, Walton, were in charge of arrangements. Burial was in Highland cemetery.

Besides a host of relatives and friends he leaves his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Powers with whom he made his home, a grandson Elmo Powers and a daughter-in-law, Alleen Chambers Conner.

William Brittenheim

William Brittenheim, 76, died at his home in Walton, Ky., Thursday, October 15th. He had been in failing health for several years.

He leaves his wife Effie Brittenheim, one son George William and one daughter Blanche, besides a large number of relatives and friends who will greatly miss his presence among them.

Funeral services were conducted from the Walton Christian Church, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. George Caroland. Burial was in Walton cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Verona Girl Raises Good Castor Beans

Nora Mae Wallace, Verona 4-H club member, has raised approximately 12 bushels of castor beans from her two tenths of an acre crop. She would have received a much higher yield if she had not received her seed late and the early frost injured her crop.

Norma Mae has done a wonderful job in picking and drying out her beans. She raised her crop, not for the money she will receive, but as a part of her work helping in our war effort.

Castor beans are one of our important war crops that furnish certain valuable oils necessary in operating certain types of our war machinery. Castor bean growing is a new commercial crop for Boone County. Local 4-H club members are demonstrating methods of growing this emergency crop. Six 4-H club members in the county are growing 4.2 acres of beans this year. They are Nora Mae Wallace, Earl Conner, Lee Conner, John Franklin Jones, Bruce Ferguson and L. Duvall. The Government will purchase all seed produced.

John Herbstreit, of Constance was found gathering green beans last Thursday. Many people wonder how Mr. Herbstreit is able to do this after the heavy frost which we had several weeks ago.

REGISTRATION IS POSTPONED

UNTIL OCTOBER 29TH AND 30TH FOR USERS OF FUEL OIL—SCHOOLS WILL HANDLE REGISTRATION.

In a statement from the State War Price and Rationing Board this week, Supt. D. H. Norris was advised to postpone all arrangements for the rationing of fuel, deisel and coal oils for one week due to delays in obtaining necessary printed forms for this particular item.

The local schools were supposed to have started this registration on Thursday, October 22nd, but according to the announcement received Monday by Supt. Norris, the registration will be held on Thursday, and Friday, October 29 and 30. There will be limited registration in all schools from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. on Thursday, with the main registration beginning at 3:30 to 5:00 p. m. The same schedule will be followed on Friday with the addition of another period of registration from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. in the evening. You are requested to follow this schedule and help to eliminate any confusion in the school voluntary registration.

More than a million farm and small town homes in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, and Michigan, will be affected by the new fuel oil rationing. These are the users of kerosene, which is still used for lighting and cooking in vast areas of the country not yet serviced by electricity. Every dealer who sells this oil must register with his local War Price and Rationing Board and every prospective purchaser must then get his rationing allowance from the boards. There will be no strict limit on quantities allowed, but the boards will be allowed to use their knowledge of local needs and conditions in determining the rations.

Homemakers Training School Will Be Held Thursday, Oct. 29th

"Household Accessories" and "shuck-craft" will be studied by project leaders from local Homemaker clubs when they meet for their major project training school which will be conducted by Miss Vivian Curnutt, specialist from the University of Kentucky, Thursday, October 29th. Mrs. John Martin, Florence, will be hostess to the group at her home on the Burlington Road. The class will begin promptly at 10:30 E. W. T. Arrangements for the meeting are being made by Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

The lesson will be presented by the local leaders at the community meetings in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huey will move to the apartment over D. R. Blythe's store November 1st. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Patterson also will move to Elmer Kirkpatrick's property known as the old Crisler home on November 1st.

SPENCE FAVORS AIRPLANE PLANT

FOR BOONE COUNTY—SURVEY OF COUNTY'S DESIRABLE SITES AND NATURAL ADVANTAGES, SUBMITTED.

Brent Spence, Democratic representative from the Fifth District of Kentucky, said he had asked the War Department to establish an airplane plant in Boone County, Kentucky, and had been told the county would get "due consideration" on the basis of its skilled labor, climate, utilities, and transportation.

"We have all of those in abundance," said Spence. "On the basis of the reply I think Boone County ought to have a good chance. It contains a large plateau of level land, with good roads, plenty of utilities and transportation facilities, plenty of labor, and you can work the year around there."

Spence sent the War Department a survey of the county's desirable sites and natural advantages, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Amuel Hensley and his father were visiting relatives at North Bend, Ohio this weekend. Mr. Hensley remained for a two weeks' visit with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mattie Hensley and son Earl.

INFLATION

The new anti-inflation bill, which was passed with relatively great speed by Congress and put into effect by Presidential directive on October 4, is one more important link in the long chain of "total war" legislation. Such a bill would be unthinkable except in time of great crisis. It gives the government almost limitless economic control over the individuals and industries of the nation. But there was little opposition to it. Economists of all schools have agreed that inflation is the direct internal danger we face—and that tough laws and tough administration of the laws is absolutely vital.

The bill, as passed, does not go as far as many economists believe it should. It is frankly a compromise measure. The labor bloc and the farm bloc in the House and Senate got a good part of what they wanted. Farm prices, for instance, are to be stabilized at the high level obtaining on September 15. All existing "parity" provisions are to be observed. Wages also are to be stabilized at the high level of September 15, and they are not to be reduced below the highest point reached between January 1 and September 15. It is further provided that the War Labor Board can raise wages if it finds that necessary to correct "gross maladjustments."' It is certain that some labor groups will make efforts to gain wage increases under this clause of the statute.

The law places no restrictions on salaries below $5,000 a year. However, it forbids increases in salaries above that amount unless approved by the Director of Economic Stabilization—or unless the salaried worker in question has been advanced to a more difficult and responsible position. It is considered possible that this clause may be used to restrict salaries to a maximum of $25,000, after taxes. The Director has the power to order a corporation to eliminate all salary in excess of $25,000 paid to an individual in making its income tax returns, and in computing cost-plus government contracts.

It is easier to pass a law of this kind than to rigorously enforce it. And so one big unanswered question is just what effect the law will have on the formidable and growing "black market" in this country. People with money in their pockets and a desire for scarce goods will offer higher than ceiling prices—and sellers will be found to bootleg the goods, law or no law. The policing job, as a result, will be a difficult one. One clause in the bill provides that it shall be enforced by any and all departments of the government, using any and all laws and powers of the United States. In short, the measure is an all-inclusive one, and Congress put teeth in it.

Within the next few months, it seems certain that a number of other unprecedented laws will be passed. The most important of the projected measures is the total mobilization bill. The draft is depriving industry and agriculture of sorely needed workers. Also, workers, attracted by the high wages paid by war industry, have left the farms in drove—and the agricultural labor situation is extremely serious as a result. The total mobilization plan envisions making it impossible for any man to change his job without permission from the War Manpower Commission. It would prevent industries from competing against each other for workers. It would force millions of people who are now not working, or who are employed in "non-essential" undertakings, to go to work in war plants and on farms. And it would probably outlaw enlistments in the armed forces. According to some experts, the Army and the Navy have been accepting recruits who would be far more valuable to their country in a civilian capacity.

It is obvious that universal mobilization and universal war service would represent dictatorship of the most absolute kind. For that reason, government officials have been chary of even discussing it. But a great many authorities are reluctanly coming to the conclusion that, in time, it will be unavoidable. By the end of next year, according to present prophecies, about 60,000,000 people will have to be engaged in the war effort in one way or another. The latest prediction is that we will have an armed force of 10,000,000 to 13,000,000 men. Their needs will be almost insatiable. So, the argument runs, every pair of hands which can do any work at all will have to be used. And the only way to obtain maximum utilization of our manpower and womanpower is through compulsion.

It is also distinctly likely that Congress will soon have to pass another tax bill. The last tax bill is the heaviest in our history, but most economists are dubious of its ability to produce enough money. They are also convinced that the sales tax and forced savings are as inevitable as tomorrow morning—both as money raisers, and as aids in the campaign against inflation. To sum up, our troops are about to see more action on the war front—and our civilians will see more action on the home front at the same time.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

STEPS TOWARD SOLUTION OF THE ALCOHOL PROBLEM

LESSON TEXT—Ecclesiastes 10:17; Amos 5:21-24; Romans 14:19-21; II Corinthians 6:17; I Peter 4:1-5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.—Amos 5:24.

Let's do something about it! That is the right word regarding the liquor problem now. The time is past for theorizing or deploring—we need action. The liquor interests have redoubled their efforts of late because they fear the aroused public opinion of decent Americans. Why do not America's 65,000,000 church members say the word now, and curb this awful thing which is threatening to destroy us?

I. Right-Minded Rulers (Eccles. 10:17).

National leaders should set the example for the people—an example of sobriety, of clear-headed thought and full devotion to the cause of our country. Are they doing it? We quote: "Washington is the wettest spot in the nation. The per capita consumption of alcohol in the District of Columbia is almost twice that of the wettest state in the Union. In 1940, 4.26 gallons were consumed for every man, woman and child. Nevada, the wettest of all our states, consumed 2.65 gallons per person. There at Washington where they need the clearest heads, the steadiest nerves, and the highest morals, they are drinking the most booze" (Dr. I. M. Hargett). What about 1942? Those who have been able to observe, indicate that conditions are probably worse now!

The secretary of war and the secretary of the navy have insisted on the desirability of the sale of beer in service canteens. No wonder the Brewers' Digest of May, 1941, gloated: "One of the finest things that could have happened was the insistence by high ranking officers to make beer available in army camps . . . Here is a chance for the brewers to cultivate a taste for beer in millions of young men."

America had better wake up!

II. Right-Spirited People (Amos 5:21-24).

God has no pleasure in the religious observances and the pious words of a people who profess to worship, but who come with unrepentant hearts and unclean hands.

Can God bless the man (or his money) who profits either directly or indirectly from the sale of intoxicants? Amos has the answer. Let us heed his plea that righteousness should run through our national, as well as our personal lives, "as a mighty stream."

III. Right - Living Christians (Rom. 14:19-21; II Cor. 6:17; I Pet. 4:1-5).

We have already suggested that there are 65,000,000 church members in America. If they were all right-living Christians there can be little question that they would long since have eliminated the liquor business, for it is certainly most unchristian. Apparently they are either not real Christians, or they are asleep to their responsibility. Our Scriptures in this section tell us that in a true Christian life there is

1. No offense (Rom. 14:19-21). The question here is that of eating meat offered to idols, which does not concern us; but the great Christian principle here stated is of the highest importance and bears directly on our daily life.

None of us lives to himself (Rom. 14:7). Everything we do counts either for or against Christ. Such an ordinary (we regret) thing as staying away from church service speaks to the world and especially to our neighbors of our loss of interest and respect for the worship of God. Apply that principle to the use of any alcoholic beverage, and every Christian must be a total abstainer.

2. No Compromise (II. Cor. 6:17). We have come to the unscriptural and deeply dangerous viewpoint that if a Christian wants to compromise a bit with the world, the flesh and the devil, that's his "business." God does not think so. He says: "Come out from among them, and be ye separate." The weakness of the church on this matter of liquor is that too many of the 65,000,000 are guilty of the sin (and that's what it is!) of compromise.

3. No Worldliness (I Pet. 4:1-5). Here again the assumption of many is that there are two groups in the church—worldly Christians and spiritually minded ones, and that each is as good as the other. Both classes are there, no doubt about that, but God never has and never will countenance worldliness on the part of His people.

Essentially, there are just two opposing principles in this world—self-will and God's will. We are either controlled by the flesh or by the Spirit of God. Peter makes it clear that the one who claims to belong to Christ should no longer be controlled by self-will, but by God's will. Are we ready, fellow Christians, to yield to Him?

"SEW AND SAVE" IS HOMEMAKERS' SLOGAN

A decided increase in home sewing is reported by field agents of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Women are realizing that with simplified styles they can satisfactorily sew at home, and have better quality material, at a substantial saving in cost. "With imagination, patience and good workmanship, the homemaker who sews can make clothes that are the envy of all who look at them," says the field agent in clothing. Some homemakers' clubs have the slogan, "Sew and Save."

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

I want to talk to you about your children and shoes they wear.

Maybe you never realized that the wrong shoes could be the cause of nervousness in your child.

I say "It is the duty of parents, school teachers and family physicians to help bring stability and strength to nervous systems."

Symptoms of nervousness in children are often forerunners of organic disease. From the physician's standpoint ONLY there are many things that make us nervous. The most important are: 1, Wrong diet. 2. Over fatigue, and 3, Poor posture. Let me repeat the last and most important, POOR POSTURE, because you cannot have good posture unless your feet are fitted with proper shoes.

We all know how important posture is to the physical and mental development of a child. At home we teach our children to stand straight, to sit straight and to walk straight . . . that is we TRY to teach them how important it is. But sometimes, do you find that you are constantly reminding Billy or Mary to "SIT UP"—or "STAND UP STRAIGHT"—almost to the point of nagging and even to the point of scolding.

If your child has poor posture—and it seems hard for him to remember to stand straight—I suggest that you take a look at his feet. And remember, when you want to scold him for drooping that the child is no more responsible for his posture than for the food he is given to eat. There is some reason WHY he isn't standing straight and that reason may be weak, poorly constructed shoes that do not properly support body weight.—Adv.

TURKEY SELLING SEASON AT HAND

The market for turkeys is at its best during the main turkey marketing season which runs from October to January. According to a statement issued by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington, the net farm price of turkeys is higher at this season than at any other time of year.

Good and choice quality young turkeys are in demand in Kentucky for hotel and restaurant trade in October. Growers who sell to this special trade have found that these buyers offer attractive prices to producers who have early, well-matured and well-finished young turkeys of satisfactory sizes. Local buyers for the early market usually take a limited number of choice young turkeys. Most producers must rely on the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade.

There is no consistent choice between the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets. In years when turkeys are matured and marketed early, the price at Thanksgiving tends to be less than at Christmas, but the amount of change is usually small and cannot be predicted with certainty. For this reason, it is a good plan to sell turkeys as they mature and finish. All turkeys ready for market can be sold at Thanksgiving, the remainder fed and sold on the Christmas and New Year's markets. In marketing turkeys, however, it is a good practice to sell in the period preceding and avoid the period just after each holiday.

FOUR GIRLS ARE STATE CHAMPIONS

Kentucky state champion 4-H club girls, as announced from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington, include a girl who put up 781 quarters of vegetables, fruits, meats and other foods and preserved 14 dozen eggs in waterglass. She is Ann Deutsch of Jefferson county, champion in canning.

In cooking, baking and other food preparation, top honors went to Frances Wilhoyte of Oldham county. Preparation of 165 meals and 788 dishes put her out in front in the foods project.

Winner in clothing making was Frances Maumlisberger of Jefferson county. Her smartly fashioned beige suit, with hat to match, and green blouse, all of which she made, cost $18.78.

First in room improvement was another Oldham county girl, Ruby Hampton. She painted walls, refinished furniture, and made a bedspread, curtains and other accessories in her room.

LITTER OF PIGS WEIGHS TWO TONS

A litter of pigs weighing over two tons when six months old is a record established by Ben Schneider of Crittenden, Grant county, Kentucky. The sow had 22 pigs, 18 of which lived and weighed 195 to 295 pounds when a half-year old. The total weight was 4,115 pounds.

The four-year-old sow has had five litters totaling 86 pigs, 66 of which have been raised to market weight. County Agent Robert Hume says Mr. Schneider has reason to be proud of his record, especially of the litter raised this year. The ration of this year's two-ton litter included shelled corn, middlings, ground wheat and tankage, with pasture. The profit was put at $240.

GOOD CROPS, HIGHER PRICES, HELP BOOST FARMERS' INCOMES

Net farm incomes in 1941 were much higher than for any of the past 12 years, on 22 farms in Washington and Marion counties, Kentucky. So reports Roy E. Proctor of the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics, after a study of records kept on these farms. The increase was due principally to higher prices and better crop and livestock production.

Average operator's earnings was $2,634, with profits on individual farm ranging from $545 to $4,380. Tobacco was the most important single source of income, and labor the largest item of expense. In hogs, beef cattle and tobacco, the 10 high-profit farmers made the biggest gains over the average farmer.

With prices high and labor scarce the following suggestions are made by Mr. Proctor for the coming year.

Select suitable land for each plow crop. Use all farm manure and add limestone and fertilizers. Grow feed crops that give the greatest feed value per day of labor, as pastures and clover or alfalfa hay. Seed winter small grains which prevent washing and leaching on row-crop land for spring pasture. Corn returns more grain per acre, but early seeded winter-resistant barley on fertile upland gives more feed per day of labor.

To expand economical dairy production, feed a balanced ration, including grain on pasture. Use more small grain pastures.

Hogs are best adapted to well-fenced farms which have plenty of grain. Equipment for good care of hogs at farrowing time is important.

Poultry offers good profits when rules of proper selection and feeding of pullets, clean range, ample housing space and culling are followed.

Early lambs, and grazing cattle on clean pasture, especially Balbo rye and vetch, should pay well.

Members of 4-H clubs in Martin county are growing turnips, kale and mustard for late greens and cover crops.

Ky. 102 and 103 hybrid corns are giving best results in Logan county.

FARMER TELLS HOW HE PLANS TO MEET LABOR SITUATION

The way A. A. Nagle of Green county, Kentucky, is meeting the labor situation has come to the attention of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington.

Mr. Nable has a five-man farm. Now two sons are in the armed service, and he is resolved to do his part by producing the usual amount of feed and food. The dairy herd will be kept in full production, the regular acreage of feed and pasture will be produced, and the same acreage of tobacco harvested, as this year.

How will he do it? He himself will spend more time in active work, and his wife will have added duties. Two sons, 10 and 14 years old, will be given regular jobs, and a full load carried by the tenant.

Mr. Nagle has worked out a number of ideas that are time and labor savers to a busy farmer. He has built convenient lanes with gates out of scrap fence material and lumber. All gates swing freely and have self-latches. The door to his feed room swings out, and is closed by a pully cord and weight. Then he made a horse-drawn fertilizer distributor from an old automobile rear axle and a shaft drive for $2.25, and he spreads marl from his manure spreader with a three-horse hitch.

Although conservation, repairing, reclaiming, and careful upkeep on the farm have been carried out heretofore, Mr. Nagle says that certain jobs now will be left undone when they don't contribute directly to food production. For example, the fence rows will go uncut and he will discontinue clearing new land and old fields. Even the lawn will go unclipped, except by calves or horses.

CINCINNATI COUPLE ENJOY HIKE THROUGH COUNTY

The following article was sent in by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Herbert, of Cincinnati, O:

The lure of the Boone County County roads and countryside again called Mr. and Mrs. John H. Herbert, of Westwood, Cincinnati, Ohio, for a very enjoyable hiking trip.

After a brief visit to the two stores in Rabbit Hash, a hard climb up the hill road, and we were enjoying panorama views along the road to Waterloo. Here we gathered more folk lore as to the naming of Rabbit Hash and Waterloo. Refreshments over, we headed for the old "Garnett Mill" road, which brought us to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cason, of Middle Creek. These friends of many years, provided our overnight stop. The next morning the weather cool and clear, we hiked the old Commissary Road, of Civil War days, a road, now only a trail bordered with scenic rock formation of the Glacial Period, spice bushes with their peppery berries, wild hydrangies and columbines.

Arriving at the Burlington road, we stepped along to Mrs. Weaver's noon lunch—and was it good? Folks, try mixing good, clean, morning air and a real home-cooked, country meal—it can't be beat.

Now a cross-country road brought us to Bullittsville, and then to Francesville, entering this well known village by way of "Dog Fennell Alley," as an old Boone County resident once named it. Mrs. Nellie Markland's home, again, was our over-night haven. After a real southern breakfast, mingled with Kentucky hospitality, we headed for Taylorsport, to cross the river to Cincinnati.

We are sure that many Boone County residents would enjoy a day's ramble, and visit with friends and we would suggest that, when gasoline rationing begins, put your ration card in your pocket and visit your friends on foot—it's great, try it.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Herbert.

PHOSPHATE, POTASH PRODUCE TALL HEMP

Hemp grew 12 feet high where phosphate and potash were applied on the farm of Mrs. Ethel Pemberton in Warren county, Kentucky. A test of fertilizing materials was made by County Agent Ray Hopper, Mrs. Pemberton and the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Land given no treatment grew hemp about 9 feet tall. Where 500 pounds of 20 percent phosphate were used to the acre, the hemp was 10 feet 7 inches tall, and where 250 pounds of potash were applied, in addition to the phosphate, the hemp was 11 feet 11 inches high. The further addition of 200 pounds of nitrate of soda added 2 inches more to the height of the hemp.

Where two bushels of seed were planted to the acre, the hemp grew 7 feet 4 inches tall, compared to 9 feet where one bushel was planted.

WPB's order halting production of metal doors, door frames and shutters is saving the U. S. about 120,000 tons of steel for war, on the basis of 1941 output. That's enough metal to provide all the steel needed for the steel parts of 6,315 big U. S. bombers.

It is estimated that six to seven thousand acres of Balbo rye will be sowed in Logan county this year.

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Taylorsport Proud of Her Boys

There are eleven boys born and reared in Taylorsport in our Armed Forces, and we are proud of them and want the world to know it.

Eight in the Army are: 2nd Lieut. Manlius R. Goodridge, Sgt. Ralph Stanley Sprague, Sgt. A. L. Snelling, Corp., Edgar A. Goodridge Corp. Gebrge D. Sprague, Corp. Daniel Berry, Pfc. Stanley Berry, Pfc. Walter Sprague.

There are three in the Navy: Apprentice Seamen George Beacom, Richard Thompson and Frank Godsy. Two of our older men have enlisted, Clyde Steelman with the Navy as diver tender and Ben McArthur as machinist helped in shipyards at Key West. Neither of these men have been called, but each is expecting a call at any time. We think this is a remarkable record.

George Sprague is in Ireland and his brother Walter Sprague, somewhere in the South Pacific. We pray that God may bless them all and keep them safe.

* * *

Robert William Grant, of Burlington R. 1, enlisted in the U. S. Navy on September 29 and was sent to Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Prior to his enlistment he was a student at Eastern State Teachers College. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Grant.

* * *

Officials of the Covington Recruiting Station of the Navy said Monday that enlistments at that office last week totaled 23 men. Those from Boone County enlisting in the Navy are: Charles Edward Holmes, and Charles Manford Shinkle.

* * *

We have been informed that A. E. Blythe, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Blythe, Burlington, is now in the service of his country. He is a member of the Headquarters and Service Co., 843rd Engineers, Battalion Air Corps, McChord Field, Washington.

Mr. Blythe states that his wife and children are still at Grand Junction, Colo., where they lived before he entered the army. He also expressed his desire to hear from someone back in Boone County, as a letter from home is a real treat to anyone in the Army.

LIVESTOCK RAISING BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Livestock raising has reached an all-time high record in Kentucky, according to a summary of the situation issued by the department of markets at the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The numbers of beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep and poultry are the highest in the history of the state, and the number of hogs the largest since 1892.

Feed production also has been increased, but it is outstripped by the production of livestock.

To meet the situation, some farmers will take advantage of the wheat made available under the government program, some will purchase corn from points outside the state, while other may be forced to market early.

One hundred and twenty-five million bushels of wheat have been allotted by the government for the feeding of livestock. Made available in carload lots at shipping points throughout the state, it ranges in price from 88 to 99 cents per bushel.

While few farmers are in a position to take a carload, it is expected that many will pool their orders. Marketing specialists suggest the advisability of having a miller crack the wheat as it is unloaded, thus reducing the number of times it must be handled.

The total digestible nutrients in a bushel of wheat are 9 percent greater than for a bushel of corn.

While it appears that feed-grain prices may advance more than the usual amount during the coming months, unless offset by government programs, the price of high-protein feed will become progressively lower in relation to grain prices, because the supply of this type is entirely adequate.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS FEED 1,071 CALVES

Members of 4-H clubs and Utopia clubs in 37 Kentucky counties are fattening 1,071 calves for the annual sale of fat cattle at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville, November 4-6.

Wayne county has the largest number—80 calves fed by 4-H club members and 36 fed by members of Utopia clubs. Grayson county has 39 calves being finished by members of Utopia clubs, and Garrard county has 54 calves owned by 4-H club boys and girls and 19 owned by Utopia club members.

New counties to be represented in the sale this year include Metcalfe, with 25 calves on feed, and Casey, with 20 calves.

More than $4,000 in prizes will be distributed in the 4-H club division.

M. S. Gardside, field agent for the 4-H club department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, reports the calves in good condition.

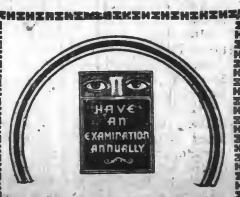
Hogs are really in the army, for pork products are important war time food for fighting men. Extra pigs in every litter . . . faster gains for growing pigs . . . finished hogs on the market sooner — that's what your government is demanding... and that's what you'll need to make extra profits, too!

Come in and see us about the Purina Sow-to-Pig-to-Packer plan that's built to help in this emergency. Find out about these two great supplements:

PURINA SOW and PIG CHOW
—for the sow and her pigs. Both for big litters and fast early gains.



PURINA HOG CHOW
— puts on the pounds quick and thick, helps get hogs to market early — makes your grain worth more on the hoof!

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The Hebron Homemakers held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Goodridge, October 14th. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Hilda Hogan.

Mrs. Bessie Acra, exterior beautification chairman, reported that now is the time to rearrange perennials. She also stressed the point of planting native trees, shrubs and evergreens. Every homemakers should not only plant but encourage neighbors to plant, to help replace the millions of trees that are cut each year.

Mrs. Alberta Dickey, citizenship chairman gave a splendid report on the Aleutian Islands and the hardships our boys are enduring over there.

The roll call "What I have done toward living," was answered by nineteen members. We also had one visitor Mrs. Alice Schneider, who became a member that day.

The gift for the penny raffle was made by Mrs. Alberta Dickey and won by Mrs. Hilda Hogan.

Mrs. Marie Beacom was appointed to take the place of Mrs. Stella Nichols as Foods leader.

A motion was made, seconded and carried that the $1.50 left from our bus fund be added to the treasury.

It was decided to open our meeting at 11 o'clock hereafter.

Mrs. Moore gave a talk on "Food for Freedom and the Wasting of Food in the Home." She also displayed samples of rugs, curtain and upholstery materials and window shades which were loaned by Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The home furnishing leaders, Mrs. Catherine Parrott and Mrs. Myrtle Casper gave a very interesting and helpful demonstration on cleaning lamp shades and rugs and how to polish copper, remove grease spots from wallpaper, and white spots from varnished furniture.

A round table discussion was held on the storing of fruits and vegetables.

A report was also taken of the number of jars of fruits and vegetables canned during the season.

Mrs. Bessie Acra invited the club to meet at her home Nov. 11. The subject of the day will be "Accessories." The place of accessories in every day living, such as lamps, pictures, books and everything which go to make a home livable.

The handicraft lesson will be making mats from corn shucks.

This Week On The Home Front

Several developments on the food front can be reported this week. In the first place, the OPA acted to end the grocers' cry of "Out of stock today!" A new pricing regulation permits a fair ceiling increase for those retail grocers who were caught with such low March price maximums that they had to remove certain food products from their shelves.

If the housewife wanted to buy these items, she had to shop at stores where the ceiling were high. This operated to protect the stores with the high ceilings, because they had no competition.

Tuna fish prices in Cleveland furnish a good illustration. A certain grade of canned tuna handled by five of the largest independents and chains in the city had ceilings of 23, 27, 29, 47, and 49 cents per can. The wholesale cost was about 31 cents per can. Obviously the three large outlets with the lower ceiling prices wouldn't handle it at all, so if people bought it, they had to pay 47 and 49 cents a can, and go distances for it. The new pricing regulation won't reduce the higher ceilings, but it will enable competing merchants to stock and sell the product at a lower price.

Also on the food front, the OPA created a food price division to take care of price research and analysis and care for the technical details of price regulation.

OPA's attempt to bring all prices into line will bring, as stated last week, possible mark-ups in 11 categories of foods which represent about 15 per cent of all food purchases. These are, for the most part, seasonally-packed goods, and the present ceilings in some cases are considered unfair to the sellers. Therefore, OPA will allow the computation of new ceilings according to carefully-prescribed regulations on breakfast cereals, canned fish, hydrogenated shortenings, coffee, sugar, other shortenings, cooking and salad oils, canned vegetables, rice, dried fruit, and lard.

Everything that rolls on rubber—military vehicles excepted—is now under a 35-mile speed limit. Beating is likely to mean: No recaps or new tires for you.

• • •

The WPB has asked for development of more containers, which would not use critical materials.

• • •

War ration stamp No. 9 will be good for the purchase of three pounds of sugar between Nov. 1 and Dec. 15, Stamp No. 8, which calls for five pounds, expires at midnight, Oct. 31.

In order to relieve cordwood shortages wherever they may appear, the OPA has authorized all its state offices to make price adjustments in their areas whenever necessary to assure an adequate supply.

Four motion pictures on subjects related to the government's fuel oil rationing and fuel conservation programs now are available for release to schools, industries, defense organizations, consumer committees and other groups. They are "Heat and Its Control," "The Story of Rock Wool Home Insulation," "The Story of Petroleum," and "Coal for Industry." All are available in 16-millimeter size in both sound and silent versions, except the coal film, which is in sound alone. For the first three, write to the Bureau of Mines Experiment Station, 4800 Forbes Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. For the other, write to the U. S. Bituminous Coal Consumers Counsel, Box 483, Washington, D. C.

Idle passenger car tires will go to work under the new gas rationing program. Car owners, to get gas cards, must register their tires by number and dispose of all over five. The government already is purchasing the extra new and used tires. The Railway Express Agency will collect the tires and at the warehouse an expert will appraise them and forward a check. Damaged, but repairable tires, will be appraised at ceiling prices, less cost of repairs.

About 5,500,000 pounds of fat could be saved for explosives if hunters this year would cut and turn in the excess fat of their big game kill. Hunters also have been called upon to turn in their discharged shotgun shells, rifle cartridges, and the down feather of waterfowl. It is estimated that 2,000 tons of brass could be saved for the war effort.

The United States mint, seeking to conserve vital war metal, has curtailed production of pennies by half in recent months. However, 59,000,000 were produced last month. Get the pennies out of your bank or your child's bank and into war stamps—and into circulation. If each of 33,000,000 families would put 10 back into circulation, the result would amount to one-third of last year's record production.

A national salvage campaign is being planned for used silk and nylon hosiery. The materials are utilized in the manufacture of powder bags.

During the week beginning Oct. 21, the ODT will conduct a survey of inter-city rail and bus travel in 101 cities. The Census Bureau will interview a number of passengers on each train or bus to determine how and why travel habits have changed since Pearl Harbor. Names will not be asked. A number of the cities are in this area, and public co-operation is requested.

Boys In Service Will Be Furnished With Absentee Ballots

George Glenn Hatcher, Secretary of State of the Commonwealth of Kentucky has made and developed plans and procedure for the operation in Kentucky of House Resolution 7416, Public Law 712, enacted by the Congress of the United States, and approved by President Roosevelt on September 16, 1942. The task has placed a substantial responsibility upon Mr. Hatcher's shoulders but he says that the enactment of this law is really a dream come true for him. He stated before the August primary that those from Kentucky in the armed forces should be in some way allowed to vote. He is smilingly carrying out the extra duties imposed upon him for those who are fighting to uphold Christianity and Democracy.

Kentucky has no State Absentee Voters law by which men or women absent from their places of residence on election day can vote. Therefore, this Federal Act, Public Law 712, provides for methods of voting for United States Senator, and Representatives in Congress only, by member of the United States land and naval forces absent from their places of residence in Kentucky on election day. They cannot vote for candidates for State office.

A diligent study of the Act has been made so that it might be effectuated to let Kentuckians in the armed forces away from home exercise the right to Franchise. The Act is liberal enough to correlate it with Kentucky election procedure, so that methods may be devised in time for the privilege of voting under it, to be enjoyed at the coming November election.

Proper Official War Ballots have been printed. Instructions for the voter and for County Court clerks and County election commissioners have been adopted. Other necessary forms and envelopes are prepared to take care of the details of the War Ballot voting which is expected to be of large volume. It should be borne in mind that all the procedure had to be worked out in its entirety during past several days as certified copy of the Act was not received for sometime after it was approved. Other States, had absentee voting methods already in operation which made the enforcement of this law much simpler for them.

W. M. U. NEWS

The Woman's Missionary Society of Union Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, October 14th at the church, with fifteen members present.

President, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy opened the meeting by giving an inspiring talk on "Spirtual Meditation." This was beautifully rendered and enjoyed by all. Business session followed and consisted of the secretary's report, treasurer's report, young people's organizations and personal service reports. These were good reports and show growing improvements over past months. Some new duties were mapped out for leaders of respective groups. This closed our business hour and the program taken from October 'Royal Service" under direction of Mrs. J. A. Fothergill was given as follows:

"Think on These Things:" Whatsoever things are heard through His disciples." Act. 16:16-40 by Mrs. Pearl Blankenbeker.

"Courage and Christian Heroism" by Mrs. Ruth Mason.

"Learning Through Our Missionaires" by Mrs. Austin Gschwind.

"Standing for the Right" by Mrs. Head.

"While the Bell Tolled" by Mrs. J. T. Bristow.

"The Courage of Faith" by Mrs. Jessie Delahunty.

Prayer by Mrs. J. A. Huey.

"They Paid the Price" by Mrs. Hal Presser, who also gave us a lovely poem on Bible reading with a brief talk on the Christian Attributes of General Douglas MacArthur.

"Courage Amid Difficulties" by Mrs. Dora Mae McWethy.

"In Calmness and Strength" by Mrs. Myrtle Marshall.

Singing of hymns "The Light of the World Is Jesus," "Am I a Soldier of the Cross" and "Faith of Our Fathers" were sung during this meeting.

Announcements of group meeting of Oct. 29 at Immanuel Baptist Church of Covington and Regional meeting to be held at Paris, Ky. A cash gift was received and much appreciated by this society as it was given through love and Christian faith in this group as a whole, and we pray God's richest blessings rest with the donor. The biography of the Rev. Randolf Carter, colored minister of Georgia, who has served in one pastorate for 60 years was given by Mrs. Raymond Newman with dismissal prayer by Mrs. Sherman Friend.

Next meeting at 2 p. m. E. W. T. on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Mrs. W. S. Friend, Reporter.

NEW SCHEDULES IN EFFECT FOR GREAT LAKES BUS LINES

Effective October 15th, new schedules for Great Lakes Greyhound Lines buses go into effect. The schedules will conform to new government regulation regarding war-time travel.

FARM AGENT ADVISES CALIFORNIA MAN WHO BUYS KENTUCKY LAND

When A. A. Holladay of California returned to Kentucky to buy a farm in his native county of Adair, he asked County Agent R. B. Rankin for suggestions on building and caring for the land. Here is what Mr. Rankin told him:

"We think it highly desirable to use both lime and phosphate together on the same land, although either one used separately is distinctly beneficial. For your type of soil we would recommend about two tons of ground limestone per acre. This amount should last for several years. More than this is probably not needed, and in fact extra heavy liming is not advisable. It is hardly possible to put on phosphate too heavy, but most farmers are getting good results by using applications of 250 to 450 pounds of the 20 percent superphosphate per acre. Applications within this range are recommended in the agricultural conservation program.

"We feel sure that the use of lime and phosphate are the basis for any real soil improvement in this country. Of course, along with the use of these materials should go other good management practices, including late summer or early fall seeding of winter cover crops, such as small grain or winter legumes, on all land tilled during the summer; keeping the land in a good mixture of grasses and legumes for hay and pasture as much of the time as possible, and having and returning to the land which produced it all animal manure. Any cultivated land which is to be cultivated again the following year should have a green manure crop of winter vetch or crimson clover turned under before the crop is planted the second spring."

SUGGESTS CAUTION IN FEEDING CROPS KILLED BY FROSTS

Caution in feeding sorghum, sudan grass and other crops killed by frost, is suggested by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, which has received many inquiries since the early frosts.

Frosted forages should be thoroughly cured in the field or made into silage, says the reply of the Experiment Station.

Sorghum, sudan grass, Johnson grass, choke cherry, black cherry, flax, arrow grass, velvet grass and Christmasberry under certain conditions all contain deadly amounts of prussic acid. Even small amounts of these forages will cause instant death to cattle or sheep. Strangely enough horses or hogs, being non-ruminants, apparently are immune to this poisoning under practical conditions.

Such plants usually contain more of the poisonous material when young, after being stunted, when freshly wilted, and possibly after being frosted.

In the case of sudan grass it is recommended that it not be grazed until at least 18 inches in height. No second growth of sorghum should be grazed under any circumstances

Frosted plants in the above group should be thoroughly cured in the field or ensiled before feeding. Under either treatment, the poisonous substance seems to be reduced to a safe level.

Poisonous molds sometimes develop on forage that is shocked or stored in the barn when too moist Such forages are unsafe as animal feed. Poisoning from toxic molds might be confused with prussic acid poison. However, the former is so rare during most seasons that reasonably sound forage, that is otherwise desirable, may be fed with little risk.

Sunday, Oct. 25, Bible School at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Wm. Meier, Supt.

Morning Worship at 11:30 a. m. This will be a Homecoming and Rally Day service, with Dr. Willard Allbeck, Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, Ohio, as guest preacher. A basket dinner will be served following the morning services. At 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon we will hear a report of the 13th Biennial Convention of the United Lutheran Church in America. Come, and enjoy the day with us.

Farmers at Hammons, Knox county, sold 12,000 pounds of potatoes through the Whitley county cooperative association.

NOTICE

Feeling that my deceased brother, Judge N. E. Riddell, would not desire to have his Insurance Agency commercialized by selling same, and believing that to continue his agency in Burlington would be some accommodation and convenience to his insurance clients, I have decided to have his close friends and business associates continue this agency in the name of the "Riddell Insurance Agency," to be handled and managed in equal partnership by C. L. Cropper, G. S. Kelly and Miss Nell H. Martin.

I shall appreciate the continued patronage of my brother's insurance clients with this Agency, which will continue to write Fire, Tornado and Casualty Insurance of all kinds. 20-2t-c

PLANS MEETINGS TO SAVE TRAVEL

By holding a series of community meetings, where farmers can sign applications for payment in the agricultural conservation program, place orders for fertilizer, sign up for war bonds, and the like, County Agent Kenneth A. Brabant expects to save Breckinridge county farmers about 33,000 miles in traveling. Many of the 2,000 farmers in the county live considerable distances from the county seat. Through the community service offered by their county agent, they can save several trips, which will conserve tires and be especially appreciated when roads are bad in winter.

TOMATO PRODUCTION BIG

In Pendleton county, many tomato growers picked 500 and 600 bushels per acre. McLean county farmers produced 3,000 tons of tomatoes for canning factories this year, with an average income of $75 per acre. In Grant county, where there was an unusually heavy yield, many hundreds of bushels of tomatoes were left on the vines because of a shortage of baskets, according to reports received at the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES NEAR FLORENCE FRIDAY

PILOT SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURIES—TWO OTHERS SUFFER MINOR INJURIES—CRASH IS INVESTIGATED.

First Lieut. Billy Robinson, Harrodsburg, Ky., pilot of an Army plane which crashed on a farm south of Florence, late Friday, suffered fractures of both legs, left arm injuries, and possible internal injuries, it was reported by St. Elizabeth Hospital attaches.

The plane carried a complete-ment of three men including Staff Sergeant Paul Myezic, Detroit who suffered cuts and bruises, and Staff Sergeant John Severs, San Antonio, Texas treated for cuts and bruises at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Robert Mayo, who was said to be an eye witness to the crash, said the motor was going on and off and the plane was coming closer to the ground. The pilot attempted to bank the plane, either to gain altitude or to prepare for a landing. Just as the plane began to bank the motor stopped and the plane crashed, according to Mayo's story.

The plane, which was on its way to Bowman Field, Louisville from Patterson Field, Dayton, O., fell on the farm of Elmer Carpenter on the Mt. Zion road, a few miles south of Florence.

Sergt. Myczic, although suffering numerous cuts, bruises and shock, refused to leave the site of the crash until the arrival of soldiers from Ft. Thomas. Lieut. Robinson and Sergt. Severs were taken to the hospital by Chambers and Grubbs ambulance, Walton, Ky.

The plane was practically demolished. A motor was torn away in the crash and wings and fuselage were badly crumpled. It did not catch fire, and alert police and firemen prevented smoking near the scene.

An Army board of inquiry will be formed to investigate the crash.

Readnour Makes 500 Gallons Molasses

Otis Readnour of Walton boasts of being the largest sorghum molasses maker in the county. He finished on Monday of this week, making his 500th gallon this year. He reports that sales have been good and that todate he is completely sold out.

His last run Monday was a large run off of the Williams variety which Readnour states was the finest molasses he ever made. The Williams variety is reported the best identified by the Kentucky Experiment Station. The seed were secured by the Boone and Kenton County Extension Services the past spring from Mr. Roger W. Jones, Superintendent of the Quicksand Sub-Experiment Station.

Mr. Readnour states that he will do custom work next year for local farmers who wish to grow sorghum, provided they will contract with him up to his capacity before planting time. Sorghum is one of the finest and most nutritious of our sweet foods. Increased use of sorghum is an excellent nutritious way of meeting in part the sugar shortage.

Hybrid Sweet Corn Doubles Yield Says Co. Agent, Forkner

Hybrid sweet corn gave two times more the yield of common varieties of sweet corn this past year, according to seventy demonstration reports received from local farmers in recent weeks, according to H. R. Forkner.

One hundred fifty-one farmers and home gardeners grew hybrid sweet corn this year. Six hybrid varieties were grown: Golden Cross Bantam, Golden Hummer, Silver Cross Evergreen, Iona, Span Cross and Kingscrost. Certified Golden Cross Bantam seed produced the most and sweetest of all hybrids. Silver Cross Evergreen was second. Golden Hummer did not give an outstanding yield but was third choice because of its earliness.

The high yield of Certified Golden Bantam seed has proven a substantial improvement in increasing the home food supply.

Junior Red Cross Roll Call Set For November 1-15

The National Junior Red Cross Roll Call will take place between November 1st and 15th. Boone County is striving to enroll 100 percent of the school children in the Junior Red Cross this year. Supplies are being sent to each school principal and each child is urged to make a contribution toward this worthy cause.

With the critical war conditions existing, no finer lesson in citizenship can be given than the one which explains the significance of the small contribution made by each school child to this crying need for Red Cross Funds.

FLORENCE P.-T. A. WILL SPONSOR JITNEY PARTY

The Florence P.-T. A. will sponsor a Jitney Party and Musical at the school house Friday, November 13th. The band will be the feature of the evening.

The P.-T. A. will meet at the school house Monday evening, November 9th. All members are urged to attend.

Dr. W. S. Rice Will Be Heard At Local M. E. Church, Sunday

Dr. W. S. Rice, District Superintendent of the Covington District of the Methodist Church, will preach at the local Methodist Church, Sunday, November 1 at 8:00 p. m. Eastern War Time. Dr. Rice was formerly pastor at Middlesboro, Ky. He was appointed to the Covington District at the recent Annual Conference at Winchester. In order that he may be properly welcomed into our midst, a good attendance is urged at this service.

The Quarterly Conference will be conducted by Dr. Rice after the worship service is dismissed.

Florence Baptists Announce School Mission Nov. 3, 4, 5

There will be a School Mission conducted at the Florence Baptist Church on November 3, 4, 5, each service beginning at 8:00 p. m. (E. W. T.)

Special speakers have been obtained for each night of the service. On Tuesday night, Rev. W. R. Cole, of Dayton, Ky.; Wednesday will be Stewardship Night with Mrs. Arthur Holden, Young Peoples leader in charge; and on Thursday night Rev. Raymond Smith, Elmwood, Ohio, will be the speaker.

The book to be taught for the men entitled "Signs of the Time" will be taught by James J. Dalton, of Covington, Ky., and the book of the ladies entitled "Missionary Lessons from the Bible" will be taught by Mrs. Howard McKinley of Elsmere, Ky. Other interesting books will be taught to the Junior organizations.

Special music each evening by Miss Louise Daniel, Robert Young and Mrs. Harold Wainscott. The public is invited to attend.

LEADERS GROW NEW VEGETABLES

PROVIDES GREATER VARIETY TO THE FAMILY DIET—IS IMPORTANT PART OF "LIVE AT HOME" PROGRAM.

Reports of eighteen garden leaders in the "Live at Home" and Food for Freedom programs show that eighteen new vegetables were grown this year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent, and Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. The growing of new vegetables as a means of providing greater variety to the family diet was an important part of the "Live at Home" program.

The new vegetable would be one that the particular farm family had not been growing before and would vary from family to family. The eighteen new vegetables reported were Chinese Cabbage, Summer Squash, Rhubarb, Tendergreen, Cauliflower, Cantaloupes, Cushaws, Okra, Parsnips, Eggplant, Broccoli, Chard, Parsley, Mustard, Kale, Celery, and Endive.

Thirty-eight vegetables were grown as regular garden crops. They were Chinese cabbage, sweet potatoes, not peppers, sweet peppers, summer squash, butter beans, beans, rhubarb, tendergreen oyster plant, cauliflower, cantaloupes, watermelons, soybeans, asparagus, cushaws, okra, corn, cabbage, parsnips, eggplant, broccoli, radishes ,tomatoes, potatoes, parsley, pumpkins, chard, lettuce, onions, carrots, mustard, kale, beets, spinach, celery, turnips and peas.

Tomatoes, corn, lettuce, sweet potatoes, cabbage, radishes, potatoes, onions, and peas were most frequently grown. Okra, broccoli, and Swiss chard were less frequently grown.

The analysis of the reports show that the average family canned 71.97 quarts tomatoes; 5.69 quarts beans; 2.6 quarts carrots; 4.5 quarts beets; 72.8 quarts other vegetables.

They stored an average of 11.5 bushels of potatoes; 2.4 bushels of sweet potatoes and .72 percent bushels of beets, carrots and turnips.

The average size garden was 64 steps by 55 steps.

RATIONING OF GASOLINE NOV. 22

REGISTRATION FOR GASOLINE WILL BE CONDUCTED AT SCHOOL BUILDINGS NOVEMBER 9, 10 AND 11.

George H. Goodman, Kentucky Director of the Office of Price Administration, announced last week that individual blanks for basic gasoline coupon books under the mileage rationing plan will be available to Kentucky motorists the latter part of this week. The rationing becomes effective November 22.

Goodman said motorists could obtain the application blanks at filling stations, garages and automobile clubs. Registration for gasoline will be conducted at school buildings November 9, 10, and 11.

As a preliminary to obtaining the basic coupon book, or "A" book, the motorist must list serial numbers of the five tires to be used on his car and make a statement that he has no other tires for that vehicle, he explained.

ENJOYING FURLOUGH

Tech. Sgt. William F. Kemen

Technical Sgt. William F. Kemen, who recently returned from three years in the Hawaiian Islands is enjoying a 30-day furlough at his home in Florence, Ky. This is his first furlough since he enlisted on September 1, 1939.

At the expiration of his furlough he will enter the Air Force Officers' Candidate School in Miami Beach, Fla.

New Haven School Will Present Play November 13th

"The End of the Lane," a sparkling comedy-drama in three acts, will be presented by New Haven High School on November 13, at 8:30 p. m. (E. W. T.) in the school auditorium.

This is an outstanding comedy with plenty of wholesome fun and a full evening of genuine entertainment. In addition to all of the chuckles afforded you by the Dramatic Club, the Glee Club will sing negro spirituals.

Mark November 13 on your calendar and remember that New Haven is saving a place for you. Watch for further announcements and descriptions of the cast of characters. We're counting on you!

FIVE WIN FOUR-H VICTORY AWARDS

EACH WILL RECEIVE GOLD FILLED METAL PROVIDED BY SEARS, ROEBUCK AND COMPANY.

Outstanding achievements in one of the most important projects in this year's 4-H Club program, Victory Gardens, have won special recognition for five Boone County members, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. The five county winners are: Wilbur O. Ryle, Grant; David C. King, Verona; Mary Alberta Fugate, Constance; Walter Kirkpatrick, Petersburg; and Melvin Ray McGlasson, Hebron.

Each will receive a gold filled medal provided by Sears, Roebuck and Company. Wilbur O. Ryle was selected by the State 4-H Club Department to compete for State honors in which four representatives of the blue award group will each receive a $25.00 U. S. War Saving Bond.

Sixty-six 4-H club members in this county participated in the 4-H Victory Garden competition.

Efficient Postal Service Essential

Careful and prompt handling of mail matter constitutes good mail service. Congestions of mail cause loss, damage, and delay. Christmas time is approaching with its enormous, and, this year, unusual mailings. To prevent congestion will be a task which will tax the Postal Service to the utmost. Success can be obtained only with the complete cooperation of the American public.

The boys in the Armed Services are our first consideration, and we will do well to bear in mind that their morale is vitally affected by the mail they receive.

Letters and parcels improperly addressed or improperly prepared also cause losses and delays and contribute materially to congestions. The public can be of great assistance in keeping congestions to the minimum by—mailing early, packing properly, and carefully and completely addressing the mail, exercising the caution to place on all mail matter the name and address of the sender.

Forty-Seven Men Will Make-Up November Call

Forty-five white and two colored men will make up the November call, according to C. G. Kelly, Clerk of the Local Draft Board No. 9.

The forty-five white boys will report for their physical examination on December 1, at which time they will be taken to Cincinnati for the examination and then to Ft. Thomas Induction Center, where they will be inducted into the service. The two colored boys will report for their examination on November 27th.

After the November call is filled, Boone County will have well over four hundred men in the Armed Services of our Country. This is a large number when you stop to think that Boone County's total population, according to the last census, was slightly over 10,000.

The Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will hold a retreat service Thursday, October 29 from 10:30 to 3:30. Everyone invited.

52.2 PERCENT YIELD INCREASE

SHOWN WHEN HYBRID SEED CORN WAS USED—DEMONSTRATION PLOT PLANTED SAME TIME.

Seven varieties of hybrid corn grown by Kenneth Stephens, Hamilton, produced an average of 52.2 percent more corn per acre than a local open pollinated variety grown in the same field, according to information received recently by Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Weighed yields from each plot show the following percentage increases from hybrid varieties: Ky. 102, 86.3; Ky. 103, 72.6; U. S. 13, 49.9; Ky. 72B, 45.5; Ky. 72, 43; Ky. 69, 40.8; and Ky. 201, 27.2. When calculated to an acreage basis, the yield of Kentucky 102, for example, was 84.4 bushels per acre, while open pollinated variety (Woodburn) was only 45.3 bushels per acre.

Corn in this demonstration was planted the same day in the same field. All varieties were given equal cultivation. The difference was in the seed.

Dry weather which prevailed at the time this corn was in the blister stage was a primary factor in bringing about yield from hybrid corn that were larger than average. Since hybrids had a better and more extensive root system than the open pollinated variety, they were least affected. However, normally hybrids increase the yield by approximately 20 per cent.

A summary of results secured in this demonstration indicates that hybrids increase the yield by an average of 23.6 bushels of corn per acre or 188.8 bushels for each bushel of seed planted. For each dollar spent on seed, a 27-bushel increase in production resulted, which should sell for about twenty-three dollars at current prices.

Today most Boone County growers realize they cannot afford not to plant an adapted variety of hybrid corn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tanner, of Ludlow, R. 2, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Kelly and family last Friday evening. The occasion was in honor of young Mr. Charles Harcey Kelly's fifth birthday.

BOONE COUNTY BOY RESCUED

AFTER SINKING OF U. S. S. O'BRIEN NEAR SOLOMONS—SON OF THEODORE BIRKLE NEAR BURLINGTON.

Murrell Birkle, 25, electrician's mate, second class, son of Theodore F. Birkle, Burlington Route 1 was rescued after the sinking of the U. S. S. O'Brien, a destroyer sunk by the enemy in action near the Solomon Islands.

Birkle enlisted in the navy in December, 1939. His father received his last letter from him October 15. The letter was mailed October 1. Birkle wrote that he was well.

He is a former student at Hebron High School, and worked for the Boone County Highway Department before enlisting in the navy.

Pvt. Ivan Horton, of Campbell, Ky., is spending several days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Horton.

PRANKSTERS WARNED NOT TO DISTURB SCRAP METAL

BY COUNTY JUDGE C. L. CROPPER THIS WEEK—VIOLATORS WILL BE GIVEN HEAVY FINES IS WORD.

A warning this week was issued to any and all persons who may have their eyes on the many piles of scrap metal throughout the county for some fun on Hallowe'en night, October 31st.

In a statement this week, County Judge C. L. Cropper stated that any person convicted of molesting any of our scrap metal will be subjected to a severe fine and possible jail sentence, since this metal is vital to our war effort and is considered Government property.

Even though the government has not actually paid for all the metal, it is considered property of the government and any act to disturb or move same, will be treated as a subversive activity and a hinderance to our war program, and the penalties will be accordingly.

It is the patriotic duty of all parents to be certain that your children understand this thoroughly, and that they plan their pranks other places rather than in the scrap metal collections at various points throughout the county.

1000 POUNDS PER PUPIL GATHERED AT BELLEVIEW SCHOOL

Last Saturday the Salvage Committee reported a total of 722,795 pounds of scrap collected since the start of the State Newspaper Drive. They are very hopeful of obtaining the county total of over a million pounds before 1 o-vember 2nd.

The Walton School has weighed up over 102,000 lbs., and the graded school at Belleview has a thousand pounds of scrap per pupil. No better records have been noted anywhere in the State.

Poultry Specialist Will Visit County

Jim Humphrey, poultry specialist from the College, will be in Boone County on November 11th for two community poultry meetings and to discuss increased production problems with poultrymen. The exact location of the meetings will be announced next week.

Those poultrymen desiring special service from Mr. Humphrey on that date should contact the County Agent's office.

Homemakers Donation Helps Dental Clinic

With the help of a $100 donation from the homemakers' clubs of the county, the school children of Fulton county were able to have their teeth put in first class condition. A dentist and trailer, furnished by the Kentucky State Board of Health, stayed at one school three weeks and at another school for a week. Children from other schools were taken to the trailer, so that six districts were served.

Class Meeting Held At The Home Of Mr. And Mrs. C D. Benson

The Dorcas S. S. Class of the Walton Baptist Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Benson, Thursday, October 22 for an all-day meeting.

At the noon hour a covered-dish luncheon was enjoyed by twenty-seven members and friends of the class. In the afternoon, after a short business session, a most interesting program was given by several members of the class, their subject being "The Bible."

Those enjoying the day were: Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Alford, Rev. R. A. Johnson, Mrs. Susie Norman, Etheline Ryle, Bess Conrad, Sarah Sleet, Virginia Gaines, Orpah Fisher, Mollie Sturgeon, Edith Percival, Beulah Stephenson and son, Emma Flynn, Julia Pennington, Hallie Cook, Sue Pennington, Grace Jones, Blanch Franks, Anna Johnson, Mollie Chapman, Susie Griffith, Frances Brittenhelm, Maude Wilson, Mabel Benson and the host and hostess Dewey and May Benson.

Burlington Hallowe'en Party Plans Complete

Plans have been completed for the Hallowe'en party at the local schoolhouse October 31. Remember now, prizes will be given for the best portrayal of a Book or film character therefrom and also for the best or funniest or most apt portrayal of a historical or present scene.

The committee is asked to meet at the schoolhouse to complete arrangements, and each lady of the Burlington P.-T. A. is asked to bring a half dozen sandwiches on Saturday night and take them to the kitchen.

There will be booths, fun and games for all and the Grand Parade at 9:00 to 9:30 p. m.

Remember the admission is five cents for those costumed and 10 cents for those not costumed. Prizes, drinks, fun for the kiddies, thrills for all and—well, come and see.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Tanner had as their guest Saturday night, her brother Harold Craddock, who has enlisted in the Air Force and will leave Monday.

Mrs. M. Middendorf

Requiem High Mass for Mrs. Margaret Middendorf, widow of Herman Middendorf, was sung at St. Henry's Church, Erlanger at 9 a. m. Thursday, following prayers at the residence of a son, Victor Middendorf, with whom she made her home. Burial was in St. Mary cemetery.

Mrs. Middendorf died Monday at the home of her son following a long illness. She was 74. She was a former resident of Devon, Boone County.

Besides her son she leaves two other sons, William Middendorf, Devon, and Morris Middendorf, Atlanta, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Kendall, Covington; Sister Mary Esperance, Sisters of Providence, St. Mary of the Woods, Ind., and Mrs. Carl High, Cincinnati, and a brother, B. A. Kraut, Cincinnati.

NEW TOBACCO TAXES IMPOSED

ARE EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 1—INVENTORY OF STOCK ON HAND AT CLOSE OF BUSINESS OCTOBER 31 URGED.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering today called attention of cigar and cigarette dealers and manufacturers to the tax increases on large cigars and large and small cigarettes in the Revnue Act of 1942, just enacted. Since the new rates are effective November 1, 1942, the Commissioner emphasized the importance of all manufacturers and dealers in these products taking an actual inventory of stock on hand at the close of business October 31, 1942.

The new Revenue Act imposes a floor stocks tax on these articles, which means that the difference between the old the new rates of tax must be paid with respect to all large cigars and large and small cigarettes in the hands of dealers and manufacturers as at the close of business October 31, 1942. Therefore, each and every cigar and cigarette dealer and manufacturer should take an accurate inventary at the close of business on October 31 of all stamped cigar and cigarettes affected by the new law, regardless of the quantities in stock. The attention of manufacturers is particularly called to the fact that unattached large and small cigarette stamps and unattached Class A cigar stamps shall be included in their floor stocks inventory.

The floor stock tax return forms are now in the hands of the printer but because of the short time remaining between now and the 1st of November, it is a physical impossibility to make them available to dealers and manufacturers by that date. In taking the inventory, care should be exercised to record separately the stocks of stamped cigarettes, large and small, and the stocks of stamped large cigars retailing at various prices.

FUEL FOR WAR

Many an American industry is doing a job which doesn't make the headlines and which is understood by few people—but which plays a mighty role in our economy and our war effort.

Coal is one of those industries. That industry has long been bedeviled by tax and labor problems. For years it suffered heavy operating deficits. But it has risen superbly to the needs of the time.

Coal is the foundation of the all-important steel industry. More than half of the country's electric power is produced from coal. Coal is the principal fuel used by the country's railroads. Over 140,000,000 tons of coal are used annually for heating, and that load is increasing. And in addition, the war effort has required vast amounts of coal for other purposes. This, as "Coal Age" recently said "speaks volumes for the time and money spent over recent years in improving producing and preparation methods, promoting safety, conducting research and otherwise better preparing the industry to serve the needs of the country."

The coal industry, in short, is one of the many examples of private enterprise at work. It speaks volumes for the soundness of the free enterprise system.

HELP THE DOCTOR

Preliminary reports indicate a definite rise in the tuberculosis death rate. The grim portent of this cannot be over-emphasized.

Tuberculosis strikes people during the most productive years of their lives. It is prevalent in industrial areas where there is crowding, poor nutrition, overwork and fatigue. Early infection often escape notice because tuberculosis usually comes with few symptoms. Cure is a slow process involving months and years away from productive activity. And all during the convalescent period the patient is a dead weight burden requiring continuous medical care and the best of hospital or sanatorium facilities.

In peacetime, tuberculosis was a sourge that was slowly being removed from the national health records by the tireless work of American medical men. It was under control. But war threatens to change the progress made. We are faced with a steadily falling living standard, unprecedented industrial crowding and lengthened working hours. Physical exhaustion will be the rule rather than the exception.

This country has the best medical system in the world. In the present war emergency, it has given thousands of skilled physicians and surgeons to the armed services. And so naturally the civilian burden on the doctors remaining, will be staggering. They are working night and day in the knowledge that the nation's health could easily be undermined if the incipience of disease is not held down. The tuberculosis death rate increase should warn us that the doctor cannot be expected to do the job alone. We must help the doctors to help us by guarding our health as much as possible through our own initiative.

—o—

KEEP ON THE JOB!

The home front can never be as productive of medals as the battle front. However, the importance of the home front is coming more and more to be recognized, as indicated recently when one of the top men at selective service headquarters warned workers against changing jobs with any idea of getting draft deferment thereby.

Thousands of workers throughout the country have jumped their regular peacetime and perhaps unglamorous jobs to go to work for defense industries.

Not only is this unlikely to result in draft deferment, but it might actually hasten the day of the draft call, according to Lieutenant-Commander Patrick H. Winston, assistant executive of selective service headquarters in Washington.

Addressing the convention of the National Association of Food Chains in Chicago, Lieutenant-Commander Winston said:

"A man moving voluntarily from a non-essential industry to an essential industry in which he has had no previous experience does not improve his draft status. On the contrary, such action to prevent immediate induction might cause him to be called earlier."

So it appears that those of us doing what may seem to be prosaic jobs at home, had better stick to them. That advice is obviously based on the fact that the machinery of civilian life must not be disorganized by unplanned shifts from one place to another and one job to another.

The Army wants us to stay put until we are needed. If we get too impatient for change, the Army may say, "O. K., Bud. If you're in such a hurry, c'mon and get your rifle."

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF MARRIAGE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 2:18-24; Matthew 19:3-6; John 2:1-5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Marriage is honorable in all.—Hebrews 13:4.

The home is not just one of the institutions of our social order, it is a part of God's plan for man. It thus holds a position of greater importance than institutions of society, and should take first place in our thinking.

Home and the life which centers in it has lost much of its meaning and value in recent decades. It is appropriate and timely to study for four weeks in our Sunday schools the foundation principles of the home and to learn how we may hinder or help it in its influence. Teachers will wish to make much of this vital series.

We begin right when we inquire what the Bible teaches about marriage, and we find the instruction plentiful and to the point. Concerning marriage we learn of

I. Its Origin—Ordained by God (Gen. 2:18-24).

Nations and states have marriage laws, and certain civil requirements must be met. But true marriage from the Christian viewpoint is far more than a civil contract. It is an ordinance which God Himself ordained from the beginning for the welfare of man.

As Adam gave names to the animals (which, incidentally, tells of his intelligence and ability) they passed before him. It became evident to him that there was no true fellowship between man and beast, that there must be a "help meet" for man, one of his own kind, with his capacities of personal being.

God quickly and adequately meets every real need of man, so He created out of Adam's own flesh one who was to be his true companion. "If man is the head, she is the crown," said Matthew Henry. "The man was dust refined, but the woman was dust doubly refined, one move further from the earth. She was not taken out of his head to top him, not out of his feet to be trampled upon by him, but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected, and near his heart to be beloved."

So God ordained marriage, but down through the ages man has seen fit to tamper with God's holy arrangements, adjusting them to suit himself, so we need to be reminded of the truth.

II. Its Control—Not Subject to Man (Matt. 19:3-6).

Because of the hardness of man's heart Moses permitted divorce (Mark 10:4, 5), but God did not intend it from the beginning. The Jewish rabbis had so stretched the interpretation of that act of Moses that a wife could be divorced for almost any reason. The same was true among heathen nations.

Our Lord makes it very clear that man has no authority to determine such matters at all, that the union of life in true marriage is by the act of God, and that no man has power to sunder such a relationship.

The whole trend of thought on marriage has been away from its sacredness as a divine institution, and we need to return to a proper appreciation of it as such. All too often, marriages are mere civil agreements, hastily made before a justice of peace. We need to encourage our young people to recognize

III. Its Dignity—Sanctioned by Christ (John 2:1-5).

The wedding ceremony tells us that marriage "is an honorable estate, instituted by God in the time of man's innocency, confirmed by the teaching and hallowed by the presence of our blessed Lord, and likened by St. Paul to the holy union that exists between Christ and the Church; and therefore is not by any to be entered into unadvisedly, but reverently, discreetly and in the fear of God."

At the very beginning of His public ministry Jesus performed His first miracle as His share of a wedding feast. It is true that He does share every occasion of joy and sorrow of His people, but it seems to be significant that this first occasion for His miraculous power was a wedding.

He was there to rejoice with and to bless those who had exchanged their vows in marriage. Should He not be the unseen guest at every wedding? Whether in the home or in the church; whether the occasion be a simple or an elaborate one; whether a host of friends attend or only the witnesses—always and everywhere Jesus Christ should be recognized as the One who stands by to bless, and to unite the two lives for His own glory.

This means that the ceremony should be a Christian one, with prayer a vital part of it, and the will of God paramount. Then indeed, God may and will join together that which no man can put asunder.

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluid and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the intension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially — those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surface.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight upon bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhealthy feet. Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

A Week of The War

Acting at the suggestion of the President and the request of the War Department, the House passed and sent to the Senate Legislation to reduce the minimum draft age from 19 to 18. The bill provides that those who are in high school or colleges may finish the present school year, but after next July educational deferments would be forbidden. The bill would also make mandatory the policy of calling all single men in a state before calling married men, and then calling all childless married men before men with children.

Secretary of War Stimson announced there are approximately 4,250,000 men in the army at present, and this total will be increased to 7,500,000 by the end of 1943—distributed as follows: 3,300,000 in the ground forces, 2,200,000 in the air force, 1,000,000 in training and 1,000,000 in supply services.

Mr. Stimson said 18 and 19-year olds are more responsive to leadership, are not as easily fatigued and make better soldiers than older men. He said there is danger at present that the army might get too old, in March of this year the average age of divisions being activated was 26 years and 2 months, but in August the figure had risen to 28 years and 2 months.

If the draft age is lowered to 18, a 7,500,000-man army can be built up in 1943 without calling married men with children, Selective Service Director Hershey reported. Induction of married men with wives only will begin immediately to fill the army's call for 1,100,000 by January 1, he said.

Secretary Stimson announced that ground units of the army are now aiding the marines in the defense of Guadalcanal in the Solomons, and army air and ground troops are now stationed in New Zealand, New Caledonia, the New Hebrides and Fiji Islands.

"The Japanese are continuing to bomb our airfield and short positions on Guadalcanal Island, and it is believed that enemy troops and equipment are being disposed for a strong assault against our airfield," the Navy reported October 18. During the early morning of October 17, about 14 enemy bombers, escorted by 8 fighters, attacked the Guadalcanal airfield and shore positions, the communique said, but U. S. fighters and anti-aircraft batteries shot down all the bombers and 2 of the fighters. These latest raids brought the toll of Japanese aircraft since the Solomons fighting began last August to 307 of all types destroyed.

"Although large numbers of Japanese troops are known to be on guadalcanal Island, there has been, as yet, no full scale land fighting," the Navy said. "Our losses in the current fighting, to date, (Oct. 18) has been minor, but in a battle of this nature, losses must be expected . . . All information on the fighting in the Solomons, which is not of value to the enemy, is being announced as soon as possible after being received." Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported October 19 that Allied bombers attacking Japanese shipping concentrations off Buin in the northern Solomons scored probable hits on three enemy cruisers, a large seaplane tender, seven flying boats and several cargo vessels. In the Aleutians, U. S. ground forces took a third island in the Andreanof group, and army medium bombers bombed two more enemy destroyers near Kiska.

Farm Prices and Production

President Roosevelt, in a radio address, said, "We are learning to ration materials; and we must not learn to ration manpower . . . Perhaps the most difficult phase of the manpower problem is the scarcity of farm labor . . . Every farmer in the land must realize fully that his production is part of war production, and that he is regarded by the nation as essential to victory."

Agriculture Secretary Wickard, as chairman of the WPB Food Requirements Committee, reduced production goals for such crops as cantaloupes, cucumbers, watermelons, and celery, and said, "First consideration" would be given to winter vegetables, which require the least labor in relation to their nutritional value. Mr. Wickard also called for a 10 per cent increase in 1943 spring hog production over the 1942 record crop, asking for about 68 million head as compared to the 1942 crop of 62 million head. He estimated 1943 requirements of dressed pork for the U. S. armed forces and lend-lease will exceed 1942 requirements by more than one billion pounds.

HOMEMAKERS HOLD SOCIAL

The Taylorsport Homemakers sponsored a picture show and pie social at the Taylorsport School, Saturday night, Oct. 10th. The social was held to raise money for buildings on the new fair grounds in Burlington. A very nice crowd was present and enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Mentor Southern, of Mt. Washington brought his moving picture machine and put on a very good show. There was an educational feature, showing China carrying on this war for 4 years, a cartoon and the main feature, a western "Down the Wyoming Trail."

We wish to thank Mr. Southern as would not accept pay. His part in the entertainment made the party an outstanding success. We also wish to thank Mrs. Harry Humphrey who donated the electric current needed.

The Homemakers donated their service and pies, and $18.00 was cleared on the project.

We also wish to thank Mr. Norris for the use of the school building.

BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY

with FUEL SAVING STORM SASH

When winter blasts and bitter cold arrive, will you be ready? Will you enjoy REAL COMFORT and REAL FUEL ECONOMY?

It's not enough to have your home INSULATED. True, that's a big and IMPORTANT step in the right direction. All houses should be insulated to hold the expensive winter heat IN and keep the too plentiful heat of summer OUT.

BUT, no home is properly winter-protected against floor draughts, window sweating, or costly heat loss unless it is equipped with STORM SASH.

Here Is Why:

1. Glass is a rapid conductor of heat and the many square feet of window panes offer free passage to countless, costly heat units.

A dead air space is one of the best insulators known. When you install STORM SASH you create, for each window opening, a DEAD AIR SPACE between TWO layers of glass. The passage of heat units is discouraged and the annoying "sweating" of your windows is eliminated.

IT'S PATRIOTIC to SAVE FUEL

Thousands of homeowners will gladly testify to the value of Storm Sash. The cost is SMALL and the FUEL SAVINGS (not to mention the enjoyment of greater health and comfort) pay for the cost of the Storm Sash in a relatively short time.

YOU NEED THEM
WE HAVE THEM

Stop in at your convenience—or phone us. We will gladly give you complete information. The best winter home investment you can make is STORM SASH.

EYES AT WORK NEED BETTER LIGHT

In the production line or on the home front, you're working harder these busy wartime days and your eyes are working harder, too. They need all the help that better light can give them.

Time and again it has been proved in war plants that better light increases production, reduces errors, improves morale and lessens fatigue. And in the home, better light makes reading and sewing easier, speeds housework, saves needless waste of energy due to eyestrain.

Does the lighting in your home give your eyes the help they need for safe, easy seeing? We'll gladly measure it and show you how it can be improved at small cost. Ask for a free home lighting check-up today!

SEE OUR STOCK OF I. E. S. LAMPS
Especially Designed for Safe Seeing

I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps are equipped with a white glass diffusing bowl that provides an abundance of both direct and indirect light without glare. Ask for a free trial in your home. See what a difference good light makes.

This Week On The Home Front

First off, let's take a minute in this Office of War Information column to thank the editor. He does a lot of things for people that go way beyond the requirements of his subscription price, but the latest mass demonstration of editorial co-operation in the nation's interest—that of promoting the recent scrap drive—is amazing.

All of us ought to be grateful because the failure of that drive was of concern to every one of us. It depended on all of us, too, but somehow we, who make up the American public, seem to need some prodding before we bestir ourselves—and the editors surely gave us the prodding.

The drive isn't over—it will last as long as the war—but it brought in enough scrap to help the reserve pile upon which the mills must depend for continued operation.

Knowing what defeat in this war would mean to us, let's thank the editors for prodding us into a realization that the scrap was necessary NOW.

• • •

Now let's turn to that well-worn but always interesting matter of food prices. The OPA and the Department of Agriculture have acted to prevent increases in the prices of bread and flour. Both prices have been pegged, but the new program provides for making wheat available to millers at prices which will allow maintenance of the present ceiling levels.

• • •

Then, also, in the food line, the OPA gave assurance that the retail price of pork would be effectively controlled.

The WPB has released 20 to 40 per cent of various varieties of dried pruns and 40 to 100 per cent of raisins for civilian consumption.

• • •

The OPA estimates that the motoring public has between five and ten million automobile tires stowed away against the Big Blow-out.

• • •

Gift kits containing shaving cream or toothpaste tubes can be purchased for members of the armed forces without turning in old tubes.

• • •

New types of canned soups are higher in food value than the old-style soups—one reason why most of them cost a few cents more, the OPA says. The words "new and improved style" or "new recipe" on the labels are the key to the difference in price. One kind of bouillion now has 130 per cent more dry food solids, one kind of chicken soup has 60 per cent more.

• • •

Owners of more than five tires may not give away the extra one or leave them with or trade them in to tire dealers or service stations. Only the Railway Express Co. has been designated as the government's collecting agent.

• • •

The nation's trucking system faces a disastrous breakdown Nov. 15, if applications for certificates of war necessity are not promptly returned by operators of trucks, buses and taxis. Two-hundred-and-fifty-thousand a day were mailed out, but only 6,000 to 8,000 a day were being returned last week. This indicates the jam, which will come near the deadline—after, which day, gasoline, tires and repair parts may be sold only to certificate holders.

• • •

Authority to control the disposition of livestock has been conferred upon the Secretary of Agriculture by the WPB.

• • •

An order controlling the size of inventories of finished consumer goods of wholesalers, retailers and manufacturers will be issued soon, the WPB says. Over-buying of consumer goods is responsible. The order will require the achievement of normal (as indicated by sales-to-stock ratio) inventories by early next year.

• • •

Women are requested to save their discarded silk and nylon hosiery until a collection campaign can be staged. Hosiery containing any silk or nylon fibers also should be saved.

• • •

The service flag customarily flown to indicate that members of a household are serving in the armed forces may also be used by families of merchant seamen. These seamen face tremendous danger to supply the troops.

• • •

Getting back to nylon hose, the government reduced retail prices from a high of $2.95 to $2.50 to not more than $1.65 a pair for the most commonly-sold full-fashioned hose.

• • •

WPB orders controlling the delivery and acceptance of scarce materials apply to liquidation sales of all kinds, says a warning. Auctioneers, receivers and trustees in bankruptcy are warned about the disposal of restricted items.

• • •

Governmental agencies exercising regulatory power over prices subject to OPA control have been authorized to file petitions for amendment of OPA regulations.

The War Manpower Commission has reported 97 areas in which there is still much unemployment and has urged the placing of war contracts in those districts. Several Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky areas are included.

• • •

War housing completed since July 1, 1940, totals some 500,000 living units.

• • •

Rigid control of the evictions of tenants resulting from the sale of houses is contained in an amendment to the maximum rent regulation. Purchasers may not occupy the property until one-third of the purchase price has been paid and three months must pass after issuance of a certificate of eviction before the tenant can be forced to vacate. Special cases may be recognized as exceptions.

• • •

Four hundred major cities have been ordered to enlist their trash collection machinery in a systematic and continuing collection of tin cans. It hopes to get 10,000 pounds of pure tin.

• • •

Restaurants participating in the share-the-meat program have been asked to provide half portions for those patrons who desire to reduce their consumption. They also are asked not to emphasize dishes of restricted meats and to reduce the number of such dishes placed on the menu.

• • •

Motorists are asked not to await the beginnnig of gasoline rationing, but to control the mileage at once.

• • •

Frozen vegetable requirements of the U. S. armed forces in 1943 are estimated at 70.9 million pounds.

• • •

Bowlers, billard and pool players have been given OPA assurance that the fees charged for their pastimes will be allowed to advance.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Tyrone Power and Joan Fontaine are stars in "This Above All" to be shown at the Gayety tonight and Friday. Don't miss this big picture. Added attraction will be Our Gang Comedy.

• • •

SATURDAY

Conrad M. Barry, Alan Curtis and Fay McKenzie are co-starred in "Remember Pearl Harbor" feature picture at the Gayety Saturday night. See this wonderful film—it's what you have been waiting for. Added attractions will be the serial "Perils of Royal Mounted" and a cartoon.

• • •

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Victor Mature lost Betty Grable to John Payne by the flip of a coin!

When the scenarists were plotting the romantic course of 20th Century-Fox's rollicking new musical "Footlight Serenade," they left the last ten pages unwritten, for Vic and John are both successful cinema suitors of long standing and neither wanted a blotch on his record.

Director Gregory Ratoff settled the problem in the only fair way—by flipping a coin. Payne won the toss and with it Grable. Mature runs a romantic second for the first time in his career as a result.

The exciting trio is co-starred in "Footlight Serenade."

• • •

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY
Double Feature

Lionel Barrymore and Philip Dorin have the lead in "Calling Dr. Gillespie," at the Gayety Tuesday and Wednesday. As an added attraction a full length documentary film "The World at War" will be shown. Don't miss these two big shows.

MONEY TALKS
By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

While the time is fast approaching when the majority of men in this country under 50 will be in military dress and some women will be wearing the khaki of the WAACS or the blue of the WAVES, the most widely worn uniform will be the gaily-colored house dress of the great army of American housewives. For there is no doubt in my mind that the housewife is playing a major part in this war. Her share is just as important in the long run as that of her more venturous sister in the women's auxiliaries or the war industries.

In the first place, this is a war which demands conservation of the things we have always gaily thrown away. Tin cans, fats, metals and silk and nylon stocking are all ingredients of victory, and it is up to the women to see that no one of these articles is destroyed. Not almost every tin can, but every tin can is wanted, and the stockings that are beyond wearing no longer will go into the rag bag for rag rugs, but to the Government to be rewoven for powder bags. Many household appliances are irreplaceable, and the wise woman is one who cleans and oils them carefully, prolonging their lives until the war is over.

It is not only a question of saving what we have, but it is a question of having. Sugar is already rationed; meat will be rationed shortly; and there are many things which the Government has not rationed, but which will not be obtainable. Coffee, tea, and Cocoa come under this heading, and we are told in TIME Magazine that even milk will no longer be so plentiful as it was. The housewife will be faced with the necessity of feeding a hungry family on far less variety than formerly, and the recipes which appear in magazines and newspapers, showing what women have been able to do with lesser amounts or substitutes are indications of her ingenuity in this direction.

There is one other field in which women predominate in this year, and that is the one of morale-building. Times of war are times of great stress. To the anxieties, doubts, fears, and sorrows of the days are added the petty annoyances of war shortages and red tape. It is the woman who sets the temper of the home, and if she is able to make her sacrifices cheerfully and in good spirit, the home becomes a haven and the family in it are better equipped to fight the war on all fronts.

Congress has just passed the new tax bill, and Mr. Average Citizen will have to dig deeper than ever before to pay the mounting war expenditures.

The new law raises income tax rates to their highest levels yet. The normal individual income tax rate is increased from 4 to 6 percent, and on top of this there is a surtax which starts at 13 per cent for the first $2000 of taxable income. The result is that the taxpayer will pay 19 percent on his first dollar of taxable income, with the total percentage to be paid rising rapidly as income increases.

Personal exemptions have also been lowered. The personal exemption for single persons has been lowered from $600 to $500, married persons' exemption from $1500 to $1200, and for each dependent from $400 to $350.

For example, last year a single person earning $700 per year would have paid no tax, but this year he will pay $34; a single person earning $1,000 will pay $89; if the earnings are $1500, the tax will be $181; and on $2000 the tax will be $273.

A married person, with no dependents, earning $2000 a year will pay $140 tax; but if the earnings are $2500 the tax will be $232. Now if the earnings should run as high as $4000 per year, the tax would be $532.

Now let us look at a married person with two dependents. Last year this person would have had a personal exemption of $1500 and $400 for each child, or a total of $2300; but this year his personal exemption is $1200 and $350 for each child, or a total of $1900. Now if this individual earns $2500 per year, his tax will be $99; if he earns $3000, his tax will be $191; but if he earns $400 his tax will amount to $378. This new tax law applies to your 1942 income and is payable March 15, 1943.

In addition to your regular income tax the new law levies a Victory Tax, and under its terms all individuals who earn in excess of $12 per week will be taxed a flat 5 percent of income. Some deductions are permitted for debt payment, insurance premiums, and war bond purchases. This new tax begins January 1, 1943, and it will be deducted from your pay.

These new taxes are the largest ever levied on individual incomes, and it seems to me everyone should begin now to lay away a part of each week's salary to pay his tax March 1, 1943. This is the easiest and most systematic way to build up a fund to pay your taxes.

RIVER VIEW

Those on the sick list are Mrs. W. B. Stephens and I. D. Isaacs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Black and sons entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black and daughter Velma, Mrs. Harmon Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Black and family, Mrs. Genevieve Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hodges and daughters. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryle and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Isaacs and family.

We are glad to hear that Everett Ryle is improving, after a six weeks' illness at Christ Hospital.

Mrs. Vernon Stephens and daughter called on Mrs. James Wilson one day last week.

Rev. and Mrs. John Ashcraft spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shinkle and family.

Mrs. Ray Smith and Mrs. I. D. Isaacs and daughter Gladys spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black.

We are sorry Rev. John Ashcraft has resigned as pastor of the local Baptist Church. He has accepted the pastorate of a Church in Hamilton, Ohio. We are sorry to lose these good people from our midst.

NEW WORKERS SHOULD SECURE SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS FROM BOARD

Within the next 12 months more than 1,000,000 new workers must be recruited or trained for war industries in Region V of the Social Security Board organization, the area including Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky. A plea to these prospective workers to safeguard their rights under old-age and survivors insurance was made today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Covington field office of the Social Security Board.

"We know now that many, perhaps the majority of these additional workers, will find their first employment covered by the Social Security Act, as they take these jobs and others created by our war emergency," Mr. Decker said.

"Some of the workers will come out of retirement, men and women alike who have been unemployed in commerce or industry since the Social Security Act went into effect January 1, 1937. Some will be young folks finding their first jobs. Others will leave positions in domestic service to take war plant jobs.

"We want to impress upon every one taking his or her first job covered by social security that an account number must be obtained and the name and number of the worker recorded by the employer exactly as they appear on the card. A person applying for an account number protects his own rights by answering all the questions fully and accurately.

"Those who have lost their original cards and who are now going back to work should always state that they are applying for a duplicate card. A worker who has two or more cards, bearing different numbers, or who fails to indicate that he is seeking a duplicate card if his original is lost or destroyed, may delay payments of benefits to which he or his survivors will be entitled later. It is possible to lose benefits by having more than one card.

"Those who obtained cards under assumed or Americanized names may have to obtain new cards showing their real names if they are working in certain types of industry. Such cards may be obtained by calling at our office in the Post Office building and giving us the facts. Our records then can be corrected and the true name of the individual will appear on his ledger sheet on which all of his earnings covered by the Social Security Act are posted.

"Persons of any age, if employed in commerce or industry, should have social security cards. This is true whether they work full time or part time. We advise any one who is about to go to work to get his card before he takes his job as many employers insist on seeing the card at the time employment begins.

"This applies to those who will work in stores during the holiday season just as it does to those employed in war plants," Mr. Decker said.

HUNTERS AND FISHERMEN MUST TAKE CARE OF LICENSE HOLDERS

Frankfort, Ky—The hunters and fishermen of Kentucky must preserve and protect their license holders very carefully from now on, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced today.

Wakefield pointed out that the Division has only a small supply of license holders on hand and these, plus the ones now in the hands of hunters and fishermen of the state, must last for the duration of this war. Shortages of metals brought about by the war will prevent the Division from buying any more holders until after the world-wide struggle has ended.

Since hunters and fishermen are required by law to wear their licenses in the holders on their outside clothing where they will be plainly visible and since the shortage of metals will prevent the purchase of more license holders, then it is absolutely necessary that sportsmen take care of their holders and not throw them away after each license expires or to carelessly lose them. The law states that any person caught in the field without his or her license plainly visible on the outside clothing is subject to arrest.

Help the Division of Game and Fish by guarding your license holder carefully and help the Wildlife Conservation Program in the state of Kentucky by purchasing your hunting and fishing licenses even though the war, through rationing of materials and induction of manpower into defense jobs, may prevent your enjoying the outdoor sports of hunting and fishing for the duration.

NOTICE

Feeling that my deceased brother, Judge N. E. Riddell, would not desire to have his Insurance Agency commercialized by selling same, and believing that to continue his agency in Burlington would be some accommodation and convenience to his insurance clients, I have decided to have his close friends and business associates continue this agency in the name of the "Riddell Insurance Agency," to be handled and managed in equal partnership by C. L. Cropper, G. S. Kelly and Miss Nell H. Martin.

I shall appreciate the continued patronage of my brother's insurance clients with this Agency, which will continue to write Fire, Tornado and Casualty Insurance of all kinds. 20-2t-c

CHANDLER LEADS BY WIDE MARGIN IN SENATE RACE

SPENCE LEADS TICKET IN BOONE COUNTY — IS EASY WINNER—VOTE IS LIGHT IN ALL COUNTIES.

A. B. Chandler, democratic nominee for United States Senator was leading his Republican opponent, Colbert by a wide margin with a large number of counties in Kentucky reporting complete returns. In Northern Kentucky, Chandler lost one County, Campbell, when Colbert tallied 7,683 and Chandler 6,624. This was the first time in Chandler's political career to lose Campbell county.

Congressman Brent Spence, who won reelection to his seventh consecutive term in the House of Representatives, led the ticket in Boone County, receiving 920 votes, against his opponent's 308. He also carried all the counties in his district.

Spence had a bare plurality of 361 in Campbell over Kimberly. The vote was Spence 6,642, Kimberly 6,281.

William H. Rees, Maysville, candidate for reelection as a Judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, was unopposed. He polled 917 votes in Boone County.

The voting was unsually light in Boone County, the total ballots being cast were 1310. There are approximately 5500 voters registered in this county.

Spence issued a statement Tuesday night in which he said: "I wish to thank the voters for their continued confidence and support."

School Election Results

Henry R. Barnett was added to the board of the Boone County School system without opposition. The election was held in Florence precincts and Walton No. 1.

John Boyer, John E. Stephenson and Robert K. Porter, of the Walton-Verona School District were elected as board members without opposition. Stephenson collected 155 votes, Porter 150 and Boyer 134.

Army Pilot Improved At Covington Hospital

First Lieut. Billy Robinson, Harrodsburg, Ky., pilot of the army plane which crashed on the Elmer Carpenter farm near Florence last week, is much improved at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, but will be confined for approximately four months before he can be returned to his home.

Robinson stated Monday that he didn't mind having both legs and one arm broken so much as not having any friends here to visit him while in the hospital. He enjoys company very much and requests anyone who has the opportunity to drop in and see him while in Covington. His room number is 332.

CAR OWNERS MUST REGISTER

FOR GASOLINE RATIONING ON NOVEMBER 12, 13, AND 14 AT LOCAL SCHOOLS—KEROSENE REGISTRATION EXTENDED.

Boone County car owners will be required to register for gasoline rationing at their nearest school building on any one of the following days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 12, 13, 14, it was announced this week by the Boone County Rationing Board No. 8, Walton.

The registration will again be handled through the various schools in the county by voluntary helpers and several teachers between the hours of ten to five and on all three days, and from six to eight on Friday evening only. The Walton school will conduct their registration between the hours of nine to four on all three days.

In order to register for gasoline all that you need to bring is your license certificate on your automobile. No other information is necessary, according to the Rationing Board, but it is compulsory that each car owner appear in person for the registration as no other person will be permitted to sign for another, as was permitted in the sugar rationing.

Everyone is urged to keep these dates in mind, as this will be your only opportunity to register for gasoline. No future dates will be permitted for registration and the Rationing Board cannot receive applications after November 14th it was stated.

According to the Board the serial numbers of your tires will not be necessary for gasoline rationing, as the tire checking service will not be compulsory until January 31, 1943. It was stated however, that at that time, only five tires per car would be permitted and that all over this number would be taken up by the Railway Express Agency and the owners will be paid for all times over five per car, they now own.

For the benefit of those who did not register for coal oil and fuel oil last week will have one more opportunity to register. On November 6, 1942, the Rationing Board at Walton will be open from 9:00 to 5:00 for the purpose of registering all persons who failed to register last week. This will be for one day only, and only at the office at Walton, Ky. For the convenience of those who cannot get to Walton, applications by mail will be accepted from now until November 6th, but each person must enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope in order to receive their application by mail.

Don't forget the dates for gasoline rationing, November 12, 13 and 14. There will be no extensions of this registration and applications cannot be sent by mail.

ROTARY CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

FOUR FAMOUS SPEAKERS WILL DISCUSS THEMES OF IMPORTANCE IN FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL THOUGHT.

The Erlanger Rotary Club is sponsoring another Institute of International Understanding, presenting four internationally known speakers, each an authority in his or her own field. These speakers will discuss themes of the uttermost importance in the field of international thought and life.

First in the series of lectures will be held Monday night, November 9th at 8:00 at the Lloyd High School auditorium, when F. Wilhelf Sollman, of Wallingford, Pa., will discuss "The Nation Co-operating in Wartime..

The second lecture will be given Monday evening November 16th at 8:00 p. m. Clarence W. Sorensen, Chicago, Ill., will speak on 'Inner American Economic Co-operation."

Manoah Leide-Tedesco, Chicago, Ill., writer and lecturer will bring the third lecture "Neighborly Relations in the Americas," Monday evening, November 30th at 8:00 o'clock.

Editor and educator, Dr. Joseph A. Alexis, Lincoln, Nebraska, will bring the fourth and final lecture on Monday evening, December 7, at 8:00 o'clock. His subject will be "Patterns of Co-operation for the Post-War World." He is chairman of the modern language department of the University of Nebraska.

These outstanding speakers will be brought to you by the Rotary Club at a cost of more than $225.00 aside from local expenses. To defray this outlay and to establish and promote a worthy object the club must make a nominal charge to hear these lectures. Tickets are now on sale and can be obtained from any members of the Erlanger Rotary Club or any member of the Band Mothers Club. Season tickets for all four lectures $1.00; single admission to one lecture 35c.

All profits derived from ticket sales will go to a fund looking to the purchase of uniforms for the High School Band.

Hemp Growers Reports Twelve Bushel Yield

Hugh Stephens and son, prominent farmers of East Bend bottoms, are growing two acres of hemp this year in cooperation with our war program. This past week they threshed and cleaned a part of their crop, which produced an average of 12 bushels of clean seed per acre.

Mr. Stephens reports that his hemp shocks and several of his neighbors' shocks blew down during the high wind last week. The seed shattered easily and considerable seed was lost.

Mary Clore is in Ellwood City, Pa., nursing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ryle. They are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a 9 pound son, James Milton, since Saturday, October 24.

Eastman-Sandow

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Eastman, of Florence announce the marriage of their daughter, Nancy Elizabeth, to Mr. Bernard Lee Sandow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sandow, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Thursday evening, October 29th, at Cincinnati.

Upon their return from Chicago they will be at home to their friends at 3652 Reading Road, Cincinnati.

Burlington Baptist Church Will Have Patriotic Services

A great patriotic service is being planned for next Sunday evening at the Burlington Baptist Church. This is to be a service taking us back to World War I. The pastor will give the story of his experience of five and a half months on the firing line. There will also be a good musical program.

A special invitation is extended to the American Legion to attend this service. Help to make this a great service by your presence.

New Haven School Will Present "The End Of The Lane"

What? Where? When? Why? How much? . . . Answers: "The End of the Lane," a 3-act comedy-drama. At New Haven School auditorium on Friday evening, November 13, at 8:30 (EWT). To entertain the public, to raise funds for the school library, and to promote dramatics in the schools. Admission 17c and 28 (tax included).

You can't afford to miss seeing Bud "Gumdrop" Nix and Martha Elizabeth Ann engaged in such a beautiful romance! These characters, hired servants, are portrayed by Bobby Slayback and Catherine Carroll, respectively. Does Bud really love Marthy? Is he a flit? Is he fickle?

Darling Coral Randal (Mary Katherine Shields) and her irresistible appeal attracts more than one male. Who? Come and find out. Pa and Ma Randal (Walter Wharton and Betty Thomas) are always there to steady their daughter and the other characters as well.

Flirtatious Ellen Seabright, played by Norma Laibly, with a mysterious glint in her eye and an active tongue in her mouth, is a serious contender—for whom? Well, we can't tell as yet.

Mrs. Kate Sanders (Kathryn Knox) has a cute little son named Harry "Hal" Sanders (Lloyd Shields) and the mix-ups that he doesn't get into wouldn't be worth mentioning! Just you wait and see!

And, of course, the central figure is Jim Denver (Jack), as portrayed by Walter Ferguson, who finds himself at "The End of The Lane." He finds both heartache and happiness. Who is he? Where has he come from? What is his motive for his actions? Well—

By the way, a young smart-aleck messenger (Billy Clegg) starts things rolling—and with chewing gum, too.

Mrs. John Masters, as director of the play, wishes that the entire community might be present to see this display of local talent.

Now don't forget, the time is 8:30 p. m. on Friday, November 13! If you don't see this production, you won't even know what a delightful time you shall have missed. We'll be looking for you!

4-H CLUBS MAKE SALVAGE DRIVE

NOVEMBER SET ASIDE FOR COLLECTION—SEVERAL HUNDRED TONS REMAINING IN COUNTY IS BELIEF.

Boone County 4-H Club members will make a County salvage and scrap drive during November, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The drive has been planned with the approval of the 4-H Council and the County Salvage Chairmen.

All salvage collected in the drive will either be donated to the 4-H and Utopia Club Fair Grounds debt fund or will be donated for sale direct by the owner with transportation assistance to be given by the County Salvage Committee in getting the scrap to market.

The cream of most of the scrap lying around on Boone County farms has been turned in or sold. However, it is estimated that several hundred tons remain untouched. All who have scrap materials that they would like to donate on our County 4-H and Utopia Club Fair Grounds debt are urged to notify their local 4-H Club members, leaders, or the County Agent's office, Burlington 412. Our County Fair Grounds debt stands at $1,600.00, and all donations are greatly appreciated.

HEBRON LUTHERAN CHURCH
Rev. H. M. Hauter, Pastor

Sunday, Nov. 8, Bible School at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Woodford Crigler, Supt.

Evening Service at 8:30 p. m.

The regular business meeting of the Church Council will be held this Friday, Nov. 6, at 8:30 p. m. at the church. May be have a good attendance.

POULTRYMEN TO HEAR HUMPHREY

IN THREE MEETINGS TO BE HELD, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11TH—METHODS OF INCREASING PRODUCTION, AIRED.

Boone County poultrymen will hold three local meetings on next Wednesday, November 11th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Methods of increasing the 1942-43 winter egg production and 1943 poultry production will be discussed at these meetings.

Jim Humphrey, poultry specialist, College of Agriculture, will address poultrymen at each of these meetings.

The meetings scheduled are all on Eastern War Time and are as follows:

10:00 a. m.—Conner's Hatchery, ½ mile south of Hebron. See the largest Hatchery in the County.

11:15 a. m.—Grant Maddox poultry farm, 2 miles South of Florence on U. S. 42. See one of the largest and most scientifically run farms in the State.

2:00 p. m.—Mrs. S. B. Sleet's, ¼ mile South of Beaver Lick.

Poultrymen who are interested in making more money from their poultry flocks are invited to attend one or more of these meetings. Three meetings are being held instead of one county-wide meeting so that those attending will have less distance to travel.

W. L. KIRKPATRICK DISPLAYS LARGE LEAF OF TOBACCO

W. L. Kirkpatrick, of Burlington was displaying a large leaf of burley tobacco at his store this week. The leaf measured 38 inches in length and 16 inches in width.

The leaf was from a crop grown on his farm this year near Burlington.

Local Road House Beer License Suspended For Forty-Five Days

One Boone County retail beer license was suspended by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board recently, it was announced this week. The license of Jack Holt, Florence R. D. was suspended for 45 days.

A number of other establishments in Kenton, and Scott County had their licenses suspended and some few revoked. Charges against the Kenton, Scott and Boone County licensees included selling to minors, drunks, after legal hours and operating a disorderly place.

Sells Lambs For $14.50 Per Hundred

Lamar Congleton, Burlington, reports the sale of 27 sheared lambs for $14.50 per cwt. The lambs averaged $12.06 per head clear. The lambs were sheared in August and had received no grain feed until the last ten days.

The Government the past year requested farmers to shear their late lambs so that the fleece would be from ½ to 1 inch long at selling time. These pelts will be used to make aviator suits, and all such pelts are taken over by the Government.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Cook celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, November 1st, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lou Williamson and Mr. Williamson.

At the noon hour all were invited into the dining room, where the table was loaded with everything tempting. The table was beautifully decorated with yellow Chrysanthemums. A prayer was offered by George Cook, which was very appropriate for the occasion. His words were well chosen, and sincerely spoken.

After the feast, pictures were taken of Mr. and Mrs. Cook. The group then returned to the living room, where presents were opened which were beautiful and useful articles. The remainder of the day was spent in pleasant social conversation.

Those present to enjoy this happy occasion and wish Mr. and Mrs. Cook many happy returns of the day were: Mr. and Mrs. Cam White, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cook, Mr. and Mrs. George Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ryle, Mrs. Rena Presser, Mrs. Boone Williamson and son Howard, Mr. and Mrs. John Klopp, and daughter Gladys, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. White, Jack, Bobby, Jean and Irene, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Presser, Harold, Mary Emaline and Larry, the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Cook and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Williamson and daughter Mary Lou.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold White were unable to attend as he is serving in the Armed Forces and is stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Free Turkeys To Be Awarded By Quality Sample Shoe Store

In accordance with their policy for the past several years, Quality Sample Shoes, 627 Madison Ave., Covington, will award free turkeys the next two Thursdays, at 9 p. m., and the final awarding on Wednesday, Nov. 25, 9 p. m., just in time for Thanksgiving.

This popular and enterprising shoe store gives full details of the free turkey awards in its advertisement on the last page of this issue of The Recorder.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Lloyd Memorial Society will be held Saturday, November 7 for an all-day session at the Lloyd Home.

COUNTY SCRAP DRIVE TOTALS 1,016,155 POUNDS

Courthouse Fence Donated In All-Out Salvage Campaign

The traditional old iron fence that enclosed the courthouse yard at Burlington was dismantled this week and sent to the scrap pile to be converted into guns and bullets for our fighting men.

This move had been planned for several weeks, but the results of our recent scrap drive were so successful that the problem of transportation of this scrap from the several points of the County to the nearest junk yards was so great that the courthouse fence was held back until the scrap already collected could be moved into the yards.

Many citizens have expressed their desire that the fence should be thrown into the fight, but it was not until this week that any action was taken. The fence has been dismantled and loaded on State Highway trucks, but the weights were not available Wednesday morning.

FLORENCE MAN IS BRIG. GENERAL

IN U. S. ARMED FORCE—BORN IN FLORENCE JANUARY 30, 1896—HAS BEEN IN ARMY FOR PAST 25 YEARS.

Washington, D. C.—Nomination for the rank of Brigadier General (temporary) of Colonel John M. Lentz, Florence, Kentucky, was announced here recently by the War Department. General Lentz, who serves as Chief of Staff of Ground G-3 (Plans and Operations) under Lieut. General Lesley J. McNair, Commanding General of the Army Ground Forces, is stationed at the Army War College.

Born in Florence, January 30, 1896, General Lentz attended Gettysburg College and took his A. B. degree there before beginning an outstanding military career. He began active duty as a Second Lieutenant in the Field Artillery in 1917, was appointed First Lieutenant in 1920, and was appointed Captain in 1930. His appointment as Major came in 1939, and he was made Lieutenant Colonel in 1941, and Colonel on April 4 of this year.

General Lentz's military education includes study at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and at the Army War College. He served on the Field Artillery Board from 1936 to 1939, then named to the G-3 Section of the U. S. Army General Headquarters, and assigned to the Army Ground Forces Headquarters after the Army reorganization, March 9, 1942, which placed General McNair in charge of the training of the Nation's new Army.

H. Omer Adams

Funeral services for H. Omer Adams, 80, retired Boone County tobacco grower and dealer, who died Thursday at his home in Rising Sun, Ind., was conducted at 2 p. m., Sunday at Rising Sun.

Mr. Adams is survived by his widow, Laura, and three brothers Claude, Williamstown; D. B., of Crittenden and Ira, of Sherman, and one sister, Mrs. Nannie Stephens, of Florence.

Mr. Adams was a native of Boone County and had many friends in this section of the state.

Mrs. Mary Anson

Mrs. Mary Anson, 75, died late Wednesday of last week at the home of a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Hinton, 106 Carlisle Avenue, Elsmere, after a long illness.

She leaves another daughter, Mrs. Frank Bohn, Evansville, Ind.; three sisters, a brother and four grandchildren.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Lloyd Gulley, of Union, returned home last week, after a nine-day visit with his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gulley and small daughter Phoebe Jane, of Baltimore, Maryland.

IN NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN, ACCORDING TO J. B. HEIZER, COUNTY CHAIRMAN—BELLEVIEW LEADS IN COLLECTION.

J. B. Heizer, County Scrap Chairman announced Tuesday evening that 1,016,155 pounds was the total scrap gathered in Boone County during the Newspaper Campaign ending last Monday. While appearing to be just a little under our goal, this is regarded as highly creditable inasmuch as the Salvage Committee is confident that numerous loads by individuals left the county without the weights being recorded and included in the above total.

The school children excelled again and turned in a splendid performance with a total of 588,945 pounds for the schools of the county. They attacked the job with resourcefulness and spirited enthusiasm and showed their full-hearted patriotism at every turn.

The standings of the individual schools follow:

Belleview 105,290 lbs.
Walton 102,775 lbs.
Hebron 100,000 lbs.
Burlington 63,000 lbs.
New Haven 60,115 lbs.

STATE PASSES SCRAP GOAL

AVERAGE IS 100.8 POUNDS PER PERSON IN COUNTIES REPORTING—FINAL TALLIES INCOMPLETE.

Kentucky reached its scrap metal goal of 100 pounds a person Monday and final reports were still pouring in, it was announced this week.

Sixty-three out of 120 counties reporting final collection figures of 286,920,319 pounds of scrap, gives an average of 100.8 pounds a person.

Henry H. McClaskey, General Chairman of the campaign sponsored by Kentucky newspapers and radio stations, said the average would approach 110 pounds a person when the remaining counties report.

"It is a source of great satisfaction to us who have worked closely with this campaign for the past month to see the counties come forward with such splendid reports and to attain, even better, our goal, McClaskey said.

"I want to thank every County Salvage Chairman, Collection Chairman and coworker, as well as the thousands of volunteer workers, who made this campaign one of the most successful drives ever conducted in Kentucky," he added.

Governor Johnson said: "I knew that the patriotic Kentuckians would respond in this manner to the call of the government for their scrap metal, and I want to say that it has been the greatest demonstration of patriotic zeal and endeavor that I have ever witnessed."

WE'RE GETTING THERE

For the first time in its history, this country is fighting a war on all the continents and all the oceans. American troops and—or equipment are now engaged in every battlefront from Russia to Africa. And the numbers so engaged will increase vastly and swiftly in the future. It has taken us a long time to move from the defensive to the offensive stage in our war strategy, but we are gradually getting there.

This is the first real "global war" history has ever known. By comparison, the wars of the past were localized operations. The master plan laid down by Hitler at the beginning should now be clear to everyone. First, it was necessary for him to conquer all of Europe, and to make it as invulnerable to invasion as possible. Second, it was necessary for him to obtain the vast oil and grain resources of Russia, and to eliminate the Russian army as a first-rate fighting force. Third, his ally, Japan, was to take command and dominate in the Pacific. Fourth, his armies, working in concert with those of Japan, were to take over the Middle East and India. The United States would then, in effect, be an island surrounded by unfriendly waters and cut off from all relations with the balance of the world. Then, at his leisure, Hitler could set about the job of finally defeating us.

This must be the picture that was in Hitler's mind when he sent his troops into Poland in 1939. The first step has been taken—all Europe is in his power, and Allied raids such as that made against Dieppe show that he has built formidable defenses. The balance of the steps have not been taken—and the magnificent fight put up by the Russians must be given much of the credit for that. Rommel's Afrika Korps might have driven through to Suez had not it been necessary to divert more and more Axis troops, planes and supplies to the Russian front. Japan might have gone farther yet in the pacific had not the superb Russian resistance made it necessary for her to maintain big garrisons facing the borders of Asiatic Russia. And Russia's stand must have had a depressing effect on the German masses at home. Long ago, Hitler promised them a quick and easy victory in Russia. That was the first promise of conquest to his own people that he has not been able to live up to. A dictator who cannot keep his word no longer wears the aura of invincibility.

This does not mean that the United Nations yet have the upper hand in the war. They have not. They have lost much and taken almost nothing. Whether or not Russia can continue as an effective, hard-hitting belligerent is the gravest of today's unanswered questions. The great battle of the Pacific is as yet in the preliminary stages. The obvious reluctance of United Nations leaders to deal frankly with the all-important issue of the second front indicates that we are still a long way from being really ready to carry the war home to the enemy. The problem of shipping is not solved—though there has been an encouraging decline in U-boat depredations. And no one yet knows whether the faith placed in air power by some Allied commanders is justified.

In short, we have not stopped the Axis—but we have slowed it. Japan is finding her long Pacific supply line costly— have taken a tremendous toll of Jap ships and planes and seamen. German losses in Russia, even if we greatly minimize the Moscow accounts, must be enormous, and a large part of the casualties consist of first-line veterans. The Axis, to sum up, has spent much of its strength in the war to date—we have spent little of ours.

Here at home, the domestic situation is clearing. The problems of supply and production are being handled better. Some effort is being made to deal effectively with the crucial manpower situation. The drafting of the 18 and 19-year-old will give the military forces about 1,500,000 first-class soldiers. There's plenty of confusion, plenty of waste motion still, but it is gradually lessening.

Recent reports from all the battlefronts indicate that new American equipment is vastly superior to that of the past. The Flying Fortress has proven itself the best plane in the world of its kind. It carries a smaller bomb load than the British Sterling, but it is much less vulnerable to attack. American tanks of the General Grant class are excellent, and early bugs in design have been eliminated. And great advancement has taken place in our pursuit planes, which originally were no match at all for Axis types.

Our latent power is beginning to be felt—and felt on the six continents. Now it remains to be seen how swiftly we can increase that power, and put it to work.

THE KITCHEN ARSENAL

One to two billion pounds of valuable waste fats and oils go down the drain and into garbage cans of America each year. Every pound of it can be used in America's munitions factories! The waste-fat collection campaign is the government's effort to salvage as much of this as possible.

Needless to say, this campaign depends almost entirely on the home front—on the continuous efforts of every homemaker in the United States. And, too much emphasis can not be placed on the importance of this seemingly prosaic task.

Prior to Pearl Harbor, America was getting more than 60 percent of its imported fats from the Pacific area. As in so many other materials' problems, this loss of our normal sources of supply is aggravated by increased demands. An adequate supply of fats and oils is vitally important to a war economy. Fats and oils are the raw materials from which glycerine is produced, and glycerine is a basic and indispensable ingredient in the majority of our explosives.

To make up our serious shortage of fats and oils the government is asking homemakers to save and take to their meat markets—for forwarding to Uncle Sam—half a billion pounds of waste fats this year. Individually, the homemaker may look at the small amount she is able to save daily from drippings and other sources and decide that it hardly seems worth while. Let her remember, that if every woman in the country saves as little as four ounces of waste fats in a week, it will produce the glycerine required to make 13,000,000 pounds of gun powder—and that adds up to deadly proportions for Hitler & Co.

MONEY TALKS

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

A recent survey estimated that there are approximately 20 million refrigerators, 3½ million gas and electric ranges, 19 million washers and ironers, 16 million vacuum cleaners, 16 million toasters, 36 million radios, 15 million electric fans, and 90 million miscellaneous and small electrical appliances now in use in American homes.

Because of the war, American factories which were producing this type of equipment have been forced into war industries, and we can no longer buy new equipment. This presents a twofold problem. In the first place, householders must take better care of their electrical equipment, or they may find that they cannot secure repair parts if their refrigerators or vacuum cleaners break down. It is time that we all become very conscious of the fact that we must pamper our equipment if we are to enjoy the luxuries of the mechanical age. Electrical dealers in many parts of the country have stated that they had only enough repair stock to run them some three or four months and in many cases, especially in rural communities, the conditions are even more alarming. This simply means that if some of your equipment breaks down, you may not be able to get it repaired.

The second problem presented by this mechanization of the home concerns the electrical appliance dealers. Many of them can no longer buy new equipment and the supply of new parts has become inadequate. It seems to me that in the face of these scarcities the electrical appliance dealer who can no longer secure new equipment for sale might well turn his attention to the repair angle of his business, for I believe this provides an excellent opportunity for him to "ride out" the war until peacetime production makes new equipment available. There is no doubt that the major part of our electrical equipment will be worn out during the period of war, and if electrical appliance dealers can maintain their establishments there will be a tremendous market for all of their products after this war. But in the meantime, let us all cooperate to keep the American home on the most efficient basis possible.

In 749 Michigan war plants, 434,600 workers ride to work in private autos.

Utah hunters are asked by the State Fish and Game Department to turn in all deer fat from the game they shoot in order to swell the State's waste fats collection by about 100,000 pounds.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 8

CHRISTIAN NURTURE IN THE FAMILY

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 6:4-9, 20-25; II Timothy 3:14, 15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.—Proverbs 22:6.

The religious life of the home is a determining factor in the life of the child, for it is in the home that the child's whole existence centers and from which he receives the repeated impressions, day by day, which determine character and destiny. Then too, it is in the home that the parent has the opportunity to demonstrate the reality of the faith professed in the church and to show the child that Christianity really counts in the ordinary experiences of life.

I. By Recognizing God's Word (Deut. 6:4-9).

Twice a day the orthodox Jew repeated the words of verses 4 and 5, "the Shema," in his time of prayer, morning and night. It was the foundation of his faith, declaring the oneness of God in a world of many heathen gods, and calling for complete and absolute devotion to Him.

But it was not enough that these words should be repeated in the service, they were to be taught with all diligence to the children and to be a normal and natural part of their daily conversation.

Here is a matter of great significance to us. The faith which we profess in the church must be effectively brought into the home. It is not enough to carry a Bible on Sunday, it should be in use in the home throughout the week; not only in family worship, but in the incidentals of daily life.

The family altar has gradually disappeared, and it is regrettable that it has, for the testimony of generations indicates that in family worship some of the most useful men and women of all ages have received the direction of life which made them great for God.

Let us not readily assume that it is not possible for us to have a family altar simply because of the difficulties of time, place, etc. But if we cannot have such worship regularly, let us show our children that we have a real interest by reading our Bibles, by sharing some blessing found therein with them, and by making prayer the natural thing in the home at all times, not just in hours of trial or adversity. Let us recognize God's Word in our family life.

II. By Remembering God's Blessing (Deut. 6:20-25).

The nation that forgets its past will have no future worth remembering. The Israelites were to recall that the glorious history of God's lovir.g kindness toward them bore testimony to the truth of His Word and to the faithfulness with which He had kept them. Their young people would thus be encouraged to trust God for the future. "Hitherto the Lord hath helped," means that henceforth we may count on Him.

In every nation there are those occasions of history where only God could deliver—and He did. The recollection of such events in a way which will give the glory to God rather than to man will strengthen faith and cause men to look to God in the hour of need, and to thank Him in the day of victory.

In the family too, we should cultivate the sacred memories of God's deliverance, of His blessing, of the joy of His fellowship in bright as well as threatening moments. Children who hear such matters gratefully rehearsed in the home have an effective anchor in a time of storm.

III. By Continuing in God's Grace (II Tim. 3:14, 15).

That which we learn of Christ and of God's Word is to be translated into living for Christ. The experiences of grace and the remembrance of God's blessing of childhood are not for that period of life alone but for a continuing in God's grace. This carries our thought a bit beyond the responsibility of the parent to provide the proper surroundings and training, and stresses the duty of the child to apply, perfect, and continue that experience of Christian truth and testimony.

Too many careless individuals, who because of the desires of their own wicked hearts have abandoned the church and the Book, blame it on the parents. "They were too strict. We had to go to church too much. They made me go to Sunday school"—such are their excuses. Of course, we know that they are only excuses, not reasons. They are the refuge of the hypocrite who is not willing to face his own terrible responsibility.

The obligation is on each one of us to continue in the things we have learned, and if we do not, the judgment must come upon us. If we do, salvation and blessing will come to us, and we in turn will pass it on to others.

May this lesson turn many an American home back to God's way.

A Week of The War

The Senate passed legislation to lower the draft age from 20 to 18. The Senate bill did not conform with the one passed earlier by the House, however, so the legislation was sent to conference to adjust the differences.

Educational deferments in the Senate bill would be limited to high school students in the last half of their academic year. The Senate bill would also defer farmers and farm labor from military service wherever their induction would curtain agricultural production, until replacements could be found. The bill would exempt men from selective service induction after they have passed their forty-fifth birthdays.

The War Front

Five strong Japanese attempts to wipe out the American foothold on Guadalcanal Island have been beaten off by Marines and soldiers at a cost to the enemy of five tanks and heavy casualties, the Navy announced late October 25. Four attacks were launched during the night of October 23 and 24, paced by tanks and covered by a field artillery barrage, and the fifth attack was thrown back early the next morning. U. S. artillery, firing from emplacements in the dense jungle, were credited with a large share of the American success in the first real test of strength with the Japanese on the Island. In fighting at sea and over land in the Solomons area between October 23-25, 21 Japanese aircraft were destroyed and three damaged, three vessels damaged and two probably damaged, with the loss of one U. S. airplane. Earlier the Navy reported the destroyers O'Brien and Meredith were lost in the Solomons as a result of enemy action.

Gen. MacArthur's headqquarters in Australia announced October 26 that allied planes operating from Australia in support of American forces in the Solomons have delivered another heavy blow to Japanese shipping in Rabual Harbor, increasing their total sunk or damaged there to 100,000 ton in three days. A cruiser, destroyer and two cargo ships were believed definitely to have been sunk. Lt. Gen Stilwell's Chinese headquarters reported American planes raided Hong Kong October 26 for the second time in two days and also dropped bombs on Japanese-held Canton.

U. S. flying fortresses destroyed nine German fighters in attacks on the Orient submarine base and a Nazi airdrome near Cherbourg, Army air force headquarters in London announced. Three U. S. bombers were missing. The Navy anounced the sinking of five more U. S. merchant vessels in the North Atlantic, four in July and one in September. U. S. Naval forces again raided the Gilbert Islands, sinking two patrol boats and damaging two larger vessels.

Prisoners of War

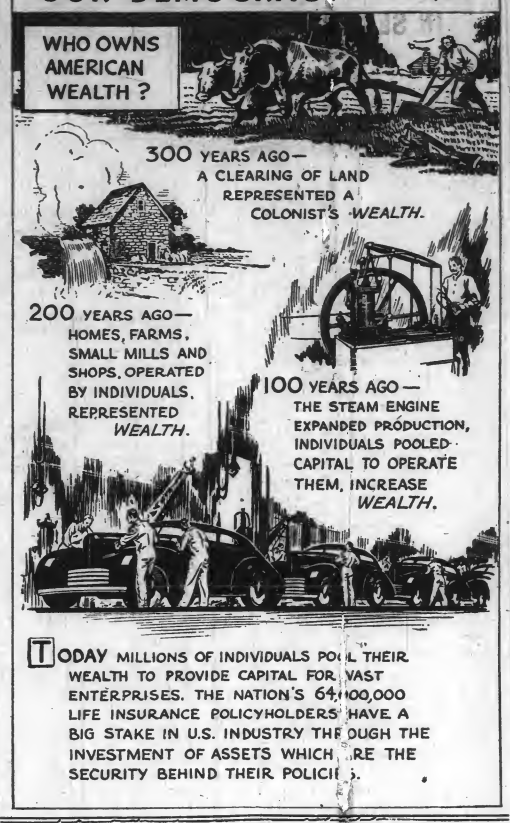
Secretary of War Stimson told his press conference that names of four captured U. S. fliers claimed in Tokyo propaganda broadcasts correspond closely to the names of four missing men, but stated the War Department had no information that the Japanese were failing to abide by international law and the Geneva convention for the treatment of prisoners. Mr. Stimson said "some of the planes" in the raid on Tokyo "encountered bad weather after they left Japan and were forced off their course. One landed in Siberia. Several others made forced landings at night in China," but no American plane was shot down. He said "A very few of the crews of these planes are carried on the list of missing. Some may have been forced down by the lack of gasoline in Japanese-controlled territory." Later the War Department announced the names of three other participants in the Tokyo raid "understood to be missing."

The Office of War Information said "Secrecy was highly desirable in the hope of saving the lives and securing the freedom of certain of certain crew members who crash landing in areas controlled by the enemy." Complete examination of the reasons for maintaining secrecy about the results of the raid cannot be made even yet, the OWI stated. Lives "of great value to the American cause" would be endangered by "the very explanation," the announcement said.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson ordered nationwide rationing of coffee, effective at midnight on November 28, on the basis of one pound each five weeks—about a cup a day—for all persons who were 15 years of age or older when they registered for sugar supplies on May 4-5. All retail sales of coffee will be frozen at midnight, November 21, for the week before rationing begins in order to permit merchants to stock their shelves. Consumers will not have to register to obtain coffee. They will use their sugar rationing book. To get the first coffee ration, the consumer will be required to surrender the last stamp No. 28—in the sugar book. Subsequent rations of coffee will be on coupons taken in sequence toward the center of the book.

Rubber Director Jeffers reported chemists would develop "within five or six months" a 100 per cent synthetic tire good for all but military and heavy truck duty, but such tires will be allotted for essential civilian driving only. The first large synthetic rubber plant will be opened at Institute, W. Va., sometime in December. "Sometime after Mid-1943, we ought to have enough synthetic tires to make an appreciable difference in the situation regarding essential driving. Sometime in 1944, we ought to have enough to begin to furnish tires to civilians for family use," he said. Special gasoline rations will be available for motorists who are away from home when nationwide mileage rationing begins, and special allowances will be made for motorists who must move their cars "in the event of a bona fide change of residence," but not for moves from summer to winter homes. Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said meat consumption of 2½ pounds a week per person would mean considerable less meat for persons "who have always had comfortable incomes" and more meat "for people who purchasing power has increased only recently."



Manpower and Production

Federal Works Administrator Fleming directed State Administrators to reinterview and reclassify 375,000 workers on WPA rolls with a view to expediting the program of putting qualified workers into war industry and farm jobs. The order will apply also all those waiting assignment to WPA. Under Secretary of War Patterson reported 4,000 experienced miners of copper and other vitally needed metals are receiving Army furloughs to relieve a labor shortage in that category. The men, who are being furloughed to the mines as civilians and who leave the Army on a volunteer basis, will be called back to active duty if they leave their jobs at the mines or if the need for them is eliminated, he said. War Secretary Stimson said the Army is studying a plan to return older soldiers to civilian life.

President Roosevelt told his press conference that the experiences of U. S. planes and tanks in actual combat have prompted a reduction in volume schedules in order to concentrate on heavier, more effective types of these war machines. While the number of tanks produced will be smaller than scheduled a year ago, the total production will have virtually the same weight, using the same steel tonnage as called for in the original, larger program. The President said the present program planned a year ago, but that the calls for fewer actual planes than planned a year ago, but that the decrease is being translated into more gun power, longer range and generally greater combat effectiveness.

Scrap Salvage

The current scrap drive has achieved "amazing results" and has raised steel production to 100 percent, WPB Chairman Nelson reported. An order was issued by the WPB requiring more than 400 municipalities to use their regular trash collection equipment to collect and segregate scrap cans as part of a campaign to recover 1,000,000 tons of steel and 10,000 tons of pure tin from tin cans. The Board announced "hosiery that can be repaired or mended for further use is not being asked for by the Government.

FLOODS HIT MENIFEE SORGHUM PRODUCTION

Floods during the summer reduced the sorghum crop in Menifee county by at least 50 percent, according to Claud Mann of Scranton, president of the Kentucky Sorghum Producers Cooperative Association. From a production of 40,000 gallons last year, not more than 18,000 gallons will be made this year, Mr. Scranton reported to the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

As a result of the short cane crop, the association will not be able to fill orders already received from independent retail stores, wholesale groceries and chain stores in Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, North Carolina and West Virginia.

Sorghum production in Menifee and surrounding counties provide a cash crop for farmers comparable to tobacco in the central part of the state, Mr. Mann said. Consequently when the yield of sorghum is drastically reduced the farmers' incomes for the year are small.

The Kentucky Sorghum Producers Cooperative Association serves growers in Menifee, Bath, Rowan, Morgan, Wolfe and Powell counties. Headquarters are at Frenchburg.

STOP, THINK, PRAY, TRUST, MOTHERS OF BOONE COUNTY!

"Ask God what He would have me do today?" Amos 6th Chapter 1:7.

The fight is on as never before in the history of our dear old U. S., and it is up to us mothers, wives, sisters and friends to leave no stone unturned to quench the fiery darts of the wicked one, "The Prince of the power of the air."

The greatest evil now is the liquor traffic. You know it and I know it. When your pastor calls, say "Yes, I'll do all I can to organize and maintain a W. C. T. U."

The following describes what this organization does:

Women's Christian Temperance Union Pledge: "I hereby solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from all distilled fermented and malt liquors, including wine, beer, and cider, and to employ all proper means to discourage use of, and traffic in, the same."

The one dollar yearly dues are divided as follows: Fifty cents is sent to our state treasurer for expenses and subscription to the monthly paper, "The White Ribbon," which gives us the needs of the work and activities of other Unions; 20 cents is sent to the District treasurer to help defray expenses, 30 cents is kept in our local treasury, with the $1 from honorary members.

The object of the Union shall be to educate public sentiment up to the standard of total abstinence, to train the young, rescue the fallen, and secure the perfect enforcement of the prohibition law. There are five very important departments: Evangelistic, Sabbath Observance, Health, Medical, Flower Mission, Relief, Young People and Children's Work.

Our boys in the army are wanting God's word to help them to get ready to live or die.

We, the women of Kentucky, believe it our duty under the providence of God, to unite and renew our efforts for the complete extinction of the traffic.

Recording Secretary.

BURLEY PRICE OFTEN FOLLOWS FLUE-CURED

Prices of Burley and Flue-cured tobacco usually go up and down together from year to year, according to Dr. Dana G. Card of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. However, this rule does not always hold, he said, and the amount of change may differ quite widely between the two types.

For 15 years prior to 1925, a rise or a fall in the price of Flue-cured tobacco was followed 12 times by a change in the same direction in burley prices. The other three times Burley prices fell when Flue-cured prices rose, or vice versa.

During recent years, changes in the prices of these tobaccos have been less similar. In six years out of the past 10, Burley prices changed in the same direction as Flue-cured prices, but four times they moved in the opposite direction. Probably a number of reasons account for this lack of uniformity but the uncertainty and sudden changes in the export for Flue-cured tobacco has been an important factor.

Quality is also important in determining prices, and weather conditions which favor the production of a good quality crop may not occur in both districts the same year.

Maximum price regulations permit a rise of about 6¾ cents in the price of the 1942 Flue-cured crop over prices of last year, or a market average for the season of just under 35 cents per pound. This is a maximum for the crop average.

During the past 10 years Burley tobacco has averaged about $19.70 per hundred pounds, while Flue-cured averaged $20.10 per hundred, or less than one half cent per pound higher than Burley.

BIG LITTER SETS NEW SELLING MARK

A litter of pigs that brought $403.69 is reported to have set a new selling record in Washington county, Kentucky. The 13 pigs, raised by J. A. Barber, weighed 2,851 pounds when five and a half months old.

Fed on a balanced ration of corn, shorts, rye, and barley, with buttermilk and a commercial protein supplement, the litter gained 1.32 pounds per pig per day from birth to marketing. For each bushel of grain fed, Mr. Barber was able to produce 18½ pounds of pork. Barley and rye were the principal grains, only 25½ bushels of corn having been used. The litter consumed less than 10 pounds of a homemade mixture of ground limestone, salt and steamed bonemeal.

That ton-litter feeding is profitable is indicated by Mr. Barber's clearing $168.01, after charging up feed for sow and litter, $214.70; bluegrass pasture, $10.73, and labor $10.25.

Although Mr. Barber has finished ton litters for about 15 years, this is the heaviest group he has produced. Each year, says County Agent Troll Young, he has demonstrated that the most profitable method of hog production in Washington county is full feeding a balanced ration, including a protein supplement, from birth to market; that expensive minerals are unnecessary, and that the use of pasture makes for economical production.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Eighty percent of the tobacco grown in Anderson county was Ky. 16. Hardly any fields were affected with root-rot.

Hybrid corn in Lee county came through a severe wind storm without damage, and has caused much favorable comment.

Perry county farmers are marketing their timber for defense purposes, poplar being used for gliders and oak for ship material.

A field of 25 acres of Ky. 102 hybrid corn in Green county will yield an estimated 50 bushels on upland.

Good quality and a high price tended to offset low yields of commercial tomatoes in Bullitt county.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP ARE BEING RECEIVED

Applications for membership in the University of Cincinnati's sixth annual Contemporary Thought Series are being received this week from many residents of Boone County, according to Dean Norman P. Auburn, series director.

The series, which is scheduled for six consecutive Tuesdays in Wilson Auditorium, opens on November 10 when Captain Maurice Evans, noted Shakespearean actor, presents his Shakespearean repertory.

Other world-famed personalities booked on the series include:

November 17—Edward Tomilson, newspaperman and radio commentator for NBC, speaking on "Friends and Foes In South America."

November 24—Hugh Gibson, former ambassador to Belgium, Poland, and Brazil and author with President Hoover on a recent best seller, speaking on "Foundations for a Lasting Peace."

December 1—Krishnalal Shridharani, disciple of Gandhi, and Colonel W. Stewart-Roddie, British soldier-diplomat, in a discussion, "Storm Over India."

December 8—Eve Curie, noted daughter of noted parents and war correspondent, speaking on "The Battlefronts of Total War."

December 15—Franklin P. Adams newspaper columnist and member of radio's "Information, Please" team speaking on "Inside Information."

Application for season reservations may be made this week and next by writing or phoning the office of Dean Auburn at University 8000.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The Hebron Homemakers will hold their regular monthly meeting November 11th at the home of Mrs. Bessie Acra.

The home furnishing leaders, Mrs. Myrtle Casper and Mrs. Catherine Parrott will give the lesson on "Accessories."

Those who wish to make mats are asked to bring some clean corn shucks. The business session will open at 11:00 E. W. T.

There will be bus service only for those living on the regular scheduled run. Members bring a covered dish.

W. W. Gaines Writes He Enjoys County Paper

The following letter was received from W. W. Gaines, 404 Peters Building, Atlanta, Ga., this week:

"Editor Boone County Recorder,
"Burlington, Ky.
"Dear Mr. Editor:

"Enclosed find my subscription price for another year. I could hardly do without the Recorder. It is almost like a member of the family with me. I have been a resident of Atlanta now for 51 years, and have been a subscriber all the while. I look forward to its coming each. When it arrives, I first look to see if there is Bullittsville news—news from my own neighborhood. Indeed, when I was in my teens I was your Bullittsville correspondent. Then I look for the Union news; then the Hebron news; then at the news In and Around the County Seat. Next I turn to the Forty Years Ago—and once in a while I find my own name therein, or names of members of my own family. Then I look at Twenty Years Ago. Lastly I glance at the paper at large and sometimes, at evening, I amuse myself by counting the names of persons I knew in the long-ago days. So you see the opening and reading of the Recorder every week is a matter of high interest with me.

"With affectionate regards,
W. W. GAINES."

Hebron School Plans Armistice Day Program

The Hebron School will give a program on November 11, 1942 at 11:35 a. m. The main feature of this program will be the unveiling of a service flag in honor of the many boys from the Hebron school who are now serving their country. The program consists of the following numbers:

March—Mary Margaret Fowler.
Instrumental Music—Over There
Pantomine—Star Spangled Banner.
Glee Club—Popular War Songs.
Instrumental Music — Anchors Aweigh.
Exercise—Sing of Victory.
Talk—Rev. Roy Johnson.
Instrumental Music — Onward Christian Soldiers.
Unveling of Service Flag—Dramatics Club.

Visits Ful-O-Pep Store

A representative of The Recorder was taken, Tuesday, through the Ful-O-Pep Feed Store, 512 Pike St., Covington and looked with interest and surprise at the thousands of chicks being prepared for the "broiler market" under the direction of Hugo Lang, proprietor of the establishment. Mr. Lang states they will be top-notch broilers in about 10 days.

This feed store handles many kinds of poultry and dairy feed and poultry supplies, including Dr. Salisbury's poultry remedies.

Sam Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 10:00 a. m. CWT. Tommy Stevens, Supt.

Worship Service 11:00. Sermon subject, "The Evangelist." This is the second discourse in a series begun last week on the general theme of the Christian ministry. Everyone interested in the administration of church affairs should hear these discussions.

The Hallowe'en festival at the home of the Stevens' was highly successful from every standpoint. The Stevens' home was gaily decorated for the event. The guests arrived early and the festivities lasted until near midnight. Besides the interesting games and contests, a fortune teller's booth and a house of horrors were interesting attractions to all. Mrs. Ray Holbrook received the prize for the best costume, Percy Ryle for the funniest and Sherry Holbrook for the best dressed child.

Mrs. Percy Ryle won the bean guessing contest, and Dud Rouse nosed out Lawrence Siekman, Tommy Stevens and Percy Ryle in a photo finish in the ladies' costume race. Delicious refreshments of hot dogs and coffee and cocoa were served by the ladies. Our hearty thanks to the Stevens' and all who labored to make this event a success. About seventy were in attendance.

The Bible study and hymn sing will be resumed Saturday at the church, 7:00 C.W.T. Both young and old who like singing and Bible study are urged to come, while there is still opportunity.

"The Church with a passion for unity of God's people on God's own plan."

SAVE DOWN TO DOWN THE AXIS

All hunters were urged by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to save small waterfowl feathers and down to be used in the manufacture of cold-resistant garments for aviators and other service men. The Duck and Goose season will close December 23rd.

"Down and feathers, less than two and a half inches long, picked dry are needed," Wakefield said he had learned, "to replace imports of down shut off by the war. It is estimated that the seasonal bag of waterfowl would provide down and feathers for 300,000 aviators' pants and parkas, more than 150,000 sleeping bags and 500,000 sub-zero jackets."

"Down will help to down our enemies," is the slogan adopted by the Izaak Walton League of America, in its nationwide campaign to salvage the body feathers and down from both wild killed and domestic ducks and geese, for use in providing down linings for aviators suits and other cold-weather garments for our armed forces.

"This is not just a job of salvaging the feathers from the 10 million wild ducks and geese killed each year by sportsmen, but one to salvage the feathers from all ducks and geese, both wild and domestic, gather them and place them in commercial channels, which is the only means of making them all available for processing into cold-weather garments for our fighting forces," Wakefield pointed out, "therefore, every game and fish club, every individual sportsman, every farmer or housewife is urged to salvage these feathers.

"Inasmuch as the majority of towns throughout the state have no feather merchants to whom these feathers may be disposed, the Division of Game and Fish passes on several depots where these feathers can be shipped. Packages of feathers, bearing the shipper's address, can be sent to Ducks Unlimited, 83 Columbia St., Seattle, Washington. Feathers can be shipped or mailed in any kind of a paper or burlap bag to Feather Commission House, 122 Washington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. This house will pay cash, War Stamps, or Bonds, plus postage or freight for these feathers. If some hunters do ship feathers and do not want to be paid, the Company will turn over the money to the Red Cross and U. S. O. March ceiling prices are 80c a pound for duck and $1.05 for goose.

"In addition there is a definite need for salvaging used feathers for making new bed pillows and mattresses and all housewives are urged to salvage old down-filled pillows, cushions, and mattresses. These used feathers should be mixed in with new ones and if shipped to the above mentioned depots the shipping label should be plainly marked "Used Feathers," Wakefield stated.

Wakefield also stated that trappers and fur-dealers in Kentucky are being urged to save the fats of fur-bearing animals for the making of munitions. Numbers of inexperienced trappers often handle their furs carelessly resulting in very low prices for these furs from the dealers. This is a waste of fur and fat and it should be prevented by all means. The trapping season opens in Kentucky on November 24 and will extend thru January 9.

A Navy Yard's 3,000 workers travel 60 to 85 miles, round trips, daily.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

The monthly meeting of the Florence Homemakers' Club was held Tuesday, October 27, at the Town Hall, at which time Mrs. Harold Conner gave a most interesting lesson entitled "Making Furnishings Last For The Duration." By giving and demonstrating the following method, Mrs. Conner cleaned a small rug, showing each member present, the correct method, stating the secret of cleaning a rug, or any upholstery or parchment, is not to get the article wet.

A soap jelly, made by placing one cup of mild soap chips (may be chips made from small bits of toilet soap) in a quart of water and heating over a slow flame until completely dissolved, was used. After the soap is dissolved, put into a jar and allow to stand overnight or for several hours until it has jelled. To complete the shampoo, take as much soap jelly as needed, and beat with a dover egg beater until frothy. Three pans of luke warm rinse water with a cloth in each, or sponge, a pan of shampoo, with sponge or cloth in it; a case knife or spatula and newspaper are the needed equipment.

To begin, work over an area of 2 feet square, overlapping each square. Use circular motion to apply frothy shampoo, working gast, quickly and light; scrape lather from from surface with spatula or knife (on parchment, wipe off) and wipe spatula on the newspaper. Then rinse by wringing rag dry out of first pan of rinse water and going over the area in a circular motion. Follow the same procedure with cloths from other 2 rinse pans. Remember, do not get piece wet, simply dry shampoo the surface. This same method may be applied to washable window shades, just allow one side to dry before washing other.

Following Mrs. Conner's lesson, Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, gave a few pointers on the subject and discussed many other helpful household hints. Mrs. Moore also stressed our using enriched white flour and whole-wheat flour as well as the enriched bread we are now using.

October being "Fire Prevention" month, Mrs. Moore asked the members to please try to prevent fires in our homes, as they aid the enemy.

Mrs. John Martin, President, presided over the business meeting, at which time Mrs. Mabel Sayre, secretary, gave a report on the September meeting. A very favorable report was given on the bingo and lunch that was held Tuesday evening, October 20, at Zimmer's Gardens.

The meeting was adjourned early in the afternoon until next month at which time the members will meet at the home of Mrs. Harold Conner.

ALL MUST BE TREATED ALIKE

The price-fixing policy applied to agricultural products under the new anti-inflation bill seems as fair as could be expected.

In many circles, it was believed that prices lower than those of September 15—the level laid down in the Presidential directive putting the bill into operation—should be established. But it was plainly evident that that could not be done unless substantial reductions were ordered in wages. And the wage levels are also to be those of September 15. But provision is made whereby workers can apply for and receive higher-than-ceiling wages if it is proven that "gross maladjustments" exist. It is essential that abuse of this provision be prevented or the whole program can break down.

Congress could not and did not make agriculture the whipping boy in the war against inflation. Instead, it adopted a middle course. If, in time, public pressure demands that lower food prices be ordered, it will be necessary to do something drastic about the farmer's labor costs. Agriculture is now paying the highest wages in history, when it can get labor—and that has offset the greater part of the benefit of higher prices.

KENTUCKY COWS HIGH PRODUCERS

Dairy herd improvement association reports received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture show that there are many high producing cows in the state. In two associations, 69 cows have records of 400 pounds or more of butterfat in 305 days.

Berea College has 29 cows with 400-pound records. One cow in this herd produced 715 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, and 14 cows produced over 500 pounds each. Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond has six cows that have gone over the 400-pound mark. Spindletop Farms in Fayette county has seven with records of 403 to 690 pounds in 305 days.

Farmers owning cows with records of 400 pounds or more include E. P. Eastin, Lexington; W. F. McMurry, Paducah; E. F. Warren, Hickory, and H. M. Holloway, L. L. Thompson, Dr J. C. Melvin, S. S. Andrus and R N Maddox, of Mayfield.

The average automobile, when dismantled for scrap, yields 1,500 pounds of iron and steel, 30 pounds of copper, 6 pounds of aluminum, and 50 pounds of reclaimable rubber.

Warning - Danger

The approaching date for the National rationing of gasoline may induce certain persons to buy an extra supply in advance and store it in their garage, basement or even in their dwelling house. Such illegal storage will cost much property damage and many lives. Every bit of property and every human life is need in National Defense.

Handling gasoline in ordinary containers is hazardous. One pint of gasoline under certain conditions is as powerful as two sticks of dynamite. One gallon of gasoline has the same potential explosive power as one hundred pounds of dynamite. Gasoline fumes are heavier than air and will accumulate in basements, low places and on the floors of rooms. Any tiny spark—even the spark produced by switching on or off an electric light—will ignite these fumes and cause a destructive explosion and a dangerous fire.

A fire started from gasoline generates intense heat and besides being able to cause horrible bodily injuries often resulting in death, it gives fires such a start they do great damage in a short time.

The state fire code provides that the storing of more than one gallon of gasoline in a dwelling house, more than six gallons in any other building, or more than ten gallons outdoors above ground is illegal and punishable by fine and imprisonment. In case any gasoline is stored it must be specially approved safety cans of not more than one-gallon capacity.

REMEMBER—WE CAN'T WIN THIS WAR WITH ASHES! TODAY EVERY FIRE HELPS HITLER!

Respectfully,
WALTER BROWN,
Deputy State Fire Marshal

Foot Health In Relation To Mental Health

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When you suffer from flat feet, your muscular system is taxed and irritates the nerves of the foot, simultaneously affecting the entire delicate nervous system, causing it to function at less their normal capacity. The result of this whole action is a generalized irritability and unrest in the individual.

Ordinarily the body can overcome the irritations of its various sick parts, and is capable of removing the effects of the disease. The disturbances of the foot, however, are often subject to influences which the body has great difficulty in combating.

The foot according to dictates of society should be housed in a protective leather or cloth covering, which must meet the aesthetic tastes of the prevailing fashion. Thus, if the fashion dictates that long thin shoes be worn, thousands of individuals with short wide feet will attempt to crowd them into long, thin shoes, and visa versa

The vagaries of fashion may thus make you comfortable one season and uncomfortable another. However, when we consider the permanent effects of this change of style, we realize that the foot, which has a fairly permanent shape, has to respond like an elastic band. The harm wrought in one season does not disappear the next, but may rather be accentuated in some significant defect as for example the BUNION.

Once this defect is formed the foot is placed daily in what may be considered a vice or mold and the normal metabolis or growth activity of the foot is interferred with. The attempts of the body to overcome the irritation are frustrated and the physical ailment grows and becomes more pernicious. The mental effects of this constant irritant are such as to set up a continual hypersensitiveness in all behavior.—Adv.

SHE'S SAVING MILK by eating
PURINA CALF STARTENA
One Bag Replaces 40 Gals. of Milk
You'll have more milk to sell—more milk for your country—if you raise calves on Purina Calf Startena. One bag of Calf Startena replaces 40 gallons of milk. And Calf Startena grows big, vigorous, growthy calves. Economical, too—actually costs about one-half as much as milk at the present average U. S. price!
WE ALSO CARRY THE FULL LINE OF PURINA DAIRY CHOWS . . . BUILT FOR CAPACITY PRODUCTION
For Lots of Milk at Low Cost . . . PURINA COW CHOW
Purina Cow Chow is a scientific feed for your milking herd. It's built to help keep cows in condition for capacity production and long milking life. We have a Purina Cow Chow to meet your feeding requirements. Come in—ask about the Purina Dairy Cycle Plan.
For Easy Calving . . . Extra Milk Ahead . . . PURINA DRY and FRESHENING CHOW
When a cow is dry, she needs a special feed to do the job of building her calf and keeping her own body in condition for extra milk after freshening. Purina Dry and Freshening Chow is just such a feed. Come in—ask us about it.

This Week On The Home Front

The ladies—bless 'em—get a special bit of attention this week from the Office of Price Administration.

If they will write to that office at Washington, D. C., they will be given a card that can be tucked into their purses when they go out to shop for nylon hose. The card will list the new ceiling prices on all types of nylons and will show the facts on type and quality which must be marked on each pair.

The OPA says that in order to make as many stockings as possible out of the limited supply of nylon, the manufacturers have used all the yarn sizes available, so many of the hose come in odd deniers and gauges and many have been made with cotton or rayon foot and welt.

Denier refers to the size and weight of the hosiery yarn and gauge refers to the fineness of the knit. Denier and gauge must be judged together. For instance, a 60-to-70 denier should be combined with a 42 or 45 gauge. In general, the lower the denier, the sheerer the yarn, the higher the gauge, the finer the knit. For serviceability, the OPA recommends the heaviest denier that a woman can reconcile with her taste in stockings.

There's a lot more to the matter of intelligent and thrifty buying of nylon hose, but the men may be getting a little impatient for other reading, so we'll turn to different things after just mentioning that the national collection of worn and discarded silk and nylon stockings will begin on Nov. 16. Collection centers will be established in all retail stores having a women's and misses' hosiery department. The collection centers will take clean but useless hosiery and start it on its way toward a future as a powder bag for battle use.

• • •

New and unusual clauses designed to break federal rent ceilings are creeping into leases throughout the country, the OPA charges. These cannot be enforced, even if written into the lease.

The OPA released about 21,457 new passenger automobiles under rationing in September. Transportation for war workers accounted for nearly half.

• • •

New ceiling prices have been set for used and recapped tires sold to the government under the idle tire return plan. Many grades have not been changed, but a number of price increases have been allowed.

• • •

Truckers may obtain application blanks for certificates of war necessity from their district ODT offices. Nov. 15 is the deadline. After that: No gasoline, tires or repair parts without a certificate.

• • •

To help keep Americans warm this winter, the WPB has ordered an additional 6,000,000 pounds of wool made available for manufacture of sweaters, shawls and knitted underwear.

• • •

The OPA has issued suspension orders against three Ohio tire dealers. They may not deal in rationed articles for extended periods. Cleveland, Canton, and Cincinnati dealers were hit.

• • •

Applications for gasoline rationing books must be signed by the registered owner of the car. The wording on the application blanks made the meaning uncertain to many persons, so the OPA has issued a ruling.

• • •

The world's largest oil pipe line will be extended from southern Illinois to the east coast. The 857-mile, $60,000,000 extension will cross Indiana from Norris City, Ill., and extend through Ohio to Phoenixville, Pa. Branch lines will extend from there to New York and Philadelphia areas. About 300,000 barrels of crude oil will be delivered daily.

• • •

All new farm machinery and equipment except repair parts was frozen Nov. 1. The order will remain in effect until state and county quotas are established as a basis for a permanent rationing order.

• • •

Coffee rationing, starting at midnight, Nov. 28, will set the amount of beverage available to the coffee drinker at about 38 percent less than his average of the last five years, the OPA says. Proper conservation methods in the home can make coffee go farther, however, and thus make the reduction less than that figure. The ration will be one pound every five weeks.

• • •

Zoot zoots are dead for the duration. The death knell already had been sounded for them when made of wool, but a new order covers all other materials.

• • •

Fruit and vegetable packers have been assigned higher preference ratings for material and machinery for replacements, maintenance and repair.

• • •

Distribution of applications for gasoline rationing books has begun. You will need to know the numbers of your tires. You'll have to part with all over five tires.

• • •

To insure continued consumer supplies of holiday and seasonal food products, the OPA has announced a new pricing formula by which wholesalers and retailers will be able to restock their shelves with these goods before the active holiday sales period. Plum puddings, cookies, mince meat and stuffed dried fruits are among the items included.

• • •

Sugar rations for army and navy men on furlough have been set at one-half pound a week. Another change gives a man on furlough a ration if he is home only a week.

• • •

Current production of diapers is more than sufficient to take care of the increasing national birth rate. The 1941-42 production increased an average of 30 percent over 1939.

• • •

The WPB has appealed to consumers to economize in the use of both natural and manufactured gas. War industries are using more gas. Twenty-five per cent of the natural gas and 15 per cent of the manufactured gas is used by war industries and these must be served.

• • •

The War Manpower Commission has moved to stabilize employment on the nation's dairy, livestock and poultry farms. The Selective Service system will request boards to classify in Group 3-B workers on these farms who have been deferred because of dependency. Deferments also will be asked for men on these farms who do not have dependency problems.

• • •

Retailers who have been puncturing the tops of vacuum-packed coffee cans to discourage hoarding have been taking a reasonable course to prevent excessive buying, the OPA says.

• • •

The regional OPA has appointed Wilson G. Staleton of Cleveland as its regional information executive. He will work with consumer groups, trade organizations and schools, among his other duties.

MIXTURES BETTER THAN BLUEGRASS

Mixtures of bluegrass and legumes, grown at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, produced an average of three times as much cured hay an acre as bluegrass alone. Bluegrass and korean lespedeza produced the largest yield, 1,865 pounds of hay. Even when fertilizers were used on bluegrass alone, the yield was not this high. Of several fertilizers applied, an application in early March of 200 pounds of sodium nitrate, 100 pounds of superphosphate and 50 pounds of potash produced the largest yield. This yield was, however, 300 pounds less per acre than the yield of the bluegrass-lespedeza combination to which no fertilizer was applied.

In tests of grass mixtures at the Experiment Station, best yields were obtained from a combination of bluegrass, timothy and a native variety of meadow fescue.

SERVICE that SATISFIES

with FUEL SAVING STORM SASH
When winter blasts and bitter cold arrive will you be ready? Will you enjoy REAL COMFORT and REAL FUEL ECONOMY?
It's not enough to have your home INSULATED. True, that's a big and IMPORTANT step in the right direction. All houses should be insulated to hold the expensive winter heat IN and keep the too plentiful heat of summer OUT.
BUT, no home is properly winter-protected against floor draughts, window sweating, or costly heat loss unless it is equipped with STORM SASH.
Here Is Why:
1. Glass is a rapid conductor of heat and the many square feet of window panes offer free passage to countless, costly heat units.
A dead air space is one of the best insulators known. When you install STORM SASH you create, for each window opening, a DEAD AIR SPACE between TWO layers of glass. The passage of heat units is discouraged and the annoying "sweating" of your windows is eliminated.
IT'S PATRIOTIC to SAVE FUEL
Thousands of homeowners will gladly testify to the value of Storm Sash. The cost is SMALL and the FUEL SAVINGS (not to mention the enjoyment of greater health and comfort) pay for the cost of the Storm Sash in a relatively short time.
YOU NEED THEM
WE HAVE THEM
Stop in at your convenience—or phone us. We will gladly give you complete information. The best winter home investment you can make is STORM SASH.

SIX WAYS TO GET MORE LIGHT FOR YOUR MONEY
Good light is cheap but that's no reason for wasting it. Get all the light you're paying for by following these suggestions for making the most of your present equipment.

KEEP EQUIPMENT CLEAN. Washing bulbs and bowls will give you 30% to 50% more light. Use damp cloth and be careful not to get moisture into sockets or connections.

REPLACE DARK SHADES. Shades with dark or yellowed linings soak up light like a sponge. Replace with clean, white-lined shades and get up to 50% more light. Dust shades often.

PLACE LAMPS PROPERLY. Stem of lamp should be within 18 to 24 inches of seeing task. A difference of 12 inches the wrong way can reduce the light you get by as much as 50%.

USE RIGHT-SIZED BULBS. One 100-watt bulb gives as much light as six 25-watt bulbs and uses one-third less current. Use one large instead of several smaller bulbs whenever possible.

ELIMINATE COLORED BULBS. Flame-tint and amber-orange bulbs give a soft effect but waste light. Use inside frosted white bulbs of same wattage for more light.

SHADE BARE BULBS. They not only produce harmful glare but are wasteful where downward light is desired. Shades control and direct the light where it is needed.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY
(Double Bill)

"Sons of the Sea," which has been scheduled as the next feature attraction at the Gayety, has an inspiring "hands-across-the-sea" theme. It is a story of the founding of the Cunard line in 1840 and of the first efforts to institute regular steamship sailings between England and America.

Plus

Byron Barr landed a role in a 20th Century-Fox picture by making a screen test at another studio.

Director Alfred Werker, who megaphoned Jane Withers' latest hit, was present at Barr's test. He was so impressed that he asked 20th Century-Fox to consider Barr for the romantic lead opposite Jane Withers in his film—and his request was granted. Barr will be seen in "The Mad Martindales," at the Gayety in one of the double features tonight and Friday.

• • •

SATURDAY

It takes a lot of ciphers to compile the records piled up by the famous Andrews Sisters, starring with Harry James and his Music Makers in Universal's "Private Buckaroo," at the Gayety, Saturday.

In the last few years, the tuneful trio has travelled more than 300,000 miles by air to fill theatre engagements and more than 8,000-000 phonograph records made by them have been sold.

• • •

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Drinking ice water in freezing temperature is no fun! And Jean Gabin and Ida Lupino will attest to that.

They were working on an outdoor set for "Montide" which will be at the Gayety, Sunday and Monday, and it was so cold that the camera photographed their breath. This would not be so bad except for the fact that the scenes were supposed to be summer ones.

So Director Archie Mayo had them drink ice water.

GROUP ACTION TO AID FARMERS

IN BOOSTING CASH INCOME—WORK WITH DISTRIBUTORS WOULD ELMINATE UNNECESSARY HANDLING.

Boone County, 1,443 farm operators can increase their cash income as much as $10,000 a year on fruits, nuts and vegetables alone by working with retailers in developing group marketing programs, it was estimated today by a leading distributor of Kentucky crops.

"With approximately 306 farmers in this county and more than 15,000 farmers throughout Kentucky using farm marketing cooperatives to help streamline wartime distribution, the general trend toward group action in marketing is one of the most important agricultural developments in the state," according to Earl R. French.

"Our experience shows that growers can boost their income 10 to 15 per cent by working together to provide adequate volume and standard grade and pack, and by working with distributors to cut out unnecessary handling operations and costs. This 10 to 15 per cent would bring approximately $1,000 to $10,000 extra annually on fruits, nuts and vegetables alone to Boone County growers, who in recent year received $71,662 for their sales of these products. Growers could similarly increase their income from other crops by group action," French explained.

As an indication of the effectiveness of cooperation between growers and distributors, French said economics worked out through group marketing were one important factor helping to boost cash returns to Kentucky growers and shippers 58 per cent to $535,570 last year from $338,873 in 1940 on fresh fruits and vegetables sold through the Atlantic Commission Company.

With wartime food supply conditions emphasizing the need for shortening commercial distances between growers and consumers, group marketing programs can aid not only the "Food-for-Freedom" program but also provide a vitally important key to post-war prosperity, French declared.

He pointed out that the groundwork for building these programs is already well prepared in Kentucky, which "group-markets" tobacco, livestock, dairy products, strawberries, potatoes, peaches, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, onions, and raspberries.

CONSTANCE P.-T. A.

Several folks from Taylorsport have asked that we change our P.-T. A. meeting day, so that they might be able to attend. We are complying with their wishes for the November meeting to see what the result from the change will be. The meeting will be held November 11 at 2 p. m. at the schoolhouse. Let's have as many present as possible.

We are planning the annual oyster supper for Saturday, Nov. 21 at the schoolhouse. Come out and support your school.

VERONA 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Verona Willing Workers 4-H Club met on October 29, 1942, at the Verona school house at 2 p. m. We had from the County Agent's office, Mrs. Moore, the Home Demonstration Agent, who made a very nice talk on the 4-H Club Motto which is "Make the Best Better," and why we should live up to it in getting our records completed, as it counts 1,000 points toward getting, if we can, the Bankers' trophy. Mr. Frazier, our assistant County Agent, also made a fine talk on how we can obtain points for our club. Mr. Frazier and Mrs. Moore, above all, recognized two of our now prominent members, Mary Hope Chipman, and Norma Jean Easton, one of our young members, who made a fine display and won several prizes. We repeated the pledge to the Flag and adjourned.

MILKING TIPS GIVEN BY COLLEGE

Our farmers have been and will be this next year, called upon to increase production with less labor and in most cases with older equipment. The Extension Service of the College is making a thorough search over the State to locate labor saving devices and better practices for every day uses.

The art of milking is an important every day practice that has often in the past caused much discussion. The Extension dairy specialist has given the County Agent's office the following recommendations on this important art.

How To Get All of The Cow's Milk

Regularity—Milking at the same hour every day. The cow is a creature of habit. Regularity of milking, feeding and caring for the dairy cow is an important factor in getting the most milk and profits.

Order of Milking—Cows that let their milk down first should be milked first. Those that are not inclined to let down their milk rapidly can be milked later or last.

Quick Milking—When the milking is begun, it must be done rapidly. Four minutes to not more than seven minutes is long enough to get all of the cow's milk. Slow milking has a tendency to dry cows off. Too much stripping develops strippers and decreases production.

Handling the Cows — Nothing should appear in the barn before milking or during milking to excite the cows. Keep dogs, cats and strangers out. Strong arm methods, painful pinching of the teats, using an ill-fitting or irritating milking machine will result in incomplete milking and drying off. Cows respond to kindness. In no way should suspicion, fear, or excitement be aroused in the cows.

Stimulating the Let Down of Milk—Washing the udders and feeding the cows grain just before milking will help stimulate the let down of milk. The hormone is then secreted into the blood stream and forces down the milk.

Machine Milking—When milking by machine do not leave the machine on after the milk has ceased flowing. Such will not only injure the delicate membranes inside the teat, but also tends to make strippers out of the cows.

Milking Heifers—When first milking a heifer do so gently or she will come to dislike milking and be a poor milker as well as a kicker.

Most dairymen are familiar with these important practices. However, every day we can find men or hired help who are not doing this important job as it should be done.

REGISTRATION FOR GAS CHANGED TO NOV. 18, 19, 20

Car Owners Possessing More Than Five Tires Will Not Be Issued Ration Book—Rationing of Gas Effective November 22

Registration for gasoline rationing has been moved up to November 18, 19 and 20th, according to the Rationing Board at Walton, announcing these dates Tuesday, following a telegram from State headquarters, Louisville.

Schools throughout the county will have charge of registration, and all car owners are requested to call at the school nearest them, and bring their license certificate or bill of sale and serial numbers of their tires. No person will be issued a ration book if they possess more than five tires. Car owners must appear in person for the registration.

—Burlington, Hamilton, New Haven, Belleview, Florence, Hebron, Petersburg and Constance will register applicants from 10:00 to 5:30 on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 18, 19 and 20th.

Residents in the Walton-Verona school district will register from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. each day, Mr. Coop announced.

In last week's issue of this paper it was announced that persons would be required to bring only their license certificate for registration. This information was given us by the Rationing Board at Walton and was the only information we had at that time. However, this item was incorrect, as all persons must bring the serial numbers of their tires, and must sell all Idle Tires to the government before they can register. Each car owner is permitted to have five tires.

Prof. D. H. Norris, superintendent of the Boone County school system urged all registrants to make an effort to register between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 in order to reduce the hours teachers will be required to leave their classes. He stated that all persons who are unable to register at this time will be taken care of during the regular hours 10:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

The Ration Board of Walton asks car owners to keep the change of date in mind, November 18, 19 and 20th as this will be the only dates for registration.

The following instructions will be helpful to car owners in registration and disposal of Idle Tires:

Idle tires are needed to keep America rolling. Essential services must go on. So Uncle Sam has taken steps to buy every Idle Tire to help keep every possible car in service.

The purpose of the plan is not to take cars off the road, but to help keep cars on the road for essential uses. When you need other tires, the Government will do everything possible to see that you are supplied.

What Is An Idle Tire?

Under the Idle Tire Purchase Plan, the ownership of passenger car tires will be limited to five tires per passenger car owned and to one tire for each running wheel of each passenger car trailer or other such equipment owned. Any passenger car tire in excess of those November 22, it will be illegal to to use gasoline or permit gasoline to be used in the operation of any passenger car if the owner of the car owns one or more Idle Tires. Furthermore, it will be illegal for any persons owning a passenger car, to use or permit gasoline to be used in its operation if any person in his or her household who is related by blood, marriage or adoption, owns one or more Idle Tires.

Exemptions

(a) Passenger car tires intended for use on trucks, taxicabs, public rental cars. jitneys, buses, cars licensed for hire, etc. (except when the owner of such tires also owns

FIRST PLACE WON BY POWELL CO.

IN SCRAP CAMPAIGN WITH AN AVERAGE OF 566.5 POUNDS FOR EACH PERSON IN COUNTY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7—Powell County tonight was officially proclaimed winner of first place in Kentucky's scrap campaign which ended a week ago.

Powell, with an average of 566.5 pounds of scrap metal for each person in the county, won the grand price of $1,500.

Other prize winners also were sponsored by Henry M. McClaskey, General Chairman of the drive sponsored by newspapers and radio stations, which posted $5,000 in prize of $1,500.

Clark County with a per capita average of 485.5 pounds, and Whitley with 348.2 pounds per capita, won second and third prizes of $750 and $500, respectively.

Other prize winners with per capita averages in parentheses:

Junior Woman's Club, Laurel County (36,941), $250; Utterbach School, Calloway County (28,737.3), $250; Elevator Construction Men's Local Union No. 20, Louisville (17,021.7), $250; Farm Bureau of Hopkins County (418) $250.

Upper Colony Holiness Church, Laurel County (3,106.4) $250; Trinity Episcopal Church, Owensboro, (17,498.7) $250; Illinois-Central Section gang, Fulton (no per capita reqquirement) $200; Letcher County jail (10,869.6), 150; Boy Scout Troop No. 161, Shelby County (no per capita, $100; Doris Watson, Earlington (47,251 pounds) for largest poundage collected by a coal miner, $100, and Girl Scouts of Fulton (no per capita), $100.

C. & O. BRIDGE WILL BE FREED

DECEMBER 1, ACCORDING TO J. LYTER DONALDSON, HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER OF KENTUCKY.

An order to free the state highway bridge from Covington to Cincinnati (the old C. & O. Bridge) at 2 p. m. (war time) on December 1 was issued last week by J. Lyter Donaldson, highway commissioner of Kentucky.

"Revenue from the collection of tolls on the bridge have been somewhat greater than we expected and the state of Kentucky is freeing it about one month earlier than was anticipated," Mr. Donaldson said. He previously had said the span would be free about the first of the year.

The bridge, an important link in transportation between Cincinnati and northern Kentucky, will be free five years and five months from the date it was taken over by the state from the Chesapeake & Ohio R. R., on June 30, 1937.

Purchase price of the span was $2,100,000. The transaction was completed early in June of 1937 and revenue bonds for this amount were issued. These bonds, including amortization and interest, will all have been liquidated from tolls collected by the state highway department when the bridge is freed December 1st.

Mr. Donaldson expressed keen satisfaction when he announced the date. He was highway commissioner when the state purchased its first interstate bridge, the L. & N. span from Newport to Cincinnati, late in 1935.

This bridge was made free last Armistice Day, exactly six years after it was purchased. The bridge-freeing program of Kentucky has been a project close to Mr. Donaldson's heart during the years he has served the commonwealth.

The state of Kentucky completed negotiations for the purchase of the vehicular span May 5, 1937, it was reported.

The bridge was purchased from the Covington & Cincinnati Elevated Bridge and Transfer Co., a subsidiary of the Chespeake & Ohio R. R. Co.

Included in the purchase price was an expenditure of $110,334 by the bridge company for the improvement of approaches and elimination of a dangerous curve near the Cincinnati entrance. At that time the bridge averaged over $1000 per day in tolls. However, the increase in transportation facilities crease in transportation facilities in the intervening years has brought about an increase in revenue.

William Jarrell, who has been an employee of The Recorder for many years left last week for Walton, where he will be a member of the staff of the Walton Advertiser. He is a capable, general printer and his services will be missed in this office. We wish him much success in his new home.

WILL SPEAK AT BURLINGTON

Oscar Stern

OSCAR STERN TO SPEAK HERE SUN.

TELLS OF GRIM EXPERIENCE IN PRISON FOR REPEATING A HERMANN GOERING JOKE—FUGITIVE FROM GESTAPO.

The prisoners were supposed to face the wall, away from the door, when they heard the key rattle in the lock of the underground cell of the dungeon-prison near Konigsberg, in East-Prussia.

Thus begin the grim experience of Oscar Stern, 55-year-old Christian-Jew, who will speak at the Burlington Baptist Church next Sunday at 1 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, and all the public is cordially invited to attend this exceptional interesting meeting. He will also speak at Erlanger Baptist Church at 5:00 p. m.

Stern, who was sentenced to twelve months in prison for repeating a Hermann Goering joke within hearing of a Gestapo agent, faced the wall with the four others in his cell as the young Nazi Storm Trooper entered. Stern is deaf in one ear, as a result of a World War wound sustained as a member of the Austrian Army on the Eastern Front, and he thought his name was called so he turned, the result was two blows across the mouth, a truncheon felled him, knocking out most of his teeth.

Five years ago, that was the low spot of his life. The high spot was on March 4, 1940, when he landed at New York. Europe has only one thing he wants now—his wife from Germany.

"You don't know what you have here in this country. You, who have always had it, can't know," he said in a recent interview.

Born in Carlsbad, then part of Austria, he came to America in 1902, when he was 15. He was converted to Christianity in a Salvation Army meeting in New York City. He returned to Carlsbad in 1912, when the World War broke out. He was drafted into the Austrian Army and was severely wounded in battle with the Russians.

After the war Mr. Stern became director of an insurance business in Germany, East-Prussia, was deacon of a Protestant church for many years, and so firmly established himself in the community that even after the Nazi ascendency he was permitted to go unmolested for some time.

Early in 1936, however, there came to his desk a letter from the Nazi Party district gauleiter (Mr. Stern has this very letter still in his possession) addressed to the "company director," directing him to fire immediately, the Jew, Stern. At about the same time, Stern repeated to a friend on the commuter train, the latest of the unending series of Goering jokes.

The man in the seat next to him arrested him on the spot. He still has the official docket charging him with some variety of disrespect to the Nazi-State. There was a trial, of a sort, and a Nazi lawyer, of a sort, appointed to defend him. There was the prosecutor's recommendation of six months' imprisonment and the court's verdict of twelve.

There were the cellmates—one a man who received two and a half years for refusing to salute and heil Hitler; another, a war-decorated ex-police sergeant, serving two years for adherence to his Protestant faith.

There were the hours of listening to the shots in the castle courtyard, and the nights of wondering who would go tomorrow. The pain from the blows across the mouth came and went, and after seven month, the paralytic stroke that made his left side helpless came—and stayed, and for ten days he lay in his cell unable to move until they came and took him away to a hospital.

Florence Youth Fined For Killing Song Birds, Sunday

Charles Caudill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Caudill, Florence, was brought before Judge C. L. Cropper, Tuesday on a charge of killing song birds and was fined $19.50.

Caudill was arrested Sunday morning by Edwin Johnson, game warden, and at the time of his arrest he had in his possession seven robins and several other kinds of song birds that he said he was killing for his pet cat.

Judge Cropper instructed Caudill that song birds were protected by law in Kentucky, and that they were the farmers' best friends in helping to control insects, that would otherwise destroy all our crops.

Many persons are guilty of this same violation, without stopping to consider that to destroy a song bird is a hinderance to nature's way of controlling these pests that would destroy our food and crops.

Farm Bureau Speaker Will Address Farmers

Mr. Joe Betts, State Farm Bureau Field Worker, will address Boone County farmers at a meeting at Burlington Courthouse on Friday evening, November 20th, at 8:15 p. m. (E. W. T.)

Mr. Betts is attending the meeting at the request of a number of local farmers who are interested in our State and National farm problems. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Findlay J. Fishback

Findlay J. Fishback, 22 Locust Street, Erlanger, died late Sunday at his residence, following a short illness. He was 76.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mable Riggs Fishback, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Stephens, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Fishback, a resident of Erlanger for the last 32 years, was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Covington.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

One Of Our Oldest Citizens Enjoying Best Of Health

John Glore

Mr. John Glore, who was ninety-eight years old last May 15, is still very active. Living near Big Bone Springs he walks to the mineral springs with his brother Jack, who is 89. Both are unusually active, walking up and down a very steep hill to get to the springs, and bring home one-half gallon of mineral water on each trip.

Both of these men are active about their home, having their living room on the second floor and go up and down stairs many times during they day. They also take care of many chores around the home.

Mr. John, who is 98, still shaves himself, takes care of all his financial affairs, and still has some of his natural teeth. He is a Civil War veteran, this making the fourth war he has witnessed in his life.

A sister, Miss Emma who is 81, still does much of the cooking and helps to care for the home. She is one of the oldest members of Big Bone Church. A sister Mary, deceased, was 96 at the time of her death.

When we think we are getting old and not able to work, let's take a look at our neighbors.

G. K. Taylor, of Union sold S. S. Bristow, Union, a registered milching Shorthorn bull calf last week. Mr. Taylor is developing a fine herd of milching Shorthorn cows.

Brother Of Florence Lady Missing In Action

Charles Houston

Charles Augustus Houston, 20 years old, 228 East Fifth Street, Newport, second-class seaman, is missing in action and presumed to be lost, according to a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tully Augustus Houston.

Houston is a brother of Mrs. Ralph Orshell, of Florence, and had many friends in this community. He attended Newport schools, enlisted December 6, 1941, the day before the bombing of Pearl Harbor. He left home December 8 for the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

He was presumed to have been in the Pacific.

SCRAP EFFORTS TO BE RENEWED

THROUGHOUT NATION DURING WINTER MONTHS—MUST NOT HALT SCRAP COLLECTIONS, IS WORD.

Washington—Plans for intensified scrap collection efforts during the winter months in rural areas are taking form throughout the nation, as state and local salvage committee survey the results of past campaigns and prepare for future activities.

War Production Board officials, in emphasizing the need for undiminished effort in the rural sections, stress the fact that the agricultural areas are second only to industry as a source of iron and steel scrap, and if the steel mills are to operate at capacity throughout the coming months, large tonnages of rural scrap must continue to flow into the nation's scrap yards.

Winter, they say, cannot be permitted to halt scrap collections any more than it will be allowed to interfere with naval and military operations on all fronts. The men in the fighting forces, it is pointed out, will carry on despite rain, snow, ice and mud, defense industries will continue to operate regardless of weather, and scrap collection must keep pace with both.

Farm equipment dealers at their annual state conventions this fall are expected to emphasize this new phase of the scrap campaign. The implement men have played an important part in the national scrap harvest, which has been responsible for moving large tonnages of farm scrap into productive channels, and they plan to continue their efforts throughout the winter months.

"Winter scrap collection is no picnic," said Eric H. Marks, head of the farm scrap unit of the general salvage section in Washington, "but neither is the job of the seamen who man the ships of North Atlantic convoys in bitter weather." "We civilians," Marks said, "must do our jobs with the same fortitude and disregard for personal comfort that is characteristic of the men in the armed forces.

It is expected that definite plans for the winter scrap campaign will be announced by county and local salvage chairmen before the present phase of the national scrap-harvest is completed.

Fish And Game Club Will Meet Tonight

President Russell Smith, of the Boone County Fish & Game Protective Association calls attention of members to the fact that the club will hold its regular meeting tonight (Thursday) at their club house. Refreshments will be served by the refreshment committee.

All members are urged to be present.

Tobacco Grader Will Address Growers Tues.

Charles E. Campbell, Federal Tobacco Grader, will address Boone County tobacco growers at two meetings on next Tuesday, November 17th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. All growers are urged to attend.

Mr. Campbell will give two demonstrations in methods of stripping and grading of tobacco to secure the highest market price. Prospects of the 1942-43 market season will also be discussed. The schedule of the meetings is as follows:

10:30 E. W. T.—Wilford Dixon's, 2½ miles south of Burlington on East Bend Road.

2:00 P. M. E. W. T.—J. F. Cleek's farm, one-fourth mile north of Beaver on State Road 16.

Mr. Campbell is rated as a capable specialist in his job and those meetings conducted by him three years ago were rated as excellent.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS NOV. 24TH

REQUEST FOR EARLIER OPENING DATE BY SPORTSMEN CANNOT BE GRANTED WITHOUT ACT OF LEGISLATURE.

Frankfort, Ky.—The opening date of the hunting season for the Bob White quail and the rabbit will remain the same as that of last year, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced today.

Many sportsmen had petitioned the Division of Game and Fish and Governor Keen Johnson to have the opening moved from November 24 up to November 10 in order to allow a few days of unrestricted travel in hunting before the rationing of gasoline goes into effect on November 22.

This petition was studied carefully by the Governor and by officials of the Division of Game and Fish, Wakefield pointed out, and it was found that there is no way of changing the open or closed seasons of hunting and fishing in Kentucky except by an act of the Legislature which doesn't meet in regular session until January of 1944. The Governor does not have the power to act in such matters nor does the Division and for that reason rabbit and quail hunting will have to wait until after the gas rationing goes into effect.

Wakefield stated that it would certainly be to the interest of the Division to have the season open early in order to permit more general hunting and the early opening would, beyond all doubt, increase the revenue of the Division through the sale of hunting licenses, and especially the $3 statewide licenses.

The sportsmen's clubs throughout the state are urging all hunters and fishermen and interested conservationists to purchase a license even though they may not get the opportunity to hunt or fish. The Division of Game and Fish operates solely on the revenue derived from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and a sharp curtailment of revenue will mean a sharp curtailment in the conservation program throughout the Commonwealth during the coming year.

With decreased hunting and fishing in Kentucky during this period, brought about by many phases of the war program touching the manpower of this state, the present and near future would be an ideal time to build up a reservoir of game and fish for the time when peace would be restored and the men and boys and women and girls would again seek the out-of-doors for recreation and relaxation.

Charles W. Connett

Charles W. Connett, 42 Clover Avenue, Erlanger, passed away Thursday at his residence, following a brief illness. He was 78.

Mr. Connett was a well-known greater Cincinnati artist.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Rose Connett; four sons, Harry, Cincinnati; Philip, Louisville, Ky.; Richard, Erlanger, and G. Noel Connett, Covington; four daughters, M. Y. Rich, and Misses Helen, Ruth and Dorothy Connett, all of Erlanger; a sister, Mrs. John Richardson, Evansville, Ind., and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at his residence at 2:30 p. m. Monday. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery, Erlanger.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

PAYMENT MADE ON FLORAL HALL

ONE OF NEW BUILDINGS ERECTED ON FAIR GROUNDS—FINANCE PLANS MADE LAST SPRING.

The Floral Hall Building on the New Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair Grounds is a project of the County Homemakers' Association. Plans for the financing of the project over a three-year period were made last spring, soon after the purchase of the grounds. The first payment amounting to $149.14 has been made to John Conner, treasurer of the 4-H Council, Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, stated Tuesday.

The homemakers have raised this money by holding community socials and suppers or from donations from club treasuries. Special mention is given to the clubs at Burlington, Florence, Taylorsport and Verona for the splendid work in planning and executing recreational activities for the benefit of their communities, as they contributed proceeds to this worthwhile project. All who saw the building and the exhibits it held during the Fair can appreciate the value of this worthwhile citizenship work.

Executive officers of the Homemakers' Association are: Mrs. Alan Gaines, Walton, president; Mrs. Johanna Mae Terrill, Petersburg, vice president; Mrs. W. B. McCormick, Verona, secretary-treasurer; and the following presidents of local clubs: Mrs. John Martin, of Florence; Mrs. Hess Vest, Walton; Mrs. Vernon Pope, Burlington; Mrs. Wm. Hill, Bullittsville; Mrs. Joe Hogan, Hebron; Mrs. Jake Cleek, New Haven; Mrs. Herma Matthews, Petersburg; Mrs. Walter Ryle, Rabbit Hash; Mrs. Thomas Kenyon, Constance; Mrs. G. C. Ransom, of Verona; Mrs. Earl Morehead, Taylorsport.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hood, of Point Pleasant announced to a large gathering of friends and relatives Saturday, November 7th, the engagement of their daughter, Anna Gertrude to Mr. William Joseph Spada, of Lower River Road. Mr. Spada enters the Army on November 12th. No date has been set for the wedding.

Solving the rubber problem demands maximum cooperation on the part of the government, industry, and the public at large.

In the brief period in which Mr. Jeffers has had charge of the rubber program, he has cut a great deal of the red tape that delayed and blocked progress in the past. His office, working with the Office of Defense Transportation, is aggressively pushing for results. It is to be hoped that politics is kept out of the way—and that the defeatists who say that this country must reconcile itself to doing without motor transportation will keep their mouths shut.

The industries which are involved in the rubber program are doing an excellent job. The oil industry has vastly expanded its facilities for the production of synthetic rubber, and has amplified, improved and accelerated the manufacturing process. The tire companies are now making casings out of reclaimed rubber and synthetic rubber which give fair service if properly used. And chemical companies are increasing their production of synthetic rubbers made from coal, grain alcohol, etc.

The experts are convinced that American ingenuity, American chemical genius, and American production methods can provide enough rubber to keep our vital automobiles rolling. In the meantime, the obligation of the public is clear. We should cheerfully accept the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit. No one should waste rubber on unnecessary driving. And every car owner should have his tires periodically inspected, and switched about on the wheels so that maximum mileage may be obtained.

No nation on earth is so dependent on individual transportation. Our cars will be kept on the road if the synthetic rubber program is freed of the dead hand of bureaucracy, and the public will practice rigid conservation.

THE DESERVE NOTICE

The consumer has many problems. And so has the retail merchant.

The draft has taken thousands of store workers, and others have left their jobs for the big pay offered by war industries. It is increasingly difficult to obtain new equipment, and to keep old equipment in repair, especially that of a mechanical nature. The price of practically everything the retailer sells is frozen, and in many instances the ceiling price allows little or no profit. It's a tough job to keep his shelves filled, as more and more brands and products go off the market.

In the face of all this, the merchant is doing a remarkable job. Long before the OPA, retail merchandising went to work on a voluntary anti-inflation program of its own. Stores of all kinds and sizes increased efficiency, reduced overhead, and cut already modest profits in order to keep prices in check. While many factors encouraged inflation which brought about government price control, retail merchandising was not one of them.

Today, retail merchants, whether independent or chain, are doing an almost superhuman job in supplying their customers and their communities. Their efforts deserve notice—and commendation.

A VITAL RIGHT

Natural resources are a basic cause of war. Nations which don't have them strive to gain them; nations which have them try to keep them; war itself cannot be waged to a successful termination without their products. From this, the conclusion could easily be drawn that natural resources are a curse. They most decidedly are when they are exploited by a few crazed maniacs with hypnotic power over millions of people.

But the use to which our natural resources here in America have been put during the last century and a half, show that our oil, coal and metal mines, timber, water power, etc., can be the greatest of blessings. Never has the world seen such comfort and security for the common man as has been attained by their use in this country. All of the creative genius of free men centered on securing a rising plane of existence for the individual. A form of government and a "way of doing business" made it possible to satisfy this urge. The opportunity for every man to make his living independently and free of government domination, is our basic law. This protects our system of free enterprise. As long as it is preserved, officialism cannot control votes to destroy it.

Our industries were developed to their present gigantic productivity by countless men—unknown men—free men. Until war came, every ounce of the collective energy of these men went toward making a better life for the common citizen. This is as it should have been, and will be again, providing our people, while making every sacrifice necessary to win the war, cling to one vital right from which stems all other rights—the right of every American citizen in peace time to be the master of his own destiny, not the servant of a socialized state as in Germany.

LET THE WORKING MAN WORK

While our brave young American fighting men serve and suffer and die in ever increasing numbers in the hell called war, in order that all Americans may continue to enjoy "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," our Government continues its policy of allowing bickering, dissension and strife among industry, labor and the general public; and between rival groups of organized labor itself, which is retarding the war production program and lowering public morale.

The time is long past when the Government should have cracked down on every segment of our people and demanded, rather than politely requesting or suggesting, an all-out effort and loyalty toward the successful prosecution of the war ahead of everything else.

Strikes in war plants are wholly unjustified and border on treason, because ample government machinery, especially sympathetic toward organized labor, has been provided through which labor can air its grievances and secure fair wages and treatment without stopping production for one moment.

The United States Government has the power to put an end to any and all acts and policies on the part of any person, group, company or organization that is interfering with the imperative needs of a nation fighting for its life. Therefore, for our Government further to dilly-dally with those who obstruct the war program is grossly to mistreat every man wearing the uniform of his country.

It is time for Uncle Sam to wield a big stick.

MONEY TALKS

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

Three years of world war has had a tremendous effect on our living costs. If we use August 1939 the month in which war broke out in Europe, as the basis for our calculations and assign to it the index number of 100, we can then compare some of our living costs with this base figure.

The Government stabilized the cost of food and clothing only after sharp gains had been scored. When we use the National Industrial Conference Board's Index (August 1939-100) we find that by August 1942 food costs had risen to 132, or up nearly 33 percent, and that clothing had risen to 123, or 23 percent. In December 1941, at the time of Pearl Harbor, the food price index stood about 121, so you see about one-third of the food rise came after that date. Food costs is the one item in our budget which has continued to go up even though we have had price ceilings.

There are two major items of our family budget, fuel and light, and housing (rents), which have not risen very much. In August 1942 the index number of fuel and light was about 108, or up 8 percent, while the housing costs index stood at 105, or up about 5 percent. This is not to be entirely unexpected because public utilities furnishing us with gas and electricity have always been under some government control. Housing costs (rents) have also been put under government supervision, and landlords the nation over have not been able to raise rents very much. It is only in defense centers that we have noticed rents going up appreciably.

The combined cost of living index has risen from 100 in August 1939 to about 116 in August 1942, or nearly 16 percent. These figures illustrate what has happened to the purchasing power of our dollar. Of course, we must expect this in war times, and there is little hope that the trend will be reversed for sometime.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 15

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THINGS THAT MAR FAMILY LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 27:30-38; Matthew 5:31, 32; Luke 12:13-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2.

Home is what you make it! Oh, yes, there may be circumstances which hinder us from doing what we would like—such as poverty, illness, unemployment, etc. These are things we cannot control and certainly they do have a bearing. But man or woman when of the right spirit can triumph over such matters and make even the poorest home the gateway to heaven. It is a matter of the attitude of heart and mind. Our lesson then is very practical, for it deals with those sins which mar family life.

Whatever our circumstances may be, we can and must turn away from sin—and in this case, the sins which hinder the home from being what it ought to be. God has provided victory over sin through Christ for all who believe in Him.

What then are the sins which stand as the enemies of the home?

I. Deceit (Gen. 27:30-35).

Whatever the circumstances of the home may be, there can be absolute honesty and candor in the dealings between members of the family.

Our recent study of the story of Jacob and Esau showed us the sad consequences of the deceit practiced by Jacob and his mother in defrauding Esau. Many elements entered in, the favoritism of the mother toward one son, the envy that the brother had of his elder brother's birthright, the wicked scheming of mother and son to outwit the aged father—all a very distressing picture of a home shot through with deceitfulness. To build anything of permanent value on such a foundation was quite impossible.

The family in which deceitful means are used by husband or wife to gain some advantage for self or a favored child is heading for the rocks and needs to turn about and get into the channel of truth and uprightness before it is too late.

II. Divorce (Matt. 5:31, 32).

One of the most destructive elements of modern life is that of divorce. Terrifying statistics could be quoted, but they are not nearly as moving as the knowledge most of us have of broken homes, delinquent children, decadent morals, etc., ad nauseam. The victims of this deadly evil are primarily the children who are sent on into life with disordered minds and hearts.

Jesus declared that the decree of divorcement allowed by Moses was not an abrogation of God's original law in this matter. Because of the "hardness of their hearts" (Mark 10:4) Moses permitted it, but the standard of God was and (note this please!) is unchanged.

Marriage, as we saw in our lesson of November 1, is God's plan for the perfect union of the man and woman whereby the two become one in the sight of God. That means that the tie is not one to be dissolved at will or on some purely legal ground; it is an inseparable union.

The only exception recognized by Scripture (v. 32) is that act of unfaithfulness which is such a breach of the holy union as to virtually destroy it. Perhaps it might be called a recognition of the breaking of the union rather than an exception. Adultery is a heinous sin, an extremely serious violation of God's law. Let us press that fact home today when it is so lightly regarded in our sinful generation.

III. Desire (Luke 12:13-15).

Money is necessary and may be a blessing, but the "love of money is the root of all evil" (I Tim. 6:10). That is not just a verse in the Bible. It is the true picture of the thing which has destroyed the happiness of millions.

Here was a quarrel over an inheritance, and in meeting it our Lord laid down a principle which would solve all the money quarrels in every home—and they are endless in number and great in bitter destructiveness.

"Man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (v. 15). Write it large over the minds and hearts of the boys and girls in our homes! Let it control in the attitude of father and mother toward money. It will solve not only the money problems of the home, but will send the children forth into life with a foundation philosophy that will bless them to the end of their days.

Notice verse 14. It is the desire for money that most often makes man desire to be a judge over his brother. The big eyes of envy cause him to look with bitter desire upon what his brother has and he wants. The fine principle of sharing the family's possessions would do much to knit the home into a unit—happy, strong and useful to both God and man. The point is to say "ours" rather than "mine," and to ask, "What can we do?" not, "What can I get?"

A Week of The War

Washington — War production chairman Nelson reported overall munitions production in September was seven percent above August, with airplanes up 10 percent, ordnance up seven percent, Navy and Army vessels up 22 percent, and merchant ships up 10 percent.

The report stated that the WPB index of munitions production increased 24 points in September to 381—four times the production rate at the time of Pearl Harbor. The Treasury paid out $5,500 million for war purposes, an increase of $300 million over August. This amounted to 40 percent of all payments made in the United States for goods and services during the month.

Mr. Nelson's report said four-engined bombers rolled off assembly lines very nearly on schedule. The output of heavy aircraft showed a marked increase over August, with the output of light, trainer-type planes held below August. Some new plants which came into production recently made a much better than anticipated showing. Propeller production continued a major problem, although enough propellers have been made thus far to fly all planes.

While merchant ship production was 10 percent above August, actual tonnage delivered was 34 percent above August—1,009,000 deadweight tons compared with 753,000 in August. This was 12 percent above first of the month forecasts and approached closely the total production of merchant shipyards last year. During the month, 12 major combat vessels were launched, the report stated. Deliveries of major vessels were greater than forecast, but deliveries of other types were behind expectations.

Army

The Army Specialist Corps, which had inducted approximately 1,300 men, was abolished, the War Department announced, and all future commissions directly from Civil life will be given in the specialist reserve until the men commissioned have completed a course of military training. Then they will be commissioned in appriate grades in the Army. Members of the corps already in the service will be tendered commissions in the Army of the United States, if qualified.

The change was made, the War Department said, because it was found inadvisable "in the interest of efficiency, uniformity of operations, discipline and the avoidance of duplication of effort" to have two uniformed services. Applications now on file for the specialist corps will "continue to be available for consideration for appointments in the Army of the United States." The Department said. Under the new rules no person under 35, without previous commissioned service, will be appointed unless he has been classified 4-F for physical disability. No person without previous commissioned service who is between 34 and 45 will be accepted if his classifications is 1-A or 2. Exceptions will be made to these rules only where there is "critical need" for the applicant's services.

War Secretary Stimson reported the Alcan highway is now open to trucks carrying munitions and materials to troops in Alaska for its entire length of 1,671 miles. Formal opening will probably take place November 15, he said. Mr. Stimson said the furlough period of two weeks given newly inducted soldiers will be reduced to one week. Approximately 3,400 tons of mail, including more than 1,000,000 Christmas parcels, were sent to U. S. Armed forces overseas during the first 25 days of October.

The War Front

Army Chief of Staff Marshal, in a letter to Commander in Chief King of the U. S. Fleet, said the "skillful seamanship" of the Navy has already escorted 800,000 soldiers safely "across the submarine-infested water of the Atlantic and Pacific."

The Navy reported November 1 that two enemy aircraft carriers, two battleships and three cruisers were damaged and 100 airplanes destroyed in a great sea and air battle 250 miles northeast of Guadalcanal. Navy Secretary Knox said the Japanese fleet units have retired from the scene in the Solomons and the "first round" of that battle is over. In the battle the U. S. lost an unidentified aircraft carrier and the destroyer Porter. Following this battle U. S. Naval units shelled enemy positions on Guadalcanal. On the ground U. S. Marines and soldiers repulsed all Japanese attempts to dent their position around Henderson airfield. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Australia reported November 2 that fresh bombing raids on Jap bases at Buin and Faisi were believed to have sunk or damaged seven more enemy surface ships.

Labor Supply

President Roosevelt told his Press conference that a compulsory registration for American women to determine their availability for war work is being considered. While no compulsory drafting of women for war industries is contemplated, he said, there is need for information which a compulsory registration could produce. Such a registration would require legislation which probably could not be completed until close to the end of the year.

Labor Secretary Perkins reported 4,500,000 new workers must come into the labor market before the end of 1943 and an additional 3,000,000 by the end of 1944. War manpower commission chairman McNutt said that about 500,000 workers will be released to war industries when nationwide gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22.

Stabilization of Wages

The War Labor Board began to setup administrative machinery to regulate all wages and salaries under $5,000 a year. The board will delegate to local wage-hour administration officers the power to decide whether employers are exempt under the provisions permitting individual raises for merit, length of service or increased productivity. The Board will establish 10 regional offices whose directors will meet in Washington with WLB officials to work out details for handling applications. The Treasury Department, which control salaries not under WLB jurisdiction, established a salary stabilization unit and announced that seven regional offices of the unit will be opened soon.

Stabilization of Farm Prices

The Agriculture Department estimated net farm income for 1942 including Government payments, at nearly $9,800,000,000, about $1,000,0000 above the previous record in 1919, and set 1943 income at approximately $10,500,000,000. Total Agricultural production is nearly 12 percent greater than the record set in 1941, and 40 percent greater than in 1918. Military and lend-lease buying of food next year is expected to take one-fifth of current production.

WMC Chairman McNutt said all "necessary" workers on the nation's dairy, livestock and poultry farms will be frozen in their present occupations. Local Draft boards will be asked to defer such workers, all other employers will be instructed to refrain from hiring them, and the Agriculture Department will act toward stabilizing wages, he said.

Rationing

Agriculture Secretary Wickard ordered 144 types of new farm machinery and equipment, excluding repair parts, frozen as of November 1 in the hands of dealers distributors and manufacturers pending formal rationing. The Agriculture Department and its state war boards will establish state and county quotas. The WPB delegated to the Office of Price Administration the authority to ration milk cans and farm fencing. The OPA will redelegate this authority to the Agriculture Department. Sugar rations for Army and Navy personnel on furlough will be one-half pound per week, instead of on the basis of the value of the current sugar ration coupon. The first coffee ration will be obtained beginning November 28 by surrendering the last coupon, No. 28, in the sugar ration book, and subsequent rations will be given on coupons taken in sequence toward the center of the book.

When winter blasts and bitter cold arrive, will you be ready? Will you enjoy REAL COMFORT and REAL FUEL ECONOMY?

It's not enough to have your home INSULATED. True, that's a big and IMPORTANT step in the right direction. All houses should be insulated to hold the expensive winter heat IN and keep the too plentiful heat of summer OUT.

BUT, no home is properly winter-protected against floor draughts, window sweating, or costly heat loss unless it is equipped with STORM SASH.

Here Is Why:

1. Glass is a rapid conductor of heat and the many square feet of window panes offer free passage to countless, costly heat units.

A dead air space is one of the best insulators known. When you install STORM SASH you create, for each window opening, a DEAD AIR SPACE between TWO layers of glass. The passage of heat units is discouraged and the annoying "sweating" of your windows is eliminated.

IT'S PATRIOTIC to SAVE FUEL

Thousands of Homeowners will gladly testify to the value of Storm Sash. The cost is SMALL and the FUEL SAVINGS (not to mention the enjoyment of greater health and comfort) pay for the cost of the Storm Sash in a relatively short time.

YOU NEED THEM
WE HAVE THEM

Stop in at your convenience—or phone us. We will gladly give you complete information. The best winter home investment you can make is STORM SASH.

CONSERVATION OFFICERS REPORT ON VIOLATIONS

Frankfort, Ky.—The Conservation Officers of the Division of Game and Fish received 32 convictions for 32 cases tried on September arrests during the month, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division, announced.

The officers made 42 arrests during the month and brought 32 of them to trial, receiving 32 convictions and the other 10 cases were held over for future trial. They received 2 convictions also from previous arrests and did not lose a single case in court during the month. They checked 2,110 hunting and fishing licenses and also seized a large amount of contraband.

RECENT RAINS IMPROVE FALL FISHING IN STATE

Frankfort, Ky.—With a series of general rains raising stream levels in most parts of the state, an increasing number of reports are being received of improved fishing in both ponds and streams, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, stated today. While there are fewer anglers active now than during the summer months, reports indicate that some real catches are being made. Most fishermen claim that their sport is better during cool weather than in summer, giving as a reason that many species are generally sluglish in hot water.

TRAPPING SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 24

The open season for trapping skunk, muskrat, mink, raccoon, and opossum will begin in Kentucky on November 24 and will continue through January 9, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced today. The trapping season for the red fox is set for the entire month of December while the grey fox is unprotected at all times.

Wakefield pointed out that every trap set shall be visited every 24 hours after setting, and an animal found therein killed instantly, or liberated unhurt. No person shall set any trap on the land of another without written permission from the owner of the land. And that there is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 as the penalty for any violation of this trapping law.

There is no open season for beaver and Otter in Kentucky. The resident state trapping license costs $1 while the non-resident state trapping license sells for $10.50. The state fur buyers or dealers license sells for $2 while the non-resident fur buyers or dealers license sells for $75.

INAUGURATION SERVICES FOR PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE SET NOV. 17

The exercises in connection with the inauguration of Dr. S. S. Hill as President of Georgetown College will be held Tuesday, November 17, 1942. The various events of the day will be as follows: Inaugural ceremonies, luncheon in Rucker Hall and a reception in Euepian Hall.

Dr. S. S. Hill will be formally presented by the presiding officer Judge J. R. Lancaster, Vice-Chairman of Board of Trustees.

The principal address will be delivered by Dr. S. S. Hill. This will be followed by the recognition of the delegates.

Many visiting delegates from religious and educational organizations within and outside of the state are expected to be present.

At the luncheon to be held in Rucker Hall, Dr. Harold W. Tribble, Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, will be the guest speaker. The local Rotarians and Kiwanians are to be present in a body at this luncheon.

In the afternoon, a reception to the delegates, visitors, alumni and friends will be held jointly by the Women's Association of the College and the Faculty Woman's Club of Georgetown College.

The Inauguration Day has been declared the official Home Coming. All fraternities and sororities will decorate their houses and will hold open house for the day and they invite all the alumni, visitors, and friends to visit them.

MERCER WOMAN HAS RECORD AT CANNING

An exceptionally fine record of food production and conservation is reported by Betty V. Culton, home demonstration agent in Mercer county.

Mrs. T. F. Hawkins, whose family numbers five, has canned nearly 600 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and expects to add 10 quarts of chicken, a dozen quarts of tomato catsup and 20 quarts of pears. Besides this, she canned 30 quarts of tomato juice for a sick neighbor, and 114 quarts of tomato juice, greens, apples and blackberries and 89 quarts of tomato catsup for a married daughter. She also put up 130 quarts of fruits and vegetables for a church orphanage. Later in the year she will can meat from the five hogs being fattened for home butchering.

From a flock of about 500 chickens which she raised, Mrs. Hawkins dressed and cooked about 350 for the family table, as no meat was put up last winter. The family garden, tended by Mrs. Hawkins, contained about 550 tomato plants, 250 of which she staked. Tomato sales totaled appoximately $50. An acre of sweet corn added $85 to the family income. Mrs. Hawkins sold green peppers for $4. Eleven rows of beans yielded seven extra bushels which were sold for $7. Two big patches of turnips are expected to bring in $50 to $60 from the extra production of this root crop.

A big lespedeza hay crop was cut in Rockcastle county, some farmers metting three tons to the acre.

WINDOW EXHIBITS IN WARREN COUNTY

A series of three educational exhibits in store windows in Warren county was an interesting part of its Victory Labor day program and bond sale. Planed by the county home demonstration and agricultural agents, one window showed the ways in which Warren county farmers have met the need for new crops and increased production; another, the amount of home-produced food needed by one person for one year; the third, the neighborhood leadership program to take information to every farm family in the county.

Record War Bond Sales Is Goal Of Women At War Week Nov. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's women in the cities and on the farms—in war factories and in their homes—are determined to make Women At War Week the greatest War Bond selling effort since Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sounded the keynote for the Treasury Department's Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28, with an appeal to women to save on "little things" to provide money for War Bonds.

During Women At War Week volunteer War Bond saleswomen will wear an armband similar to the one being attached to the sleeve of Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., by Miss Harriet Elliott.

"We women want to work hard, we want to be a part of this strenuous period because unless we are, we will not be able to face the men when they return and claim our share of the future responsibility for building a peaceful world," the First Lady declared.

The overall direction of Women At War Week rests with the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff under the leadership of Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit.

From coast to coast women in every community have made plans for torchlight parades, fashion shows, teas, rallies, store window displays, Stamp and Bond booths, pageants, civic sings, balls and mardi gras. In each locality administration of the one week drive rests with the local War Savings Committee which has worked out activities adapted to their areas.

Mrs. Morgenthau, in a special message to Women At War Week, declared that the spirit of America's pioneer women lives today more strongly than ever.

"The average American woman began to rise to new heights on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941," Mrs. Morgenthau said. "This winter the average American woman will be spending less in order to save more to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. She will not, please God, ever have to fire a gun or fly a bomber. But she will, please God, always do everything she can to help buy anything—and the best of everything—that fires or flies or floats in this terrible war."

WOMEN AT WAR—Overalls, wrenches and drills replace fineries as these war workers in an Army Arsenal march to tank repair shops. Note the determination on their faces. These women are typical of hundreds of thousands who are working in war factories and investing part of their earnings in War Bonds.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR" FARM MANAGEMENT

The farmers' "good neighbor" policy includes going to one another for information and advice, says Roy E. Proctor, field agent in farm management for the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

"Methods of doing some jobs in a more profitable way can be learned best by seeing a neighbor do the job skillfully and on time," Proctor adds. "It may be that one needs to learn how to fire tobacco, drench sheep, treat seed barley or perform some other farm operation. Many such operations can be learned from reading circulars and bulletins of the College of Agriculture. Others can best be learned through demonstration. The smell of house-burning tobacco cannot be conveyed in print.

"If any of your neighbors think you can do any part of farming better than they, you doubtless would be willing to have them watch you or ask you for advice. On the other hand, if you feel that a neighbor is more skillful than you, you probably would not hesitate to go to him for information and advice. This is the farmers' 'good neighbor' policy."

Proctor says the problem of managing a farm well has three major points: selecting the crops that are well suited to each type of land; selecting the kinds and numbers of livestock that will make the best use of the feed crops; and practicing good methods of handling livestock and crops.

CLIPPING BUREAU SUBSCRIBERS FOR COUNTY NEWSPAPER

New York—One of the most unusual businesses in the world—Burrelle's Press Clipping Bureau of New York City—was started in 1888 at the time of the Great Blizzard in New York City. Clippings were marked on the U. S. S. Battleship Maine being blown up in Havana Harbor—the assination of President McKinley—the first successful airplane flight by the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk—and the San Francisco earthquake. When the Steamship Titanic was sunk in 1912, Burrelle's furnished the clippings. During World War No. 1, press clippings were marked on General Foch and General Pershing.

The Burrelle organization has grown until today it is the oldest and largest press clipping bureau in the world employing over one hundred people to read and clip every newspaper and magazine published in the U. S. and Canada and many foreign countries. Each reader scans from 50 to 150 different newspapers every day—or about four full length novels.

Of all the many thousands of newspapers and magazines read and clipped at Burrelle's, the readers enjoy this Recorder because it contains so many interesting items and is so easy to read.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY FARM LABOR PROBLEM

The appointment of a special committee of members of the staff of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station to cooperate with other agencies and with farmers in a study of the farm labor situation, is announced by Dean Thomas P. Cooper.

All phases of the farm labor problem will be investigated, he said, with a view to helping farmers find ways to operate at full capacity in 1943. The seriousness of the farm labor problem is not generally realized, Dean Cooper believes. Apparently some people do not understand how many key men have left the farm and how difficult it is to farm without skilled help.

The committee is planning to gather information on ways to save labor in growing and harvesting crops, including the greater use of machinery, home-made labor saving devices, harvesting crops with livestock, the use of self feeders, cooperation among neighbors, work that can be done by women, boys and girls, shortcuts, and the like.

Conferences with farmers, and letters received at the Experiment Station, indicate that farmers already are making their plans for next year. Many of them need further information about what the labor situation may be another season. It is apparent to them that work and carefully manage every they must plan, organize their operation, if they are to produce the food needed in the war effort.

W. D. Nicholls, head of the farm economics department at the Experiment Station, will head the committe. Other members are Howard W. Beers, J. H. Bondurant, T. R. Bryant, E. J. Nesius, and Roy E. Proctor. There also will be an advisory committee representing other departments, since the labor problem involves all phases of farming and home-making.

SURPRISE PARTY

On Wednesday of last week the Red Cross ladies had a surprise birthday dinner for two of its members, Mrs. F. Deeker, and Mrs. R. G. Robinson.

Each one brought a nice covered dish. A lovely dinner was served with two nice big birthday cakes. Everyone reported a wonderful time.

Those attending were, Mrs. Joe Myers, of Covington; Mrs. Geo. Howard, Mrs. Will Wolfe, of Erlanger; Mrs. Bill Abdon, Mrs. Milton Gschwind, of Erlanger; Mrs. Albert Parker, Mrs. C. A. Wolfe, Mrs. F. A. Deeker, Mrs. R. G. Robinson, Mrs. Geo. Knox, Mrs. G. L. Robinson, little Bonnie Sue Robinson and Betty Joe Parker.

WEDDING SHOWER GIVEN

On Friday afternoon, November 6th, a wedding shower was given by Mrs. M. A. Yelton at her home for her niece, the former Mary Ellen Clore, bride of Charles Hollis.

Many friends and relatives were gathered for the occasion with many lovely gifts for the bride and groom.

Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The young couple expressed their since appreciation for the wonderful gifts received from Mrs. Yelton. and the many friends and relatives attending.

EARLY HOG MARKETING PROVES PROFITABLE

Producers of hogs in Kentucky are in a favorable position, both because they normally market slaughter hogs ahead of the heavy national market movement, and also because they market hogs at a most favorable time, according to a statement issued by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance of the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

This is a most important circumstance for the present year. Not only has the large number of hogs marketed in recent weeks brought the highest prices received for hogs in 20 years, but the hogs have been marketed ahead of the period of peak national movement when market receipts are likely to be extremely heavy as a result of record hog production.

Producers who still have hogs which they expect to sell at slaughter weights at a later date will probably find it advantageous to so conduct their feeding operations as to avoid the heavy market movement which normally occurs during December and January. This may mean the rapid finishing of early spring pigs for the October-November market, or the carrying of light hogs beyond the December-January peak.

Any change in the customary methods of finishing hogs for market should be made in keeping with the great national need for meat and animal fats. The narrow spread between light and heavy hogs is favorable to feeding to heavy weight.

PCA Check for Two-Millionth Dollar

Harry Toole, prosperous young farmer, of Grant County, near Dry Ridge, received a check for $1.00 from the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association, which represented the two millionth dollar loaned by the association since its organization in 1934. This two-millionth dollar was included in the loan to Harry to buy 16 Western yearling ewes, according to Mr. Leonard C. Taylor, secretary and treasurer of the association.

Harry graduated from the Dry Ridge High School last spring with a good scholastic record. While in school he took as many agricultural courses as the school offered and he was an active member of the Dry Ridge Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, which is under the capable leadership of E. Hugh Bingham, Vocational Agriculture instructor.

As a member of the FFA Chapter, he purchased 3 Hereford heifers through the Production Credit Association, of which he is a member. He also has a registered Poland China sow and five purebred pigs.

Harry says he intends to stay at home and help his father, Owen Toole, operate the 252-acre farm. Harry recently sold his calves at an average weight of 715 pounds at 12½ cents.

Harry will donate this $1.00 check to the United Service Organization. He is an enthusiastic booster of his credit association and says he likes the Production Credit way of buying livestock.

HISTORY—Mrs. G. E. M. suffered headaches and neckaches. Her neck ached so intensely at the base of the skull she could hardly see. Days at a time she could not get out of bed because of the severity of the pains. She read one of our ads., telling of the good work we were doing, and decided to see what we could do for her. After a very short time wearing surgical shoes, pain in the head and neck lessened till finally it disappeared entirely and she is well and happy. It is now possible for her to do her own work even when it is necessary for her to climb stepladders. Surgical shoes seemingly worked miracles for her.

COMMENT — Strain on ligaments and tendons naturally has a weakening effect upon muscles. Continued neglect of these conditions may be the cause of your aches and pains in the neck and back and you have been unable to get relief, come in and let us see what we can do for you.

If your ankles are weak and you are constantly rolling them, surgical shoes are definitely the answer to your problem.—Adv.

HIGHER PRICES FOR EGGS ARE FORESEEN

Higher egg prices are in prospect for the remainder of 1942, according to a statement issued by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington.

The quantity of fresh eggs is expected to decline as usual as the season advances. Stocks of eggs are relatively large but great consumer purchasing power and Government purchases of shell and dried eggs are expected to be sufficient to create normally advancing prices for the season.

The Government egg buying program includes the purchase of shell eggs for domestic use and the purchase of dried eggs under contract for export purposes. Contract prices on dried eggs are scheduled to advance at the rate of 1½ cents per pound each succeeding two-week period from June to December. The announced Government buying price for dried whole eggs at New York range from 95 cents in May to $1.16 per pound the last two weeks in November.

The influence of Government purchases should make prices advance several cents over the season's low. In parts of Kentucky where eggs are most scarce, an advance of 10 cents or more may reasonably be expected between the summer low and winter peak prices. Reports received at the Experiment Station indicate that there has already been a sharp advance in prices in some parts of the state.

No occasion has arisen for the application of price ceilings to eggs and poultry. These products were not included in the general price ceiling orders of the O. P. A. issued in April. Prices also will have to rise considerably above present levels before there can be ceiling prices imposed under the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

RESTORES FERTILITY ON "OLD HOME FARM"

Using methods advocated by the county agent and the Extension Service of the State College of Agriculture, Edward Stephens and two brothers are "literally pulling themselves up by their boot straps," says County Agent, J. E. McClure of Daviess county, Kentucky. They are on their way toward building up "the old home farm." Here is what they did to a 24-acre field that had become so poor that it produced only 136 bushels of wheat in 1935.

Redtop and korean lespedeza were seeded in the wheat in 1935, but failed to grow, and the field was left naked in 1936. In 1937, with limited applications of phosphate and limestone, a good stand of korean lespedeza was secured. The field was pastured in 1938 and 1939, and some of it cut for hay. In 1940, corn made 30 bushels to the acre. In 1941, with the addition of 150 pounds of 3-10-6 fertilizer to the acre, in the row, corn produced 55 bushels to the acre.

After the corn was harvested a year ago, 60 tons of limestone and 8,000 pounds of phosphate were used on the field, ahead of wheat. This year, when Daviess county wheat yields generally were not good, the 24 acres produced 409 bushels of wheat. There is a good stand of redtop and korean lespedeza in the field. The gullies have been worked on until a combine can be used anywhere in the field.

COMBAT CORRESPONDENTS ON WAY TO BATTLE STATIONS

The "fighter-reporters" of the United States Marine Corps have "shoved off." They are now on their way to battle stations in all sectors of the globe, according to Brigadier General Robert L. Denig, Washington, D. C.

The combat correspondents, as these reporters and photographers are officialy designated at headquarters, have quickly jumped from civilian life to the front line as full-fledged Marines.

In other words, what was only an idea in General Denig's mind yesterday is an actuality today—an accomplishment strictly in the best "get-things-done" Marine Corps tradition.

Yet within this period of time these men, picked for their ability to fight as well as write, were given the training treatment which goes into the making of a 100 percent Grade-A leatherneck. No once-over-lightly Marines these, for every man went through P. I., the famous "boot" camp on Parris Island, S. C.

All are qualified with the rifle, pistol and bayonet; all are ready to take their places in the battle line. The writing will come after the fighting is done.

So toughened and tanned that even best pals failed to recognize them, the combat correspondents reported to Marine Headquarters from P. I. Indoctrination followed to familiarize them with Marine Corps tradition and history, censorship regulations, office routine, the geography of their destinations and various other facts and phases of the job they had to do.

Inspiriation and instructional movies were shown. Prominent officers in the Navy and in the Marine Corps lectured the group. Physically fit and trained for fighting, they studiously considered the reporting job expected of them.

And when the indoctrination course was over, they were prepared in every way for the two-fold task in hand—that of fighting for America and telling the folks about that fight.

So, they're off—fighting, writing Leathernecks—from the newspaper offices of America to the shores of wherever the Marine battles takes them. In the interests of military security their destinations, naturally, cannot be revealed, but America has heard and will hear more from them. These pioneers are destined to fight and write America to victory.

This Week On The Home Front

As the military and economic forces of the United Nations begin to equal and in some respects to surpass those of the Axis, the war for freedom becomes more than ever a problem of supply, a fight to speed the war goods we produce into the hands of our naval and air fleets and land armies. We and our Allies are beginning to master the many difficult problems connected with supplies line of immense length by adjusting our present shipping facilities to the demands of distant fighting fronts, and by steadily increasing the number of new cargo ships. But to deliver the maximium amount of war materials and fighting men to battle fronts, within the minimum of time, means that every inch of cargo space must be examined for its greatest war usefulness.

Our good neighbors to the South are invaluable sources of raw materials. Tin comes from Bolivia, rubber from Brazil, copper from Chile, rope fibers and a host of other needed products from various parts of Latin America. Because of Axis submarines activity and the needs of other fronts, we now have far fewer vessels for the Latin American trade than we had a year ago. Therefore, although 14 central and South American republics supply the bulk of our coffee in favor of those other products vital to the war. Of course, we must see to it that we have an ample supply of coffee for our men in the armed services. But we civilians can make out on a ration of a pound of coffee every five weeks, and that's just what—after Nov. 28—we're going to have to do. This ration will go further and taste better if we observe a few simple rules—use fresh coffee, keep it in a tightly covered container in some cool place; use accurate measurements; don't boil, but bring just short of the boiling point—and serve immediately.

• • •

Critical metals not only are restricted for any but war uses, but existing stocks are being gathered in wherever they may be found. No more copper can be used in building construction and all stocks for building installation in the hands of dealers and others is held for purchase by the government.

• • •

Use of stainless steel in more than 75 products, from coffee pots to farm machinery, has been prohibited, and idle or excess stocks of stainless steel will be redistributed for war use. All stocks of cadium, used in electroplating, are reserved for war purposes, and platinum, which has a wide variety of war uses—such as the making of nitric acid and radio tubes—no longer may be used in jewelry manufacture.

• • •

To save rubber and metals, the manufacture of typewriters ceased at the end of October. But the government needs 600,000 typewriters, chiefly for the use of the army and navy. The Government wants to buy standard size machines made since January 1, 1935. Patriotic citizens who wish to dispose of their machines may sell them through authorized local typewriter dealers.

• • •

Production and distribution of razors and razor blades have been placed under tighter restrictions. Safety razors will be made only for the armed services, razor blades output will be divided between the armed forces, needs of our lend-lease allies, and civilians. And production of straight razors will cease altogether on January 1, the industry already is turning out commando knives.

• • •

Local Selective Service Boards are being requested to grant occupational deferment to "necessary" men and war industries have been instructed to stop recruiting such workers for industrial labor.

Net farm income for 1942 is estimated at nearly $9,800,000,000, about one million dollars above the previous high record of 1919, while agricultural production is up 12 per cent over that of 1941.

• • •

The OPA has called upon local War Price and Rationing Boards to appoint all competent tire men in their communities as inspectors under the mileage rationing program.

• • •

It is illegal to sell or to offer to sell women's hosiery made from "spun" nylon, nylon "blend," or nylon "combination" yarn until the OPA has established specific prices.

• • •

Motorists who seek more mileage than the basic ration will have to furnish specific, detailed information about their driving requirements on a form which they can obtain when they apply for their "A" books.

Strong endorsement of the campaign against "scarce" advertising being waged by the National Association of Better Business Bureaus has been expressed by Leon Henderson, OPA Administrator.

• • •

Rubber Director William M. Jeffers says that the nation's motorists are doing a good job of voluntary mileage restriction, but he asks that a still better job be done. In Los Angeles, taxis are refusing service to and from ball parks, theaters, beer parlors, dancehalls, night clubs and race tracks.

• • •

If the government's fight against inflation is to be successful, it is necessary that control against rising prices be applied as vigorously to transportation and public utility rates as to other prices, David Ginsburg, general counsel to the OPA, has told the ICC.

• • •

Manufacturers' ceiling prices for a group of "fall and winter outer clothing" are established at levels at which they opened their lines during the period Dec. 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, regardless of subsequent price increases. Men's and boys' lined coats, flannel shirts, wool and leather jackets are included.

• • •

A nation-wide educational campaign by the civilian defense and nutrition organizations of the 48 state governments for fair sharing of the civilian meat supply has been called for in telegrams sent by four high federal officials to the governors of every state.

• • •

Packers of blended maple syrup now add less expensive corn syrup to the blend must apply to OPA for a ceiling on the changed product.

• • •

An industry meeting has attempted to find immediate steps which might be taken in the wood household and upholstered furniture field to accomplish further conservation of critical materials.

• • •

Reflecting new federal taxes and higher costs of tobacco and labor, the OPA has announced details of its authorized increases of approximately 20 per cent in cigar prices. The nickel cigar is now basking in the possibility of a 6-cent classification.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 1 of a Series)

Keep Equipment Clean

You're paying for light you're not getting when dust and dirt accumulate on lighting equipment. "Before and after" tests show that simply by cleaning bulbs, shades and reflector bowls you can increase light output as much as 30% to 50%. Lamp shades should be dusted, brushed or dry cleaned. Wipe bulbs off frequently with a damp cloth. Reflector bowls, enclosing globes and other lighting glassware may be removed and washed in warm, soapy water. Always dry all lighting equipment thoroughly and do not allow moisture to get into sockets or connections.

If you need new lamps see our stock of I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps. Especially designed for safe seeing, they provide an abundance of both direct and indirect light without glare. Ask for a free trial. See what a difference good light makes!

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Columbia's "The Talk of the Town," new romantic comedy which co-stars Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman, will be shown at the Gayety, tonight and Friday. The film was produced and directed by George Stevens, make: of "Woman of the Year," from the screen play by Irwin Shaw and Sidney Buchman, who penned "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." Edgar Buchanan, Glenda Farrell and Tom Tyler are featured members of the supporting cast.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Lucille Ball wears perhaps the most glamorous wardrobe ever seen on the screen in Damon Runyon's RKO Radio production, "The Big Street."

As a crippled night club entertainer, Lucille spends most of her time in a wheelchair during the course of the picture. As a consequence her wardrobe consists almost entirely of filmy negligees, nighties and bed-jackets, one of which is quilted with pearls, and two evening gowns, both of which are almost as revealing as the more intimate apparel.

Henry Fonda co-stars in the film.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Three-year-old Patsy Nash with Chester Morris and Jean Parker in Paramount's exciting murder mystery film, "I Live on Danger" has finally done what every Hollywood player has yearned to do—but didn't dare.

Patsy, annoyed by the assistant director's constant and noisy souts for "Quiet," lectured him right on the set and insisted that he keep quiet, too.

The additional picture in the double bill will be an exciting story entitled "Riding the Wind." Don't miss this one.

FARM AND HOME WEEK JANUARY 26-29

That there may be a clearing house for the discussion of pressing farm and home problems contributing to an all-out war effort, Dean Thomas P. Cooper announces that the annual Farm and Home Week will be held as usual at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky at Lexington. The dates have been set as January 26-29, inclusive.

The contributions which farmers and farm women are making in the war effort make it more important than ever that the Farm and Home Week be continued this coming winter, Dean Cooper declared.

"Farmers are facing increasing difficulties in their job of providing the food that will win the war and write the peace," said Dean Cooper. "Labor is only one of their many problems. There are the problems of transportation of farm products, of farm equipment, of the shifts in crop production and in livestock raising, and of the demand for such new crops as hemp, castor beans and soybeans. Also there is the part that the farm home plays in war, including food production and preservation, feeding the family, clothing making and the like. All these subjects may be discussed during the week. It will take a lot of cooperative effort to produce all the food and fiber demanded of the farms of this county next year."

Farm and Home Week has been attracting increasingly large numbers of men and women every year. All counties of the State were represented in the attendance last year. This will be the 31st annual Farm and Home Week.

REGRISTRATION

a private passenger car and uses gasoline in its operation.)

(b) Passenger car tires intended for use on cars owned or leased by Federal, State, local and foreign governments.

(c) Passenger car tires in the hands of dealers (including car dealers,) jobbers or manufacturers, bought or made for sale, if they have been reported to the Government on official inventory forms.

Disposing of Idle Tires

Usable Idle Tires and Idle Tires that can be made usable by repairs can be disposed of only to the Government in accordance with instructions. Any other disposition of such tires is illegal and subject to severe penalties. Idle Tires that are beyond repair should be sold to scrap dealers.

Prices For Idle Tires

All tires and tubes, new and used, will be paid for at OPA ceiling prices, less cost of repairs, if needed. In nearly every case, the manufacturer's list price will prevail for new tires and tubes and for undamaged tires run less than 1,000 miles. The correct ceiling prices will be determined by expert tire appraisers at Government warehouses. Payment by U. S. Treasury check or in War Savings Bonds or Stamps, whichever you elect, will be sent to you by mail.

Truck and Bus Tires—Tubes

Compulsion does not apply to bus-type and truck-type tires and tubes, nor to passenger car tubes, but the Government will buy all that are offered.

Penalties

Severe penalties are provided for the illegal use of gasoline on and after November 22, or for making false statements about tire ownership. If in doubt on any question under the Idle Tire Purchase Plan full details will be found in OPA Mileage Regulation.

Do These Two Things

First. Dispose of all Idle Tires. If the Idle Tires are usable or can be made usable by repairs, they must be sold to the Government. If they are beyond repair, they should be sold to scrap dealers.

In areas where gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22, Idle Tires must be disposed of before you apply for a gasoline ration book.

Second. File a Government Tire Record Form. (Forms may be obtained at War Price Price and Rationing Board Offices, Post Offices and Garages.)

In areas where gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22, Tire Record Forms may also be obtained at school houses when you register for gasoline. The forms must be filled in and presented before you can obtain a gasoline ration book.

OSCAR STERN

By March of 1937, he was able to walk with the aid of two canes, and he fled from the hospital.

Walking at night, hiding in the weeds, thickets, and haystacks, in the daytime, it took him 42 nights to cross the Polish Corridor and reach the Czech Embassy in Berlin. There he got money and went to Carlsbad.

Mrs. Stern succeeded in joining him there, and, without money, his health gone, he succeeded in getting work with an insurance firm.

"I had lost everything I had, except Christ," he says.

In September 1938, Hitler was bullying Chamberlain and Daladier at Munich and invasion of Czechoslovakia was obviously imminent. He fled again, taking a train thru Germany to Ostend, Belgium, thence to England.

Mrs. Stern, a Christian, joined him later after refusing, in the face of threats and humiliations, to accept the divorce proferred by the Nazi racial laws. In England, they devoted their efforts toward aiding other victims to escape from Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Austria.

Mr. Stern lectured throughout England under the sponsorship of the National Free Church Council of Great Britain and the exile government of Czech President Dr. Edward Benes. Mrs. Stern returned to Germany to help an elderly woman out of the country, but war broke out, trapping her there.

"I am proud of the fact that I was one of the first so-called 'friendly aliens' to be permitted to qualify as an air raid warden in England," Stern says. He still wears an A. R. P. badge in his lapel. He done his duty as an air raid warden until he left England for America.

He has heard from Mrs. Stern very few times. She is being treated as a Jewess, because she refused to divorce him and, among other restrictions, cannot enter a public air raid shelter. A number of Americans, including Mrs. Roosevelt have made efforts on her behalf.

There will be an Open Forum after the address, and the public has this rare opportunity to ask questions and to get first-hand information from a man who has been in the midst of the tumult in Europe.

Traveling 10 miles at 35 miles an hour takes two minutes longer than at 40, but two miles of extra life of tires are saved at the slower speed.

BOONE COUNTY CHM'N. NAMED

IN CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN —COMMITTEE NAMED TO HAVE CHARGE OF COMMUNITY SALES.

R. V. Lents, Principal of the Constance School has been appointed county chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal campaign by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association. Mr. Lents has appointed a committee to have charge of the sale of the seals in each community. The committee is as follows: F. D. Caton, Edwin Walton, Chester Goodridge, W. F. Coop, Rachel Pottinger, M. K. Toadvine, Edith Caudill, and John Masters.

"Every effort is being made to have the coming seal sale the most successful every held in Boone County," Mr. Lents stated to a representative of The Recorder. The Boone County Protective Association has full charge of the seal sale in Boone County. "The association will need more funds during 1943 in order to carry out the expanded program now planned to keep tuberculosis under control during wartime," stated Mr. Lents.

The seal sale will open Monday, Nov. 23, and continues until Christmas. You may receive a block of 100 or more seals through the mail from Mr. Lents. He states that these are not for you to sell, but for you to purchase. The school children in every school in the county will also be selling the seals, but Mr. Lents requests that you purchase the seals that you receive through the mail, and that will permit those that do not receive seals through the mail to get them from the school children. The children will be working for prizes, but when you mail your check to Mr. Lents just state the name of the pupil and the school he represents, and that child will be given full credit which will be the same as if that pupil had sold the seals to you. Be sure that you buy Christmas Seals. Use them on all your mail and Christmas packages.

Every cent of the net proceeds of the sale of the seals will be used to protect the health of Boone County citizens, especially those who have T. B. Many tuberculosis patients in the county have been aided with funds from the sale of the Christmas seals, and many more could have been helped if funds had permitted it.

Union Thanksgiving Program To Be Held At Local M. E. Church

Wednesday, November 25 at 8:15 Eastern War Time, there will be a union Thanksgiving service at the Burlington Methodist Church. The Baptist and Methodist congregations of this community are cooperating in this special observance. At this time of our national need, the citizens of this community are urged to attend this service.

There will be a special ceremony for the boys in our nation's service and for their homes. All parents of boys in the service are especially urged to attend. Special music will be provided and the speaker will be furnished by the Baptist Church.

WAREHOUSES OPEN NOV. 23RD

TO RECEIVE TOBACCO—FIRST SALE SCHEDULED FOR DEC. 8—TOBACCO PRICES EXPECTED TO BE HIGH THIS SEASON.

Warehouses throughout this section of the state will open to receive tobacco November 23rd, according to advertisements appearing in this issue of The Recorder from various warehouses. First sale of the 1942-43 season will be held December 8th.

Weed prices this year are expected to be much higher than during the 1941-42 season. Crops throughout Boone county are exceptionally good and no doubt will bring high returns.

Warehouses carrying advertisements on other pages in this issue are, Kenton Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse, Inc., Covington; The Carrollton Tobacco Warehouse Co., and the Marshall-Harris Tobacco Warehouse Company of Carrollton; and the Harrison Tobacco Warehouse, Cynthiana, Ky.

FLORENCE MAN TAKES OWN LIFE

BY HANGING AND SHOOTING SELF IN GARAGE—WAS IN ILL HEALTH AND DESPONDENT, IS REPORT.

Harry Stephens, 76 years old, retired farmer, of Florence, ended his life Tuesday in a garage in the rear of his home.

Hubert White, Acting Coroner returned a verdict of suicide. Coroner White said the aged man stood on a box, placed a rope over a girder, then shot himself in the head.

Stephens had been in ill health, and it was said that he was despondent over the illness of his wife. He had been a resident of Boone County his entire life.

His widow, Mrs. Nannie Stephens; two daughters, Mrs. Corine Smith, Cincinnati, and Mrs. Blanche Norberg, San Diego, Calif.; four sisters, and two grandchildren survive him.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Taliaferro Funeral Home, Erlanger, Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m., with Rev. Roy Johnson in charge of the service. Burial will be in Highland cemetery.

Philip Taliaferro, is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Winnie Stanley

Mrs. Winnie Ann Stanley, mother of W. S. Stanley, of near Devon died suddenly Monday night while visiting at the home of her son. She was 94 years old.

She was found dead in bed Tuesday morning. Mrs. Stanley had lived at the home of a daughter, Mrs. William Lowe, Dry Ridge, for the last 58 years.

Mrs. Stanley leaves another son, T. J. Stanley, Bracht Station; another daughter, Mrs. Laura Clemons, Covington; several grandchildren, including Buford Stanley Williamstown funeral director; several great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at the Dry Ridge Methodist Church at 2:00 p. m. (C. W. T.) Thursday. Burial will be in Renaker's cemetery, Dry Ridge.

Dr. Stewart, of the Elementary Education Department, University of Cincinnati, spoke to the intermediate and high school teachers at a meeting of county teachers last Monday evening. His subject was "Remedial Reading For the Upper Grades." He is quite an interesting speaker and his subject was a very practical one.

Peeno-Gay

Miss Virginia Peeno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peeno, of Constance and Pfc. Henry Gay, of Fort Bragg, North Carolina, were quietly married Monday, November 9, 1942 at 6:30 p. m. in The First Baptist Church at Fayetteville, N. C., by the Rev. Fleetwood Perry of that city.

The bride wore a dress of blue crepe with pink roses in her hair. Their only attendants were two Staff Sergeants of Fort Bragg.

The bride returned to the home of her parents where she will remain for the duration.

MARTIN RESIGNS AT ERLANGER

WILL TAKE UP NEW DUTIES AT FULTON, KY.—RESIGNATION WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 15TH.

Rev. R. D. Martin, pastor of the Erlanger Baptist Church for the past thirteen years, offered his resignation to his Church Sunday night, November 15th, to become effective on December 15th, at which time he will take up his new duties as pastor of the Fulton Baptist Church, Fulton, Ky.

This news came as quite a shock to the people of Erlanger as was not only a wonderful pastor, but was one of the outstanding civic leaders in the community, always striving to accomplish those things which were for the betterment of his church, his community and his fellowmen.

Rev. Martin will be greatly missed by everyone here in Boone County, as he has always given of his talent freely to help promote activities in our many churches and he rightfully enjoys the confidence, respect and esteem of all with whom he comes in contact.

He is a charter member and first president of the Erlanger Rotary Club and has been one of its most outstanding members. His accomplishments in Rotary work were such, that in April of this year he was nominated and elected Governor of the 162nd District of Rotary International. He is a gifted speaker, having done considerable speaking at dinner clubs, conventions, banquets and all kinds of special occasions.

Aside from his many other duties, he was a member of the Board of Directors of Booth Memorial Hospital, Covington, and was recently selected to serve on the Board of Directors of the Georgetown College. His services will be greatly missed by all in this section of Kentucky.

LOCAL GIRL JOINS WAAC

Mildred L. Klasserner, Constance has been ordered to active duty in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, and will report to the First WAAC Training Center, Fort Des Monies, Ia., on November 16th for training.

HUMPHREY URGES LARGE INCREASE

IN POULTRY PRODUCTION AT TWO MEETINGS HELD HERE LAST WEEK—FEEDING AND HOUSING DISCUSSED.

Kentucky has exceeded poultry production goals set up for 1942, but still further increased production is needed for 1943 according to Jim Humphrey, poultry field agent from the College, in two meetings held in Boone County last Wednesday.

Fall feeding and proper housing are two great problems confronting Kentucky poultrymen at this time. Because of difficulty in securing meat scraps, many small poultrymen are using ready-mixed laying mashes with a full feeding of home grown corn. Meatena or meat scrap—soybean meal mixtures containing about 50 percent protein may be substituted in the home mixed rations for regular meat scrap which is difficult to secure.

Highlights of last Wednesday's meetings were the large commercial hatchery at Hubert Conner's of near Hebron and the new 1000-bird two-story laying house of Grant Maddox of near Devon on U. S. 25.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kemen of Goodridge Drive announce the engagement of their daughter Rita Marie to Verner Holian of Covington.

Mr. Holian is in the Signal Corps and is now stationed at Lexington.

The wedding is an event of November 24 at St. Henry's Church, Erlanger at 9 a. m.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds will depart for Lexington, where they will make their home for the duration.

Mr. and Mrs. George Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lassing, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gaines were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Conner, of Hebron, Sunday evening.

RESIGNS ERLANGER POST

Rev. R. D. Martin

Dr. John Paul To Hold Series Of Meetings At Burlington Church

Friday, November 27 through Sunday, November 29th a series of services will be held at the Burlington Methodist Church with Dr. John Paul as speaker.

Dr. Paul is at present a teacher in the Asbury Theological Seminary. For a number of years he was editor of the "Christian Witness," a religious publication, and has through the years been a contribution to other Christian periodicals. He has distinguished himself as the author of several widely read religious books in which are revealed his great vision of Christian truth.

Dr. Paul was for a time Vice President of Asbury College, and for a short time President of the same institution. He has traveled extensively at home and abroad in his ministry both as pastor and evangelist. Burlington is forunate in having such a man in our midst.

You are invited to hear him each evening at 8:00 Eastern War Time, November 27-29.

Rev. Ashcraft Will Preach Farewell Sermon

All-day services will be held at the East Bend Baptist Church Sunday, November 22, when Rev. Ashcraft will deliver his farewell sermon. He has been called to another church.

Everyone is invited to bring their lunch and spend a spiritual and enjoyable day.

Fair Ground News

Hiram Lon, one of the County's leading tree authorities, donated and planted on the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair grounds 17 fine young hard maple trees on last Friday. He states he will make further tree donations as soon as the grounds are ready for the plantings.

The 4-H Scrap Drive to locate the scrap that is still on the farms and to secure scrap donations to the Fair Grounds' building program is progressing rapidly. Each 4-H Club is given a map showing the location of farms in that community. Each farm will be contacted and a report made.

Donations of scrap for the War program with the proceeds going to the Fair Grounds' Building Fund is making rapid strides. Last Saturday 425 pounds of old tires and several tons of scrap iron and rags were delivered. Donations may be left at J. R. Eddins' lot in Burlington or may be made by notifying the local 4-H Club members or the County Agricultural office. The drive will close December 1st, and all donations will be hauled to market as soon as possible after that date.

GAME PLENTIFUL THRUOUT STATE

ACCORDING TO REPORTS FROM STATE DIVISION OF GAME AND FISH—SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 24.

Nimrods have silenced their guns on doves and squirrels and are now making check-up on hunting equipment preparatory to the opening of the qual and rabbit season which begins in Kentucky on Nov. 24 and extends through January 9.

S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish pointed out that the only game that can be hunted at the present time is ducks and geese. All other game is now protected by closed seasons until the rabbit and quail season opens on the 24th of November.

According to reports received from practically every section of the state, quail are quite plentiful this year, due to the restocking program carried out last spring by the Division and the sportsmen, and to the favorable nesting and rearing seasons which the quail found during the last spring, summer and early fall months. Rains in recent weeks have assured ample water supplies for the game birds and other forms of wildlife. Shortage of manpower on the farms during the past months has not permitted the harvesting of some crops of wheat, hemp, sorghum and other types of crops which provide food for wildlife and neither has the shortage of labor permitted the cutting of weeds along fencerows or pastures and this has provided a lot of good cover for both wild animals and birds.

The cotton-tail rabbit is reported plentiful in a good many counties in the state.

Wakefield calls the hunter's attention to the fact that the Bob White Quail cannot be bought or sold anywhere in Kentucky at any time and anyone caught doing so is liable to arrest. The bag limit is 12 a day or not more than two days bag limit—24 in possession. Rabbits may be bought or sold anywhere in Kentucky during the hunting season but no person may have more than 16 rabbits in possession at any time. The daily bag limit is 8 with possession of 16—two days bag limit.

ACHIEVEMENT MEETING SET

FOR FOUR-H CLUBS IN BOONE COUNTY—CERTIFICATES WILL BE AWARDED DURING MEETINGS.

Achievement meetings have been scheduled for community 4-H clubs in Boone County, according to Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, and Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Certificates will be awarded during these meetings to members who have successfully completed project work, and metals will be given to the five County 4-H garden winners.

Each club will review accomplishments of their organization during the past year, giving emphasis to their activities in good production, and other parts of the War program.

The schedule for Achievement meetings is as follows:

Burlington, December 2, 11:35 a. m.
Florence, Nov. 19, 10:15 a. m.
Hamilton, Nov. 20, 10:00 a. m.
Hebron, Nov. 20, 12:20 p. m.
New Haven, Dec. 3, 12:45 p. m.
Walton, Dec. 4, 3:30 p. m.

Parents, leaders and friends are invited to attend.

Boone County Boy Will Interview Prospective Navy Applicants Nov. 20

Julius M. Smith, Specialist First Class, will be in Burlington, Friday, November 20th for the purpose of interviewing prospective applicants for the Navy and the Naval Reserve. Mr. Smith will be remembered by many residents of Boone County, having lived here for many years and having also attended Burlington High School. He is now attached to the Covington Recruiting Station and has the rating of a First Class Petty Officer.

Interested persons may see Mr. Smith at the office of the Boone County Recorder at 1:00 p. m.

THREE INJURED IN UNION COLLISION

LACERATIONS AND OTHER INJURIES SUFFERED BY OHIOANS WHEN CAR CRASHES INTO TREE SATURDAY.

Three Ohio residents suffered injuries Saturday when an automobile in which they were riding plunged off the road and crashed into a tree at Union.

Those injured in the crash were Bruce Geller, 21 years old, 1013 Cleveland Street, Fremont, Ohio, head and face cuts and leg injuries; Geneva Drove, 19, 1819 East Eighty-ninth Street, Cleveland, O., head injuries and face cuts, and Kay Bomdra, 22, same address, cuts on head and arm. The victims were removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, where they were held for observation.

They were enroute to Fort Knox when the accident occurred, it was reported.

Florence Ladies To Have Bakery Sale

The ladies of the Florence Christian church will sponsor their annual Thanksgiving bakery sale at Dinn's Lunch Room, Florence, Ky., on Wednesday, November 23, it was announced this week. The sale will begin at 10 a. m.

Pies, cakes, candy and many other foods of the season will be offered for sale by the ladies.

Extensive Scrap Survey Will Begin Monday Nov. 23

Four-H members and leaders will begin a thorough canvass next week to locate scrap now on Boone County farms. Plans for this canvass are being made by community organizations this week according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Farmers will be asked to furnish 4-H members with information as to the amount of scrap they now wish to sell or donate, and whether or not they desire a truck to gather it at their farm.

Five dollars in War Stamps will be awarded to the club getting the most scrap donated in this survey, and 50 points will be given toward the total club score for each 4-H member who participates in this canvass as additional encouragement.

PERSONAL PROPERTY WILL BE OFFERED AT AUCTION, SATURDAY

H. L. McGlasson of near Hebron will offer eighteen head of cattle and a number of farming implements at public auction on Saturday, November 21st at 2 p. m. The sale will be held at his farm on the North Bend Road, two miles from Hebron.

His complete advertisement will be found on another page of this issue. Col. Lute Bradford, of Union will be the auctioneer.

Rev. Kirtley Johnson, of Walton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Griffith and supplied the pulpit at the Burlington Baptist Church, Sunday night, in the absence of Rev. R. A. Johnson.

LOCAL MOTORISTS WILL REGISTER

FOR GASOLINE THIS WEEK—FINAL REGISTRATION DAY IS FRIDAY, NOV. 20—FIVE TIRES ALLOWED FOR EACH CAR.

Motorists throughout Boone County are registering this week for gasoline rationing at the various schools. Teachers and pupils have charge of registration.

Registration days this week are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 18, 19 and 20th and all car owners must register during this period. Car owners are required to present their license certificate or bill of sale and serial numbers of their tires which must not number more than five for each car owned. Car owners will be required to register in person.

Hours for registration at the Burlington, Hamilton, New Haven, Belleview, Florence, Hebron, Petersburg and Constance schools will be from 10:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Hours for Walton and Verona registrants will be from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

Registrants were urged by Prof. D. H. Norris to register between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 in order to reduce the hours teachers will be required to leave their classes. However, persons who are unable to register at this time will be registered during the regular hours 10:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

THE AMERICAN PRESS
"For Over Fifty Years"

THEY MIGHT BE ALIVE TODAY

Admiral Moreell, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks, in ad address to the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, put the American workmen—and labor leaders—squarely on the spot.

Among other things, he told the workers that "you cannot have your cake and eat it too. You exist by virtue of the fact that this is a democratic country and, therefore, you have to preserve and protect democratic institutions. When the country is in peril, as it is today, all rules must be relaxed or waived completely. It is just as sensible for you fellows to take the position that a brick mason cannot, in time of emergency, help out the placing of a steel beam, as it is for a marine to take the position that, because he is trained as a machine gunner, he cannot use a rifle or unload a landing boat. What a hell of a war this would be if such rules were applied to the boys on the firing line.

" . . . No one can live without labor, but they certainly can live without labor unions. They are living without them in Germany and in Italy, and in Japan . . . and they will damn well live without them here if all of you don't get in there and pitch."

Here are the sentiments of millions of Americans. They are written on the wall in the blood of American soldiers, sailors and airmen who have died because strikes and slowdowns in vital industries reduced our production of the machines of war—men who would have been living today had they but received a new plane, a tank, a gun.

—o—

PUT IN THEIR PLACES

What this country needs to win the war in the shortest possible time is more men in government jobs like William K. Jeffers, temporarily "rubber czar."

The Army and Navy want rayon in heavy duty tires because it is stronger. "Cotton senators" are trying to delay its use—figure out your own reasons as to why.

As usual, some committee members tried to put anyone opposing them on the spot. But when they go through with Mr. Jeffers they were put in their places as "public servants," not privileged characters playing politics in war time for their own gain.

Mr. Jeffers delivered a deserved rebuke to the "business as usual" politicians when he told them the chief job of everyone, including members of Congress, "is to win the war."

He then said that if the Army and Navy want rayon reinforced tires, that is what they are going to get now and not at some indefinite date in the future.

Every business man who has felt Senate committee pressure, and every loyal American who wants to see this war won as soon as possible, will cheer the words, speed and spirit of Mr. Jeffers. The former Union Pacific chief is used to getting things done. Give us more administrators of the same kind.

—o—

BLUNT TRUTH

Agriculture is one of our most essential industries, but it remains the orphan of the war effort, notwithstanding the political uproar that has surrounded its problems.

Manpower is the most critical of these problems, plus a lack of faith by the dirt farmers in the ability of the Washington swivelchaid farmers.

The Dairymen's League Cooperative Association of New York recently published some figures relative to thousands of producers going out of business, that make grave reading for the consumer. The blunt truth is that our farmers either will be given the opportunity to produce, or we will starve. And if we wait much longer, well suffer severely because it takes years to replace a good milk cow that has been slaughtered for beef.

—o—

A DANGEROUS ASSUMPTION

Too many people assume that an all-out war has to be fought by an all-out dictator government. This is not true. And it could never be true because modern war requires gigantic production and governments are not producers. At best, they can force the citizens to produce under compulsion, after the citizen has failed to do so for one reason or another.

America is outproducing Europe's slaves because free men are doing the job. If they are allowed to finish the war as such, there is not the slightest doubt as to the outcome. Victory will be ours. Our industries are rolling at an unheard-of pace. But they could do even more if bureaucrats and the people would once and for all realize who must keep mines and factories going full blast. Let government place the orders under proper supervision—American industry will do the rest.

Our armament and plane makers, our utilities, our railroads have proved they can accomplish miracles. The oil industry has been ready for months to begin production of synthetic rubber, awaiting only the "go" signal from officialism. Our metal and timber resources are being utilized to the fullest by the ingenuity of private management, and the coal industry has provided the nation with the biggest stock pile of fuel in history.

All of these things have been and are being done by private citizens. They, and not the bureaucrats, should get the credit.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

MOTIVES THAT STRENGTHEN FAMILY LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 2:1-4; Joshua 24: 14, 15; Ephesians 5:28-31; 6:1-4.
GOLDEN TEXT—Love never faileth.—I Corinthians 13:8.

Last week we saw the things which mar the life of the family, now we turn to those things which give strength to the home and to daily life. This is a lesson much needed just now when so much of our normal home life is thrown out of joint.

We begin at the right place when we say that there must be a

I. Recognition of God in the Home (Exod. 2:1-4; Josh. 24:14, 15).

Failure at this point is without question the great mistake of our day. Christianity touches every phase of life, but nowhere is its blessed influence of greater importance than in the home.

Our lesson suggests that this is to be done in two ways in our homes.

1. By Faith in God (Exod. 2:1-4). The story of the birth of the babe who was to be Moses, possibly the greatest civic, social and religious leader of all time, reminds us that the Jewish people, who had found favor in the eyes of the Pharaohs in Joseph's time, were now being persecuted. A decree had gone out that all boys were to be destroyed at birth.

Here were two parents faced with the awful fact that their baby boy was condemned to death. Did they weep in fear and despair? No, they trusted God and sent the little one forth on a venture of faith, the charming story of which follows the verses of our lesson. God honored their faith by using their enemies to serve them.

2. Service for God (Josh. 24:14, 15). Joshua, who followed Moses as the God-appointed leader of Israel, was giving his last admonition to his people. He knew how they had repeatedly turned from God in unbelief and sin; yes, that even now some were worshiping false gods.

He pleads with them to turn to the one true God, but notice that his plea is made effective by the fact that he and his house were serving the Lord. Every man who has a position of leadership in this world is responsible for the use of that place of power, as a testimony for God. Now and then we hear of a high public official in our own land who loves and serves Christ in sincerity, and our hearts rejoice. The faith of a whole nation may thus be strengthened.

Every one of us has a sphere of influence, and our family life counts for or against God in our own community and among our own friends.

The members of a family that recognize God have a high

II. Regard for One Another in the Home (Eph. 5:28-31; 6:1-4).

It is pure hypocrisy for the family to parade an outward show of religion which does not effectively touch the relationships within the home. Incidentally, it is the kind of hypocrisy which is strikingly ineffective—men see through it too easily.

What then does Christianity do for the home itself? It determines, directs, sweetens—yes, glorifies the relation between

1. Husband and Wife (Eph. 5: 28-31). This passage puts marriage on the highest plane, comparing it to the relationship between Christ and the church. Thus marriage is the joining of man and wife in a sacred union which calls forth love in its highest and noblest sense.

This means that the husband cherishes his wife as his own body, against which no man would do any harm, and for which he makes every possible provision for its comfort, health, usefulness and attractiveness. Such love between parents will lead the entire home life along in a serene, happy and wholesome way. It will not only double the joy, but will give strength in the hour of sorrow, dividing the griefs and burdens of life.

It will set the pattern for the right relation between

2. Parents and Children (Eph. 6: 1-4). The first, and one might almost say the only, law of childhood is obedience. It is God's way to joy and a satisfying life experience for the child in the Christian home. The command to obey carries with it the understanding that the parents are "in the Lord." What father or mother is competent to direct a child apart from faith in Christ?

Notice too, that the parent has an obligation to deal intelligently and kindly with the child. We need a great deal of improvement, and perhaps instruction, at that point. Authority asking obedience is necessary, but it can be wise and kind.

Above all, there is to be a divine nurture, a guiding of the tender child life in the ways of God. Here is life's greatest opportunity and its mightiest challenge. How surprising that fathers (and mothers) who are looking for the greatest measure of usefulness to their generation fail to see it in the privilege they have to rear intelligent, godly children.

If the nation's 27 million motorists cut their 1943 driving to the figure recommended, 5,000 miles—they will save more than 17 million tires, according to estimates.

A Week of The War

Washington—A powerful American force equipped with adequate weapons of modern warfare and under American command, landed on the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts of the French Colonies in Africa," President Roosevelt said in a statement issued by the White House. This action "provides an effective second-front assistance to our heroic Allies in Russia."

The U. S. force split into three parts and struck at Algiers, near Oran on the Mediterranean Coast of Algeria, and on the Atlantic Coast north and south of Casablanca. The War Department stated late November 8, that the offensive was advancing rapidly everywhere along 1,600 miles of coast against light French resistance. Algiers capitulated within 24 hours. The Vichy government broke off diplomatic relations, but Secretary of State Hull said the main purpose of the Vichy policy of this government during the past two years was simply to pave the way for the military drive into the western Mediterranean.

"The landing of this American army is being assisted by the British Navy and air forces and it will, in the immediate future, be reinforced by a considerable number of divisions of the British Army," the President stated. "This combined Allied force . . . in conjunction with the British campaign in Egypt is designed to prevent an occupation by the Axis armies of any part of northern or western Africa, and to deny the aggressor nations a starting point from which to launch an attack against the Atlantic coast of the America's.

"The French government and the French people have been informed of the purpose of this expedition, and have been assured that the Allies seek no territory and have no intention of interfering with the friendly French authorities in Africa," the President's statement said. "This expedition will develop into a major effort by the Allied Nations and there is every expectation that it will be successful in repelling the planned German and Italian invasion of Africa and prove the first historic step to the liberation and restoration of France."

The President told the French people by radio and by leaflets that the American forces were going into their empire as friends, to "repulse the cruel invaders who would remove forever your rights of self-government, your rights to religious freedom, and your rights to live your own lives in peace and security . . . We assure you that once the menace of Germany and Italy is removed from you, we shall quit your territory at once . . . do not obstruct this great purpose."

Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the American forces in the European theatre, is commander in chief of the Allied invasion force. Gen. Eisenhower, in a broadcast to "Frenchmen of North Africa," promised not to attach the French themselves, upon certain conditions. These conditions were specific and he repeated them many times in his broadcast.

Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's headquarters in Cairo reported November 7 that American fliers shot down 45 enemy planes against a loss of 6 of their own in the Middle East from October 1 to November 5. In addition, the announcement said, the U. S. fliers have seriously damaged an uncalculated number of tons of enemy shipping and knocked out a number of tanks and other motor vehicles.

The Navy announced that at least 5,158 Japanese, by actual count, have been killed in three months of land fighting in the Solomon Islands. Navy Secretary Knox reported earlier that U. S. casualties were less than one-fifth of Japanese losses. The Navy said 369 Japanese aircraft were destroyed there in October alone. A Navy communique late November 8 reported the probable sinking of another Jap cruiser and destroyer in the Solomons and said the advance of American troops eastward on Guadalcanal was continuing.

Labor Supply

Labor Secretary Perkins reported that between now and December 1, 1943, industry will need 4,500,000 additional workers, and of this number, 3,000,000 will be women. The Office of Defense Transportation said 180,000 women will get jobs in the "traditionally male" transportation industry in the coming months. Agriculture Secretary Wickard said that success of the farm manpower program next year would depend on a considerable extent on the employment of more women and girls and older people on the country's farms.

War Manpower Chairman McNutt said that all major war production plants soon will be required to schedule their manpower requirements in the same manner they must now schedule needs for scarce raw materials. Official instruction and forms for bringing about the orderly withdrawal of workers from war industries for the armed forces are now available to war contractors and operators of essential civilian activities, he said. Federal labor inspectors will be assigned to the plants "to see that labor is being utilized properly," and those plants which fail to co-operate will be subject to "whatever sanctions there are available."

Controlled Materials Plan

The WPB established the controlled materials plan to boost war production through elimination of all non-essential production. WPB vice chairman Eberstadt will direct the plan which will adjust production schedules within material supply to meet production requirements. The plan will operate as follows: The WPB Repuirements Committee will allot controlled materials (at first only carbon and alloy steel, copper and aluminum) to the "claimant agencies"—army, navy, Maritime Commission, the aircraft scheduled unit, lend-lease, Board of Economic Warfare and Office of Civilian Supply. The claimant agencies will then make allotments to price contractors producing essential goods. The prime contractors will divide their allotments among subcontractors and suppliers.

Stabilization of Wages

Chairman Davis of the War Labor Board said the WLB, in stabilizing incomes less than $5,000 "will act on the presumption that wages rates prevailing on September 15, 1942, are proper." The Board said, "If a group of employees has received increases amounting to 15 per cent in their average straight-time rates over the level prevailing on January 1, 1941, the Board will not grant further increases as a correction for maladjustments—the wage rate inequalities and the gross inequities which may require adjustment under the stabilization program are those which represent manifest injustices that arise from unusual and unreasonable differences in wage rates."

Rationing

The Office of Price Administration announced all passenger cars will be eligible for recapping services or for replacement tires under the national mileage program effective November 22, but motorists will be limited by quotas to be assigned to rationing boards. The grade of tire allowed in case recapping is impossible will be determined by the amount of mileage allowed applicants in their gas ration books.

Motorists asking more mileage than the basic ration must furnish specific, detailed information about their driving requirements on forms issued by OPA and available from November 12-15 at schoolhouses designated as registration sites. If the applicant's essentist mileage is more than 150 miles a month, but less than 470, he will be issued a B book. Mileage of more than 470 miles will warrant a C book. Holders of C books must display stickers on their windshields indicating why they were granted extra gasoline.

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The Surgical Shoe, designed after exhaustive studies of the many factors responsible for "foot trouble," achieves a long-sought objective in affording proper support and scientific body weight distribution within the shoe. Built on a last which closely approximates configuration of the normal foot, it is not a "corrective shoe" in the orthopedic sense of the word.

Its primary purpose is to maintain the foot comfortably in proper position, thus overcoming or avoiding ankle pronation and the accompanying weakness or sagging of the longitudinal arch.

By properly distributing body weight over the foot surface, this unique shoe relieves excessive strain on the first two metatarsals and transfers weight bearing to the fourth and fifth metatarsals and to the outer half of the heel.

Thus excessive stress and tension on ligaments and articular surfaces are reduced, leading to relief of pain, fatigue, and weakness.—Adv.

PREVENTIVE
(And in many instances)
CORRECTIVE, TOO

When winter blasts and bitter cold arrive, will you be ready? Will you enjoy REAL COMFORT and REAL FUEL ECONOMY?

It's not enough to have your home INSULATED. True, that's a big and IMPORTANT step in the right direction. All houses should be insulated to hold the expensive winter heat IN and keep the too plentiful heat of summer OUT.

BUT, no home is properly winter-protected against floor draughts, window sweating, or costly heat loss unless it is equipped with STORM SASH.

Here Is Why:

1. Glass is a rapid conductor of heat and the many square feet of window panes offer free passage to countless, costly heat units.

A dead air space is one of the best insulators known. When you install STORM SASH you create, for each window opening, a DEAD AIR SPACE between TWO layers of glass. The passage of heat units is discouraged and the annoying "sweating" of your windows is eliminated.

IT'S PATRIOTIC TO SAVE FUEL

Thousands of Homeowners will gladly testify to the value of Storm Sash. The cost is SMALL and the FUEL SAVINGS (not to mention the enjoyment of greater health and comfort) pay for the cost of the Storm Sash in a relatively short time.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The November meeting of the Hebron Homemakers was held at the home of Mrs. Bessie Acra on November 11th.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Hilda Hogan. Seventeen members and two visitors Mrs. Albert Willis and Mrs. Bill Lea, were present. The roll call was answered by helpful hints on penny savers.

Mrs. Bessie Acra, exterior beautification chairman gave a good report on preparing roses and hardy flowers for winter. She suggested that all of the old tops on perennials be burned to keep down disease in the new plants. From one-half to three-fourths bushel of good garden soil should be put around roses. Perennials should be covered with branches until the ground is frozen, then about 1 or 2 inches of straw or leaves should be put over them.

She stated that house plants should be kept in cool fresh air at about 58 to 60 degrees and should have plenty of morning sun. The best flowers for pot culture are ferns, begonias, afrigan violets, and cactus.

Mrs. Hilda Hogan gave a report on the Advisory Council meeting at Burlington, Nov. 10. She told that each club is to contribute 45 cents to help pay for a floral tribute for the late Judge N. E. Riddell, and that each club is to send 15 cents per member to Mrs. McCormack to go to the State fund and County fund to help defray expenses of the annual meeting.

Mrs. Sue Rogers, 4-H chairman announced the the boys' and girls' 4-H Clubs will conduct achievement exercises at the chapel program Nov. 20 at 11:30 a. m.

Mrs. Alberta Dickey, citizenship chairman distributed some Red Cross sewing among the members. She also reported that several of the homemakers are going to Cincinnati to donate blood to the blood bank.

Mrs. Grace Hartke asked the club to meet at her home on Dudley Pike, December 10th.

The gift for the penny raffle was made by Mrs. Bessie Acra and won by Mrs. Lorena Clore.

As the leaders Mrs. Myrtle Casper and Mrs. Catherine Parrott were unable to atend, the leaders' training class at Burlington, Mrs. Albert Willis of the Bullittsville Club gave the lesson for them. We were very grateful to Mrs. Willis for giving such an interesting lesson.

Members attending the meeting were: Mesdames Hilda Hogan, Myrtle Casper, Katherine Peel, Myrtle Crutcher, Loraine Siekman, A. D. Hunter, Grace Hartke, Alberta Dickey, Ruby Hollis, Marietta Garnett, Elizabeth Youell, Inell Anderson, Sue Rogers, Flora Tanner, Alice Schneider, Lorena Clore and the hostess.

PETERSBURG HOMEMAKERS

The Homemakers Club met on November 12th at the home of Miss Johanna May Terrill with 11 members, 3 visitors and Mrs. Moore present. The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Mathews. "America The Beautiful" was sung by the club, the Collect was repeated and roll call was answered by a verse of poetry.

Miss Mary Rector gave one of her interesting talks on the care of flowers and plants, how to get rid of insects, worms and bugs in the fall. She also talked on Africa Violets, the many different colors and the way to grow these beautiful flowers.

Mrs. Moore talked on the Advisory Council meeting held at Burlington. We are sorry our club was not represented, as it was very important.

The club discussed the placing of a bulletin board in the Burlington courthouse yard for the names of our boys who are serving in this war, and a U. S. O. station at Florence where our boys wait for buses.

Recess for noon was followed by singing one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner." Then Mrs. Moore showed the different flags of the United Nations.

Mrs. Willis of the Bullittsville Club gave the lesson on "Accessories, Their Place in Daily Living" and gave instructions on shuck handicraft. The club appreciated having Mrs. Willis with us.

Miss Jo Anna Gordon, our program conductor entertained with riddles which were enjoyed by all.

We are very glad to have Mrs. Carver enrolled in our club again, after being absent for sometime.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 10th at the home of Miss Mary Rector. There will be a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Come and spend the day with us. The club will be glad to have you. The roll call answer will be "What we share with others." Be sure to attend—share your sunshine and good will with others.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The November meeting of the Bullittsville Homemakers' Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Willis on Thursday 19th. The lesson for the major project will be "The Place of Accessories in the Home" which should be of interest to all homemakers.

According to Government estimates, the seasonal kill of waterfowl would provide enough down and feathers for 300,000 aviators' pants and parkas, more than 10,000 sleeping bags or 500,000 sub-zero jackets, if hunters plucked and turned in the down and small body feathers of all birds they kill.

Christmas Economy
TO FURTHER THE ALL-OUT WAR EFFORT

Could any gift be more appropriate this Christmas than a practical and useful gift? We think not. Buy now while selections are the best and our stocks are complete, and use our alay-away plan.

We want to make this Christmas one that you will look back on with satisfaction and pleasure. We want you to remember when the days of peace come again, and you have the comfortable security of the War Bonds you were able to buy with your savings, that we have watched over the quality of the things you bought, eliminating all that was shoddy and unworthy.

That is the kind a Christmas we want to make for you . . . full of good things you need at prices that allow a worthwhile margin of savings.

The lessons of the past have come into full use today. We are prapared now to serve you better than ever . . . when solid savings mean more than ever before.

Our entire stock of merchandise is now complete for the entire family . . . Stop in and look around, then compare our prices and quality, and you be the judge.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING
(No. 2 of a Series)

Replace Dark Shades
If your lamp shades are not white or very light-colored on the inside, you're losing a lot of valuable light. Dark colors soak up light like a sponge—in some cases as much as 50% of the light is lost. Clean your lamp shades regularly, or if they're too dark or discolored with age, replace them with fresh, new, white-lined shades. You'll get a lot more light from the same bulbs—light that you need for safer, easier seeing.

AN EFFICIENT GLARE CHASER is this plastic, screw-in adaptor. Designed to replace bare bulbs on drop cords or in single-socket fixtures, it provides an abundance of glareless, evenly-distributed light that's kind to eyes. It's easy to install—screws in like a light bulb—and costs only $1.65 complete with 150-watt bulb. Ask for a free trial.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

It isn't often that an Irving Berlin musical hits the screen, but there's one to be shown at the Gayety tonight and Friday. It's the song-filled, laugh-filled Paramount musical, dancing picture "Holiday Inn," starring Bing Crosby, and Fred Astaire, with Marjorie Reynolds, Virginia Dale and Walter Abel.

For his latest film, Mr. Berlin has written more new songs than have ever been composed for any one picture before. Eleven brand new hits, among them "White Christmas," and "Be Careful, It's My Heart," is something of a record even for America's foremost words-and-music man. As if eleven new Berlin songs weren't enough to set "Holiday Inn" head and shoulders above any other musical made, there are two old Berlin favorites thrown in for good measure —"Lazy" and "Easter Parade."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Even flowers have stand-ins in Hollywood.

For the scene in Paramount's comedy "Are Husbands Necessary?" in which a penitent Ray Milland brings a bouquet of roses to Betty Field, three identical bouquets were provided. They were kept in an ice box ,and thus fresh roses were on hand for various camera angle repetitions of the scene.

One additional bunch of wiltproof crepe paper roses was used as a "stand-in" for the tedious focusing of lights and camera between scenes.

IN MEMORIAM OF JOHN WOODFORD CONNER

Resolved, That in behalf of the Union Deposit Bank the Board of Directors adopts these resolutions in tribute to the memory of our fellow-member and colleague, John Woodford Conner.

In recognition of the long and untiring services of Mr. Conner, the Board members wish to express their sense of personal loss in his death, and appreciation of his services as an officer and director of the Bank. Mr. Conner was instrumental in organizing the Bank and was for thirty-nine years a member of the Board of Directors. Even though his years were far beyond the scriptural span of life, he was an active member until his death.

Mr. Conner brought to the bank the most uncompromising honesty and the highest moral character. He had a genial, helpful manner, and brought to every decision a sense of fairness.

Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the official minutes of the bank and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Sarah Conner Powers that we may extend to her and to the members of the family an expression of our sincere sympathy.

ON FRONT OF AUTOS FOR 1943 ACCORDING TO REVENUE COMMISSIONERS — URGES CARE OF OLD PLATES.

Automobile owners were urged by Ward Oates, Revenue Commissioned, to save and safeguard their front license plates after they apply the 1943 windshield license stamp to their cars.

Oates said that after January 1, Kentucky automobiles will be licensed with a windshield stamp and the 1942 rear license plates. New plates will not be available for 1943 because of metal shortages.

After the windshield stamp is applied, the Commissioner said, the front 1942 plate should be removed and placed in safekeeping for use in case the rear plate is damaged or deteriorates.

Metal shortages still may prevail in 1944, Oates thought. A new windshield stamp would be issued then and the preserved 1942 plate could be used in the rear, he said.

Tests reveal, Oates said, the best method of maintaining the good condition of 1942 plates simply was to keep them clean. Plain old dirt is regarded as the chief cause of deterioration, he said.

Should an owner lose both his 1942 plates, Oates said, he probably could obtain a new one, but the Commissioner felt the public should cooperate to the utmost in refraining from tapping the state's small supply of metal for new license plates.

Gasoline rationing may flush out automobile tax evaders, Oates said. A woman in West Kentucky, he related, bought a new car in 1939 and licensed it under the name and serial number of her old car, thus evading payment of the $30 usage tax on new cars.

The new car she relicensed in the name of the old one in 1940, 41, and 1942, Oates said, but when she applied for her gasoline rationing card she had to tell the Clerk of the new car carrying tags in the name of the old one.

Oates advised the County Clerk the woman was liable for the usage tax and license plate taxes for four years, because she had failed to pay the usage tax in 1939 and in reality had not licensed it during that time.

The Commissioner advised other persons in situations similar to the woman's to state facts to Clerks when seeking gas rationing cards. Had that woman told the Clerk she still was operating her old car, she would have sworn to a lie and "would possibly end up in a Federal pen," Oates said.

Red Cross Benefits $380.98 From Tobacco Sold At Carrollton

The Boone County Chapter of the American Red Cross benefitted to the extent of $380.98 because of the fact that Boone County farmers sold their tobacco on the Carrollton market during the 1941-42 season.

Officials of the Carrollton market have announced that the practice of giving the local Red Cross a donation from the proceeds of the sale of the Boone County tobacco crop will be continued during the 1942-43 season, and because of the larger crop and anticipated higher averages it is expected that the Red Cross check will be much larger this year.

The three warehouse companies in Carrollton will open to receive tobacco on November 23, and the first sale is scheduled for December 8. Lewis Harris, of the Marshall-Harris Tobacco Warehouse Co., has expressed the opinion that the average on the Carrollton market this year may reach an all-time high.

The daily cost to France of German occupation would build 2,500 modern workman's homes.

This Week on the Home Front

The Office of Price Administration is moving to enforce its maximum price regulation. More than 1,700 retail stores—mostly grocery stores—in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, and Michigan last week received notice that their licenses to do business would be revoked unless they complied.

In some cases, the violations were so flagrant that no warnings were sent because criminal action probably will be instituted directly.

Over-pricing, failure to keep required records, and failure to make proper reports were among the charges.

All stores were automatically licensed when the OPA was instituted, and withdrawal of the license would close them.

James C. Gruener, regional OPA attorney, said: "OPA'S reasonableness, its democratic approach to this problem of price compliance, should not be interpreted by any retailer of the public as an indication that OPA will not invoke every enforcement sanction made available to it in the law."

Thus the government in wartime shows the teeth that are putting the bite in inflation.

John Q. Motorist received a happy piece of news in the announcement that all passenger cars will be eligible for recapping services or replacement tires under the new mileage rationing program, but there will be a limit to the quotas assigned to War Price and Rationing Boards. If a board receives more applications than it can grant, it must decide on the basis of the importance of the applicant's car to the war effort.

No livestock price control measures are contemplated by the OPA which would induce farmers, directly or indirectly, to change their normal time of marketing live animals. The necessity of maintaining normal livestock marketings in off seasons, when production costs are higher than in other parts of the year, is clearly recognized by the OPA.

FARM BUREAU IS ORGANIZED

LLOYD SIEKMAN ELECTED TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN—NEW MEMBERS SIGNED UP AT FRIDAY MEETING.

Boone County will have an active Farm Bureau cooperating with the State and National Farm Bureau Organizations, according to a number of leading farmers attending a meeting at Burlington last Friday evening. Twenty-five members by December 12th was set up as the immediate goal.

Lloyd Siekman was elected temporary chairman and John E. Crigler temporary secretary-treasurer to assist in completing the organization work. Precinct chairmen appointed to secure membership previous to the organization meeting are: Grant Maddox, Devon; S. D. S. Ransom, Walton; John C. Bedinger, Walton; C. Liston Hempfling, Taylorsport; Walter King, Verona; Harold Crigler, Hebron; John C. Burns, Petersburg; Edward C. Rogers, Grant; Ben C. Stephens, Grant; Robt. Dolwick, Pt. Pleasant; E. A. Martin, Idlewild; Vernon Stephens, Rabbit Hash; Eugene Schwenke, Hamilton; Joseph A. Huey, Union, O. R. Russ and George Cook, Florence; B. F. Bedinger, Beaver; H. E. White and Earl Smith, Burlington; J. C. Aylor, Francesville; George Walton, Waterloo; Norman Herbstreit, Hill Top.

New members signed up at the Friday meeting were: H. R. Forkner, O. R. Russ, W. W. King, Lloyd Siekman, J. C. Bedinger, Lloyd D. McGlasson, John E. Crigler, O. W. Chinn, S. D. S. Ransom, C. Liston Hempfling. Membership fees are $5.00 per year, of which $2.50 goes to the County organization, $2.00 to the State organization and 50 cents to the National organization.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation are the largest and most active farm organizations in the country today. They have sponsored in the State and Nation practically all major legislative improvement programs affecting the farmer today. The organization is purely non-political and has for its purpose the protection of farmers' rights and the improvement of agriculture.

All farmers who wish to become affiliated with the work of the Farm Bureau organization are urged to see their local precinct chairman or temporary county officers and sign up today.

CLUBS COMPLETE SALVAGE SURVEY

THROUGHOUT COUNTY THIS WEEK—CONSIDERABLE SCRAP MATERIAL STILL ON MANY FARMS.

Boone County 4-H Club members and leaders are completing this week a farm-to-farm salvage survey throughout the County, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This survey is being made at the request of the County Salvage Chairmen. Considerable scrap material still remains on many farms and every effort will be made to assist farm people in placing this material where it will be of great benefit to our war effort.

All scrap material will be listed in the survey under one of three headings, according to the wish of the farmers, namely:

(1) Donation to the 4-H Fair Grounds, Red Cross, U. S. O., or other worthy organizations.

(2) Scrap, farmers will sell to junk dealers direct.

(3) Scrap farmers request the WPA to haul and pay for at the farm.

The 4-H Club members are especially anxious to receive donations for the County Fair Grounds' Building Fund, which at the present time is approximately $1,500.00 in the red. While the 4-H Club members will not be able to pick the scrap up over the farms, they will arrange to pick the scrap up at the farm lot, the school, or other central location. All contributions to the 4-H Clubs in this work will be greatly appreciated.

Soldier Returned To Ft. Thomas By Sheriff

HEART ATTACK PROVES FATAL

TO LESTER AYLOR — FOUND DEAD AT BARN ON HIS FARM NEAR HEBRON—SERVICES ARE HELD TUESDAY.

Lester Aylor, of Kenton Street, Bromley, retired farmer and dairyman, was found dead in a barn on his farm at Hebron, Saturday. The body was found by John Moore, who rented the farm from Aylor.

Mr. Aylor had been a resident of Hebron most of his life and was well known throughout Boone County. He was 55 years old.

He is reported to have left his home Friday to visit the farm. Acting Coroner Edgar S. Graves, said death was caused by a heart attack. It was believed that Mr. Aylor had been dead for several hours when the body was found.

He is survived by a son Edwin F. Aylor, Hebron; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Aylor, Ludlow, and a sister, Mrs. Lawrence Brown, of Bromley, with whom he lived.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Bullock and Catherman funeral home, Ludlow, with services at Hebron Lutheran Church at 2 o'clock. Burial was in Hebron cemetery.

DINNER PARTY ENJOYED BY BANKERS OF COUNTY

Officers and directors of the banks of Boone County had a dinner meeting at "Doc's Place" near Florence on Wednesday night night of this week at 7 o'clock.

ANCIENT HOG DISEASE SPREADS OVER NATION

One of the world's most ancient swine diseases, erysipelas., is spreading so rapidly that it may soon outrank cholera as a killer of hogs, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association. Dr. W. W. Dimock of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station is president of the association.

This disease strikes with deadly swiftness when the hog population of the United States is the largest in history, and when a further increase of 10 percent in production is needed to help further the war effort.

The disease resembles hog cholera and influenza, which fact makes diagnosis difficult. Symptoms include unwillingness of the hogs to move from their bedding, shortness of breath, enlargement of joints, and sometimes diamond patches on the skin.

The subject of the meeting will be "Interesting and Delightful Menus from Home Canned and Stored Foods."

This will be the material for the December Homemakers' meetings. It is very important that all foods project leaders attend. The noon lunch will be prepared at the meeting.

WE OFFER THANKS

On this Thanksgiving Day, amid a world of conflict, we pause to give thanks to God for the many blessings bestowed upon us during the past year. We, like the pioneers, who celebrated the first Thanksgiving, are grateful for our freedom—our right to worship according to the dictates of our hearts—a heritage which our boys are fighting for today.

Let's offer up a prayer of thanks to Him who has guided us during these days of strife and who has kept us a free nation, and in appreciation of favors received we bow our heads in earnest supplication.

With many of our boys on the battlefront, others in army camps and still others in war plants far from home, we suffer from heartache and worry, but as we assemble about our festive table on this Thanksgiving Day we have much for which to be thankful. We have a nation strong enough to defend our rights and which eventually, with God's help, lead us to victory, and freeing of all nations from bondage.

FREEZING OF BUTTER STOCKS

WILL AFFECT BOONE COUNTY —PRODUCTION FAR BELOW DEMAND—COFFEE RATIONING SET FOR NOVEMBER 30.

The War Production Board order freezing 40 per cent of cold storage stocks of butter will affect Boone County and surrounding territory, seriously it was announced Sunday.

At this time of year the Cincinnati area depends upon storage for 50 percent of its butter. Current production is not nearly enough to meet the demand.

Coffee sales were "froze" at midnight Saturday night to permit stores to supply their shelves in preparation for coffee rationing after next Sunday. Sugar ration books will be used for coffee rationing. Each person more than 15 years old will be limited to one pound every five weeks, or about one cup a day.

4-H CLUB TWINS WIN CALF SHOW

For the second time in three years, a calf owned by Donald and Paul Pickrell, 16-year-old twins of Bracken county, won the grand championship of the annual baby beef show at Maysville. Their calf was a full brother of the Angus calf which won the grand championship for them in the 1940 show. It weighed 90 pounds and sold for 20 cents a pound. The Pickrell boys are members of the Germantown 4-H club.

CONSTANCE 4-H NOTES

The Constance 4-H Club held its annual achievement meeting Nov. 16. We had a special program planned by Virginia McGlasson. Subject of talks were "My Project" by Mary Fugate; "How I Improved Over Last Year," Nina Crowley; "What My Club Has Done to Meet War Demand," Virginia McGlasson; "What My Record Book Shows," Carolyn Dolwick.

We closed by repeating the 4-H pledge.

Carolyn Dolwick, Reporter.

Pigg Brothers Charged With Disorderly Conduct

Ira, Dick and Kirtley Pigg were arraigned before County Judge C. L. Cropper, Saturday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. After an examining trial the brothers were held over for action of the December grand jury. Dick and Ira Pigg were released under $200 bond, while Kirtley Pigg's bond was set at $500.

The men were arrested Friday morning by Sheriffs Williams and Rouse following a disturbance at Beaver, Thursday night.

Utopia Meeting Well Attended

The November meeting of the Utopia Club was well attended last Thursday night, thirty-six being present. The following officers were elected for 1943: President, Lucien Bradford; Vice President, Mary Rector; Secretary, Lucile Cotton; Syphogrant, Wilton Stephens; Club Reporter, Margaret Allen.

The annual Christmas party of the Utopia Club will be held at the Burlington Court House, Thursday evening, December 17th.

QUESTIONNAIRES MAILED YOUTHS

IN 18-19-YEAR-OLD BRACKET BY LOCAL DRAFT BOARD—45 MEN WILL BE INDUCTED DECEMBER 1.

C. G. Kelly, Clerk of the local draft board stated Tuesday that all 18 and 19-year-old registrants are receiving their questionnaires as rapidly as they can be mailed from his office.

Forty-five men will report to the local board on December 1, when they will be sent to Cincinnati for their final examination by Army officials.

Monday morning a number of registrants were examined by local physicians at the draft board office. They have been placed in 1-A and are subject to call at any time.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

WALTON TROUNCES BURLINGTON 19-13—FLORENCE, NEW HAVEN, AND HEBRON SUFFER DEFEAT IN OPENING TILTS.

Walton turned back the Burlington basketball team Friday night in the opening game of the season by a score of 19-13 on the Walton floor. J. D. Jarrell led the attack for the Burlington boys with nine points.

Beechwood defeated the Florence Knights Friday night by a score of 48-39. Caudill, Florence forward chalked up 21 points, to lead in scoring honors, closely followed by Bayer, of Beechwood with 20.

Simon Kenton and New Haven tangled for the first game of the season with Simon Kenton emerging on the long end of a 19-15 count.

Hebron met the strong Dixie Heights five Friday night and were turned back by a count of 47-24.

TAYLORSPORT HOMEMAKERS

The Taylorsport Homemakers' Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Aylor, Wednesday, Nov. 18. A delicious Thanksgiving luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead, president was in charge of the business session.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas party to be held at the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Katherine Aylor. There will be an exchange of gifts and a game in the afternoon.

An interesting lesson was given by our leader, Mrs. Jennie Sprague on "Accessories in Our Home."

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Lottie Beacom, Mrs. G. Morehead, Mrs. Eliza Morehead, Mrs. Essie Goodridge, Mrs. Pearl Fugate, Mrs. Jennie Sprague, Mrs. Thelma Sprague, Mrs. Electa Sprague and Mrs. Betty Snelling, a guest, who became a member during the day.

Mrs. Mary S. Moore, Home Demonstration Agent attended the afternoon session.

Aurora Business Men Offer Free Ferriage

The Aurora business men are extending free foot ferriage on the Aurora Ferry each Wednesday and Saturday until January 2, 1943. This courtesy is being extended to Boone Countians due to the gasoline ration which is scheduled to be put into effect December 1st.

Further extension of this offer will depend upon acceptance of this service by citizens in the western section of Boone County.

Navy Representative To Be In Burlington

A representative of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Covington, Ky., will be in Burlington, at The Recorder office at 1:00 p. m. Friday, December 4, 1942 to interview prospective applicants for the Navy Reserve. All men interested should see the recruiter at this time.

BURLEY HEARINGS NOW IN PROGRESS

BY TOBACCO DIVISION OF OPA IN WASHINGTON — BARKLEY AND CHANDLER REPRESENTING GROWERS.

As a result of protests by Governor Keen Johnson against the proposed price ceilings on tobacco, hearings by the tobacco division of the OPA, scheduled for November 21 were postponed until this week and are now in progress in Washington.

Representing burley growers at the hearing are Senators Alben W. Barkley and A. B. Chandler, Kentucky's eight Congressmen, Wesley Vick Perry of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and Dr. H. B. Price of the U. of K. College of Agriculture. [illegible] is the official representative of the Governor.

In a statement yesterday concerning the proposed ceilings, Lewis O. Harris of the Marshall-Harris Tobacco Warehouse Co., Carrollton, Ky., said, "Burley growers have always taken the bitter with the sweet. They have placed their burley on the auction market and have accepted the best bid be it high or low. Now they have a chance to make a profit on an unusually expensive crop and I think they should be allowed to have as much as they can get."

"Deliveries to our two warehouses continue heavier than they were last year, however, the wet weather has had an effect on the rate of delivery," Mr. Harris, added.

AWARDS ANNOUNCED

The Quality Sample Shoes, 627 Madison Ave., Covington, announces the following awards at the store last Thursday night:

Free turkey to Mrs. Raymond Eubanks, Route 4, Erlanger Station; door prizes, Mrs. J. Noel, 3708 Tibbatts Ave., Latonia.

The final awards will be announced in the next issue of The Recorder.

ADVISORY COUNCIL MEETING HELD NOV. 10

The County Homemakers' Advisory Council met in the Town Hall at Florence, Tuesday, November 10th. There were representatives from most every Homemaker's club in the county.

Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, County Home Demonstration Agent and Miss Lula Logan, Asst. State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents, from the extension department of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, met with the group.

Many vital problems were discussed and certain goals were set up for a very definite "war work" program.

Plans are being made to sponsor an honor roll of Boone County service men, to be placed at court house in Burlington, also to investigate the possibility of establishing an active U. S. O. center at Florence.

The meeting inspired the members with greater feeling and attitude in attacking the problems in their own local clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lassing, Mr. and Mrs. John Conner, of Hebron, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hicks, of Union, Mrs. Harry Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gaines were Sunday night dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gaines.

H. R. Forkner spent the weekend in Winchester, where he was called on account of the death of his grandmother.

REGISTRATION SCHEDULE SET

FOR YOUTHS EIGHTEEN YEARS OLD—NEW MANPOWER SET-UP WILL BE COMPLETED SOON ACCORDING TO PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt ordered registration for selective service for all young men who have reached the age of 18 since July 1, as follows: Those born July 1 to August 31, 1924, inclusive, to register the week beginning December 11; those born September 1 to October 31, 1924, to register December 18-24; those born November 1 to December 31, 1924, to register December 26-31. Young men reaching 18 after January 1 will register on their birthdays. Selective service headquarters ordered distribution of questionnaires to 18 and 19-year-old registrants, who will be inducted as their order numbers are reached.

"To make sure that no one who is really irreplaceable shall be separated from an essential position," the President ordered the Secretaries of War and Navy to "see to it that present Government employees, who have been deferred, are not enlisted or commissioned . . . unless they can produce the approval of the head of their agency." Mr. Roosevelt said that after his order November 17 for cancellation of all deferments already made on the basis of Federal service, there was a rush of Government employees to get into uniform. He said his new order should apply not only to the regular civilian employees of the Government, "but also to employees in army arsenals and in navy yards and navy shore establishments owned or operated by the United States."

The new manpower set-up to be completed soon, the President said, would provide for deferment and prohibition on enlistment of men needed more urgently for war production [illegible] army. More uniformity could be obtained from local draft boards, he said, by plant managers certifying to the boards cases of men who are irreplaceable and by more consultation between draft boards and war production employers.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST
Sam Hamilton, Minister
Tommy Stevens, Supt.

The Church has been invited to worship with the Rising Sun Church of Christ next Lord's Day. There will be no services at Belleview. All are urged to take their baskets and enjoy the day with our brethren at Rising Sun. Your minister will speak at the morning service. The highlight of the day's activities will be an address by Edwin Erritt, editor of the Christian Standard. Plan to come and renew the fellowship with the Rising Sun Church.

Mrs. Garnett Tolin was ill several days last week, due to a severe cold.

URGES GREATER CARE OF WEED

CHARLES E. CAMPBELL, FEDERAL TOBACCO GRADER GIVES POINTERS IN STRIPPING TOBACCO CROPS.

Charles E. Campbell, Federal Tobacco Grader, in addressing farmers at two grading demonstrations in the County last Tuesday, urged farmers to use greater care in stripping their tobacco crops. Greater care will enable farmers to secure the full market value of their crops.

All burley tobacco is manufactured into four main kinds, namely.

(1) Flyings or spuds—which are the lower thin leaves that are too ragged to be stemmed and are ground up to make cigarette sack tobacco.

(2) Trash and lugs, which are stemmed by machine and cut to make ready-made cigarettes.

(3) Bright leaf, that is used to make canned pipe tobacco.

(4) Red leaf and tips that are used to make plug and scrap chewing tobacco.

Tobacco grades that are stripped according to uses have more advantage of price on the market.

Mr. Campbell stated that ready-made cigarette consumption is now breaking all previous records and is exceeding production. The price prospects are excellent and the Boone County crop is of better than average quality.

THE AMERICAN PRESS
"For Over Fifty Years"

A LIVING SYMBOL

Families or parents who have men in military service have something to be thankful for that they probably do not fully appreciate as yet. Our military forces enjoy the most technically perfect, the most humane medical care ever conceived. The best men from the ranks of medicine are in uniform.

An incident that happened recently aboard a battleship "somewhere in the Pacific" may not prove unsual. An enlisted man was abruptly stricken with acute appendicitis. After a successful emergency operation in the ship's surgery, he found himself attended by his family doctor from his home town. The feeling of confidence and reassurance that flowed into the heart of the patient can well be imagined! Such incidents by repetition will become one of the biggest morale boosters both on the home front and the military front.

The doctor is a vital connecting link between the service men and the country for which they fight. And he takes far more into the Army with him than the skills of his profession. He takes with him the cream of American character instilled in him through years of study in our cultural and medical institutions. He is the best that our way of life can produce. He is a living symbol to the men at the front of the principles of integrity and decency that we are fighting to save.

—o—

WHY SUCH A POLICY?

Regulation of business has grown so voluminous that it may soon be necessary to regulate the regulators. It is becoming a threat to expanding production in the United States. Countless examples could be cited.

One of the latest is the proposal of the Security and Exchange Commission for proxy rules changes in corporation management, publication of salaries in addition to the three highest as at present, publication of pensions and a new method of preparing annual reports which it is feared would principally promote controversy and disagreement rather than the interest of the stockholders.

If some corporations are making unsatisfactory reports, the Commission can correct such cases without disrupting the long established and satisfactory business practices of the great majority of corporations, at a time when all public and private agencies should be straining themselves to smooth out production problems, rather than complicate them.

The seriousness of the situation at a critical time like this, cannot be over-emphasized. Executives already swamped with their endeavors to meet war production demands should not be needlessly compelled to divert their energies to meet new red tape regulations, largely to satisfy the appetite of growing bureaucracy for a constantly increasing hold on the operation of private business.

INITIATIVE, ENERGY, MATERIALS

Henry J. Kaiser, probably the world's greatest shipbuilder, has this to say about the place of private industry in the future: "It has to be pounded into Americans that now is the time to make industry great . . . we have the whole world to produce for and there is no limit to it if people only realize it." He pointed out that we have three "expendibles": initiative, energy and materials. American industry has plenty of all three. And only industry can make the fullest use of them. Kaiser warned that: "Leadership in industrial planning for after the war must come from within industry itself. It cannot come from government, although the government must be recognized in such planning. The government must cooperate in the planning, check and approve it."

Nearly two billion people will be destitute when the war is over. In all likelihood, this country will remain with its industrial plant intact. It is a plant of proven ability. During the last century, its energies have been devoted almost wholly to giving to the American citizen necessities and luxuries that were unheard of in the rest of the world. It gave these things to the people because the people themselves maintained a form of government which protected and encouraged the individual. Resources such as timber, metal, coal, oil and electric power were discovered and developed by hard pioneers, engineers and business [illegible] all individuals—all striving to furnish something that society needed in return for a reasonable profit. It was a fair deal. Everybody benefited. We got our automobiles, our modern homes with magic light, heat and power. The masses of America got things that the feudal lords of Europe could never get.

What our privately-operated industry has done for America it can help do for the world, if we give it a chance. To give it that chance we must guarantee its existence as free enterprise under equitable public regulation.

CARS ARE ESSENTIAL

A significant change has taken place in our approach to the tire problem, since Mr. Jeffers became "rubber czar." Nobody is trying to kid us any more into believing that all but a comparatively few of the nation's 27 million automobiles are a luxury. They are a grim necessity and the war effort will be impaired in direct proportion to the number of cars taken out of service. This new approach is a distinct help to public morale. It is an affirmative instead of a negative program.

The United States News reflects this new common sense attitude in a report to car owners: "Automobile owners now have the government's assurance that they will be permitted to buy tires for essential operation of their cars. Whether the tires they buy will be new, used or recapped depends upon the amount of driving required by the car owners in their businesses and necessary household pursuits. No tires can be obtained for pleasure driving, and all motorists who get new tires must follow certain rules laid down by the government."

We still have a long way to go before the rubber problem is solved. But we are on our way and confusion in the public mind is abating.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The fall elections are over, and some people are pleased while others are disappointed. Leaving out of consideration the political angle, there are certain economic implications which cannot be ignored, and I am interested only in the economic implications, present and future.

In the first place, thousands of farmers were not pleased with the price ceilings placed on their products. They felt they should receive more for their goods, and so they voted out of office men who did not see "eye to eye" with them. Immediately after the elections, the Office of Price Administration raised the ceiling on potatoes and turkeys, and there seems to be the impression that there will be a general lifting of farm price ceilings. This is good news to the farmers, but not so pleasant for the city consumer.

For some time the Secretary has been toying with tax experiments such as a spending tax and an income supertax. These experiments in the tax field probably died with elections, and in their place we may expect a federal retail sales tax which has been favored by many congressmen who were re-elected. In fact, right after the elections a powerful Southern senator stated he expected to see a sales tax law passed during 1943. Congress will probably be slow to tax more heavily, but the Government needs money, and a sales tax looks like the solution to that problem.

It would not be a surprise if Congress permitted a longer work week than the present 40-hour one without extra overtime. Many people have been insisting on a 48-hour week, and although labor unions have fought this, we may expect the new conservative congressmen to push through the new work week schedule.

Thus we see political changes cause economic changes. It would not be a big surprise to see a strong farmer-business men's coalition in this next Congress; and, if so, we may expect a conservative trend.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 29

THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 18:15-17; Acts 1:8; 2:42; 6:1-4; 11:27-30; 13:1-3; I John 1:3.
GOLDEN TEXT—As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you.—John 20:21.

The church is the greatest institution in all the world, with the most widespread membership and influence. That is true from a purely secular or worldly standpoint. Then when we realize that here is more than a human organization, for it is in fact a divine organism; that it is the means through which God is now manifesting this power toward men, we see the supreme importance of understanding the church and our relationship to it.

This week we stress the mission of the church. We note seven things.

I. Holiness of Life (Matt. 18:15-17).

In a time when general standards of decency and honesty are low, and no one wants to be his brother's keeper, the church needs to be reminded that part of its mission is to maintain holiness in life and the relationship of one to another.

Notice that man's attitude toward his fellowman is first a matter for personal attention, then it becomes of real interest to the church, and if no response is found there, the offending individual is excluded and put in the hands of God. Be sure to observe that all this is done to "gain" or win him back, not for revenge or in bitterness.

II. Witness in Divine Power (Acts 1:8).

The witness bears testimony to that which he has experienced, and in the case of Christian experience he is assured of divine power in carrying out his sacred task.

The world would have laughed (and possibly did) at the idea of a small group of humble believers making the gospel effective simply by telling others about the Saviour—but it worked, because God's power was in it.

III. Unity in Faith and Practice (Acts 2:42).

The early church had not yet been split up by the philosophies of men and the vagaries of doctrine, which have since divided God's people. It was His purpose that His people should be one in Him, something we should recall before we divide them just to promote some theory of interpretation.

Unity is not only a matter of belief, it must reach into the practice of daily life. They were steadfast not only in doctrine, but in communion and prayer. A bit more unity there might bring us closer together in belief.

IV. Service, Spiritual and Social (Acts 6:1-4).

The church rightly put the emphasis on the spiritual. The leaders who had gifts for ministry of the Word did not permit themselves to be diverted into social service. Too many in the church have failed at that point. Even the good may be the mortal enemy of the best.

At the same time the early church did not neglect social needs. Men were appointed to care for them. In all too many instances the modern church has failed to minister to the social needs even of its own people and has weakly (and one fears gladly) turned them over to social agencies. What a pity!

V. Love—in Deed as Well as in Word (Acts 11:27-30).

Talking about the need of others, wishing them God's blessing, saying a desultory prayer asking God to bless and help them, is not sufficient, in fact it is not Christian at all (see James 2:14-17).

Love acts. It gives. It serves. It proves faith by works. It translates the gospel into a language an unbelieving world can understand.

VI. Obedience to the Holy Spirit (Acts 13:1-3).

God has certain plans for the work of the church in the world, and be sure that they are no small or indifferent plans. His mighty agent in bringing His will to pass in the world is the third person of the Trinity, the Holy Spirit. If the church will respond to His guidance and be subject to His control, the work of God may go on unhindered. But just there, Christian friends, the church has most ingloriously failed.

The early church was directed of the Holy Spirit to set apart Paul and Barnabas for the work of missionaries and evangelists. Knowing as we do the marvelous results of their ministry, we shudder at the thought of what might have happened if the church had disobeyed the Holy Spirit that day!

VII. Fellowship (I John 1:3).

Here is the great secret of spiritual life and growth—Christian fellowship. And notice with care the place for it is in the church. If we do not come to the church we deprive ourselves and others of the opportunity for fellowship. The matter of church attendance (and twice on Sunday is not too much) needs to be put on our consciences lest we by our absence bear an anti-church testimony before our neighbors. But even more important is our own need of fellowship with God's people.

SAVE THE LEAVES

Scarcity of commercial fertilizers makes the saving of leaves and other soil-building materials extra important this year, says a note from the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Leaves compactly piled in a corner of the garden can be used to advantage in the garden next year. They will supply plant food and help to improve the mechanical condition of the soil.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Altho when you cram, the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished, muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

INCOME FROM SOW EQUALS HOUSE RENT

In reporting a good year in Harlan county, Farm Agent Gray H. Williams notes that a sow for which Mrs. Fred Moore of Red Bud paid $2.75 last spring, returned as much income as she received from a house which cost $900. Pigs farrowed by the sow sold for $120, which was just the same as she received in rent from the house.

by making my wartime trips in MID-WEEK"

A little change in your travel habits makes a big difference in wartime transportation. By taking your trips on mid-week days — Tuesdays, Wednesdays, or Thursdays — you avoid week-end crowds. And you save a seat for a fighting man or a war worker—week-ends are often the only time he can travel at all. You'll find it wise, also, to skip holiday trips.

Under present conditions you may be inconvenienced on occasion but you can make things easier and simpler if you'll get tickets and information in advance — be prompt at terminals and rest stops to save precious minutes now that wartime speed is reduced —and take along less baggage than usual. If everybody helps there'll be no "bottlenecking!"

A Week of The War

Washington—President Roosevelt ordered the lend-lease administration to make available as soon as possible, food, clothing and weapons of war to the armed forces and the citizens of the areas in North Africa, occupied by U. S. troops. "No one will go hungry or without other means of livelihood in any territory occupied by the United Nations," the President said, "if it is humanly within our power to make necessary supplies available to them. Weapons also will be supplied to the people of these territories to hasten the defeat of our common enemies."

The late November 13 allied forces had extended the Algerian zone of occupation as far east as Bone, just 50 miles from Tunisia. When French destroyers at Casablanca put up strong resistance against American naval units protecting U. S. troop landings there, the U. S. surface forces and dive bombers destroyed an entire flotilla of French destroyers and light craft and left the 35,000-ton French battleship, Hean Bart, a burning hulk. All hostilities in French North Africa ceased November 11, 77 hours after the U. S. offensive began. In many places the local population and U. S. troops joined in Armistice Day ceremonies. The War Department said American casualties were light.

The President described the African campaign as a similar second front launched in lieu of a big-scale offensive against the Axis forces across the English Channel. He said that during Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Washington in June, it was decided a major offensive across the Channel could not have been started until next year at the earliest. The African offensive was decided upon by the end of June, by late July the number of men necessary and points of attack had been determined, and the approximate date was set by the end of August.

War Secretary Stimson said that despite the fact that the Germans must have been aware some sort of large operation was in immediate prospect in North Africa, Axis efforts to intercept it with numerous submarines were futile. All U. S. forces moved to their points of attack, only one transport was torpedoed, and troops from this ship proceeded in their landing craft more than 100 miles to their destination. Under Secretary of War Patterson reported 700,000 different items of equipment and supplies were required for the North African operation. Navy Secretary Knox said it took five to seven times as many ships to carry men and goods around Africa to the Middle East as it would to carry them straight through Gibraltar and into the Mediterranean.

Other War Fronts

In a 10-hour offensive on Japshore position on Guadalcanal November 12, air and surface forces of the navy destroyed at least 30 and probably more out of 75 landing boats found at Tassafaronga, shot down 30 out of 31 Jap planes attempting to attack U. S. ships, silenced shore batteries and started large fires. The U. S. heavy cruiser, San Francisco, was damaged slightly and 30 members of the crew were killed when a disabled Jap plane crashed into it. The U. S. destroyer, Buchanan, was damaged and five of her crew killed by a 5-inch shell from an enemy shore battery. A navy communique in the afternoon of September 14 said the naval engagements in the Solomon's area were still in progress.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported November 14 that U. S. bombers scored hits on two more Jap cruisers and damaged an enemy transport at their Buin-Faisi base. In New Guinea, Australian troops wiped out the remainder of a Japanese force in the Oivi-Gorari sector and drew within 45 miles of the enemy base at Buna. U. S. submarines reported the sinking of seven more transport and auxiliary ships and the probable sinking of a destroyer in far Eastern waters. The sinking of five more Allied merchantment in the Atlantic during September and October were announced.

Selective Service

The President signed legislation lowering the draft age to 18 years. At the same time, he announced a committee of educators, working with the War and Navy Departments, would make a study of steps "to enable the young men whose education has been interrupted to resume their schooling and afford equal opportunity for the training and education of other young men of ability after their service to the armed forces has come to an end." He also said that in the near future a plan will be announced providing utilization during the war of facilities of certain colleges and universities to train a limited number of men of the armed forces for highly specialized duties.

Navy

Admiral William D. Leathy, Chief of Staff to President Roosevelt, said aircraft carriers, large and small, escort vessels, landing boats, and other kinds of naval units, are about to be built "with a timing almost equal to the pre-war mass production of motor cars." He said the U. S. is building submarines in a little more than one year, twice as fast as before the war —aircraft carriers are being built in 17 months—battleships, that used to require five years, now take three—destroyers require 6 months one-third of the former time.

Farm Production and Prices

Economic stabilization Director Byrnes said the ceiling on farm wages has been lifted until Agriculture Secretary Wickard can determine—(1) the effect of farm wages on farm production in the more critical farm labor shortage areas, and (2) where increases in farm wages may threaten to cause an increase in the price ceilings on farm products. The first agricultural marketing administration contract for dehydrated pork for shipment overseas—calling for approximately 110,000 pounds, to be processed and delivered within the next few weeks—was awarded to the Midwestern Meat Packer. The Agriculture Department said the use of hybrid seed added 300,000-000 bushels to the 1942 corn crop. Marketing quotas will apply to the 1943-44 cotton marketing season if approved by a more than two-thirds vote of cotton growers in the referendum on December 12, Secretary Wickard stated.

Rationing

The Office of Defense Transportation postponed its mileage rationing program for commercial vehicles from November 15 to December 1, after the Office of Price Administration postponed its nationwide gasoline rationing program for passenger cars from November 22 to December 1. The OPA also postponed its fuel oil rationing starting date from November 1 to 23. The OPA said all oil-burning equipment in structures other than private homes will be regarded by OPA as convertible to other fuels and, therefore, ineligible for fuel rations, unless satisfactory proof is furnished to the contrary. The ruling will be enforced after the second rationing period.

Production and Labor Supply

OES Director Byrnes asked War Production Chairman Nelson to undertake a "vigorous program" to standardize goods produced for civilian consumption and to eliminate all frills and wasteful practices. Mr. Byrnes also asked the Office of civilian Supply to determine the minimum civilian needs, and said it will be the OES policy to guarantee the American people at least their essentials.

Labor Secretary Perkins, at the request of the War and Navy Departments and Maritime Commission, lowered the minimum age for women employed in war industries from 18 years to 16 years. The war agencies stated that continued inclusion in war contracts of the 18-year provision would "impair seriously the conduct of government business by retarding essential production . . ." In ordering the change, Secretary Perkins ruled that a contractor shall "keep on file a certificate of age showing that every girl employed by him is at least 16 . . . no girl under 18 shall be employed for more than eight hours in any one day, or between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., or in any way contrary to state laws governing hours of work . . ." Any woman under 18 must be granted a specific luncheon period of at least 30 minutes.

DEAR TOMMY

They say you are going to fly high
To see what the enemy looks like from the sky;
So on old Hitler's head drop a bomb—on the Japs let bullets rain,
And hurry back home on a fast plane.

Hitler's a pain and the Japs worse than him,
They are the cause of this trouble we're in;
They're so mean and selfish, they won't let us be
Well and happy in our land of the free.

The credit we give you boys, you deserve most,
Your lives you are risking to save this freedom we boast;
At Uncle Sam's calling you gave up your home,
To go over seas and in strange lands roam.

We all love you so, as you know well,
Pop, he talks little, but then you can tell
His feelings as he watches the mail every day
He misses you lots since you went away.

And Mom, she is worried, but so proud of you
In the window at home is a flag with a star of blue,
And a girl back in Frankfort
Her letters are true of praise and and love she has only for you.

So Tommy, where ever you go, be it near or far away,
Drop us a line if only to say, that "all is O. K. and you are well
Is the most important news you can tell.

Just keep smiling, this war will soon end,
And you all will be back with family and friends;
We'll all be waiting with shouts of glee,
For the ship that will bring you back over the sea.

You boys can't loose, we're all pulling for you,
For the cause for which you are fighting is just, upright, true,
And over the land of our, there'll always be Flying the Red, White and Blue for all nations to see:

A hundred verses Tommy, couldn't express
The wish I am sending you for luck and success;
May God watch over you and keep you well,
Until you're back home with us again, won't that be swell?

BOYLE, GARRARD 4-H MEMBERS TOP STATE CATTLE SHOW, SALE

A Boyle county 4-H club boy furnished the grand champion calf and the Garrard county 4-H club again had the grand champion carload of calves, at the annual state fat cattle show and sale at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville.

Carl Hicks of the Junction City 4-H club placed over all other exhibitors on his 930-pound Angus calf, which sold for $57.50 a hundred pounds at the same after the show. From the sale of the calf he received $560 net, and from cash prizes more than $125. In addition he is to get a free trip to Chicago.

For the 17th time in 21 shows Garrard county 4-H'ers had the grand champion carload of 15 calves. They sold for $17.50 a hundred.

Roberta Flynn of Pulaski county had the champion Utopia club calf. It brought $18 a hundred. The champion Hereford calf in the 4-H division was owned by John Miller of Shelby county, and the champion Shorthorn by Kathleen Dohoney of Adair county. Joe Tom Carden of Breckinridge county had the best 4-H calf in counties showing less than carloads.

In the ring for calves from cows owned by 4-H club boys and girls, Harold Dunn of Garrard county placed first; Catherine Rigsby of Garrard county, second and fourth; Sam Pope of Marion county, third, and John Thomas Cooper, Wayne county, fifth and sixth.

Members of 4-H clubs in 34 counties showed approximately 800 head of calves.

COLLEGE ANNOUNCES 4-H GIRLS WINNING HIGH STATE AWARDS

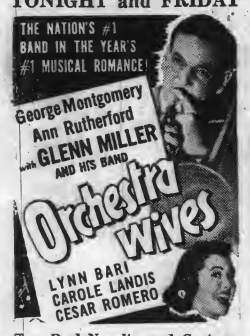
State winners in the national 4-H club home economics achievement contests were announced from the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, making them eligible to compete in the National Club Congress in Chicago. Reports of work accomplished were submitted by each contestant.

Evelyn Fischer, Oldham county, winner in canning, has canned 4,-421 quarts of fruits and vegetables.

Winner in foods preparation is Ann Garrigan, Fulton county, who has prepared several hundred meals during her five years in club work. She is also interested in food production and has sold $566 worth of poultry, beef and swine.

Lucy Bird Oliver, Barren county, winner in record contest, is making her 4-H club experience pay her way through the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. She has two baby beeves which she expects to bring $275, and an acre of tobacco which may bring $600. Miss Byrd has also been active in canning, clothing and room improvement projects.

Marjorie Moss, clothing champion from Anderson county, won the state style review for the tailored outfit which she made. With $33 received from the sale of a calf, she bought material for her coat and dress, hat, shoes, hose and other accessories.



Elizabeth Hickman, Warren county, winner in the achievement contest, has completed 17 different projects, including the preparation of 996 meals and the canning of 1,675 quarts of fruits and vegetables. She also is a freshman at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Verna Keightley, Oldham county, won her leadership record. She has many championships to her credit. In 1941, she was chosen as the national dairy queen. She has also won an electric sewing machine and $90 in canning, clothing and room improvement contests.

In New York State, Navy engineers have authorized erection of 2,500,000 square feet of roof deck built of poured gypsum in order to save metal and lumber, scarce strategic materials. Tongued and grooved flooring board gypsum has also been developed, saving wood.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The Bullittsville Homemakers held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Willis on Thursday the 19th.

The morning session was opened by singing the Homemaker song and reading the club collect. After the business session Mrs. William Hill gave a splendid report of the Advisory Council meeting which was held earlier in the month at Florence. She reported that a USO unit to be located in the intersection of highways 25 and 42 was discussed at the meeting and that a county service flag to be placed in the county courtyard was also discussed. She said that committees had been appointed for each of the projects. She reported that Mrs. Jake Cleek announced that anyone from Boone County wanting to give blood for the blood bank should contact her and she would make appointments for them.

Mrs. Moore, Home Demonstration Agent gave some recipes for baking minute mixes, which will be very helpful to homemakers in these busy times. She announced the lesson for the December meeting as "Interesting and Delightful Menus from Canned and Stored Foods."

In the afternoon session the citizenship chairman, Mrs. Jonas Stevens gave a talk on the territory in Northern Africa which is interesting to all at this time as our boys are fighting there. The project lesson for the month, "Accessories in the Home" was given by the project leader, Mrs. Albert Willis. Those present enjoyed rearranging the furnishings and the accessories in the room.

Mrs. Willis, assisted by Mrs. Moore taught the ladies to make mats and other interesting articles with corn shucks.

Mrs. Lee Marshall invited the club to hold their December meeting at her home. The program for the meeting will include a Christmas party with the exchanging of gifts.

Those who attended the meeting were Mesdames Huey Aylor, William Anderson, Elsbe Boone, William Hill, A. L. Pfalzgraf, William Jones, M. M. Lucas, Lee Marshall, Jonas Stevens, Russell Kettle, Maggie Easton, Robert Grane, Bruce Campbell and the hostess.

Income Tax . . .

A single person having a gross income of $500.00 and a married person having a gross income of $1200.00 must file income tax returns for 1942, after the close of the year. The tax rate is considerably increased over 1941 and it might be well for everyone to begin saving money with which to pay this tax, otherwise you will have a heavy tax liability with no available funds with which to pay before March 15th. Prepare now to meet your income tax liability. Many people who never filed a return before will have to file for 1942.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING
(No. 3 of a Series)

Eliminate Colored Bulbs

Amber-orange and flametint bulbs in round or flame shape give a mellow, amber lighting effect, but there is a considerable loss in light to obtain it. Replace them with inside-frosted lamps of the same wattage and you'll get a lot more light from the same amount of current. It's a good idea, too, to see that bulbs are equipped with shades to prevent glare and to direct light where it is needed. We'll gladly help you in any way we can to make the most of your lighting.

For Home Study . .
. . . an I. E. S. Better Sight Study Lamp equipped with a 100-watt bulb provides abundant, soft, glareless light that helps youngsters finish their lessons quicker and easier. Get one for your child today. Better light means better grades.

This Week On The Home Front

Well, Mom, you'd better be even more careful of your kitchen gadgets—because there aren't agoing to be any more where those came from.

The varied and colorful array of metal kitchen novelties, cooking utensils and housewares that in recent years have characterized the American home has been reduced to a few bare essentials by War Production Board action.

In the last four actions affecting equipment used in the household, commercial kitchen and Army commissary alike, the WPB ordered elimination of practically all types of metal utensils and other equipment not already curtailed and imposed restrictions on the manufacture and design of those which are still permitted.

A few things escaped—if they contained less than 5 per cent by weight of metal—but the use of metal is completely prohibited by order in such things as rinsing pans, pot scourers, and sink accessories, dust pans, silent butlers, crub sets, wash boards, clothes wringers, etc. This Monday was the deadline.

• • •

Coffee rationing will curtail consumption of the beverage in restaurants, hotels and institutions by about the same percentage from the normal as it will be curtailed for individual users.

• • •

Regulations covering posting of ceiling prices on cost-of-living commodities by mail order houses have been broadened by the OPA to include all sales made by mail, whether by a mail order house or by an ordinary retailer.

• • •

Farmers and processor selling live and dressed turkeys at retail to consumers other than commercial, governmental or institutional must not charge more than the highest price prevailing in the city, town or hamlet nearest to the seller's farm or plant, the OPA has ruled.

• • •

Construction of a sound, comfortable family dwelling is still possible under the restrictions imposed by the new war housing standards recently announced by the WPB, an NHA official says.

• • •

Plans for facilitating the collection and shipment of millions of pounds of waste kitchen fats in thinly-settled areas remote from rendering plants have been announced by the WPB's salvage section. Local salvage committees will have the information on two alternative plans.

• • •

Retail price reductions in knitted underwear of from 3 to 20 cents per garment are expected to result from an OPA order that savings in material costs must be passed on.

• • •

Advice to Christmas shoppers from the ODT: Carry your packages home with you but carry them on buses and street cars during off-peak hours when there is more room.

• • •

Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, has called for a full day's production on Thanksgiving Day, saying that "we can best show our gratitude by demonstrating that we deserve the mercies that have been shown us."

• • •

Ceiling prices for additional types of women's nylon hosiery have been set by the OPA. The new prices are for stocking that appear under the name of "nylon" but are neither sheer hosiery nor made of single filament nylon yarn. These are made of "combination," "spun," or "blended" nylon yarns. Spun nylon is yarn made from short lengths of nylon waste fiber. The maximum price for plain stockings of this material is $1.85 for first quality, $1.15 for irregulars and 79c for seconds. For combination and blended nylon hosiery, the prices are $1.50, $1 and 75c.

• • •

Tips to help housewives make their mechanical equipment and appliances outlast the war will be offered in a series of pamphlets prepared by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and issued jointly with the OPA. The first, "How to Make Your Refrigerator Last Longer" is ready. Others will deal with stoves, washing machines, irons, and household rubber articles. Write to the OPA or the Bureau of Home Economics in Washington.

• • •

The living cost of families of city workers rose 1 per cent between September 15 and October 15. Most of the rise was due to the increased cost of food that was felt before the OPA extended price control over an additional 30 per cent of the family food items. Food costs in that period rose 6.6 per cent while the cost of other goods and services went up only 0.2 per cent.

• • •

Housewives are asked to save the grease from their Thanksgiving Turkey to help make glycerine and explosives.

• • •

A stocking may be past the stage where it's a credit to a lady's leg, but if it's silk or nylon it's valuable stuff for the Army or Navy. That discarded sheer silk evening stocking may turn up in an American gun, holding the powder charge that sets off a shell fired at the Japs or the Germans. Please wash them before turning them over to the store, which must hold them until 100 pounds have been collected.

• • •

Permission to install used gasoline dispensing pumps and storage tanks on farms of 10 acres or more has been granted by the WPB. Equipment must be second-hand fabricated before January 1 of this year, and must be installed exclusively for dispensing petroleum products to machinery and vehicles used in farm operations on the individual farm.

Vigorous mileage rationing enforcement to cover every county in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana and Michigan will be launched at the moment nationwide rationing goes into effect at 12:01 a. m. December 1. Three hundred investigators will start spot checks. In addition, many volunteers have been recruited to help in the check.

• • •

The OPA is not planning to ration used automobiles, it says. A study has indicated that most of the cars being sold now are going to persons who would be eligible to buy them under a rationing program.

• • •

A general permit allowing local carriers to make three deliveries of flowers to a funeral home and two deliveries to a funeral at a private home on the same calendar day has been issued by the OPA. It also allows a local carrier to make one additional call at one point on the same day for the purpose of removing wedding decorations.

• • •

A concerted drive to put into effect nationally as a war-time measure a retailer's economy-for-victory program has been announced by the OPA and the Department of Commerce. The plan, which involves elimination of peacetime customer special services, is designed to free manpower for essential war production.

BELLEVIEW W. M. S. MEETING

The Woman's Missionary Society of Belleview Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Lou Maurer, Wednesday, Nov. 4th for its regular monthly meeting. Fifteen members and two Y. W. A. members were present. We were glad to have Mrs. Jenny Rogers, an honorary member of the society present. She is nearing her 90th birthday.

Plans were completed for sending Christmas boxes to our boys from this community, who are in the Armed Forces. There are 11 of them. The members of the society have made rag dolls and stuffed animals to be sent to a colored mission in Louisville for Christmas.

In the afternoon an instructive program, based on the work of the Co-Operative Program was given.

Mrs. Guth had the Bible Study, taken from Nehemiah 2:1-5, 11-20. She also gave a good report from the Regional meeting.

Mrs. Zora Scott gave the report on the Quarterly meeting at Covington, telling some of the experiences of Miss Flora Dobson, a returned Missionary from China, who as a Japanese prisoner for sometime before returning to this country.

Our Orphans' Home Committee, with Mrs. Bess Ryle as Chairman, reported 260 quarts of fruit and vegetable packed, ready to send to the home in Louisville.

The Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions will be observed December 1 and 2, at Mrs. Kathryn Clores, and Mrs. Mae Sandfords' with the regular meeting at Mrs. Christena Kirtley's on December 3.

Missouri Rice, Reporter.

Printing of the country's new all-purpose ration books will take 87,000 pounds of ink, 7,500 pounds of paste, and a million pounds of boxing.

ADAPTED CLOVERS BEST

In a variety and strain test at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, adapted clovers from Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia produced 3,800 to 4,800 pounds of hay to the acre from two cuttings. Oregon clovers produced 2,307 pounds, and a Minnesota clover 972 pounds.

W. M. S. HOLDS MEETING

The Woman's Missionary Society of Union Baptist Church met at the Church on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 11 for its regular monthly meeting.

The meeting opened at 2:15 E. W. T. with the singing of the W. M. U. hymn "The Light of the World Is Jesus" and the repeating of our Watchwords in union. Mrs. Kirtley McWethy presided. Mrs. Flora Mullins offered opening prayer, which was followed by the secretary's report and roll call. Sixteen members and three visitors were present. Mrs. Marie Gschwind gave good reports for both the treasurer and Young Peoples organizations. Mrs. J. T. Bristow, Personal Service chairman gave a report on work done the past month and plans were approved for next month.

Our secretary, Mrs. Winston Mason gave a reading on "The What, the Who, the Where, the When and the How of Community Missions." This topic was given a lengthy discussion since it will be an important part of our work for the coming year.

Mrs. Emerson Smith reported that she has been successful in obtaining the noted speaker, Miss Sohnin, of Cincinnati to meet with us in our Week of Prayer observance on Wednesday, Dec. 2. Miss Cohnin is a returned Missionary from the Orient and it is hoped that everyone who is interested in her cause, will be present when she speaks to us at 2 o'clock E. W. T. on Dec. 2. Won't you come and bring some one with you? This meeting will begin at 11 o'clock, with a brief business meeting, followed immediately by lunch in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Head, in order that Miss Sohnin may have the afternoon in which to deliver her message.

The program material for this month was taken from Royal Service and The Commission, with the following members taking part: Devotional, Neh. 2:15, 11:20, The Wall of Jerusalem by Mrs. Austin Gschwind, Mrs. Pearl Blankenbeker, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy, Miss Lucy Newman, Mrs. Sallie Huey and Mrs. Hal Presser each gave discussions upon the topic for the month "Baptist Cooperation."

Hymns sung during this program were "Work for the Night is Coming," "To the Work," and a beautiful solo by Mrs. McWethy. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Myrtle Marshall and Mrs. Hicks, with dismissal prayer by Mrs. Flora Mullins.

Mrs. W. S. Friend, Reporter.

TRUE BLUE 4-H CLUB

The True Blue 4-H Club of Belleview called its meeting to order Monday, Nov. 16. We didn't have the old secretary book so we used Mrs. Moore's book. All record books have been completed for last year's work and have been handed in, and we are hoping to get the trophy this year. Mrs. Moore gave a talk on "4-H Achievement Certificates." Mrs. Moore, Mr. Frazier and Mr. Forkner were present for the meeting. Mr. Forkner gave a talk before distributing the achievement certificates among members. Mrs. Moore explained how to keep them clean by framing them and told us she wanted to see them at this time next year. Mr. Frazier discussed 4-H club work.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Now that Lynn Bari is playing her second top role within three months in 20th Century-Fox's "Orchestra Wives," she can look back with some dispassion on the days when she was either the victim of heroine in "whodunits."

"It's a real thrill," she remarked on the set of "Orchestra Wives" "to pick up a script and find myself going all the way through to the last page, instead of find that I've been stabbed and carried off on page 83."

But Lynn is the first to admit that these minor roles gave her the valuable acting experience that has enabled her to reach stardom. "Anyway," she adds, "I had a lot of fun doing those thrillers.

Glenn Miller and his Band share stellar honors with George Montgomery and Ann Rutherford in this picture.

SATURDAY

John Carroll comes to the screen as a debonair adventurer in the Canadian wilds in "Pierre of the Plains," thrilling story of a lovable renegade at constant odds with the "mounties."

Opposite him is Ruth Hussey, playing her first outdoor adventure role. Based on the character created by Edgar Selwyn in the stage play of some years ago, which proved one of the most successful in years, the picture retails title and the central character, but the story is entirely new and laid in the Canadian Northwest of today.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Some 35 million people have read and acclaimed Nevil Shute's great novel "The Pied Piper," which 20th Century-Fox has made into a motion picture, with Monty Wooley, Roddy McDowall and Anne Baxter featured.

Shute's story first appeared serially in Colliers Magazine. So well was it received that it was then published in novel form and immediately became a best-seller. And then Readers Digest chose it as its book-of-the-month, adding the crowning touch to the well merited popularity of the noval.

The film was directed by Irving Pichel and produced and written for the screen by Nunnally Johnson. Otto Preminger and J. Carroll Naish are featured.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY
(Double Feature)

Richard Travis, the tall blonde actor who made his feature picture bow opposite Bette Davis in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," has a new screen sweetheart.

She is Julie Bishop, a red-haired Denver girl who shares honors with Travis in Warner Bros.' "Escape From Crime."

Plus

Marguerite Chapman, beauteous brunette who makes her Columbia debut with John Howard in "Submarine Raider," at the Gayety Tuesday and Wednesday, dispenses more than one kind of magic. The actress, as a hobby is proficient at sleight-of-hand tricks.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers' Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Nell Kottmyer on Wednesday, December 2 at 10:30 a. m. They day will be spent with usual Christmas party and dinner. Each one bring a ten-cent gift.

RED CROSS CHAPTER MEETING HELD NOV. 18

The Red Cross meeting of November 18th was held at the home of Mrs. Bill Abdon. The guest of honor, Mrs. George Howard was delightfully surprised by a lovely birthday dinner, the members each bringing a covered dish which was very attractively served by our hostess, Mrs. Bill Abdon.

Our president, Mrs. Cecil Robinson called the meeting to order with a very touching prayer. We are all thinking of our boys in the service and to honor those in uniform from our community, a banner was planned and made for them. It is very nice to see their names embroidered in blue with a lovely blue star for each. The banner hangs in our sewing room at Mrs. Robinson's home. It isn't its beauty, but as I made it I said a prayer for each one and I am sure God was near and heard. The little things we do at home seem small compared to their part in the conflict.

During the day 11 bed jackets for twelve-year-olds; five 6-year-old boys' shirts; five 10-year-old gowns and three slips were worked on and completed.

We are very much in need of a sewing machine to further this work. Anyone interested in Red Cross and who wants to help by giving us a sewing machine for the duration may call Mrs. George Howard. We will appreciate the gesture and the donor may feel he or she is helping in a big way, a very worthwhile work.

The roll call was answered by Mesdames R. G. Robinson, Lucy Callan, Frank Parker and daughter Betty Jo., George Howard, Geo. Knox, F. A. Decker, G. L. Robinson and daughter, C. A. Wolfe, L. C. Fisk and our hostess Bill Abdon.

Several songs were rendered, and of course, "Happy Birthday" for our honor guest, Mrs. George Howard. A very interesting and happy day was enjoyed by all.

The next Red Cross meeting will be held December 2nd. We trust all members will be present. Roll call will be answered by our favorite tree or shrub.

Mrs. Helen Fish, Reporter.

MAY NEED TO DRESS WARMER THIS WINTER

The program to have lower temperatures in homes this fall and winter will call for warmer dressing, says the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Wear sweaters, shawls and slacks when necessary, it is advised.

Preparing for the cold months need not mean buying a lot of clothes, it is pointed out, but it may mean looking over what you have with special care to provide extra garments for each member of the family. Perhaps sleeveless sweaters for the men and boys, quilted vests, sweaters or jackets for the women and girls, an old-fashioned shawl for grandmother, and warmer underwear, flannel nightgowns, sweaters, slacks and socks for whoever needs them should be provided.

Old sweaters can be darned, worn sleeves cut off and the edges bound, and large sweaters cut down. Knitted underwear that cover the legs and midriff is a great help in keeping warm. Outing flannel sleeves for winter are warmer feeling than muslin. Persons who suffer from cold feet can wear wool or heavy cotton socks over their regular hose. To have warm feet in bed, put a hot stone, flat iron, or hot water bottle in the bed a half hour before bedtime, or wear bed socks.

NEW LAND AMERICA'S

In my humble way
I can truthfully say,
That we know so little
About Thanksgiving Day.
A long, long time ago,
Pilgrims lived in England, so
Persecuted on account of their religious belief
And were persecuted more and more,
Therefore they decided to leave.
They left England on a very gloomy day
And through the East Atlantic way,
Aiming straight to the "New Land America."
They had many hardships on the stormy sea
Until they found the New Land of Liberty.
Everything was alright then.
While there were about fifty men,
The Mayflower on her way to New York,
But the heavy winds drove her to Massachusetts,
There they landed, with no home and nothing to eat.
Their flour was gone, so was their wheat,
A winter there was rather severe cold,
Many died young, many died old.
When spring came, things began to look better,
The sun arose and changed to nice weather,
There and then they planted corn and it grew fine.
There and then the sun for America began to shine.
The many lives which seemed before like forlorn
Have now planted fields full of corn.
Autumn came, plenty food corn and hay,
There and then they have set for us a Thanksgiving Day.
Are you, my dear, thankful?

INTEREST RATE CUT ANNOUNCED

BY BOONE COUNTY BANKERS' ASSOCIATION FOLLOWING MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT OF LAST WEEK.

The Boone County Bankers Association held a dinner meeting at Doc's Place on the Dixie Highway, near Florence, Wednesday night of last week. Twenty-five officers and directors representing seven of the eight banks of the County and the Community Bank of Erlanger were present.

C. F. Blankenbeker, President of the Florence Deposit Bank was elected president; C. W. Thompson, cashier of the Dixie State Bank, vice president, and John L. Conner, cashier of the Hebron Deposit Bank, secretary-treasurer of the association for the ensuing year.

The main question for discussion was the interest rate on time and savings deposits now being paid by the banks of Boone County. It was the unanimous expression of everyone present that the banks could not continue to pay 2 percent on deposits, plus the State tax and the F. D. I. C. insurance, making the cost 2.22 percent to the banks, to say nothing of other expenses of operation. Many banks in Kentucky and other states have eliminated all interest on deposits, while others have gone to 1 percent.

Demand for loans is negligible these days and about the only avenue for investment of bank funds is in Government securties and these securties bear such a low rate of interest, manly from three-fourths to one percent to 2 percent, except on long maturities, as to make it unprofitable to banks to continue paying 2 percent interest.

The banks of Boone County have always been fair with their customers and when money rates were high they paid a high rate on time and savings deposits. Conditions are now such that the banks have a large portion of their deposits idle or invested in low rate Government bonds. It must be understood that a bank can not invest too heavily in long term bonds which bear higher rate than short term bonds, because deposits fluctuate and a bank must be in position to meet withdrawals at any time, and therefore must have most of its funds in short term investments, which bear a very low rate of interest.

Net earnings of banks are the lowest in several years and the prospects for increased earnings is not very favorable in the near future.

Most customers of banks prefer that their bank keep on a safe and sound basis and not try to do the impossible of continuing to pay out more interest than the bank receives.

Notice of the reduction of interest rate on deposits appears on another page of this issue.

RUPTURE PROVES FATAL TO HUNTER

W. L. JONES SUFFERED INJURY WHILE HUNTING IN BOONE COUNTY TUESDAY OF LAST WEEK.

Wilford Lee Jones, 702 Elm Street Ludlow, a former resident of Boone County, died Thursday at Booth Hospital, Covington, as physicians were operating to correct a rupture sustained while hunting in Boone County, Tuesday. He was 48.

Mr. Jones had been a resident of Ludlow for the past 25 years. He was a member of Big Bone Baptist Church, Golden Rule Lodge of Masons, Covington; Syrian Temple of the Shrine, Cincinnati, and Indra Consistory, Scottish Rite Masons, Covington. He was also a member of the Independent Utilities Union.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Falk Jones; his father, Waller Jones; seven brothers, Warren, Robert, Everett, Nicholas, George, Clinton and Thomas Jones, and six sisters, Mrs. Will Rogers, Mrs. Morgan Chandler, Mrs. Raymond Schields, Mrs. Joseph Aylor, Mrs. James Fields and Miss Dorothy Jones.

Funeral services were held at the Bullock & Catherman funeral home, Ludlow, at 2 p. m. Monday. Burial was in Highland cemetery.

Bullock and Catherman were in charge of arrangements.

Temperance Rally Set For December 6

There will be a county-wide Temperance Rally, Sunday, December 6, at 3:00 p. m. at Florence Methodist Church, it was announced Monday of this week.

Mr. Walter J. Hashal, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Kentucky will be the main speaker on the program. Various ministers in the county will also speak.

A committee will be set up at this meeting to lead the dry forces of the county, looking toward a local option election in the future. The churches of the county led by their pastors, are cooperating.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend. This meeting is in the interest of our boys and girls, our young men and women, our homes, and our nation.

FIRE DESTROYS MAY HOME TUES.

ESTIMATED LOSS SET AT $4,000 INCLUDING HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE—DEFECTIVE FLUE CAUSE OF BLAZE.

A defective flue was blamed for the blaze that caused the complete loss of the home and household furniture belonging to H. J. May, Burlington, late Tuesday night.

The fire started in the dining room and the family was awakened by a cat that was sleeping near the heatrola. Before help could arrive, the flames had spread and were completely out of control. Efforts of both Hebron and Florence Fire Departments were hampered by a high wind and a limited supply of water.

Contents of the house, including most of their clothing, and a large amount of canned fruit and vegetables were lost, and only a few pieces of old furniture were saved.

According to Mr. May the loss was approximately $4,000.00 which was only partially covered by insurance.

Boone County Man Suffers Injuries When Hit By Auto

James Sterling Cason, 66 years old, 17 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, suffered leg and skull fractures Wednesday of last week when he was hit by an automobile on Erlanger Road. He was removed to Booth Hospital, Covington. His condition was reported as fair, but he still remains very ill.

Mr. Cason was tax commissioner of Boone County for a number of years and has spent most of his life in and around Burlington, until he moved to Erlanger recently to make his home with his son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murry.

According to police, the car that struck Cason was driven by Wm. Elam, Burlington. The accident was reported unavoidable.

Mrs. Sadie Wadsworth

Mrs. Sadie E. Wadsworth, 25 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, died early Saturday at her home following a two years' illness. She was a member of First Christian Church, Newport. She was 64 years old.

Her husband, George B. Wadsworth; two sons, Earl Wadsworth, Erlanger and Robert Wadsworth, Covington; a daughter, Mrs. G. T. Webb, Lexington, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Nellie Buchner, Ft. Thomas and six grandchildren survive her.

Services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Monday at the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger. Burial will be in Forest Lawn cemetery, Erlanger.

The Luther League will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Hauter, at 8:00 p. m. Everyone bring a 10c gift for the gift-exchange.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR!

This coming December 7 is a most significant date in our history. It is the anniversary when war lords of Japan cast the die for international treachery and the United States was precipitated from neutrality into war.

A two-day nation-wide observance of the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor will be sponsored by the Office of War Information. Joining in the observance will be the War and Navy Departments, all other war agencies, war plants, labor, schools, colleges and numerous other organizations. The entire people of the United States will mark this day, not only throughout the nation, but wherever our fighting forces may be.

This is an anniversary with a purpose. Rather than merely challenging the people of the U. S. to "Remember Pearl Harbor," let the theme be—REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR .... WORK—FIGHT—SACRIFICE! The fact that the anniversary of Pearl Harbor falls on a Monday this year creates a two-day observance embracing Sunday and Monday.

The OWI propose that Sunday is dedicated to solemn memorial for those who died at Pearl Harbor and those who have died since, to thanksgiving for our survival during the first critical year of the war, and to rededication of all our resources to the spiritual values which are at stake in this war. Give thanks to God for the nation's survival of the unprovoked attack of ruthless enemies.

Rededicate the nation's strength, its time, its wealth and its very life to preserving a concept of life more precious than individual life itself; to work, fight, sacrifice for all that is contained in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States of America.

The best and safest way to insure a speedy victory is to continue your regular purchase of War Bonds and Stamps. Let us all here in Boone County celebrate this anniversary with extra purchase of Bonds and Stamps in order that we may hasten the day when peace will again return to our lands.

REGISTRATION DATE DEC. 15TH

LANDLORDS REQUIRED TO REGISTER WHERE INCREASES IN RENT HAVE BEEN MADE SINCE MARCH 1, 1942.

Forms for registration, by landlords, and complaints by tenants, pertaining to rental living accommodations, are available at the Cincinnati Area Rent Control Office, 126 East Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. John E. Robinson, Jr., is the Area Rent Director in charge.

The Cincinnati area of Rent Control covers all rental living accommodations, located in Butler, Clermont, Hamilton, and Warren Counties in the State of Ohio; and Boone, Campbell, and Kenton Counties in the State of Kentucky.

It is necessary to register such properties, wherever increases in rents have occurred, since March 1, 1942; or if the living accommodations were vacant on March 1, 1942, and rented since that date; or if said living accommodations were newly constructed or finished since March 1, 1942, with or without priority, etc.

If there has been no increase in rent or if there has been no material changes in the living accommadations, since March 1, 1942, landlords are not required to register, at this time. If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether you should or should not register, please contact the Cincinnati Area Rent Control Office and ask for information, as there are penalties for violation of the Rent Control Act.

The living accommodations referred to mean, single family, dwellings, apartments and rooms, hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses, dormitories, auto camps, tailer camps, residence clubs, tourist homes, tourist cabins, etc.

Stores, business or commercial properties are not to be included in this registration.

Registration of rental living accommodation properties must be filed with the Cincinnati Area Rent Control Office before midnight of December 15, 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kelly entertained Sunday at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Owen Howard and daughter, of Elsmere and Rev. Roy A. Johnson. Mrs. Lou Maurer, of Belleview was a caller in the afternoon.

FARM BUREAU EXCEEDS GOAL

IN ORGANIZATION WORK, ACCORDING TO LLOYD SIEKMAN, CHAIRMAN OF COUNTY ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE.

Farm Bureau organization committeemen report good success in their drive to secure 25 members by December 12th. The goal will be exceeded by a substantial margin, according to Lloyd Siekman, Chairman of the County Organization Committee.

The farmer today faces some of the most serious farm problems. The American Farm Bureau Federation and the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation are the two most powerful farm organizations in the country today. A farmer in joining the Boone County Farm Bureau joins both the Kentucky and American Farm Bureau Federations where dues are included in the $5.00 annual membership fee.

The County Farm Bureau does not plan to make a farm-to-farm drive for membership. It plans to enroll voluntarily those farmers who are interested in lending their support to the good that a strong farm organization might do independently of all others than purely farm problems. Those who are interested in taking part in the Farm Bureau program should contact one of the sign-up committeemen, namely:

Grant Maddox, Devon; S. D. S. Ransom, Walton; John C. Bedinger, Walton; C. Liston Hempfling, Taylorsport; Walter King, Verona; Harold Crigler, Hebron; John C. Burns, Petersburg; Edward C. Rogers, Grant; Ben C. Stephens, Grant; Robt. Bolwick, Pt. Pleasant; E. A. Martin, Idlewild; Vernon Stephens, Rabbit Hash; Eugene Schwenke, Hamilton; Joseph A. Huey, Union; C. R. Russ, George Cook, Florence; B. F. Bedinger, Beaver; H. E. White, Earl Smith, Burlington; J. P. Aylor, Francesville; George Walton, Waterloo Norman Herbst, Hill Top.

FARMERS TO BE IN TWO CLASSES

IN REGARD TO SELECTIVE SERVICE STANDING—MEN WITH DEPENDENTS IN III-C, WITHOUT DEPENDENTS II-C.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, and the National Council of Farm Cooperatives rendered strong support to the Tiding Amendment giving deferment to necessary farm workers. Bringing the need of vital farm problems before Congress is one of the duties of a strong Farm Bureau organization.

A release dated November 18th from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service Director, gives the following information on the Tidings Amendment:

The farm deferment directive makes it plain that Department of Agriculture and County Agricultural War Board advice may be sought in the local boards' determination as to what farms are essential to the war, and what jobs on them are "necessary." But the actual deferment of any given man will still be up to the local Selective Service Boards to decide.

The deferred farm workers are to be placed in two new classes, II-C and III-C. Those without dependent wives, children or other grounds for dependency deferment will go in II-C, those with dependency to III-C.

The new law does not define or limit "necessary" farming "occupations" and "endeavors" and is not necessarily limited to the same occupations and types of farms defined in the recent War Manpower Commission Department of Agriculture administrative action, which was started last month in an effort to conserve and recruit manpower on the dairy, livestock and poultry farms.

General Hershey's directive advises the local boards that the Department of Agriculture will provide information to assist the local boards in determining which farm "occupations" and "endeavors" are essential. Meanwhile, until General Hershey has sent out this information, the local boards are asked to seek the aid of the Department of Agriculture's County War Boards to determine which agricultural occupations and endeavors are essential to the war.

BOONE COUNTY QUOTA SET AT $490,000 IN BOND DRIVE

LARGEST QUOTA EVER ASSIGNED BOONE COUNTY—NO FURTHER REQUESTS WILL BE MADE UNTIL FEBRUARY.

The largest quota ever assigned to Boone County, as well as all other counties, was announced by the Cleveland office of the Victory Fund committee a few days ago—the quota being $490,000.00 for the month of December. This means that the banks and the people of this county are expected to subscribe this amount during this month as Boone County's part of the nine billion cash needed to finance the war. It is stated that no further request for funds will be made until February of next year, except the Series E. F. and G bonds, which will also count on our quota in December.

Three new issues of bonds are being offered, beginning November 30th: 7-8 percent bonds due in one year; 1¾ percent bonds due June 15, 1948; 2½ percent bonds due December 15, 1968.

Banks are not permitted to subscribe for the 2½ percent issue but individuals may subscribe for all three issues, in addition to the Series E. F. and G. bonds. There are also two issues of Tax Savings notes which any one may subscribe for to use in paying income taxes.

The Victory Fund Committee for Boone County is composed of the following: A. B. Renaker, chairman; John L. Conner, H. R. Hensley, C. E. McNeely, Miss Lillian Bristow, C. F. Blankenbeker, G. C. Ransom and C. W. Thompson.

It is impossible for the members of this committee to call on all those who are able to subscribe, therefore it is highly important that you see some member of this committee or go to your bank immediately and enter your subscription, if we are to reach our quota.

Our enemies in Berlin, Rome and Tokyo are watching the course of this Victory Loan drive. They want it to fail. They want it to prove their contention that the American people are weak and soft and unwilling to make the effort that war demands. What will Boone County say to them? Do your part by calling at some bank in Boone County and enter your subscription. A subscription made through some bank outside of our county does not help on Boone County's quota.

This may seem to us to be a large task but it is not as large as confronts our boys on the firing line. These boys are risking their very lives—we are asked not to RISK our lives—but to lend our money to our Government at a good rate of interest and the principal returned to us at maturity. A Government Bond is the safest investment on earth today. If it is not, there is only one that is—a Jap Bond or a German Bond.

Don't delay your subscription. Enter it immediately with some bank in Boone County in order to county in our December quota.

In order to raise this quota of $490,000.00 by precincts, based on the taxable property of each precinct, the quota for each precinct would be 3¾ percent of the assessed valuation.

Precinct quotas follows:
Beaver	$19,476.00
Belleview	19,738.00
Bullittsville and Hebron	44,424.00
Burlington	68,583.00
Carlton	17,870.00
Constance	27,954.00
Florence	102,395.00
Hamilton	16,656.00
Petersburg	27,358.00
Union	39,492.00
Verona	25,823.00
Walton	80,231.00
Total	$490,000.00

SPERTI NAMED MAN OF WEEK

THURSDAY NIGHT ON PROGRAM BROADCAST OVER RADIO STATION WCKY—IS RESIDENT OF BURLINGTON.

Dr. George Speri Sperti, Cincinnati scientist and Director of the Institutum Divi Thomae, was acclaimed the "man of the week" Thursday night on the "Let Freedom Ring" program broadcast over radio station WCKY.

The author of the "Sperti Plan" to mobilize the nation's scientists for the war effort, Dr. Sperti served as technical consultant to the War Production Board during the period of its organization.

Dr. Sperti's discoveries of chemical substances that control the cells of human life and of a rare drug which heals burns have been recognized by the American College of Surgeons. He is the holder of many basic patents in the electrical, chemical, medical, and therapeutic fields.

Dr. Sperti is a resident of Burlington, owning a farm just outside of town, where he has constructed a modern home.

W. F. Fogle

W. F. Fogle passed away at State Hospital, Lakeland, Ky., Sunday night, November 29. The body was shipped to the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home for preparation, where it remained until Tuesday.

Funeral services were conducted at the Petersburg cemetery. No information is available as to his relatives or his home.

Chambers & Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

WEED GROWERS GET PAYMENT

FOR TOBACCO TURNED OVER TO BURLEY TOBACCO GROWERS COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION DURING 1941-42 SEASON.

Checks totaling approximately $190,000 will be mailed to almost 25,000 tobacco growers next week in the final distribution of money due on all tobacco turned over to the association during the 1941-42 season, according to Frank C. Taylor, secretary of the association.

Taylor said the money was the amount, less administrative and leaf handling expenses, received by the cooperative from sale of the growers' leaf in excess of the eighty-five-per-cent-of-parity payments made to the farmers as loans last year.

The original advances, he explained, totaling approximately $990,000 were made possible thru loans obtained by the cooperative through the Commodity Credit Corporation. The association handled 6,000,000 pounds of leaf last year.

Under the cooperative's operating plan, farmers dissatisified with prices bid on their tobacco at markets turn it over to the association for disposal and receive loans, Taylor said. He added the average parity price this year would be 27.1 cents a pound, a 3.6 a pound increase over last year, and farmers would be advanced 90 per cent of the parity price.

Frank Mattox

Frank Mattox, retired farmer of Devon, passed away at his home Sunday morning, November 29th. The body was removed to the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home for preparation.

Funeral services were conducted from the home with services at the Florence Baptist Church, Tuesday morning at 11 a. m., with Rev. R. F. Demoisey officiating. Burial was in Alexandria cemetery.

He is survived by his widow Margaret; one son Grant Mattox; one brother Edward Mattox; two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Wright and Mary E. Mattox of Alexandria, Ky.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Corp. Hershel West, San Diego, Calif., was calling on friends here Monday.

"For Over Fifty Years"

TRAINED LEADERSHIP IMPERATIVE

What is done by our government right now with our boys and girls of teen age is going to have more effect on our future than most of us realize.

It is predicted that we face a long war, say four years, and then at least as many more to get settled down in our new position of world responsibility. In the war period, we will either be wise or foolish, in what we offer to our grown-up children.

This is a war of new weapons based on science, on physics, chemistry, engineering, mathematics, etc. To build machines requires thousands of experts and research workers, and to operate them requires tens of thousands of highly skilled and trained men. We can only discover and train those who can do this job through using our schools, colleges and universities to sift out those who have the willingness, aptitudes and brains to do these jobs well.

The Germans and the Japanese are very terrible opponents because they have selected and trained many thousands of their youth in every field related to war and are still doing so. Great Britain learned in the last war that they must not let those who should be trained in laboratories or libraries be wasted. In every million babies born, it is said there is but one great physicist, and yet this war is going to be won by applying physics to the procedures of war.

A country like ours can succeed only if it follows trained leaders. We have the experience and the places to train them in every state. Certainly with military policy on a basis that recognizes education also we can sort out and train our boys and girls for the fateful jobs they must meet.

Not only must we retain and train selected students, but we must give them national recognition by uniform or insignia so that they will not be tempted to join the armed services too soon.

It will be stupid to misuse a whole generation of our boys and girls through failure to prepare them wisely. It is easy to get hysterical, to forget the future in the haste of the moment. Have we not the right to ask of our Congress that whatever compulsory measures are passed to use our teen-age boys and girls, that they shall be on a controlled manpower basis that will recognize the imperative necessity of giving them a chance to prove their qualifications for training for special and needed tasks.

Any program which fails to provide for a study of their individual possibilities for advanced training would be a ghastly stupidity.

SHARE-THE-RIDE

No one really knows how far-reaching will be the effects of stringent nation-wide gasoline rationing. Its resulting problems will be particularly acute amidst the vast distances of the Western United States. Thousands of war workers and farmers live many miles from production centers. Plans are under consideration for sharing of rides. Compulsion should be avoided wherever possible. American citizens, by nature and traditions, simply don't like it.

The Standard Oil Company of California recently ran large advertisements in the papers, which promise to help immeasurably in this transportation problem. They urge workers to go to the nearest Standard Station and put their names on share-the-ride registers where every effort is being made to make it possible for car owners and workers to coordinate routes and times of departure.

Industry in every field of endeavor is striving to aid the over-all war effort. It knows that a problem that is not solved voluntarily, must be solved by government authority. If the oil industry can help solve the auto transportation problem on a voluntary basis, all of us will owe it a debt of gratitude, because it will have helped avert official restrictions of individual action and movement, which are dear to the American citizen. We should cooperate to the limit.

—o—

A COMFORTING FACT

There is one thing that everyone has in common during these days—besides a do-or-die desire to win the war—and that is a bad case of bewilderment. We are bewildered because it is impossible to see our way in the light of precedent. Not so long ago a $3,000,000,000 Federal deficit was staggering. Today the banks of this country are helping the government to underwrite deficits running into scores of billions. There is no alternative.

But while the banks and the government talk in hundreds of billions of dollars in a way that chills the marrow, we can take comfort in one fact. The banking industry is still owned and operated by private citizens. As long as it remains so, financial credit will likewise remain in the hands of the private citizen.

The farmer can still go to his community bank for crop loans or loans to purchase new machinery, or livestock; services that in the present agricultural crisis are as vital as the launching of a new battleship. Even food has to be financed. And workers, soldiers' dependents, business men, all of us can still find in the banker a private citizen deeply interested in the problems of other private citizens.

In the process of fighting the war we must not lose private banking. It is one of the strongest bulwarks of economic freedom.

—o—

HIGH STAKES

Thirty-six percent of farm families and single persons living on the farms of America made less than $500 cash in 1941. Their average non-cash income—home grown food—is estimated at $421 for the same year.

It is difficult to see how anyone can claim the farmers and dairymen are profiting by the wartime rise in farm produce prices. In fact, they are so far from profiting that under the impact of labor shortages, government regulation, and rationing of gas and machinery, many thousands of them are quitting in discouragement.

However, the bulk of the nation's farmers will fight for the right to produce sufficient food for our soldiers, civilians and our Allies, at a price that will not force the farmer out of business. The stakes in this fight are high. If the farmer loses, the nation loses.

Government fiat may equitably distribute what food is left, but only the farmer can produce more.

THE MEANING OF CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Colossians 3:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Now ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular.—I Corinthians 12:27.

Church membership means a great deal; a fact which has been obscured by the prevalent idea that joining the church is just like joining any other organization. We need to be reminded again and again that the local or denominational organization has real meaning only as it represents in the world a fellowship of true believers who, by the new birth, have become part of the living and true church, which is the body of which Christ is the Head.

It is likewise essential that believers know what their membership in the church means, so that they may fully appreciate it and properly present it to the world.

I. A New Life (vv. 1-3).

The church member is (or should be) a Christian, that is, one who has passed from death to life through the regenerating work of God in Christ (John 3:6, 7). Thus he has become "a new creature; old things have passed away; behold all things are become new" (II Cor. 5:17).

This new spiritual being has entirely changed interests and desires. The things of the world which he used to love have now become distasteful to him. The things of the Spirit which used to seem strange and not understandable to him (I Cor. 2:14) now become the center of his life. Being risen with Christ in newness of life he seeks those things which are above.

II. A Changed Life (vv. 4-13).

Setting one's heart upon things above means that the life will be changed. There will be a putting off of the things of earth and a putting on of the new man, in practice as well as in creed.

Although the Christian is a new creature in Christ, he bears with him until he dies (or Jesus comes) the old nature, which tries to hold him down, to draw him back to the worldly and fleshly things from which he was saved.

But the Christian is to "make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof" (Rom. 13:14). He is rather to "reckon" himself "to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive into God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

This calls for an act of his will (and a repeated or continuous act) by which he puts away the sinful things mentioned in verses 5-9. One might sum them up in two groups: (1) sexual indecency and immorality (v. 5), and (2) wicked words and attitudes (vv. 8, 9). The early church had no corner on such sins. They mar Christian fellowship now. They ought not do so, for the church member should show the new life of the soul by a changed life before his fellowman.

III. A Gracious Life (vv. 14-17).

Too often, following Christ—and church membership—has not seemed attractive to the unbeliever, nor has it recommended the grace of God, because it has been a sad, unpleasant, negative thing which God never intended it to be.

To the average non-Christian (rightly or wrongly), the matter of being a Christian seems to be a rather drab affair of denying one's self the interesting and pleasant things of life. Those who feel that way have never seen the real thing, for if they had, they would sense (even though they could not understand it) that here was the fulfillment of all that is best in life.

The purpose and plan of God for man is that he should be in fellowship with Him, and thus to be set free from the limitations and the disappointments of human life apart from God. The normal life of the Christian is one of love, peace, joy, fellowship, praise and thankfulness. Let us make it just that in this world of hatred, war, sorrow, division, weeping and ingratitude.

This portion of Scripture merits a closer examination. Note first that love (use "love" for charity in v. 14) is the bond which unites these Christian graces into a whole which is harmonious and well-balanced.

Naturally, the peace of Christ will be the ruling factor in such a life, controlling the heart, the seat of man's emotions and affections.

Such a life is cultivated and developed by the indwelling of God's Word and (note it) "richly." The weakness of many a church is found right here—there is so little teaching and receiving of the Word into the heart.

Christian faith expresses itself in song. "Thou hast put gladness in my heart" (Ps. 4:7), and that means a song. How true it is that hymns and songs teach and admonish us.

The life of the Christian church member is always conditioned by one perfect controlling influence—the will of God. He does all things, even the supposedly little or secular things, in the name of the Lord Jesus, with a constant thankfulness which goes up like a sweet incense to the Father through Christ.

BEREA COLLEGE TO OPEN NURSING CLASS

Berea, Ky.—In an effort to help meet the urgent war needs for more nurses, the Berea College School of Nursing will start a class for beginning nurses the second semester, opening January 26, Charles T. Morgan, Director of Admissions, has announced. This is the first time in the history of the institution that a January class has been started. One class a year which begins in August has been the custom.

The new plan is being made in response to the appeal of the National Nursing Council for War Service that 20,000 new students be admitted to the schools of nursing over the nation in the spring of 1943 in order to meet war needs.

The training here is conducted in connection with the modernly-equipped Berea College Hospital. An affiliation with the Cincinnati General Hospital and the Louisville Children's Free Hospital makes possible additional special training. The Berea College Hospital is approved by the American College of Surgeons and is a member of the American Hospital Association.

Applicants for the Berea College School of Nursing must be at least 18 years of age and must be high school graduates, Mr. Morgan said.

EXTRA HELP SHOULD OBTAIN SECURITY NUMBER

Hundreds of temporary workers will be hired for the Christmas shopping season in the area served by the Covington field office of the Social Security Board, it was said today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the office.

"We know that many of these holiday workers will be serving for the first time in employment covered by old-age survivors insurance," Mr. Decker said.

"We advise all persons who are about to take such jobs to obtain their social security account numbers and show their cards to their employers when work is begun. The employer should copy the name of the worker and the account number exactly as they appear on the social security card. This information must be given when taxes for the final quarter of 1942 are paid to the collector of internal revenue during January, 1943.

"Persons of all ages are now covered by the Social Security Act. That means a boy of 16 who works part time must have an account number, also a man or woman over 65 who may have retired or been idle for several years. Full time and part time employment are covered and every employer of one or more is required to deduct one percent from the wages of those in his service. A similar tax is paid by all employers in commerce or industry.

"Persons who have lost their social security cards should obtain duplicates before taking holiday jobs. Workers who have changed their names since they were last employed may obtain duplicate cards bearing their present names. All applications should be submitted to our office in the post office building in Covington, Kentucky.

COVINGTON BRIDGE FREED

FOLLOWING RULING OF COURT OF APPEALS — CELEBRATION SCHEDULED FOR DECEMBER 1 CALLED OFF.

The Kentucky State Highway (C. & O.) bridge between Cincinnati and Covington was freed of tolls at 1:30 Sunday afternoon after a telegram was received by Marion D. Ross, Covington, District State Highway Engineer, from J. Lyter Donaldson, Kentucky Highway Commissioner.

Covington and Cincinnati officials moved immediately to take care of an unexpected increase in traffic over the span.

The order from Donaldson followed a ruling by the Kentucky Court of Appeals on a suit brought by Hubert Meredith, Attorney General of Kentucky, asking that the Highway Department be enjoined from collecting tolls above the amount necessary to pay for the span itself.

Meredith contended that the department could not collect tolls to pay for repairs.

Plans to celebrate freeing of the span December 1, the date previously set by Donaldson for the lifting of tolls was canceled.

FARMERS BENEFIT FROM PROGRAM

LIVE-AT-HOME SETUP HAS MATERIALLY AIDED THE AVERAGE FARM FAMILY—MUST CONTINUE PROGRAM.

Farmers are benefiting materially from the Live-at-Home program conducted the past year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The program must be continued through the winter months with the farm family taking full advantage of the home meat, milk, butter, and egg supply.

The farm family should be the best fed family in the nation. Unfortunately this is not always the case. Many farmers are worried whether they should kill their own meat while others say their hogs, butter, and eggs are too high to eat. This should not be the case.

Our State Live-at-Home or "Make the Farm Feed the Family" calls for every average farm family to provide the following:

Meat Supply—Two hogs, a beef or veal and a lamb or mutton.

Poultry—Twenty-five good pullets given good care.

Dairy—Two cows, one spring freshening and one fall freshening.

Vegetables—A good vegetable garden with a sufficient supply of home fruits.

The Home Economics Department of the College has worked out a splendid, simple program on the daily food needs of the family that supply an abundance of variety, vitamins, minerals, and other material needs. Rev. H. M. Hauter and the County Nutrition Committee, cooperating with the State and National Nutrition Committees, are doing an excellent job in bringing the need for better nutrition to the school children.

Every farmer should see that his family is supplied with a sufficient farm produced meat, dairy, egg, and vegetable supply. This supply should be processed and prepared in the form that will be most nutritious and wholesome. War brings many sacrifices which we gladly accept. It also places on us a duty of doing the best and most intelligent job with our most valuable product—our people.

Information on all phases of producing, processing and preparing our home food supply is available to everyone through the County Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Services. A well-fed people means a strong people.

Income Tax . . .

A single person having a gross income of $500.00 and a married person having a gross income of $1200.00 must file income tax returns for 1942, after the close of the year. The tax rate is considerably increased over 1941 and it might be well for everyone to begin saving money with which to pay this tax, otherwise you will have a heavy tax liability with no available funds with which to pay before March 15th. Prepare now to meet your income tax liability. Many people who never filed a return before will have to file for 1942.

Stamp 27 Can Be Used For Coffee Rationing

Stamp No. 27 will be the one to use for your first coffee rationing allotment, according to word of rationing board officials. Originally it had been announced that No. 28 out of the sugar rationing book would be used for coffee. But, it is explained, No. 27 is the bottom or outside one, and is more accessible.

Coffee rationing went into effect at midnight last Saturday. Each person 15 years of age or older will be allowed one pound of coffee every five weeks. That's figured on a basis of one cup per person per day.

For additional rationing periods, consumers will use stamps in their sugar book running backwards from No. 27 toward the center of the book.

Homemakers Use Home Grown Foods

"Interesting and Delightful Menus from Home Canned and Stored Foods" is the subject of the major project lesson for Boone County Homemakers' clubs in December. This lesson follows the "Food for Freedom" program which has received special attention from the organization since early Spring. The adequate gardens provided amply for canned and stored foods needed during winter months. The holiday season table will boast tempting dishes prepared from the larder. Homemakers will study the possible varieties that answer all ration and food shortages. All meetings are open to non-members who would like to attend. The schedule is given below:

Dec. 2—Constance, Mrs. Nell Kottmyer, 10:30 EWT.

Dec. 3—Burlington, courthouse, 11:00 EWT.

Dec. 4—Verona school, 11:30 EWT

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Great Lakes, Ill.—William Frederick Kruse, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kruse, Burlington, Ky., sworn to avenge Pearl Harbor, is being molded into a fighting Bluejacket at the U. S. Naval Training Station here.

In addition to being physically toughened through participation in daily exercises and military drill, he is learning the principles of seamanship, naval customs and procedure.

He is also taking a series of aptitude tests designed to determine the type of work for which he is best qualified. On the basis of these tests, upon completing his preliminary training he will be sent to one of the Navy's many service schools for advanced training, or be assigned directly to active duty at sea or a shore station.

Between the time he finished training and is transferred to a new post, however, he will be given a nine day leave.

MEAT SHORTAGE GROWS SERIOUS

IN NORTHERN KENTUCKY ACCORDING TO FOOD DEALERS COMMUNITY KILLING OF BEEF ONLY SOLUTION OF PROBLEM.

Northern Kentuckians are faced with an immediate shortage of meat, which will continue until after January 1, members of the Northern Kentucky Independent Food Dealers Association disclosed Wednesday of last week.

To combat this shortage, officials of the association are seeking permission to conduct a community killing of beef at regular intervals until January 1.

The meat shortage is so serious that approximately 400 meat stores in Kenton and Campbell Counties will be forced to close unless immediate help is received, Sylvester J. Wagner, Chairman of the Meat Shortage Committee of the Food Dealers Association said.

The situation became acute, according to association spokesmen, when the meat-packing firm having the largest local business in the area oversold its quota and was ordered by the Office of Price Administration to cease operations until its new quota is received in January. Retail outlets that obtained meat exclusively from this firm are unable to procure supplies from other meat packers, which also operate under quotas and are unable to accept new customers.

The plan for community killings of beef under supervision of the Food Dealers' Association was devised at a meeting Tuesday night of last week. Wagner and Ray Schlachter, Covington, were appointed to attempt to work out the plan for alleviating the shortage. If the plan is approved, the association very likely will enter into a contract with some meat packer to kill the beef, Wagner said. Orders would be placed through the association, which would handle all bookkeeping and details of distribution.

Boone County 4-H Clubs are reporting good results in the County 4-H Scrap Drive, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. Due to the holidays last week several of the clubs are carrying their drive through the week of November 30th.

The 4-H clubs represent another important attempt in keeping the need for complete salvage program before the people. The 4-H clubs are interested not only in the scrap for national victory, but are using the proceeds of all donations of scrap for national victory, but are using the proceeds of all donations of scrap to pay on their Fair Grounds Building Program.

COOPERATIVE MARKETS
POTATOES AND ONIONS

Farmers in five Kentucky counties sold potatoes and onions for more than $30,000 this season, according to a report of the Laurel County Farmers' Cooperative Association at London. Thirty-one carloads of potatoes and 22 carloads of onions were sent to army camps.

The potatoes and onions were taken to London where the association operates a grader and brusher. There the crops were graded, cleaned, bagged and shipped. The labor problem for these operations was solved by the growers doing the work themselves.

Counties growing potatoes and onions, and served by the Laurel cooperative include Laurel, Clay, McCreary, Knox and Whitley. Assistance in marketing the crops was furnished by the Department of Markets of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Clifford Fleek

Clifford Fleek, age 40, passed away at his home Friday morning, November 27th.

He leaves his widow, two daughters, two sons and a number of relatives and friends who will mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted from the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton, Sunday afternoon, November 29th at 2 p. m. Burial was in the Belleview cemetery.

Chambers & Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Son Of Former Boone Countians Enters Navy As Aviation Cadet

Edson R. Ryle, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ryle, of East New Market, Maryland, formerly of Boone County, has been selected for training and enlisted as a Naval Aviation Cadet.

Ryle was graduated from East New Market High School in 1938, where he completed the general course. He was a member of the Glee Club. He formerly attended Salisbury State Teachers College. Prior to his enlistment he was employed at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore.

Mr. Ryle will be ordered to report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, University of Georgia, Athens Georgia, for three months of physical conditioning, instruction in naval essentials, military drill, and ground school subjects. After completing his course, he will be sent to one of the navy's numerous reserve bases for primary flight training.

Two other sons, Elbert S. Ryle, Jr., and Edgar A. Ryle are also in the armed forces. Elbert is in the service at Ft. Benning Georgia and Edgar A. Ryle is a member of the Army Air Corps School at Amarillo Field, Amarillo, Texas.

A Week of The War

Washington — President Roosevelt, in a radio address, said that "during the past two weeks, we have had a great deal of good news, and it would seem that the turning point of this war has at last been reached. But this is no time for exultation. There is no time now for anything but fighting and working to win."

Navy Secretary Knox reported the following total damage inflicted on Japan in the Battle of the Solomons November 12-15: Sunk, 2 battleships; 1 may have been a heavy cruiser), 6 heavy cruisers, 2 light cruisers, 6 destroyers; 8 transports, 4 cargo transports; damaged, 2 battleships, 1 cruisers, 7 destroyers. The Japanese lost between 20,000 and 40,000 troops, as well as large numbers of naval personnel. U. S. losses were 2 light cruisers and 6 destroyers sunk.

Mr. Knox said U. S. forces are in complete control of the area in and around Guadalcanal and "our hold on the island is very secure." The President said the battle is a major victory. War Secretary Stimson said army aircraft from Australia and New Caledonia played an active and effective role in the battle.

Allied headquarters in North Africa reported that American, British and French troops are driving into Tunisia from all sides, closing in a ring around the northeastern triangle of Bizerte and Tunis. The British First Army, reinforced by U. S. and French units, engaged Axis mechanized columns in Tunisia and drove them back, the War Department announced. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported November 21 that American and Australian forces are driving hard against the Japanese, who are pinned along the northeastern coast of New Guinea between Buna and Gona on a narrow beachhead extending 20 miles along the coast and 6 miles inland.

The Armed Forces

Navy Surgeon General McIntire said navy fatalities among the wounded at Guadalcanal are less than one per cent, compared with an average of seven per cent in World War 1—due principally to use of new medical discoveries in treatment of wounds. The President appointed Brig. Gen. Frederick H. Osborn, Chief of Special services of the War Department, as chairman of a committee which will work out plans for post-war education of young men whose school years are interrupted by entrance into the armed services. The President increased the maximum size of the WAAC's from 25,000 to 150,000 women. More than 1,000,000 soldiers have applied for benefits on behalf of their families under the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act.

The Office of War Information announced 48,956 members of U. S. armed forces have been officially reported as killed, wounded, missing or prisoners since the war began—exclusive of the African campaign. The War and Navy Departments organized the United States of America Typhus Commission, headed by Rear Admiral Charles S. Stephenson to "function as a board of strategy against typhus, the common foe of all armies and of all people."

Production

War Production Chairman Nelson announced aircraft production in 1943 has been fixed at more than double the 1942 output. At the same time, he appointed a new top board of aircraft production supervision under the chairmanship of WPB Vice Chairman Chas. E. Wilson. The WPB smaller war plants division reported it has completed its operating organization and now has the staff necessary to carry out its work.

Farm Prices and Production

The WPB froze until March 6, 1943, one-half of the supply of cold storage butter in the 35 principal markets of the country—between 30 and 35 million pounds. Without regard to existing contracts, this butter may not be delivered except on specific permission by the WPB or to the armed forces, lend-lease, or other specified Government agencies. The freeze order applies to any person in the 35 markets, who between November 6, 1942, and November 20, 1942, had any butter in his possession or under his control in any warehouse. He is required to set aside until March 6, 1943, 50 per cent of the supply of butter he had on hand November 6 or November 20, whichever is higher.

The OPA set special price ceilings on turkeys sold direct to consumers by farmers and processors. Terms of Commodity Credit Corporation contracts offered to farmers in Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota and Kentucky for the production of 300,000 acres of hemp in 1943 were announced by the Agriculture Department. Contracts will be available at AAA county offices in a few weeks. Employment on farms November 1 totaled 10,879,000, a seasonal decline of about 1,000,000 persons during October and representing a much higher percentage of women, children and townspeople.

War Finances

To finance the war effort, the Treasury will borrow during December the unprecedented sum of approximately nine billion dollars, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced. Twelve victory fund committees will launch an intensive sales campaign on November 30 on three series of offerings of new securities, with 44,000 volunteer workers soliciting subscriptions. At the same time, the war savings staff, with its 300,000 volunteers, will intensify its drive to add at least 7 million more income-earners to those already investing regularly in war bonds thru the payroll savings plan.

Through new steel alloy processes, Army Ordnance saved enough nickel to supply the needs of 46,000 heavy tanks and 17,000 75 mm. howitzers.

WALTON, KY.

AS SALES MANAGER FOR THE 1942-43 SEASON.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 4 of a Series)

Use One Large Bulb Instead of Several Smaller Ones

Offhand it would seem that four 25-watt bulbs would produce the same amount of light as one 100-watt bulb. But such is not the case. A 100-watt bulb produces as much light as SIX 25-watt bulbs, yet uses one-third less current. Therefore, when practical, always use one large bulb instead of several smaller ones of same total wattage and you'll get more light for your money.

An Ideal Gift . . .

. . . for the whole family is an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp. Direct-indirect models, complete with glare-eliminating diffusing bowl, three-light bulb, heavy metal standard and base, hand-sewn shade and I. E. S. Certificate of Better Light and Better Value, $9.95 up.

This Week On The Home Front

The Cleveland Regional Office of War Information, which compiles this column of items that are of interest to consumers, is changing the column's form somewhat this week in order to stress some of the changes that the country's shoppers must face and surmount during the coming year.

Instead of the usual short paragraphs on a variety of subjects, there follows a longer article on war-time shopping, based in part on the new Office of Price Administration order authorizing curtailment and elimination without lowered ceiling prices, of a number of shopping conveniences that most of us have taken for granted up to now.

The plain fact is that, unless luxury services are eliminated today, essential services will disappear tomorrow. Faced with this choice, every American woman will accept economy measures cheerfully.

OPA's order allows retailers to curtail non-essential delivery service any merchant can tell his customers to carry their own packages, whether the order is made over the counter or by telephone—provided the bundles are of reasonably carryable weight and size and do not contain emergency items.

The order also allows stores to do away with sales on approval and most returns of merchandise and OPA recommends that they do so.

The order permits them to cut out such services as "layaways," free phone service, gift wrapping after the Christmas holidays, style shows, bridge classes, exhibitions, and holiday decoration.

* * *

Credit has been restricted—strict controls have been placed over loans and installment buying, and shorter periods allowed for paying up charge accounts.

Shopping takes a larger slice out of the average woman's day than ever before. Occasional scarcities of non-rationed foods have shown her what it is like to stand in line for her share of the supply. Lack of salespeople has made it necessary to wait.

As more commodities, transportation facilities and manpower are absorbed into the war effort, the situation is bound to become tighter. During 1943, no woman will be able to buy as much as she wants of anything, even food, clothing, drugs, and other essentials. Stores will have too many customers and too few goods to sell. In addition, trucks and tires, almost irreplaceable these days—will be that much nearer the scrap heap.

Make up your mind to do cash-and-carry shopping.

Organize car pools for neighborhood shopping. Or form a club in which each woman takes her turn driving to market with the grocery orders and delivering the purchases of club members. The British call this "communal food shopping." In some places, neighbors leagues have been organized so that housewives can shop for working women who are no longer able to get delivery service.

* * *

Don't be surprised if stores group together to reduce their hours of business, in order to use less fuel, electricity and personnel.

Bicycle to market if you can. Get a large market basket or shopping cart on wheels, now a familiar sight in England. Bring the children to help you carry the bundles.

Pay cash for everything you possibly can.

Buy carefully; it will be almost impossible to return goods—unless they are not as ordered—if stores take advantage of the new recommendations. Learn to judge the quality of the things you buy, so that you will not regret a single purchase. Don't be indecisive in buying. There won't be enough salespeople to cater to all your whims.

All these are things which are going to become more and more familiar to American shoppers, but they will give every woman her opportunity to show what she can do to help win the war on the front that she knows best.

After Dec. 18, new men's and boys' shirts will be enough shorter so that 10,000,000 additional shirts can be made from the saved material. The War Production Board also has ordered simplification of pajamas to be worn by the same section of shivering humanity so that enough material to make 2,200,000 additional pairs may be saved.

* * *

Shoe leather also drew the WPB's attention. In order to off-set lend-lease purchases of repair-type sole leather, tanners have been ordered to set aside more manufacturers' type sole leather bends, normally used for new shoes, for repair of civilian shoes.

* * *

All fuel oil consumers—industrial commercial and domestic—who plan to convert their facilities to coal should place their coal orders now.

* * *

Persons who do not have War Ration Book 1, which consumers need in order to buy coffee, must file applications with their local War Price and Rationing Boards by Dec. 15. Book 1 is the "sugar stamp" book, and stamps 20 thru 28 have been designated as coffee stamps when the books show the holder to be more than 15 years old.

* * *

New limitation orders issued by the WPB make it necessary for children to take better care of their toys, because few repair materials will be available.

* * *

The WPB has prohibited dairy producers from distributing whipping cream, or other heavy cream. Coffee cream is not affected. Nineteen per cent milk fat is the limit, except for makers of dried whole milk, cheese, butter, etc.

* * *

The WPB has temporarily frozen one-half of the supply of cold storage butter in the 35 principal United States markets to assure an adequate supply for the armed forces and for lend-lease during the current seasonally low production period. About 35,000,000 lbs. are involved.

* * *

School children who work on farms have been made eligible for purchase of bicycles needed for transportation between school and home farm.

* * *

In a move to assure an adequate supply of work garments for the increasingly large number of women going into America's war industries, the WPB has imposed strict controls over the purchase and use of fabrics needed for this type of clothing.

* * *

Monthly quotas on deliveries of some canned fruits, vegetables, and fruit and vegetable juices by wholesalers to their customers have been established. No change is made in the amount ultimately available for civilians but the monthly quotas are designed to minimize hoarding by consumers.

* * *

One out of every nine jobs in industry and agriculture has been classified as vital to war production in a War Manpower Commission survey. The list was prepared to guide Selective Service Boards in determining occupational deferment.

CORNS

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The most frequent of foot ills is that disagreeable growth which usually is found on the outer side of the little toe, or on top of the second, third and fourth toes, and in some cases on the bottom of the great toe joint. The chief symptom is a burning, stinging pain of varying degrees. The formation of the growth produces a pressure upon the nerves which in turn gives rise to pain varying from a dull mild sensation to a sharp and intense irritation. These pains are usually increased when the parts affected are further irritated by ill-fitting shoes, by friction or by other pressure.

In the case of a soft corn, which is found in the web between the fourth and fifth toe, the cause is usually due to pressure brought about by the dropping of the fourth metatarsal bone, which in turn presses upon the face of the fifth. The possibility of eliminating a soft corn is very good provided proper shoes are worn and a metatarsal pad is placed directly under the head of the fourth metatarsal bone to set it up in posture. The soft corn will gradually become smaller and finally disappear.

Vascular corn is an over growth of skin, the same as occurs in hard corns, but in which blood vessels are found. The pain is more severe in this type of corn than in any other form, usually resulting in a burning sensation even when the victim is not standing or walking. —Adv.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The Government, through the War Labor Board, is now regulating wages in practically all industries, and nearly everyone who pays or receives wages is under the control of this Board. If you are an employer, you cannot increase the wages of your workers, except in certain cases, unless the War Production Board sanctions it; if you are an employee, you may need Government approval before you can get a raise.

Wages, in general, have been frozen at the September 15, 1942, level, but the Board will allow raises under certain conditions. However, War Labor Board Chairman Davis states that "raises above the September 15 level are going to be the exception rather than the rule."

You may ask what type of wage increase would the Board be likely to approve. They would probably permit raises to make up for past increases in the cost of living. But if your pay has been increased 15 percent since January 1, 1941, and the majority of industrial workers have had at least that much increase, you would find it difficult to secure any more salary. This policy applies to groups (union) who have bargaining agreements in single companies or industries. The WLB rules will permit a review of individual cases and permit raises in some instances where injustices occur because of differences in price levels and wage levels.

The Board will not permit an employer to raise salaries or wages either to keep his own workers or to attract workers from other plants. This will tend to stabilize employment in various industries and in various parts of the country and prevent the labor piracy which has been practiced in many cities.

Now how do you go about getting approval for wage and salary increases? You must first go to your local Wage-Hour Division office and find out if approval is needed. If so, you must secure the blanks and after filling them out, send them to the nearest WLB office for action on them.

These rules apply to industries which are producing non-war material as well as to defense industries. Thus you see the Government is tightening its control over our economic life in adding wage controls to the already existing price controls.

Boone County Bankers Association

TO OUR TIME AND SAVINGS DEPOSITORS:

Due to the limited demand for safe loans and the low rate of interest on Government Bonds, the banks of Boone County feel compelled to reduce the rate of interest on Time and Savings deposits from 2 percent to 1 percent, effective January 1st, 1943.

Time certificates of deposit now outstanding will be permitted to mature at 2 per cent, and Savings accounts will continue to bear 2 per cent interest to the next interest paying period of each individual bank. Certificates of deposit maturing before January 1st will be renewed at 2 per cent for a six months period only.

This step is being taken after mature deliberation and is in line with banks of Cincinnati, Covington and other sections of the country. Banks in many counties of Kentucky and elsewhere have eliminated interest on deposits altogether, but the banks of Boone County want to pay their customers what they can afford to pay.

The average rate of interest on Government Bonds is about 1½ per cent. The majority of Government issues being three-fourths of 1 per cent to 2 per cent, except on long term bonds.

The banks will continue to pay the taxes and the Federal Deposit Insurance on deposits.

Should conditions change in the future enabling banks to revise their interest rate on deposits they will be only too glad to do so.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

First it was the Gestapo in "All Through The Night." Now it's Jap saboteurs in "Across the Pacific" the Warner Bros. picture showing at the Gayety tonight and Friday.

The film stars Humphrey Bogart as a member of the U. S. Army Secret Service as he tracks down and then destroys the plans of Japanese agents, led by Sydney Greenstreet, to destroy the Panama Canal. Mary Astor plays the role of Bogart's self-appointed assistant.

SATURDAY

Boston-born Jean Rogers, one of Hollywood's most promising newcomers, gets her big screen opportunity in "Pacific Rendevous" timely story of spy activity in the nation's capital.

Cast in supporting roles up until now, Miss Rogers is teamed with Lee Bowman as the fimininе lead. She portrays Elaine Carter, daughter of a top Naval executive in Washington, D. C., who manages to get in Bowman's way constantly as he tracks down a group of enemy agents who have stolen a secret Navy code.

SUNDAY and MONDAY

If you are a perenial grouch, beat your wife, kick the cat or do any number of unpleasant things, then you should not see "The Bashful Bachelor" starring Lum and Abner in their second picture for RKO Radio release.

The reason for this is that "The Bashful Bachelor" is geared strictly for laughs, and they come so thick and fast that even inveterate grouches might capitulate and enjoy themselves.

For Lum and Abner give "all out" performances in developing laughs, the kind that make buttons on vests unsafe. Zasu Pitts will return to the screen in this picture.

TUESDAY

"Holiday Inn" will return to the Gayety for one night's showing by popular request. This picture stars Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire. Don't miss this big hit.

WED., THURS., AND FRIDAY

For the first time in motion picture history, an entire movie set was turned over to the United States Government as a vital contribution to the war effort.

The movie set, a four-thousand-foot-long, two-hundred-food-wide runway, on the shore of the Salton Sea in California, was donated to the United States Marines by Paramount Pictures, following completion of "Wake Island." The film showing at the Gayety, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. The film is a dramatization of the valiant stand of the Marines against the Japs in defending the mid-Pacific outpost.

At a ceremony attended by the entire cast, including Brian Donlevy, Robert Preston, Macdonald Carey, Albert Dekker, Barbara Britton and William Bendix, studio and Marine officials, the new field was presented to Col W. G. Farrell, United States Marine Corps Flying ace, who accepted it for the Marines.

FARMERS

The farm workers deferred do not lose their deferment if they change from one "necessary" farm job to another, or from one "necessary" farm to another of the same nature.

But, under a new feature of the law, if the deferred farm worker seeks to move from his "necessary" farm to a job in industry or on a non-necessary farm or elsewhere, he must first obtain the permission of his local board. This permission can be granted only in the form of the local board's "determination that it is in the best interest of the war effort" for him to make the transfer.

Unless such local board "determination" has been made in advance, the board under the law must immediately re-classify those who leave so as to make them available for necessary farm jobs, immediate military service. This regulation has been made immediately effective by direction of the Director of Selective Service.

Under the Selective Service law, this immediate reclassification for military service, of those leaving essential farm jobs, applies to married men and men with dependents, as well as to single men.

Selective Service officials advise all farm workers to consult their local boards before transferring to any job outside of agriculture.

The regular Selective Service appeal machinery is available to those whose requests for permission to transfer away from a "necessary" farm or farm job is rejected by the local boards.

The farm-deferred man cannot be released by the local draft board for voluntary enlistment in either land or naval forces.

Those "seasonally or temporarily engaged" or who are engaged on a part-time basis on war-essential farms and farm jobs will not be eligible for deferment.

POINTERS GIVEN BOONE FARMERS

WILL AID IN INCREASED PRODUCTION OF PORK, POULTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS FOR 1943.

Our Government is asking for a still larger increase in production of pork, poultry, and dairy products for 1943. Boone County farmers in the near future will be called upon to contribute their part in the face of severe labor, machinery, and other problems.

This increased production, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent, can be secured most economically not through increased numbers of livestock, but through practices.

Research and field reports show that 20 percent more of the pig crop can be saved through sanitation and good management at farrowing time. More economical gains are secured if these pigs are raised to at least 100 pound weight on clean pasture. Good pasture and full feeding of a good ration will bring further increases in production and greater profit.

The average dairy cow will produce 25 percent more milk with heavy feeding of good grain mixtures, legume hay, cover crop pastures, and good management. The cheapest and one of the most economical grain mixtures to feed with good legume hay is 300 pounds of ground corn and cob meal, 200 pounds bran, and 100 pounds soybean meal.

Good poultry will not produce their best either without full feeding, good housing and management. These three factors alone will more than double the average egg production for the State.

Good feeding and reasonable management do not materially increase the labor costs. Feed is cheaper in proportion today in relation to livestock prices than in almost any previous period in history. Figuring out the best and most economical ration for the particular livestock and then the liberal use of this ration should pay good returns. Poor feeding, according to the Veterinary Department at the College results in the greatest livestock disease loss in the State today.

Simple home-mixed livestock rations and recommended production practices are available at the County Agent's office on request.

Four-H Tobacco Show Canceled For 1942

The 1942 Northern Kentucky 4-H Tobacco Show scheduled for Covington on December 14th has been called off for this year due to transportation and other war difficulties, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

All 4-H tobacco project members are urged to use the best of care in stripping out their crops and to sell their tobacco as a separate crop at the same time their father's crop is sold. Plans are to continue the show after the war.

Reduction of 150 sizes and kinds of galvanized ware to 6 articles of a few sizes, is expected to save 44,000 tons of steel and 10,000 tons of zinc.

Local Woman Purchases Registered Jersey

A registered Jersey bull, formerly owned by P. B. Gaines, Carrollton, Ky., has been purchased by Kathryn Kearns, Union, Ky. The animal is IXia's Oxford Royal, 427970.

The whereabouts of all registered Jerseys is known and carefully watched over by The American Jersey Cattle Club, with offices in New York City. This important job is made possible through registrations and transfers made by Jersey Breeders everywhere. Tattoo identification, somewhat similar to fingerprinting, keeps individuals of this dairy breed always known.

Jerseys make up 42 percent of all dairy cows in the United States. Because they produce the world's richest milk, and because there are more Jerseys than any other breed in America, their role in National Defense is an important one. Increased production of Jersey milk guarantees the protective food needs of here and abroad.

Mrs. Ferguson and two sons will maintain the residence and farm at Union.

Erlanger Youth Injured Sunday

George Feldhaus, 19 years old, 511 Ash Street, Erlanger, received a compound fracture of the left leg early Sunday when he was struck by an automobile as he changed a tire at Dixie Highway and Shinkle Road, Kenton County.

The automobile was driven by Charles Dahlenburg, 22, of Erlanger, according to Kenton County officials.

Feldhaus was removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington for treatment.

Frank Bauers

Funeral services for Frank Bauers, former Florence coal merchant and prominent farmer, were held at his late residence on the Dixie Highway near Florence Wednesday morning. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. He was 74.

Mr. Bauers, a director of the Florence Building and Loan Association, died Monday at his home of a heart attack.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Bauers; two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Brown, Point Pleasant, and Mrs. Omer Macrander, Florence; three nieces and a nephew.

Tharp and Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS IS PLEA

OF COUNTY CHAIRMAN—HELP REDUCE TUBERCULOSIS IN OUR COUNTY AND NATION—SCHOOLS PARTICIPATE.

Buy as many Tuberculosis Christmas Seals as you can afford. The Christmas Seal campaign is one of the oldest health drives in the country, having started in 1907. Tuberculosis is the seventh cause of death in the U. S. In 1912 it was the first cause. Through the sale of bright colored stamps scientific research has reduced from first to seventh the cause of death. Medical research, financed by the Christmas Seal Campaign, is going on in 11 outstanding universities in the Untied States.

At least 60 per cent of the money in the Christmas Seal campaign remains in the county in which it is raised. Every cent of the net sale is spent for health, as not a single person connected with the sale receives any compensation except a few inexpensive prizes to school children.

The Christmas Seal campaign is the sole means of support of the organized campaign against T. B. Education is still our chief weapon against T. B. Science has not yet found a drug for cure or immunization. Christmas Seals pay for health information put in the hands of the people. Science may sometime find a drug for the cure of T. B., but it takes funds to carry on scientific research. Help a good cause by purchasing all the Christmas Seals you can.

All the schools in the county are selling them. If you have received some seals through the mail send in your check for them at once. Use the seals on all your mail and packages.

Florence Knights Trounce Burlington Five Friday Night

Burlington suffered defeat Friday night when they entertained the Florence Knights on the local floor. The final count was Florence 44, Burlington 31.

The first quarter ended at 10 all. During the second quarter Florence took the lead and was never on the short end of the score during the remainder of the game.

Caudill was high point man for the winners with 17 points, while Rouse led the attack for Burlington with 17, with Jarrell collecting ten for the losers.

In a reserve game the Florence second team defeated Burlington by a score of 16 to 1.

Walton chalked up another victory Friday night when they defeated Simon Kenton by a score of 35-30. This game was hard fought and the Walton youths were hard pressed to eke out their five-point margin.

Flueker Demoisey, Walton center turned in the leading offensive record with 25 points. It was reported he was suffering from an injured foot.

Four-H Members Receive Achievement Certificates

Three hundred thirty-eight Boone County boys and girls are receiving Achievement Certificates for completing 443 Four-H Victory projects in 1942, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The work was completed with the cooperation of parents and under the supervision of 78 local community leaders in ten community 4-H Clubs.

One hundred seventy Home Economic project members completed 114 clothing, 79 food and 40 canning projects, according to Mary Scott Moore.

One hundred sixty-eight agricultural project members completed 222 projects valued at $27,723.50. The project activities consisted of 55 members growing 43 acres of tobacco, 9 members growing 28.8 acres of garden crops, 46 members raised 3450 chickens, 21 dairy calf club members raised 25 head dairy calves, 6 members 18 lambs, 8 members 26 pigs, 6 members with six colts and 5 members grew 4.2 acres of castor beans.

The 4-H Clubs this week are busy on a countywide scrap survey and drive. The drive is expected to locate and encourage the further marketing of all available salvage materials.

The 4-H Clubs are further making plans for the largest club program in history for 1943. All 1943 project work will be Victory or War work, in food production, preservation, clothing, salvage and other war related work. Detailed project record keeping will be eliminated and an all-out effort for increased food, fiber and clothing production to meet the all-out war needs carried out. It is hoped this program will enlist every rural boy and girl in Boone County.

Assistant Boone County Agent Leaves For Officer Training School

Frank Frazier, Assistant County Agent of Boone County, left Wednesday morning of last week for Columbia University, where he will attend Naval Officers Training School. He has been placed in V-7 class.

Mr. Frazier has been employed as Assistant County Agent here for more than a year, and has made many friends while working in this county.

35.17 AVERAGE ON COVINGTON MART

OPENING DAY OF TOBACCO SALES—148,000 POUNDS SELL FOR $52,309.17—NEARLY $10 HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR.

Tobacco averaged $35.17 a hundred pounds at the opening sale of 1942-43 season of the Kenton Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse, Tuesday. Prices paid Tuesday were approximately $10 higher than last. Approximately 375,000 pounds of tobacco covered the warehouse floor at the opening sale.

The high basket brought $50 a hundred pounds, $8 above last year's high. Low price paid was $11. The average for the day was $35.17, as compared with last year's average price of $25.37.

Total sales on the Covington market Tuesday amounted 148,000 pounds which brought a total of $52,309.17.

Auctioneers Dave Gaines and Goebel Bond took turns conducting the sale.

The government grading and the tobacco pool which operates to the advantage of the grower have raised the prices by 100 per cent in some instances.

The $38-a-hundred ceiling does not establish the top price a buyer can pay for a certain grade, but limits the average he may pay for all tobacco he buys in any one week.

As we go to press Wednesday morning we are unable to give figures from opening sales at Carrollton warehouses. This market in the past has been good and no doubt opened with good prices this year.

Donald Griffith

Funeral services for Donald Griffith, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Griffith, Hopeful Road, Florence, were held at the Tharp & Stith funeral home, Florence at 2 p. m. Friday. Burial was in Hopeful cemetery.

The infant died Thursday at his home following a brief illness.

Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Ronald Griffith.

Tharp and Stith were in charge of arrangements.

CENTENNIAL TO BE OBSERVED

BY LOCAL BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY—SPECIAL MUSIC AND GUEST SPEAKER WILL BE FEATURES OF PROGRAM.

Sunday, December 13th will be an outstanding day in the Burlington Baptist Church when special services will be held in observance of its 100th anniversary. Services will begin at 11:00 E. W. T. in the Sunday School with worship service at 12:00.

Special music, with guest speakers will feature the program. Lunch will be served at the noon hour in the basement of the church. The afternoon service will begin at two o'clock with roll call of the membership. The pastor urges every member of the church to be present, if possible. Special music and speaking will be heard during the afternoon, it was announced.

A special invitation is extended to all former members of the church and to the public in general to attend this observance service. There will be no evening service.

In a statement Tuesday, Rev. R. A. Johnson, pastor of the church said, "On December 13th, 1842, a small group of twenty people met for the purpose of organizing this church, and for one hundred years this work has continued under the direction of God, until we come with gratitude in our hearts on this day of December 13, 1942. Truly the seed that was sown by these noble men and women has brought in a great harvest for the Lord."

ELLA RUTH BLACK GIVEN "O" CARD

IN RECOGNITION OF TEN YEARS OF 4-H CLUB WORK SATISFACTORILY COMPLETED AT MEETING THURSDAY.

"O" for outstanding! Ella Ruth Black, New Haven 4-H Club member received a Certificate of Achievement bearing 10 seals, each a respective recognition for one year of club work satisfactorily completed, at the achievement meeting held at the New Haven school last Thursday.

This record deserves special acclaim, and in giving a few of the high-lights of this club career, Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent states that Ella Ruth Black has attained her place among the top ranking 4-H'ers by her determination and earnest effort to make each year more successful than any previous one.

During the 10 years she has completed 10 projects, seven clothing, six canning, one foods, one room improvement, and one poultry. She has entered her work each year in the county fair and six times has sent entries to the State fair. (All state fair exhibits must be county winners). The record shows 3 entries with 12 first, 21 second, and 1 third placing. The winnings show $52.75 in cash, a gold medal and several merchandise orders. Ella Ruth has participated in 15 competitive style revues at community, county, and state events. She has taken part in one team demonstration contest, and has won two trips to the State 4-H Club Convention, Junior Week, held annually at the University of Kentucky. She has also taken part in the county clothing judging contest.

She has held offices in her local clubs, but her leadership ability was best shown last year when she assumed the responsibility of conducting a clothing project group of grade school girls at Hamilton to a successful completion record.

In words taken from her recorded report, her most important achievement in 4-H Club work has been "learning to make my own clothing and to sew for other people."

Ella Ruth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Black, of Hamilton. She will continue her splendid work by becoming a member of the Boone County Utopia Club at an early date.

Hoskinds-Mason

Miss Aleena Hoskinds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoskinds, of Hopeful Road and Mr. Coleman Mason, son of George Mason, of Mt. Vernon and Renfro Valley were united in marriage at the home of Rev. H. M. Hauter, Florence, on Saturday, December 5th.

Mr. Mason expects to be called into the Armed Forces in the near future.

Farm Bureau Will Hold Organization Meeting

The Boone County Farm Bureau will hold an organization meeting at Burlington courthouse on this Saturday, December 12 at 2:00 p. m., according to Lloyd Siekman, temporary chairman.

The permanent County Farm Bureau organization will be set up at this time. All farmers interested in Farm Bureau orgahization are urged to attend.

The Farm Bureau at this meeting will discuss plans for selection of a delegate to represent the county at the State Farm Bureau Convention at Louisville in January. The membership committee is reporting excellent success in securing of new members.

Jo Revill Furnish Selected To Attend Dealers Training School

Jo Revill Furnish, well known feed and supply salesman for the Colonial Coal and Supply Co., Erlanger, has been selected by his company as an outstanding salesman and will be permitted to attend a three-day Dealers Training School at Terre Haute, Ind., on December 14, 15 and 16th.

The purpose of this school is to train the best men in this field to be able to be of great benefit to the farmer in his feeding and production problems. The war needs are increasing every day for the American farmer and he is constantly confronted with the problem of producing more with less labor. More and more problems are arising each day, and the farmer must be prepared to meet them.

The honor conferred on Mr. Furnish is well deserved as he has been connected with this work for over 24 years, and has a wide knowledge of the farmer's needs.

The three-day training school is sponsored by Allied Mills, Inc., manufacturers of Wayne Feeds.

Joseph King

Joseph King, Jones Road, near Walton, died suddenly Sunday at his home of a heart attack, Dr. James P. Riffe, Kenton County coroner, reported. He was 82.

He leaves two nieces, Miss Ida Kammer, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Emma Hoffman, Erlanger.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

TOBACCO CEILING PRICE SET AT $38

BASED ON CEILING PRICES OF 68 BASIC GRADES—BEST LEAF PRICE IS SET AT $54.00 PER HUNDRED, LUGS $57.00.

The CPA, last Saturday announced an average ceiling price on burley tobacco of $38.00 per hundred based on ceiling prices of 68 basic grades of tobacco. The ceiling prices range from $11.00 for non-descript dark green to $59.00 per hundred for the best grade light cigarette wrappers. Best grade leaf is set at $54.00, while best grade lugs are placed at $57.00.

Taking the announced grade at this ceiling price an unofficial comparison according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent would be as follows:

Leaf—Choice tan (B1F) $54.00; Fine Tan (B2F) $53.00; Fine Red (B2R) $43.00; Good Tan (B3F) $49; Good Red (B3R) $37.00; Fair Tan (B4F) $43.00; Fair Red (B4R) $29.50; Fair Dary Red (B4D) $21.50; Low Tan (B5F) $34.00; Low Red, (B5R) $23.00; Low Dark Red (B5D) $18.50.

Tips—Good Tan (T3F) $38.00; Good Red (T3R) $26.00; Fair Tan, (T4F) $30.00; Fair Red (T4R) $20; Fair Dark Red (T4D) $15.00; Low Tan (T5F) $22.00; Low Red (T5R) 14.7; Low Dark Red (T5D) $12.00.

Lugs—Choice Tan (C1F) $55.00; Fine Buff (C2L) $55.00; Fine Tan (C2F) $55.00; Good Buff (C3L) $54; Good Tan (C3F) $54.00; Good Red (C3R) $52.00; Fair Buff (C4L) $53; Fair Tan (C4F) $52.00; Fair Red (C4R) $46.00; Low Tan (C5F) $46; Low Red (C5R) $39.00.

Flying—Choice Buff, (X1L) $54; Fine Buff (X2L) $54.00; Fine Tan (X2F) $54.00; Good Buff (X3L), $53.00; Good Tan (X3F) $53.00; Good Red (X3R) $50.00; Fair Buff (X4L) $49.00; Fair Tan (X4F) $48; Fair Red (X4R) $44.00; Low Buff (X5L) $40.00; Low Tan (X5F) $39; Low Red (X5R) $34.00.

Boone County is rated as having a better than average crop with a general sprinkling of house burn leaf that is not expected to greatly lower the value of the crop.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE CAVASS BEING MADE TO RAISE QUOTA

OF $490,000.00 IN BOND SALES FOR BOONE COUNTY DURING DECEMBER — ORGANIZATION BEING PERFECTED.

The drive to raise Boone County's quota of $490,000 in Bonds is now on, and it is the patriotic duty of everyone to subscribe until it hurts in order that our Government is financed in its war effort. Small subscriptions are of course welcome but if you are able to subscribe for $1000.00 or $5000.00, do not subscribe for $25.00 or $100.00 and feel that you have done your patriotic duty. Our quota can not be reached unless large subscriptions are made in this drive.

Our boys are offering their very lives, many gave up their business and goods jobs and are separated from their families to protect those of us who are at home. Our dollars will have little value if we do not win this war, and it takes dollars as well as men to win it.

In this drive we are not asked to give anything but to lend our money to our Government at a good rate of interest. There is no better investment than a United States Government Bond. Serve notice now on Hitler and the Japs that Boone County, as well as the whole nation, is behind our Government in this war, by seeing your precinct chairman or go to your bank and make your subscription. If you do not have money now but will have it within the next few months, go to your bank and they will lend you the money at the same rate the bond bears for a few months until your money is available, so that your subscription will count in this December drive. The bond for which you subscribe will be your collateral.

Five additional committeemen were appointed last week, making 12 precinct committeemen, in addition to the County Chairman, they being: Thomas Huff, Hamilton; R. L. Green, Beaver; W. H. Presser, Carlton; Liston Hempfling, Constance; C. D. Benson, Burlington.

The county chairman, A. B. Renaker, is free to work with all precinct committeemen in any way desired.

No one receives any pay for his services. These men and their coworkers are giving their time and paying their own expenses to make this drive a success. All you are asked to do is to receive them kindly and make a liberal subscription. It takes the combined effort of all of us to win a war.

WHAT WILL BOONE COUNTY DO? WE MUST NOT FAIL.

Florence Couple Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Sunday, November 29 was the 50th wedding anniversary of Dr. T. B. and Mrs. Grace Yager Castleman, and they kept "open house" to their friends and neighbors that night from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Approximately 75 people availed themselves of this opportunity to help them celebrate the happy occasion, among them being Rev. O. M. Huey, a cousin of Dr. Castleman and the preacher who performed the ceremony 50 years.

Knowing Mrs. Castleman's great love of flowers, many of her friends had chosen flowers as their gifts, and the house was beautified with the great bunches of golden chrysanthemums and other lovely blooms. They also received many beautiful and appropriate cards.

During the evening ice cream, cake and fruit punch were served, and at a late hour the guests left, wishing the doctor and his charming wife many more happy anniversaries.

NEW LICENSE STAMPS READY

FOR DISTRIBUTION TO CAR AND TRUCK OWNERS — $25,000.00 SAVING TO KENTUCKY TAXPAYERS.

The county court clerks of the state have placed on sale the new motor vehicle transparent license stamp which will evidence renewal of passenger car and truck registrations for the 1943 license year. The vehicle owner should apply to the clerk in the usual manner. It is absolutely necessary, however, that he submit his 1942 registration certificate at the same time of application.

Anticipating a critical shortage of metal due to the war, the 1942 session of the Kentucky General Assembly passed an act allowing the Department of Revenue to provide a substitute for metal tags to evidence motor vehicle registration. After investigating several possibilities, it was decided that the windshield stamp was the most practicable method for 1943. The machinery for manufacturing these stamps was already in operation. The manufacturing process does not require any raw materials that are essential in the war effort. Metal license tags made at the State Reformatory at LaGrange last year cost the State about $35,000. This figure represented an outlay of about 6½ cents per pair, a very low figure compared with the other 47 states. The new windshield stamps will cost about $8,500. Licensing for 1943 should, therefore, cost a total of less than $12,000, a saving of twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars.

The new registration stamp will be two inches by four inches and is orange with black numerals and an outline of Kentucky in white. If instructions supplied with each stamp are carefully followed, once the stamp has been affixed to the windshield, it cannot be removed intact. It must be affixed at the lower right (opposite the driver) on the inside of the windshield.

The owner of the motor vehicle is requested to remove the license plate from the front of his car and preserve it in order that he might have a replacement for 1943 if his rear tag becomes faded, or for possible used in 1944. The rear tag must be left on the vehicle.

In the event a motorist loses or has his license stamp mutilated, he can secure a replacement for a nominal fee in the same manner that has been followed in replacing lost or mutilated license plates. Instruction for the application of the stamp which is enclosed in an envelope must be followed closely in order that the vehicle owner will get the best service from the stamp.

The heavy presses formerly used at LaGrange for the manufacture of metal license tags are now being used to make war planes with which to fight Schnickelgruber and the Japs.

Anyone having scrap yarn which they are not going to use, will turn same over to Mrs. Garnett Tolin, it will be greatly appreciated by the Junior High School girls. It will be used to make an afghan.

VERONA 4-H TO MEET

Achievement certificates will be awarded club members at their meeting at 3:15 E. W. T., Friday, December 11 at the school. Parents and friends are invited.

Mrs. Kirtley Cropper spent last Saturday in Cincinnati.

CLUB GIRLS SAVE $612 ON PROJECTS

ONE HUNDRED SEVENTY GIRLS COMPLETE 233 PROJECTS IN CLOTHING, CANNING AND FOODS.

Boone County 4-H Club girls have acquitted themselves this year with an excellent record, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. Achievement meetings held in local clubs during the past two weeks have brought recognition to 170 girls for the completion of 233 projects in clothing, canning, and foods. This is 96 percent of the projects started.

All work done by club members during the year was directly related to the war effort, however the educational practices will carry over into the Peace era which is to come. The following figures will give an idea of the monitary value of the home economics work:

Canning, 40 projects, 835 quarts of vegetables valued at $166.60; 206 quarts of fruits valued at $50.50; 1041 quarts of canned foods, $237.10 saved.

Clothing (114 projects), 114 dresses valued at $570.00, saving $277.00; 96 undergarments valued at $120.00, saving $62.00; 132 miscellaneous garments valued at $65, saving $46.00; total saving $385.00.

A total savings of $612.10 is reported on clothing and canning.

RULES FOR DEFEAT

The following quotation from a shipyard worker's letter was recently published in the United States News: "When a man hires out to a shipyard, he should be allowed to use all of his skill in any trade he knows anything about, so long as it can be used to the advantage of our war effort and can be used in building ships. As for myself and many more shipfitters and helpers, I can weld, burn, layout and chip, but I am allowed to shipfit only, and often times I have to wait for 2 or 3 hours on a welder or burner or chipper.

"The average shipfitter works about 5 hours per day and gets paid for 10. Just stop and think how many man-hours are lost in a single day in all our shipyards. It is enough to build a U. S. destroyer and it is because our union does not see fit to allow a welder or burner or chipper to use his trade, unless he is working at it. I could put in a full 10-hour day, if I was allowed to do this work."

Under such a system, thousands of willing American workmen are forced to hamper war production because of shortsighted application of peacetime union rules. Men at the front are dying as a result. Undoubtedly many of them were members of the very unions whose actions delayed supplies they needed. How can legitimate unionism continue to countenance this kind of abuse of its power?

HITLER MISSED THE TRAIN

Railway transportation is as vital to war as a healthy circulatory system is to the survival of a human being in the event of attack by disease.

Allan A. Michie, commenting on Germany's railroad crisis, in Reader's Digest for November, points to Hitler's gigantic miscalculation in deliberately neglecting the railroads before the war in order to perfect his pet schemes for superhighways." Hitler's premise was that gasoline engines had replaced steam. But after Munich, when Reichswehr experts finally convinced him that Germany's railroads would be a vital factor in the coming war, it was too late. For once war began, locomotive shops had to build tanks, and plans for rehabilitating the railroads had to be dropped.

Today, gasoline and rubber are largely diverted to the Army on fronts far from Hitler's great superhighways. Germany's worn-out railroad system is struggling with the nation's entire traffic, which has increased to staggering proportions during the Russian campaign. Britain's sea blockade has thrown back upon land all traffic between Germany and central and Southern Europe which in peacetime went by sea. The R. A. F. is steadily and fiercely blistzing the weak spots in the already weak Nazi railroad system.

Hitler may have made a fatal blunder. The plight of his railroads must be laid squarely at the door of National Socialism, which gives to one man the power to "liquidate" any individual judgment other than his own.

Our American railroads, operating under private ownership with history-making efficiency, are proving themselves our lifeblood in the fight against the disease of war.

CAUSE FOR PRIDE

One of the most fantastic stories of the war has not been told and will not be told until the guns are still. That is the story of air transport. Much of the fighting now taking place in far-away corners of the globe, in steaming jungles and on minute islands, primarily is to determine who shall control the strategic air routes of the future. Fortunately for this country, the commercial airlines had progressed far ahead of any other nation, and with the arrival of hostilities were in a position to render invaluable service.

It is largely airline pilots who, in close co-operation with the Air Transport Command of the Army under the leadership of Major Lee George, are blazing trails over the seven seas and all the continents. These pilots and the managements back of them who built the airlines can rest assured that the dangers and tribulations they suffered in pioneering air operations were not in vain. As the U. S. News observes: "The number of planes leaving each day for Alaska, for England, for South America, for Africa, for India, for China and for Australia is a military secret. But it is not secret that the schedule calls for hundreds of flights every day, and that the number is growing swiftly. It is no secret that the fleet of hundreds of cargo planes in service this year is expected to grow into thousands by the end of another year."

Those who feel that the airlines should be militarized for the duration, are losing their American perspective. If the airlines had failed to measure up to the tasks imposed on them, such a position might be justified. But they have not failed. We are fighting this war to save private enterprise, not to destroy it. Every pilot who wears the uniform of a commercial airline can be doubly proud. He is carrying on a military mission against the enemy, and as a civilian he is helping mightily to preserve a nucleus from which the airlines can expand in the peace to come, over the entire world, bringing to all peoples a good example of what the free institutions of America can do.

—o—

GASOLINE "VITAMINS"

When spectacular figures on the performance of a new type military plane are released, there is a general tendency to overlook one important factor: fuel and its bearing on the breathtaking record of modern aircraft.

For example, a standard airline transport plane can carry 24 passengers with 100 octane fuel operating on engines designed for it, while the same ship flying with 73 octane fuel and comparable engines can carry only 10 passengers.

Our 2,000-horsepower engines would still be draftsmen's dreams without the high test gas to run them. And it takes a lot more than oil wells to produce that gas. Millions of dollars in research and decades of painstaking laboratory experiment were required before the fuel was produced that could send the present efficient high altitude, heavily armored bombers over enemies. The oil industry was experimenting with gasoline "vitamins' before anybody ever heard of Hitler or Hirohito or before there was any conceivable need for a super-gasoline. The experimenting was simply impelled by the spirit that keeps this country going so magnificently the spirit born of our heritage of freedom. We can be thankful that it still exists.

—o—

A DIFFERENT STORY

Freezing labor in highly-paid industries is a far different story than freezing low-paid labor on the farm. John Brandt, President of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation, points out that "farm labor frozen into its job would soon be taking advantage of the situation. Men forced to stay in farm jobs at fixed wages, while industrial labor enjoys high wages, short hours and luxury living, can be expected to become resentful and shirk their work.

"If American farmers are going to be able to produce enough food to win this war, it is time Washington took a realistic attitude toward agriculture and adopted a program that will be practical, workable and really helpful to the farm men and women who ask for only two things: the same consideration that labor receives; and an opportunity to help win this war by cessation of bureaucratic theorizing, regimentation and interference."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE VALUE OF THE CHURCH TO THE SOCIAL ORDER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5.13-16; Mark 12:13-17; I Peter 2:13-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are the salt of the earth . . . Ye are the light of the world.—Matthew 5:13, 14.

Social and political leaders have in the church the strongest influence for good in all the world. One marvels that those who profess to seek the best for humanity, who try every kind of social experiment, who labor with every expedient of man, fail to see and use in full measure the power of Christianity. Perhaps the explanation is that some of these leaders are themselves unsaved men, who do not understand spiritual things, and are not willing to give God the glory. Perhaps in the case of others it is because of ignorance or lack of contact with the church.

Whatever the reason, the situation should be remedied. America could solve her problems, both social and political, by a nation-wide revival of true Christianity, with the accompanying salvation of thousands of unconverted. If we cannot have that, let us not fail to have a revival in our own hearts, our own churches, our neighborhoods or communities.

We find in our lesson that the church is

I. A Powerful Influence for Moral Good (Matt. 5:13-16).

Salt in the midst of corruption, light in a world of unbelievable darkness—what striking and meaningful figures with which to describe the Christian.

Believers are the "salt of the earth" because they draw their savor from God Himself. The Christian church, by God's own statement, is His own powerful antiseptic which preserves the social order from falling into the moral decay which sometimes seems imminent. It should, therefore, be honored and encouraged by that society which it serves.

Christians are the "light of the world," and it is the essential nature of light to shine. The darker its surroundings the more marked its brightness, and the more needed its illumination. The good works of Christians reflect the goodness of God, and so they glorify His worthy name. Brother, is your light burning brightly in this wicked world?

II. A Stabilizing Element in Society (Mark 12:13-17).

The world is in social ferment, and our own country has its share of "isms" and social theories calling men to follow, asking their loyalty, making them Utopian promises without foundation.

Alert and intelligent Americans are concerned about these clamorous voices, many of which are quite properly suspected of having purposes far from beneficial to our American way of life, or to democracy itself. Yet they dare not oppose them lest there be the cry of denial of freedom of speech, etc.

What can we do to meet them? Here is the answer: Preach Christ. Bring men to a saving knowledge of Him and to a godly way of living. For the Christian is directed by Christ Himself to "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's"—and they do it too, because they have first rendered "to God the things that are God's."

III. A Loyal Example of Good Citizenship (I Pet. 2:13-17).

The highest measure of loyalty to country is the Christian standard here stated. In Romans 13:1-10 we learn that all authority comes from God and that the power of rulers is to be recognized as His gift. That means that true rulers will submit to Him in every detail of their government, seeking to know and to do His will.

However, the Christian gives loyal obedience to the "powers that be" even though they may not recognize the source of their power. This is subject only to the limitation that they may not demand that we do those things that dishonor God's name. Since their only real power to rule comes from Him, they have no authority to tell anyone to do that which is against His holy will. When that happens, the Higher Authority takes over and our loyalty must be to Him, the King of kings. The Christian then will be the best citizen, eager to do what king or country may ask, in order thus to bear a good testimony and to close the mouth of foolish critics of the church.

The history of our country and of other lands reveals the names of many illustrious Christian patriots, and the roll of honor of those who loved and served their country well in the humble and difficult places, would bear its hundreds of thousands of names which are found also on the roll of the church.

Christians, let us be earnest and intelligent followers of Christ, whose lives count for moral uprightness. "For God and Country" is the excellent motto of the American Legion, but it should be more than that; it should be the purpose of every Christian citizen.

18-22 PIKE STREET—COVINGTON

This Week On The Home Front

The telephone jangled in the Office of Price Administration, the War Production Board, and the Office of Defense Transportation. The caller proved to be Santa Claus, who wanted a little private session with the very top executives of those national war agencies. The men were very busy, but they knew it was the beginning of Santa's busy season, too, and that he wouldn't have called unless it was absolutely necessary.

So they had their meeting, and as a result there will be no restrictions this year upon the production, distribution and sale of Christmas trees!

Each agency had some very fine suggestions. The ODT wants shippers to use box cars, instead of open cars; the WPB wants sound forestry practices observed, and the OPA asks that prices be held to the level of last year.

Great fellow, this Santa!

• • •

The OPA is moving to put specific dollar-and-cents ceiling prices on ice boxes, a step designed to save consumers a good many dollars.

• • •

What are those gasoline coupons worth? A, B, and C are worth 4 gallons each. D is worth 1½ gallons, E is worth 1 gallon, and R, T-1 and T-2, 5 gallons.

• • •

To save an additional million gallons of thyl alcohol per year for military production, use of alcohol in toiletries and cosmetics, shoe polishes, and candy glazes will be limited to 50 percent of the amount used in a base period. A 30-per cent reduction already was in effect.

• • •

The WPB's Office of Civilian Supply has begun a survey to determine what simplifications of consumer goods have taken place since the war's outbreak.

• • •

Industry transportation plans for conservation of motor vehicles engaged in the transportation of agricultural commodities "must not be used as a means by which one group can oppress another," the ODT warns. The ODT is vitally interested in the preservation of motor vehicles used in this way, but warns that this should be accomplished as far as possible without destroying existing relationships among producers, haulers, receivers and others interested in the marketing of farm commodities.

• • •

Motorists with idle tires still to be turned in are warned to take them to a Railway Express Agency office, or have the agency pick them up at once. All casings over five must be disposed of before Saturday, December 12. After that, no gasoline can be sold if the driver owns more than five tires.

• • •

Telephone materials are so critically short that new pleas have been made to conserve them. It is suggested that telephone calls be briefer, that more party lines be used, and slower service standards be accepted.

• • •

On Sept. 5, Elmer Davis, Director of War Information, announced that 239 non-essential government publications had been discontinued and 284 others curtailed. On Nov. 29, the German-controlled radio in Paris said that Mr. Davis "has decided to suppress 239 great United States newspapers and 280 other publications have suffered considerable reduction in size and circulation."

• • •

All records for supplemental gasoline rationing will be thrown open to the public as soon as administratively feasible, the Cleveland regional OPA office has announced. A first check in Cleveland indicated a 4-per cent error, with some boards interpreting the regulations too narrowly and some too closely. Birkett L. Williams, regional OPA administrator, gave high praise to the work of the War Price and Rationing Boards in handling the distribution.

• • •

Alloy steel production in October was 60 per cent higher than production in an average month of 1941.

• • •

Great Lakes carriers had moved 91,338,000 gross tons of iron ore this year as of Nov. 29—a great contribution to the war effort. The early cold spell probably has shattered hopes of a still larger tonnage.

• • •

The ODT has asked that sale of tickets to the New Year's Day football games be restricted to the immediate area of the "bowls" in which the games will be played in order to cut down passenger transportation.

• • •

Price Administrator Lon Henderson has declared that the Department of Agriculture's recently-announced price-support program for many major farm commodities had his complete and unqualified endorsement. At the same time, he said, the OPA, in setting price ceilings over these support "floors" has not and will not take any action that might hamper maximum farm output.

• • •

The 65-degree temperature the government war agencies have asked Americans to maintain in their homes is well within not only the health zone, but even the comfort zone, the WPB says on the basis of a letter from Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general. In the absence of scientific data on the subject, Dr. Parran gave it as his opinion that room temperature of 55 degrees would not impair health materially. Even temperatures as low as 40 degrees would cause only slight impairment, he said.

• • •

Rations of fuel oil for heating throughout the 30-state rationed area will continue unchanged for the five weeks of the second heating period.

• • •

Expressing concern over the unusual number of fires in motion picture theaters reported from various parts of the country in the past several weeks, the government is urging theater owners to make careful safety inspections.

A drop of nearly 14 per cent in enrollment of institutions of higher learning from October, 1941, to October, 1942, is reported by the U. S. Office of Education.

• • •

To guard against winter shortages of butans and propane gas when consumption of these fuels is at its peak, chiefs of the liquified petroleum gas and equipment units of the armed services and the War Production Board are taking joint action to build up reserves of these fuels on the premises of the consumers.

• • •

Plans are being made by the War Manpower Commission in collaboration with the Department of Agriculture to provide labor for record agricultural production in 1943 call for a highly mobile army of experienced full-time farm workers aided by corps of local volunteers to meet peak-season demands.

• • •

No farmer is to be put out of business as a result of the ODT's certificate-of-war-necessity plan, the ODT says in a message to farmers, stock raisers, and dairymen.

• • •

Formal action setting Dec. 15 as the deadline for late applications for War Ration Book 1 has been taken. The No. 1 book is the sugar-and-coffee book.

A Pennsylvania housewife scrapped a pancake griddle, made by one of her ancestors at his forge shortly after the Revolution. It had served five generations of pancake enthusiasts.

A Week of The War

Washington—Operations on all fronts against the Axis are progressing favorably, Secretary of War Stimson said. He summarized the situation as follows: (1) The Germans have failed in all of their main objectives for the year in Russia and will have to withdraw from wide areas unless they can stop the Russian counter-offensive. (2) The Allies are building up strong assault forces in Tunisia to oust the Axis, but the enemy there will "offer strong resistance." (3) American and Australian troops have cornered substantial numbers of Japanese troops between Gona and Buna in New Guinea. (4) Although weather conditions make extensive activity difficult in the Aleutions, American fliers are doing everything possible to harass the enemy.

Navy Secretary Knox said it is unlikely the Japanese can get reinforcements into Guadalcanal. Australian troops, advancing on Buna, have smashed Japanese counterattacks, while Allied bombers blasted enemy gun nests and mortar emplacements, Gen. MacArthur's New Guinea headquarters reported November 28. Japanese naval forces, however, despite heavy losses, have landed "strong fresh reinforcements" on the Buna-Gona beachhead. Earlier Allied airmen sank two and probably three troop-laden destroyers and definitely sank one other destroyer and two smaller vessels.

Communiques during the week reported Allied forces in North Africa destroyed 100 Axis planes and 21 medium tanks at the cost of nine Allied planes destroyed and four damaged. The War Department estimated U. S. army and navy casualties from the initial landings in the North African operations. Army, killed, 350; wounded, 900; missing, 350; Navy, killed, 10; wounded, 150; missing, 150.

Rationing

President Roosevelt, in letters to Rubber Director Jeffers and Price Administrator Henderson, stated, "We must do everything within our power to see that the (mileage rationing) program starts December first because victory must not be delayed through failure to support our fighting forces." Expanded passenger car tire and tube quotas for December to meet needs in the first month of mileage rationing—the plan under which virtually all passenger cars become eligible to apply for needed recapping services or replacement tires—were announced by the Office of Price Administration. The total of passenger car tires and recapping services combined is 2,301,342 for December, against 1,285,189 for November.

Rubber Director Jeffers stated that unless tires are conserved in the U. S. by nationwide gasoline rationing until synthetic rubber production gets into full swing in 944, the United Nations' rubber stockpile will be reduced to "considerably below the point of reasonable safety." In 1943, there will be only 30 million tires, including recaps, available for automobiles, compared with a normal demand of 48 million tires. "If all goes well," Mr. Jeffers said, "we should be able to allocate important quantities of rubber for the manufacture of civilian tires in the early months of 1944. Then if there is no hitch in the program, we should be able in 1944 to replace in a large measure the automobile tires now in use on the 27 million passenger cars and the 5 million trucks operating in the United States."

The Office of Civilian Defense said that beginning November 30, two million civilian defense block leaders will "swing into action to carry in a co-ordinated national campaign the Government's voluntary share the meat plan to every city, town and village in the land."

Stabilization of Wages

The War Labor Board delegated to War Secretary Stimson the power to rule upon all wage and salary adjustments of the more than one million civilian employees in the U. S. and Alaska employed by the War Department, the army exchange services and Government owned, privately-operated facilities of the Department. The Board issued a list of 29 industries employing 8 million workers in which its regional directors will be authorized to act on requests for wage increases to correct maladjustments by applying the little steel formula without board review.

The Armed Forces

War Secretary Stimson announced army furloughs will be granted between December 12 and January 12 to no more than 10 percent of the enlisted strength of any camp or station at any one time. Mr. Stimson said many young officers have been transferred from Washington jobs to combat duty, and continue to be transferred until at least two-thirds of the officers on duty in Washington will be men more than 35. The Federal Communications Commission announced that after December 1, members of the armed forces and persons sending money to them will receive a 50 per cent rate reduction on domestic telegraph money orders up to $25.

Selective Service registrants will be required to carry classification cards as well as registration cards with them at all times, beginning January 1.

Farm Production and Prices

Agriculture Secretary Wickard announced 1943 food-for-freedom goals asking the highest production in the history of American agriculture. The goals will shape next year's farm production to the needs of the United Nations, and are aimed at maintaining or exceeding the record levels attained this year. The 1943 corn acreage allotment for the commercial corn area will be 43,423,000 acres, as compared to 41,338,000 acres in 1942, in order to insure feed for 1944 and beyond.

To combat a critical butter shortage, the WPB prohibited dairy producers from distributing whipping cream or other heavy cream. The order does not affect coffee cream and does not apply to any farmer who delivers up to four quarts of heavy cream per day if his deliveries averaged less than one gallon daily in the three months ended November 25.

Labor Supply and Disputes

Selective Service Director Hershey instructed all local draft boards to refuse releases for enlistment of essential aircraft or shipbuilding workers—registrants employed in these industries who are or should be classified in Class 2-B or 3-B. War Manpower Chairman McNutt announced that a comprehensive list of "essential" occupations has been prepared to guide selective service boards in determining occupational deferment and to aid the U. S. Employment Service in deciding activities having a prior claim on a worker available for placement.

The Office of War Information reported that approximately 15 million U. S. women—less than 23 per cent of the total female population—are now gainfully employed, 4 million of them in war jobs. The Office estimated there will be 18 million women in paid employment by next year—6 million of them in war industries. Germany, as early as 1939, had 37 per cent of her women working. The WLB announced the number of man-days lost from war industry strikes decreased from 318,892 in September to 167,865 in October—the lowest since last January.

Transportation

The Public Roads Administration said its surveys show the average speed of passenger cars on rural highways since the institution of the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit has been reduced to 37 miles per hour, and trucks to 36 miles per hour. Another survey showed that in 12 war plants in six states the majority of the employees travel to work by automobile. Office of Defense Transportation Director Eastman recommended that buses and street cars space their stopping places in cities at distances from 600 to 1,200 feet. He said any distance less than 500 feet would be wasteful of rubber, gasoline, and equipment.

Right now you have an opportunity to cash in on high milk prices. Many farmers are "cashing in" by adding Wayne I-Q Dairy Feeds to their grains and roughage. They know that milk producing cows need extra minerals and vitamins, and that Wayne I-Q Dairy Feeds are made to supply just the right combination of these nutrients. No matter what combination of grains and roughage are available, we can outline a profitable feeding plan for you.

4 Months Old

Time for WAYNE I-Q FITTING RATION

Your heifers cannot depend on pasture or roughage alone for their growth requirements and body-building nutrients. They need the extra building materials furnished in Wayne I-Q Fitting Ration (fortified with Vitamin D). See that they get the right start toward high production and long life. Be sure they are fully developed at freshening time and ready to turn their feed into lots of milk. Wayne is good for dry cows too.

Look for the Wayne I-Q Seal on the bag.

Miss Jayne Hawes returned home Saturday, after spending a few days with her brother, Ed. Hawes, of Covington, who is somewhat improved after a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Lucas entertained with a turkey dinner on Thanksgiving in honor of the wedding anniversary of their children, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lucas. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lucas and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle and daughter, Mrs. R. S. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lucas and sons and the host and hostess.

Mrs. Julia Anderson

Mrs. Julia Anderson, 312 Cross St., Elsmere, died at her residence Friday after an illness of six weeks. She was 72.

A resident of Elsmere for the last 25 years, she was a member of the Elsmere Baptist Church.

She is survived by two sons, Albert Anderson, Erlanger and Julius in the Navy at Norfolk, Va.; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Myers, and Mrs. Arthur Patrick, both of Erlanger, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the Taliaferro funeral home, with services at Elsmere Baptist Church Monday at 2:30, with Rev. C. B. Coots, officiating. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Pallbearers were Mrs. Chas. McKinley, Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. A. G. Morgan, Mrs. Chas. Wolfe, Mrs. O. G. Kendall, Mrs. Ed Garnett.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

The Norfolk Southern Railway Company has offered locations on its right-of-way as scrap collection centers for all counties through which the road passes.

Three tons of jewelry dies, originally costing over $250,000, were contributed to the scrap drive by a manufacturing jeweler in New York City.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Files of The Boone County Recorder

ISSUE OF DECEMBER 7, 1922

Burlington

Miss Pink Cowen spent last Friday in Rising Sun, Ind., having some dental work done.

Miss Katherine Bierman, of Latonia, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Morris, several days last week.

Alexander and Virginia Yelton took Thanksgiving dinner with W. L. B. Rouse and family in Limaburg neighborhood.

Beech Grove

Grant Williamson and family visited his parents over the week-end.

J. W. Ryle was called to Petersburg last Friday on account of the death of his sister, Mrs. Hogan Wingate.

Shelby Cowen and Ed Hawes, of Covington spent Sunday in Burlington with relatives and friends.

Hubert Rouse has been quite ill for several days.

Nonpariel Park

Miss Beatrice Cahill spent Sunday with her grandparents, Mike Cahill and wife.

John Powell Crouch and wife have gone to housekeeping on Mermes Ave., Covington.

George Marksberry and family will soon move into their new bungalow he just erected on Dixie Highway.

Mrs. Charles Snyder, who underwent an operation of the nose is doing nicely at this writing.

Hebron

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones entertained several of their friends, Sunday.

Miss Jessie Jones of Florence, was the guest of her brother Ralph and wife Saturday and Sunday.

Luther Rouse and wife entertained relatives and friends at dinner, last Sunday.

Francesville

Miss Laura Katherine Evans spent several weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Venn and other relatives in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Chester Utz, of near Hebron, was a guest of Mrs. Clint Riddell, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ryle and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Batchelor and Noah Sebree spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munz and family.

Pt. Pleasant

The community joins in extending sympathy to Mrs. Addie Gaines in the death of her mother, Mrs. Lucinda Utz.

Misses Gladys Jergens, Edith Carder and Sarah Tanner spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Keene Souther.

Gunpowder

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lutes entertained the young folks with a dance Saturday night.

H. F. Ut[illegible] and wife were guests of P. J. A[illegible]en and wife, of Point Pleasant, last Sunday.

Union

Miss Mar[illegible] Hedges, of Covington, was the guest of Charles Hedges and family several days last week.

Flickertown

Miss Alice White spent last week in Newport with friends.

Paris Akin and family, of Winchester, Ky., visited relatives here last week.

Bullittsburg

Mrs. Emm[illegible] Brown is spending the week with Mrs. Bert Gaines, of the Peters[illegible]urg pike.

BETTER METHODS UP COTTON PRICE

By having his cotton ginned and then selling it baled, A. R. Inman of Marshall County, Kentucky, says he received $12.39 more per bale than he would have received had he sold it in the seed to the ginner. His 4.7 acres harvested 2,580 pounds of seed cotton which ginned 1,040 pounds of lint. He expected the crop to return $270. The variety was DPL 12. Most cotton growers reported good yields, but some of the cotton was slightly stained, according to County Agent Herman E. Rothwell.

COWS AND SHEEP RETURN PROFITS

Cows and sheep are helping the profits of [illegible]air county farmers, according to County Agent R. B. Rankin. Elbert Sharp has sold cream for more than $1,000 so far this year; also several veal calves. Then he used skimmilk to feed hogs and chickens.

J. C. Hood, a director of the county's sheep protective association, received $453 from the wool and lambs from 20 ewes, he reported to the county agent. Several farmers have done extra well with their hogs this season.

EYES ON THE LAND AS WAR UPS PRICE OF FARM PRODUCTS

War prices for farm products are once again attracting the attention of many persons. In answer to numerous inquiries about buying land and farming, received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, Prof. L. A. Bradford has written a circular called "Farming as a Business."

"Money profits in farming are not large in normal times," warns Prof. Bradford. "Much of the value to be derived from farming may come from the direct consumption of things the city man can get only with cash. This pamphlet lays large emphasis on farming as a way of life. Such farming offers security that is usually not obtained through salaried jobs. Good farming offers the promise of a comfortable living and a wholesome life.

"The farm is recognized to be unsurpassed as a place to rear a family. It provides hundreds of satisfactions to those who [illegible]e it. Farming is concerned with life as well as with things. These advantages and satisfactions can be had by those who approach farming with a good attitude and understanding and on a sound financial basis.

"Most farmers who have succeeded used this approach. Most of those who have failed approached farming on false assumptions. The discriminating family acts with good judgment in all things and particularly in choosing and buying a farm."

Among the subjects discussed by Prof. Bradford are cost of living on farms, learning how to farm, selecting a farm, the farm as an investment and as a place to live, farm houses and equipment, cash payments in buying a farm, building up run-down land, selecting crops, and farming plans.

The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars from accumulated savings and idle funds in the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort — without compensation of any kind — to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s — available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the Victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

BUY THESE VICTORY 2½'s NOW

Twenty-six year 2½ per cent bonds due December 15, 1968, callable December 15, 1963. Issued in coupon or registered form at the option of the buyer. Commercial banks will not be permitted to hold these bonds until ten years after the date of issue. There is no limit on the amount any eligible investor may purchase. Interest is paid semi-annually, June 15 and Dec. 15. The bonds will be sold in denominations from $500 to $100,000. In the event of the death of a holder, the bonds may be redeemed at 100% and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying federal estate taxes.

Two series of shorter term obligations: (a) 1¾ per cent bonds due June 15, 1948, and (b) ⅞ per cent certificates of indebtedness due one year after issuance. These securities are open for subscription by banks, and also by all other classes of investors, whether private, corporate or institutional.

Other Treasury Securities offered to investors through the Victory Fund Committee are Treasury Tax Savings Notes A and C, and U. S. Savings Bonds, Series F and G.

Series E. Will Also Count On Boone County's Quota

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM,
Economist,
Director of Adult Education,
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics releases regularly figures on the cost of living which should be of interest to everyone. One of the yardsticks which it uses to measure living costs is called the "market basket." This "market basket" contains food items which are purchased weekly by the American housewife, and is made up of: 3 pounds of round steak; 2 pounds of bacon; 1 quart of milk; 1 pound of butter; 1 pound of lard; 1 dozen eggs; 1 loaf of bread; 1 peck of potatoes; 3 pounds of cabbage; 1 dozen oranges; 1 can corn; 1 can tomatoes; 5 pounds sugar; and 1 pound of coffee.

The last time I referred to this on September 19, 1941 the cost of this "market basket" was $4.90. By December 1941 it had risen to around $5.05, but by October 13, 1942, the cost of these articles had increased to $5.79. So you see the purchasing power of your dollar is shrinking month by month. In 1933, when prices were at their lowest level, you could have purchased these commodities for only $3.26.

You must remember these prices are figured on a national average but it should be very interesting to see what this "market basket" would cost at your grocer and butcher, and check it with the national average.

In Taylor county, Ewing Gabehard planted 100 pounds of potatoes this spring and harvested 2,000 pounds.

ONLY GOOD CREAM WANTED FOR ARMY BUTTER SUPPLY, SAYS CLARK, FOOD CHIEF

With the government—on behalf of America's armed forces—having first call on the nation's butter supply, now more than ever is the time for the farmer to produce only good cream, the raw material from which good butter is made, J. O. Clarke, chief of the Federal Food and Drug Administration district which embraces this area, points out.

"We're in a people's war," says Mr. Clarke. "There is not one of us today who hasn't some member of his family or a very dear friend in the armed forces. Would you relish the thought of his eating tained butter—or tainted anything? Of course not."

There is no question but that the principal cause of confiscated butter is cream which had spoiled because something was done wrongly, or something was left undone, somewhere along the farm production line, he states. The vast majority of seizures are the result of a high mold test—proving that bad cream had found its way into the manufacture of a particular batch of butter. Unless the farmer takes every possible precaution in producing and delivering good cream, he is depriving our Army, Navy and Allies of needed foodstuffs—to say nothing of the trouble and loss he is storing up for himself, the creamery, his cream buyer, and everybody else concerned.

Cream that has been allowed to spoil can never be made good again according to Mr. Clarke. "No amount of straining or other treatment will bring it back. There are three elements in the production of good cream—sanitation, prompt cooling, and frequent delivery. Of the three sanitation is probably the most important. It means the prevention of dirt, hairs and particles of any kind from dropping into the milk, and it means prevention of contamination from bacteria on unclean equipment—the use of dirty separator or storage in dirty cans or other utensils. While much of the foreign matter which may enter can be strained out of milk, the full wholesomeness of an exceptionally delicate food product, once harmed, can never be wholly restored.

"The practice of rejecting unfit cream and of buying cream on grade is gaining rapidly, and it appears only a matter of a little while longer before the farmer who habitually produces poor cream will no longer have a place to sell it. The states which have organized their cream improvement programs in line with War Production Board recommendations offer an interesting commentary on this trend. While the programs are not exactly alike for any two states, without exception all provide for the rejecting of illegal cream, for the seggregation of cream by grade and for payment of a higher price per pound butterfat—usually three cents—for No. 1 cream than for cream grading No. 2."

Mr. Clarke suggests a simple little test any farmer can use in checking on the quality of his cream ever before it leaves the farm: "If you taste it and want to swallow it, that's good cream. If you taste it and want to spit it out, that's poor cream. And if you won't even taste it, that's bad cream."

COLLEGE REPORTS LESSONS LEARNED IN GROWING HEMP

Summing up experiences of Kentucky farmers growing seed hemp this season, the following comments were issued by the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics:

Hemp for seed may be planted as late as June 1, or even later. April 10 is about as early as it should be planted.

Much seed hemp was planted too close this year. On rich bottom land the hills probably should be 5 to 6 feet each way, and on upland 4 to 5 feet.

Seed hemp should be thinned to 2 or 3 plants on bottom land and 3 to 4 plants on upland. In many instances this season too many plants were left. This interfered with branch growth and reduced seed production.

Cutworms, grasshoppers and groundhogs eat hemp. Be prepared to scatter poisoned bran mash in the hemp field.

Male plants should be removed when they have turned yellow, or even when they have shed their pollen.

Some seed hemp was cut too early this year. If close examination shows that much of the seed is green, it may be best to delay harvest for a few days, even if some seed is lost through shattering.

In many instances shocks were set so straight this year that they blew down and seed shattered off. Shock bases should be wide and plants slanted 45 degrees.

Begin beating out the hemp seed just as soon as it is dry enough, and rush the job. This would have saved much seed this year, and materially increased the yield.

A sow owned by Charlie Kelsay of Adair county farrowed 19 pigs, 15 of which were saved. He expects to make the litter weigh at least a ton when it is five to six months old. Mont Conover of Adair county sold eight pigs which weighed 1,985 pounds when six months old.

COWS SET PACE TO MEET WAR DEMANDS

Cows in the Holstein herd at the Kentucky Experiment Station are doing double duty in the war effort. That is, they are producing more than double the amount the average cow produces in the United States.

Seven Holsteins which recently completed a year on test made an average record of 384 pounds of butterfat and 11,243 pounds of milk. A senior two-year-old produced 439 pounds of butterfat and a three-year-old produced 424 pounds of butterfat.

HENS ARE PROFITABLE

While Robert Quinen of Bell county was away working in the mines, his wife cared for a flock of 400 hens that produced 72,892 eggs in the year ending Sept. 30. These eggs sold for $1,881.31, or enough to buy a $2,000 war bond, with some left over, notes County Agent R. V. Trosper. When the feed bill was deducted the net profit was $939.29.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Altho when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished, muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

CO. CHAIRMAN MAKES REPORT

ON BOND SALES—ONLY $146,093.50 HAD BEEN SUBSCRIBED SATURDAY TOWARD $490,000.00 QUOTA FOR DECEMBER.

Up to last Saturday night only $146,093.50 had been subscribed for all classes of bonds in the Victory Drive to raise a quota of $490,000.00 for Boone County. The banks subscribed for $110,000.00 of the $146,093.50 total subscriptions. The banks' subscriptions being in 1¾ percent 5½ year bonds, they not being permitted to subscribe for the 2½ percent bond. The banks have indicated that they plan to subscribe for $55,000.00 of the 7-8 per cent 1 year notes this week which increases our total in sight to over $200,000.00. This leaves $290,000.00 yet to raise by individual subscription if we are to reach our quota. The large subscriptions entered by the banks have already been included in the above totals.

The precinct chairman and their co-workers are out working hard this week to try to put this drive over the top. Are you helping by your subscription?

Our boys in the front lines and in the training camps are not having an easy job and when they come home they are going to ask what we on the home front did to help win this war. The Government must be financed and if we do not subscribe to our limit in these bond drives for funds then we should not complain if heavy taxes are levied on every one to get this money. No one is being asked to give anything in this drive, but to lend our money on the best security on earth, a Government Bond.

The people of France said it could not happen there and many feel that it can not happen here, but it can happen here if Hitler is not defeated. France has lost everything and its people are cold and hungry and are being transported to Germany and compelled to work in munition plants or placed in concentration camps if they refuse to work. France and other European countries would gladly give everything they possessed now if they could be free.

Let's not do too little and too late. Our Government is calling us. What are you doing? Subscribe liberally now for these bonds —$490,000.00 means approximately $50.00 for every man, woman and child in Boone County. Some can only take a $25.00 bond, while others must take $1,000.00, $5,000.00 and $10,000.00 to put this drive over. Get your subscription and cash or check to your bank before next Wednesday night, December 23rd.

4756 LBS. CASTOR BEANS PRODUCED

BY BOONE COUNTY GROWERS—SOLD TO GOVERNMENT THRU COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION.

Boone County growers raised 4756 pounds of castor beans on 62 acres, in 1942, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. All beans produced were sold to the government through the Commodity Credit Corporation. The crops were weighed up and accepted by the local Agricultural Conservation Association.

John E. Crigler, secretary of the local association reports the crop cleared an average of 66 per cent of the grass weighed and averaged $3.77 per hundred net to the grower.

The largest crop in the county was 1303 pounds per acre grown by L. K. Duvall of Florence 4-H Club. The lowest yield was 150 pounds per acre. The average gross income was $28.91 per acre.

The crop was grown by L. K. Duvall, Florence; Norma Mae Wallace, Verona; John Franklin Jones and Bruce Ferguson of New Haven; Earl and Lee Conner, Burlington, all 4-H club members; Dorothy Souther, Burlington, a Utopia Club member; and Charles R. Willis, Hebron, F. F. A. member.

Castor beans are used to produce vital oil in war production. All members grew their crops as a contribution to our war program and not for the money return. The crop would have produced a much larger income had it been planted in April and frost had come later in the season.

Officers Named By Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company

Officers for the coming year were selected at the annual directors' meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boone County, held at its office in Burlington, December 7. Officers for 1943 are as follows:

Hubert Conner, president; Hugh Stephens, vice president; Peoples Deposit Bank, treasurer; F. H. Rouse, secretary.

The executive committee is composed of Hugh Stephens, H. L. McGlasson and J. W. Connley. L. R. Barlow was re-elected as agent for the company.

Cotton & Eskew, public accountants, of Louisville, who recently audited the books of the company praised officials of the organization for the efficient manner in which the affairs of the company were conducted. The company was last examined June 30, 1938 and the present examination covered the period from July 1, 1938 to June 30, 1942. A detailed check of receipts and disbursements was made for the entire period.

In commenting on the records of the Company S. W. Eskew writes, "We found the records of the company kept neatly and accurately, and we feel they are adequate for recording transactions incident to its business."

WEED AVERAGE 40.51 FIRST WEEK

OF SALES, ACCORDING TO SURVEY MADE BY UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Opening week sales in the eight-state burley tobacco area brought growers an average of $40.29 a hundredweight, with increases of up to $14 in various grades over the first week of last year, the United States Department of Agriculture reported.

Contributing substantially to the over-all figure was Kentucky's average of $40.51, announced by the State Department of Agriculture.

U. S. D. A. tabulations showed gross sales of 57,106,584 pounds in the eight states. During opening week a year ago gross sales were 52,365,809 pounds and the average was $28.18.

Averages for good to choice quality grades last week were from $8 to $14 per hundredweight higher than last year. Increases for fair and low quality grades were smaller, ranging from $3 to $11.

This year's crop, although darkened somewhat by excessive rains during the curing season, and containing a large percentage of houseburned tobacco, was reported thin and dry, making it highly desirable as a smoking type.

CELEBRATION IS WELL ATTENDED

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY MEMBERS ANSWER ROLL CALL AT BURLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY.

Last Sunday was a day long to be remembered in the Burlington Baptist Church. Despite slippery roads, and cold, with the mercury standing near the zero mark a large crowd was in attendance to join in the one hundred anniversary celebration of the church.

One hundred fifty members answered present at the roll in the afternoon. Many members were unable to attend due to the slippery condition of the roads and some were not present due to illness in the family.

At the noon hour an old fashion basket dinner was served in the basement of the church. The afternoon session was devoted to talks by various members of the church, reminiscence of days past.

At the close of the afternoon session, all joined hands singing "God Be With You Until We Meet Again," after which the pastor Rev. R. A. Johnson led in prayer of thanks to God for His blessing and offering to God of pastor and people that the work might go in in a great way as in the past.

Elsmere Firemen Obtain New Building Saturday

The Elsmere Volunteer Fire Department acquired a new fire house and headquarters Saturday, Gordon Jennings, Kenton County Sheriff and President of the organization announced.

The new quarters, formerly known as Joyland Corner, is on the northeast corner of Ash and Garvey Avenues, Elsmere.

Although no improvements are planned at present, officers of the organization said that after the war the building would be remodeled to house the fire equipment.

The Fire Department is housed now in a frame building across the street from the new site.

His many friends here wish him a speedy recovery.

Walton and Florence Winners Friday Night

The Walton High School Bearcats defeated the Hebron High School Cardinals Friday night at Hebron, 39-35. This was a Boone County Conference tilt.

At the half, Hebron topped Walton, 12-9. Demaree scored 19 points for the winners, while Hogan scored 15 points for Hebron.

The Florence Knights chalked up their second straight victory Friday night on the Florence floor when they trounced the New Haven five 25 to 15.

Gayle and Audrey Rouse, of Burlington, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barlow, of Union.

SUPPLY OF HOME MEAT TAX FREE

MAY BE TAKEN INTO CONSIDERATION LATER IF MEAT IS RATIONED—SLAUGHTER OPERATORS LIMITED.

Many calls were received the past week in reference to a tax on home slaughtered meat, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. There is no tax on home slaughtered meat as to information at the County office no such move is planned. The home meat supply may be taken into consideration later if meat is rationed.

The County Live-at-Home program calls for producing and using on the farm as much of the home meat supply as possible. Every farmer should strive more today than ever to produce and preserve a good home supply of meat products. Such a program will not only feed the farm family but will eliminate much of the transportation, marketing and other services if the meat went through commercial channels.

There is an OPA ruling that the slaughter operators are limited to the sale of civilians up to 75 per cent of their base sale of pork, 70 per cent of beef, 100 per cent veal, 95 per cent lambs, for the corresponding period of 1941. This order would turn to commercial slaughtering.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION

EARLY MONDAY MORNING—OIL TRUCK AND CAR COLLIDE HEAD-ON AT 25 AND OLD FLORENCE ROAD.

Four Cincinnati residents were injured early Monday morning when the car in which they were riding collided with an oil truck of the Ashland Refining Co. The accident occured just north of Florence where the old highway intersects with U. S. 25 and 42.

Those injured in the accident were Clyde Ogden 45, of 1601 Brewster St., Cincinnati, injury over the right eye and face and leg lacerations; Mrs. Ogden, his wife was treated and released; three children of the couple suffering injuries were Lester, 22, possibly broken nose, face and leg scratches, Donald 20, laceration of face over mouth and nose, and Virginia 17, injured back. They were removed to the hospital by the ambulance of Philip Taliaferro.

The Ogden car was traveling north, while the truck was traveling south, colliding head-on. The Ogdens were returning from Louisville where the children, who are professional skaters, had made an appearance.

Sheriff Williams, who was called to the scene of the accident stated that the car was completely demolished. The driver of the truck James B. Clifton, Covington, escaped injury, Sheriff Williams stated.

Tandy Ellis Dies After Illness Of Two Weeks

James Tandy Ellis, 74, was found dead Wednesday morning of last week in the bathroom of his home, Ghent, Ky. He had been in failing health for the past two weeks.

He enjoyed a nationwide reputation as a lecturer, newspaper columnist, reconteur composer and singer of ballads, and banjo player. He has appeared before many gatherings in Boone County and has been heard from lectures platform in every state in the union. His appearances were signally characterized by a native humor, the telling of humorous stories and the singing of ballads which were all redolent of the Southland.

At the time of his death he was associated with the Kentucky State Highway Department in an advisory capacity in travel promotion work.

Funeral services were conducted at the Ghent Christian Church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, with burial in the Ghent Masonic cemetery.

EARLY MORNING XMAS SERVICE IS PLANNED AT HOPEFUL LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be an early Christmas Morning worship service at Hopeful Lutheran Church on Friday, Dec. 25, at 7:00 a. m. We invite all members and friends to worship with us. Come to church on Christmas Day.

Special speakers have been invited for the afternoon program.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

AUTO TIRES OBTAINABLE

UNDER NEW RATIONING PROGRAM, ACCORDING TO OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION IN NEWS RELEASE.

The Office of Price Administration reports that many motorists are eligible for tires under the new rationing plan.

The OPA said that after a rationing board has fixed the gasoline allotment for a motorist, the board then is permitted to issue tire certificates of these groups:

Motorists driving 560 miles or less per month are eligible for recapping service with passenger-type camelback, if the applicant has a recappable tire carcass; otherwise, the applicant is eligible for a Grade 3 tire.

Motorists driving 561 to 1,000 miles a month are entitled to recapping service with passenger-type camelback if the applicant has a recappable carcass; otherwise, a Grade 2 or Grade 3 tire may be obtained.

Motorists driving 1,000 miles a month or more are eligible for recapping if a suitable carcass is had, or else may obtain either Grade 1, 2 or 3 tire.

Motorists operating fleet passenger automobiles or official passenger cars for which interchangeable gasoline ration books have been issued may get recapping or Grade 3 tires.

All of the classifications are eligible for a new or used tube, whichever the applicant chooses, the OPA added.

Rev. W. L. Crumpler, of Louisville, spent the week-end with Rev. R. Adams Johnson.

NO TIME FOR POSTWAR CAR

Speculation over the shape of things to come from the automobile manufacturing plants immediately after the end of the war was doused in cold water the other day by a man who can properly be called "an authoritative spokesman." C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors in announcing that the company's 109 plants in the U. S. and Canada are now turning out war materials at a rate of more than $8,000,000 a day, was asked about the production of cars immediately after the war.

He predicted that they would not differ radically from the models which the industry recently stopped making. Then, referring to the fact that all of his company's technical skill was devoted exclusively to the goal of winning the war, he said:

"Any one who is able to produce a radically new automobile within six months after the peace will have been cheating during the war."

That one pungent sentence really stated all there is to be said about the postwar automobile—until the Detroit engineers have completed their wartime assignment of designing and producing better and better weapons for our fighting forces and have resumed their work of building a more efficient and comfortable peacetime world.

Some of the other things that Mr. Wilson said are of much more fundamental importance now. For instance, he announced that G. M. delivered $248,405,560 worth of war materials to the government in October, surpassing any previous month in its war production program or in the company's history. The jump over the previous month was by $35,554,200 worth, while the company's armaments deliveries for the year total nearly $1,500,000,000. The company's employment also is at an all-time high, with 356,705 men and women at work, including 13,175 in the Canadian plants.

Mr. Wilson characterized the rapid conversion of the automobile industry as the greatest industrial feat of the year and declared that "the American system of industry, with its initiative and individual management," was the factor chiefly responsible.

"No other system could have done as well," he said.

MARKING TIME

Many members of Congress who were defeated in November elections are unwilling to participate in framing controversial legislation. Democrat leaders take the position that all legislation that interferes with the President's authority should be held up until the new Congress goes into power. They say that it is better to let the President and the administration handle all military matters their own way, for the present.

As a matter of fact one finds very little politics in operation in Washington at this time. This inaction finds the Senate and House greatly disturbed about many problems, such as the shortage of fuel oil in homes, and many complex questions that have resulted from Executive orders creating new Czars to control various aspects of our wartime economy.

The job of trying to reestablish a new balance of power between Congress and the President has apparently been laid aside until 1943.

—o—

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

The United States has just passed its first anniversary in a global war, and the publication of the full story of the tragedy of Pearl Harbor overcast for a period the favorable news that came from our men battling in Africa and 'round the world through the Pacific.

Of course it is encouraging to read in this week's newspapers that today, a great new munitions industry is out-producing the Axis, particularly as these claims are verified by the cold figures put out by the Office of War Information in reporting the upward swing of production of planes, tanks, bombers, guns, ships, and materials.

While the President has been telling the country that there must be "no relaxation on the part of the manufacturers of the country" as long as any hostile force confronts us his Chief of War Production lays down a measuring-stick that proves that the United States is now entering the "third stage" of the war, with "all-out mobilization and centralized direction." This is a good description of the policy of our Government, and it has justified Mr. Nelson's conclusion that free enterprise has won its right to proceed in the war effort with less Governmental control—commonly known by the various names of "bureaucracy," "red tape," "socialism" and "confusion."

In reviewing the first year of the War Mr. Nelson declared that the success of production was so magnificent that the American public is hardly able to realize the greatness of our own accomplishments.

But Mr. Harley Lutz, professor Public Finance at Princeton University, really rings the bell when he says that there is no cause to worry about the final results of the military war, but "there is reason for the gravest concern over the outcome of our civil war—the war of the screwy social reformers against the American way of placed "strangle-holds upon business, and which can effectively prevent the private enterprise system from reasserting its traditional vigor."

But despite our rubber disasters, oil shortages, and countless other restrictions, the fact remains that American ingenuity, science, invention and countless discoveries in the world of today are harbingers of hope that American ingenuity will outstrip all the marvelous records that have been chalked up in this twentieth century.

—o—

THE WAYS OF WAR

The lives and habits of millions of people are under the control of Donald M. Nelson as Chairman of the War Production Board; Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, Leon Henderson, Price Administrator; James F. Byrnes, Harold Ickes, William Jeffers and James M. Landis.

Labor stability is "unstable," just as it has been ever since the war began, and for a half a dozen years before that time, so Paul McNutt is added to the above list, and made Czar over Manpower.

The War Labor Board has delegated to the Secretary of War the power to rule upon all wage and salary adjustments of more than 1,000,000 civilian employes; and the War Labor Board has issued an order allowing employers to make wage and salary adjustments for millions of women workers. At the same time the Department of Labor denies the charge that the nation's workers have been winning so many wage increases as to increase the danger of inflation.

The President passes over absolute control of all the unsettled problems of workers to Czar McNutt, which may seem easy enough except for the fact that the workers have very little to say about their employment in war production. Some 10 million of these workers have been herded into labor unions with the aid of various Administration agencies. Less than a half dozen "Czars" of union labor help William Green and Philip Murray pull the strings. John L. Lewis is not recognized as a factor in the AFofL and CIO peace movement.

THE BIRTH OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:8-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins.—Matthew 1:21.

How shall we keep Christmas this year of our Lord 1942? That is a question which is pressed home to all of us by trying circumstances, growing wickedness—yes, by countless things which try to tell us that there just is not any use to try to keep Christmas as usual this year.

Well, then let's make it unusual! Let's have it more genuinely Christmas-like than ever. That's what we and this weary world need. The way to do it is to make this more than ever a Christmas centering in Christ. Doing that will mean that this year we will

I. Keep Christmas With Joy (vv. 8-10).

"Merry Christmas" may sound a little flat and empty this year, for there may be little to create merriment. "We wish you happiness at Christmas!" will probably not fit very well, because happiness depends on what happens—and a good many of the wrong kind of things have happened to most (perhaps all) of us.

But joy—that is quite another matter. We do not tire of the reminder that joy is something which God gives in the heart and which goes so far down into the depths of man's soul that the surface tempests of life cannot disturb it. Remember Paul who was "sorrowful" on the surface "yet ever rejoicing" in heart (II Cor. 6:10).

The ground of our Christmas joy is the good tidings of Christ's coming. That has always been the real heart of Christmas joy, but often it has been obscured by tinsel and trimmings. This year let's get back to essentials.

And let it be said that this does not mean that we are going to omit all the precious little customs and pleasantries which have had their innocent part in making this a holiday season. No indeed; let us have them all, or as many as we can, but make the heart of it all Christian joy.

II. Keep Christmas With Assurance (vv. 11-14).

With so many other things (many of which we had foolishly regarded as permanent and sure) failing us, it is a delight to have something sure to tie to, and we have it this Christmas. Christ the Saviour has come!

Not only do we know that He was born, lo these many years ago, as the Babe in the manger in Bethlehem town, but we know that He still lives! He was born, died for our sins, was raised for our justification, ever lives to intercede for us, and He is one day to come again. The evidence for all this is plentiful and satisfying, and gives us abundant ground for the keeping of Christmas even this year in assurance.

This thought leads us to our third point. We have joy and assurance in order that we may

III. Keep Christmas As a Testimony (vv. 15-20).

Having found the Christ, the shepherds "made known abroad" (v. 17) the good news. They returned "glorifying and praising God" (v. 20).

They, too, lived in a time of great darkness. They were part of the people of whom the prophet said: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Isa. 9:2). That light was Christ, the "light of the world."

There could be no more appropriate time to testify to the world, whose lights have failed, that we keep Christmas because it tells of the coming into this world of the unfailing Light, the One who said of Himself: "I am the light of the world" (John 9:5).

Some day, if Christ should tarry, the world will return to a measure of sanity. One of the realities it will face is that the temporal and material is transitory, that a dependence on them is certain to disappoint. The spiritual and the eternal will then have new opportunity to commend itself to the hearts of men. That is why we want to keep Christmas this year as a ringing, joyous testimony to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

The writer of these notes does not often hear from his readers, scattered all over the continent (yes, and in foreign lands), but he counts them all as his friends. He prays for them, and counts it a joy to serve them through these lessons. So, since they are his friends, he says to every one of them who sees these lines: "May God make this a blessed Christmas. Through the clouds of trying circumstances may you see His face. Above the noisy clamor of this world may you hear the angel's song. And may the joy of the Lord fill your soul this Christmas Day!"

This week on home front .. ..

When December coal bills go out, people who have been buying at OPA ceiling prices will find 4 cents added to the cost of each ton. This is to pay for the federal transportation tax which became effective December 1. The OPA has ruled that this tax may be passed on and itemized separately.

Nearly 8,000,000 automobile tires had been forwarded to the government under the idle-tire purchase plan up to the close of business November 28. About half are in such bad shape that they cannot be repaired, a sample check indicates. These will be scrapped and the rubber reclaimed.

• • •

Rubber Director William W. Jeffers has asked the American people to act as 130 million "committees of one" to rid the nation's streets, alleys and highways of broken glass, nails, and other tire hazards.

• • •

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson has urged that factories close on Christmas Day, except for maintenance operations, and work at full blast on New Year's Day.

• • •

When J. Q. Public, citizen, and taxpayer, can't always get his favorite brand of candy bar he can be reasonably sure it's on its way to war. Chocolate is an emergency fund for soldiers and sailors.

• • •

The man-days of idleness due to strikes in all industry have dropped during a year of war to the lowest level in the last 5 years, although the number of persons employed has increased. The percentage of time lost in war industry strikes since Pearl Harbor never has risen above one-tenth of one percent, the National War Labor Board says.

• • •

Streamlined procedures have been set up by the ODT to handle appeals from commercial motor vehicle operators who consider the mileage and fuel allotments provided in their certificates of war necessity to be inadequate. Appeals will be handled in the ODT's 142 district offices. Farmers may appeal through their County War Boards. The appeals may be filed at once.

The National War Labor Board, asked by the National Retail Dry Goods Association to clarify Santa Claus' status under the wage stabilization law, was overcome by a surge of Christmas feeling and lifted the lid: "Provided that the term bona fide Santa Claus shall be construed to include only such persons as wear a red robe, white whiskers, and other well-recognized accouterments defitting their station in life, and provided that they have a kindly and jovial disposition and use their high office of juvenile trust to spread the Christmas spirit of goodwill among all men, women and children."

Men in the United States armed forces abroad can now send gifts or souvenirs to the value of $50 back home duty free. Shipments sent to service men abroad are duty-free when addressed through the army postoffice.

• • •

An additional 40,000 domestic vacuum cleaners that have been frozen in the hands of manufacturers and private-brand sellers since October 24 have been released. About 145,000 are being kept "on ice" for the armed forces and government services.

• • •

Changes in labor-shortage areas (Group 1), areas where shortages are anticipated (group 2), and areas where there is a surplus of labor (group 3) have been announced as follows: OHIO—Columbus, Hamilton, Lima, Lorain, Marion, moved from group 2 to group 1; Springfield added to group 1, Cincinnati Fostoria, and Mansfield moved from group 3 to group 2. WEST VIRGINIA—Point Pleasant moved from group 2 to group 1; Charleston and Wheeling added to group 3. KENTUCKY—Lexington moved from group 3 to group 2 and Louisville added to group 2.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's fifth war production report for October, issued last week, was called "disappointing" by the author. Overall production of munitions increased only 3 per cent during October over the September figure—the lowest monthly increase of the year. Plane production was down 5 per cent, due mostly to special factors affecting deliveries. Machine tool production reached a new high and increased 8.3 per cent over September. Merchant—ship production dropped 10 per cent but still was ahead of schedule.

Hayden H. Tracy, 80, has gone back to engineering after a lay-off of 20 years—and likes it. Former head of his own engineering company, he is now in the blueprint department of a shipyard in California. One of the improvements that has come to factories during his 20-year retirement is the woman in slacks. "Cute, aren't they? And smart, too," he says.

As a result of the American preparedness program which got under way about the time France was toppling, the United States had spent more money for war purposes three months after its entry into the war than it did during its entire 20 months' participation in the last war.

• • •

Heavily-increase consumer demand was described by the chief of the WPB's confectionery section as a principal factor in the chewing gum shortage, which is prevailing despite the fact that 1942 production almost equals the 1941 record output. Large purchases by the armed forces also are responsible.

• • •

The WPB has slashed production of fountain pens and mechanical pencils—so make the ones you have last a long time. It's like this: Fountain pens, 18,000,000 next year as against 50,000,000 in 1941. Wood-cased pencils, 7,365,000 gross next year as against 8,370,000 gross in 1941. And no crude or reclaimed rubber erasers on those wood-cased pencils.

• • •

Salesmen of certain listed "essential" commodities may obtain supplemental mileage rations.

• • •

Announced casualties of the United States armed forces from the war's outbreak until December 7 total 58,307, the OWI reports.

• • •

Rubber Director Jeffers first progress report makes it clear that there is every necessity for continuing through the critical Fall of 1943 a policy of rigid rubber conservation, and that complete exhaustion at that time of even so-called normal inventories of finished products is possible. Even if production hopes are met, the end of 1943 will find only 175,000 tons of rubber on hand in the nation's inventory.

Cancellation of rate increase granted rail carriers early this year has been sought by OPA in a petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The petition states that rail earnings have improved to a point where satisfactory profit positions can be maintained without the aid of the increases. At stake is an estimated $500,000,000 in yearly transportation costs.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST
Wm. Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 10:00 a. m. CWT. Tommy Stevens, Supt.

Worship Service 11:00. Sermon subject, "The Deacons."

We shall begin rehearsal of the Biblical drama, "A Tale of Old Bethlehem," Sunday afternoon as soon as we can get things ready. Cast please take notice. Any additional help will be appreciated. This play will be presented Sunday evening, December 27, 7:30 p. m. CWT. Members of the cast are: Everett Stevens, Mary Lou Williamson, Betty and Shake Ryle, Bob Williamson, Jack Purdy, Tommy Stevens, Leona Kruse, Mayme Holbrook, Dud Rouse and Bus Denniston. A group of vocal numbers will be given in connection with the play.

In addition to the play, the regular children's Christmas program will be presented the same evening. Mrs. Cam White, Mrs. Ray Holbrook and Mrs. Clare Wolfe are in charge.

Instead of the usual Sunday morning visit of St. Nick, and children's treat, the entire Church will enjoy an old fashioned Christmas party at the home of Bro. Allen Rogers, Wednesday evening, December 23rd, 7:00 CWT. Each guest is to bring a ten-cent gift. Women and girls will please mark their gifts, "girl" and men and boys mark theirs, "boy." Make up a party with your neighbors and share the ride to the time of your life.

Included in the character of the play also are Evelyn Ann Rogers and Priscilla Hamilton.

SOYBEANS HELP OUT COFFEE SHORTAGE

Mrs. Harry Whayne of Columbus Home makers' Club in Hickman county has found a way to stretch her coffee ration. To every tablespoon of coffee, she adds two of soybeans, which she has roasted and ground. "My husband likes it better than when all coffee is used," says Mrs. Whayne. Other substitutes being tried in the county are parched rye, wheat or barley and parched dried okra seeds.

The 1942 production of new typewriters is less than half of the more than 850,000 additional machines needed by the military and other Government services and agencies.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 6 of a Series)

Let One Reading Lamp Do The Work of Two

By arranging furniture and lamps carefully, you can often make one lamp do the work of two. An I. E. S. Lamp at the end of the divan, for example, can be moved to the center in back of the divan. Or two chairs or a chair and a divan can be grouped with a lamp to serve two persons with good light, as illustrated above. Be sure the lamp is close enough to both pieces of furniture, though. A difference of 12 inches can reduce the light you get by as much as 50%.

Inspect lamp cords where they come out of the lamp base. They fray and crumble quickly at this spot. If too badly worn they should be replaced or repaired to prevent possibility of short circuits.

VERONA HOMEMAKERS

The Verona Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Renaker, Friday, December 4 with chairman, Mrs. G. C. Ransom, presiding. Meeting opened by repeating the Club Collect.

Mrs. Ransom gave a report of the executive meeting held at Florence. Then came the roll, reading of secretary's report, and transaction of business. The lunch, was planned by foods leader, Mrs. Ira Harris, was pronounced good, appetizing in appearance, delicious to the taste and beautifuly served in the attractive, plant adorned dining room of Mrs. Renaker.

The afternoon opened with the singing of "Joy to the World." Mrs. Harris gave a splendid summary of the lesson on foods stressing the use of home grown, home-canned and home-stored foods, and suggesting variety in serving.

After some further discussions, program leader, Mrs. W. B. McCormick produced her program as follows:

Solo—"Holy Night" by Mrs. Moore with Mrs. Ransom at the piano.

"White Christmas—Mrs. Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Ransom.

"This is Worth Fighting For"—Mrs. Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Ransom.

Reading, "Just Before Christmas"—Mrs. Fred Hamilton.

Reading, "We Rediscovered Christ," Mrs. McCormick.

Following this splendid program came a happy exchange of Christmas gifts. Everyone seemed to think the day a good one.

Those present were Mesdames Mary Scott Moore, John Boyer, Ernest Dance, Fred Hamilton, Ira Harris, Jim Lamm, W. B. McCormick, J. J. Myers, G. C. Ransom, W. T. Renaker, J. T. Roberts, Raymond Stephenson, Gilbert Stewart, Jesse Wilson, Charles Vest, W. W. Hon, Clifford and James Raymond Stephenson, Edward Lynn Dance, Betty Lou and Jimmy Boyers, and Relda Powers.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The December meeting of the Bullittsville Homemakers will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Marshall on Thursday, Dec. 17th.

The business session will be held in the morning and the program and Christmas party with the exchanging of gifts will be in the afternoon. The lesson for the month which will be given by the project leaders, Mrs. Albert Willis and Mrs. Huey Aylor, will be "Interesting and Delightful Menus from Canned and Stored Products."

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

THE GOLD STAR

There's a star shining, in my window tonight,
It stands for all things, good and right,
It stands for my boy, who went away
To return again, some happier day.
And now they say he has crossed the bar
And my heart cries out to that little Gold Star
To give his brave, courageous soul rest,
For to his mother, he was the best.
And I know he sleeps, a peaceful sleep,
For he's buried alone, out in the deep;
No more does he hear the bugler's call
No more he answers for roll call,
Yet mother understands; she knows
Why he died, and why the wind blows
Over her only son's watery grave,
He has only his life, but that he gave.
Yet the little Gold Star still sways in the breeze
His empty cot, his mother who grieves
For her boy, and though great was the cost
The cause for which he died, is not lost;
His home and his people will continue to be free,
And that means an awfully lot to me;
So sleep well, my son, wherever you are
You will always be mother's little Gold Star.

Pfc. Willard "Bud" Barnes, of Bayonne, New Jersey, returned to camp Friday morning, after a 10-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Barnes and other relatives of Boone County.

This was Bud's second furlough within the 23 months of service in Uncle Sam's army.

He states that army life is fine and that he is enjoying the best of health. He wishes to extend a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all his Boone County friends.

In a letter from Pvt. Robert C. Ryle of Boca Raton Field, Fla., he states that he has been receiving The Recorder weekly and expresses his sincere thanks for the paper. He stated that when he receives his paper he seems to be back in civilization again, instead of being in the everglades. He said, "I think I speak for every Boone County soldier, when I say that a letter from home and The Boone County Recorder makes us all very happy."

He recently finished Radio Technicians training at Madison, Wis., and has been transferred to Boca Raton Field.

The Recorder received a letter this week from Pfc. Freddie Highhouse, who is stationed in Alaska. In the letter Freddie states that he has gained forty pounds and that the food is far above that received in army camps in the States.

He was inducted into the Armed Forces, Nov. 13, 1941, and received his basic training at Ft. Bragg, N. C. Upon completion of a nine-week training course he was sent to Alaska.

Freddie states that he receives The Recorder each week and enjoys the news from home very much.

His address is: Pfc. Freddie O. Highhouse, 35131982, Btry B. 165, F. A. Bn., APO 839, Seattle, Washington.

A SAILOR

You can have your army khaki,
You can have your Marine green,
But there's still another fighter
On every battle scene.

His uniform is different,
The best that's ever been worn;
The Japs call him "Sleepy boy,"
For which our revenge we've sworn.

He is trained at Sampson,
The land that God forgot,
Where the mud is nine feet deep,
And the sun is ever hot.

He has set many a table,
And many dishes he's fried;
He also learned to make a bed,
And a broom to smoothly ride.

Peeled a million onions,
And twice as many spuds,
And spends his leisure time,
Washing up his duds.

Now girls take a little tip,
I'm sending it to you,
Just find yourself a sailor,
There's nothing he can't do.

And when he goes to Heaven,
To St. Peter he will yell
A good Sailor reporting sir,
I've served my time in hell.

A Sailor from U. S. N. T. S.

OBITUARY

Frank Bauers, life-long resident of Florence passed away at his home on Dixie Highway, Monday morning, Dec. 7th. He had lived his entire life in the town of Florence and attended the old Florence school, which is now the Town Hall. He was taught by Professor Lloyd, father of John Uri Lloyd, noted chemist and author.

He was a highly respected citizen and neighbor. Honest, kind and charitable to all. To know Frank, was only to love and respect him.

The entire community was saddened by his passing.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Bauers; two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Brown of Pt. Pleasant and Mrs. Omer Macrander, of Florence; a nephew Franklin Brown and three nieces; Sister M. Jerome, O. S. B. teacher at Holy Cross school, Latonia; Mrs. Catherine Bauers Glenn and Mrs. Mary Bauers Nusbaum, of Florence.

Services were held at the residence in Florence, with Rev. Edw. Carlin officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

—Written by one who loved and respected him.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Beware of the "Ides of March," for on March 15 Americans the nation over will step to the counter to pay Uncle Sam the income tax due him and now so necessary to carry on the war.

The good old American custom of scrimping around for a month or so before income tax payment time, and then living as usual the rest of the year won't work this time for most Americans, for their payments will be too large. A few years ago the average middle class citizen paid only $25 to $30 Federal income tax, but next March 15 he will pay from 5 to 10 times that amount. Unless we save as we earn and put aside some tax money out of each pay check the dawn of March 15, 1943 will look cold and dark to us.

For example, a married couple with no children whose annual income is $2000 would get $38.46 per week. Now out of this they should save $2.69 per week to meet their Federal tax bill. This would leave them $35.77 to spend for usual things. You can see it would not be so difficult to save $2.69 each week, but many married couples, earning only $2000 a year might find it difficult to get together $139.88 on one date to pay the taxes. If you are married with no children and make $3000 per year you should save $6.23 out of each week's check for income taxes. Now if you make as high as $5000 per year you should save $14.35 per week.

It is not difficult to figure out what you should put aside each week to meet these taxes but actually setting aside the money each week will call for some real will power for many of us. There is an old saying that two things are certain "death and taxes" and for most of us taxes will come before death, so we had better save now so we can pay this obligation promptly. And we must remember there will be a tax on our 1943 income also. If many Americans the income tax will get them if they don't save up for it. Now is the best time to set up an income tax figure in our weekly budgets.

Leonard Burt of Metcalfe county made a profit of $160 on ten Duroc pigs which weighed 1,950 pounds at 165 days.

RESTRICTION ON SLAUGHTER OF LIVESTOCK

For the past ten days many slaughterers and processors of livestock have been restricted in their kill. This, according to R. Q. Smith, Manager of the Cincinnati Producers, is due to orders out of Washington restricting slaughter for local consumption. This restricted local kill of livestock is to assure a larger volume of meat and meat products for our boys in the Armed Forces and for lend-lease purposes.

Government purchases of meat, Mr. Smith states, are made only from processors having Federal inspection. This comes under the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Many local plants do not have such inspection. A number have inspection under City regulation but same is not acceptable for Government orders of meat.

Requirements for this quarter, including October, November, and December are based on last year's kill. In case of cattle the slaughter for local consumption can be but sonable and adequate killing facilfor same period. With hogs this is seventy-five (75) per cent. Some killers have reached their quota, others are on a restricted kill until the end of the year. Producers in the Cincinnati market area have not been affected in lower values as much as some other markets. There is some lessening of kill of cattle by a few plants and a little with hogs. However, with the large number of killers and processors at Cincinnati, the results have not been very serious.

The Government representatives advise local plants applying for Federal inspection. They state that more than sixty have recently received inspection. After receiving inspection such plants are in a position to secure Government orders for meat. Apparently there is no limitation now on getting these orders. The quantity and needs are increasing. Nearly half of our pork and pork products will be used for the Armed Forces and lend-lease in 1943. This is causing restrictions for civilian use. Livestock producers are making available for all uses the largest volume and tonnage of beef and pork ever produced. This is in face of severe labor shortage, lack of new machinery and other drastic handicaps, as all other business are confronted with in war time said Mr. Smith.

We are assured that everything possible is being done to keep this movement for slaughter as regular as possible in face of necessary precautions. Your Producer agency is aiding stockmen to market their livestock and assisting to get plans carried out so as to provide reasonable an dadequate killing facilities.

FARM RETURNS UP IN TWO COUNTIES

Average net earnings of $4,112 per farm last year was discovered by economists of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics when they delved into the accounts of 77 farmers in Union and Henderson counties.

This was the net profit left to the owner where he operated the farm, or to be divided between owner and tenant, after all expenses were paid and 5 percent interest allowed on the investment. It included, however, several hundred dollars worth of home-produced foods.

Net earnings ranged from $741 to $11,820. The latter figure was turned in by a tenant who operated on a large scale. Good crop yields, high livestock production and favorable prices made these earnings possible, the economists said.

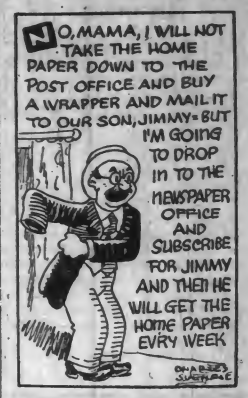
Hogs and beef cattle furnished the major parts of the income of these 77 farmers. More than a third of their incomes was from hogs. Beef cattle furnished 16 percent of the incomes; wheat 10 percent; seed crops, 4 percent, and corn and dairy cattle, 3 percent each. The other 29 percent came mostly from increases in inventories, custom machine work done, and government payments.

Feeds bought made up 22 percent of the total expenses on these Union and Henderson county farms. Hired help cost 15 percent and machinery and equipment 13 percent of the total expense.

Other areas in Kentucky are said to have had unusually high incomes last year, but the increase was not so pronounced in most instances.

COLLEGE SETS UP PROGRAM TO CHECK FARM FIRE LOSSES

Through community and neighborhood organizations, county and home demonstration agents and other agricultural extension forces the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics is taking an active part in the nationwide fire prevention program. Forty thousand men and women neighborhood leaders, who have been helping the college in all its war efforts, now are serving in the program to reduce the number of fires on farms and in towns and villages.



Assistance also being given by homemakers' clubs, 4-H clubs, Utopia clubs and other organizations of farm people. The plan includes taking information on fire prevention to every farm home and every family in country towns and villages in the state.

Carl W. Jones, who is in charge of the college's older farm youth program, is directing the program to prevent farm fires.

Farm fires numbering 1.754 were reported to the Kentucky State Fire Warden last year. On them insurance was paid totaling $1,136,000. Many fires were not reported, and much property burned that was not insured. For the state as a whole, $3,429,728 was collected in insurance on fire losse during 1941.

Carelessness in the use of matches and in smoking was listed as the greatest cause of fires last year, the number from this source being 647. Defective chimneys caused 618 fires; lightning, 442 fires; electricity, 463 fires, and sparks on roofs, 284 fires.

The college's program includes forest fires, of which there are a great number in the state every year. Many of these fires could be prevented and most of them could be controlled before much damage was done.

Unselfish Leadership—The Need of the Hour

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

President, Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

(Editor's Note: Dr. George S. Benson is the president of Harding College of Searcy, Arkansas, a co-educational institution noted for having no unemployed graduates. Dr. Benson found himself catapulted into the headlines in 1941 when he appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee, and Senate Finance Committee, and offered a concrete plan for cutting non-defense expenditures by two billion dollars. Self-reliant Harding College students recently hit the headlines when they asked the National Youth Administration to accept the return of funds allotted to them, requesting that the sum be invested in "tools for MacArthur's men.")

Should the United Nations, America and her allies, fail to fight off their enemies in the fiercest and most merciless of all wars; should the armies of conquest achieve their aim and enslave the world, it will not be because Axis soldiers are braver or more skillful (for they are not) nor yet because they are more numerous. Only one thing can cause such a dire calamity—selfishness.

Two Defeats

Unselfish patriotism could win this war with surprising promptness. It is also able to preserve the United States, completely whole and good as ever, after the war is over. But opportunism still has two chances to scuttle the Ship of State. (a) Too many people selfishly seeking their own private advantage can hamper America's war effort enough to bring defeat. (b) The same thing can snuff out democracy after the war, even after victory in battle.

It is my sincere belief that the most crying need of this crucial hour is unselfish leadership; for government, for industry, for labor, and for agriculture. Be it observed that I said "leadership" for it is also my sincere opinion that an overwhelming majority of office holders, farmers, laborers and industrialists are basically unselfish, willing and anxious to make sacrifices for victory, and on behalf of the governmental system under which they have enjoyed the finest living conditions ever made possible to any segment of mankind. Yes, the great masses of our people are Americans first.

Since wealth is measured by the amount of useful goods it produces, every important nation of the world is currently getting poorer. The war is taking wealth in the form of automobile factories which formerly produced useful things and converting that wealth to the production of airplanes and tanks which are not useful to individual citizens in peacetime. While national wealth thus shrinks before our eyes, no man should expect his personal wealth to grow in value.

War Destroys Top Soil

A cotton farmer's land is wealth because it grows a useful crop which can be sold at a good price. If the top soil were removed from the farmer's land so that it would raise only weeds, his wealth would be destroyed. Just so, war is bringing destruction to wealth normally used in creative activities; is making every one of us poorer. This is inevitable in war. The sooner we realize this fact, decide to bear our burdens cheerfully, and to give our maximum service, the sooner this tidal wave can be turned back and the sooner victory may appear on the horizon.

Should American citizens be selfish enough to say, by word or deed, —"Hitler isn't so bad. We do not care to help him, but we won't help very energetically to defeat him either, unless we get more than we ever got before,"—then victory will not be achieved.

Should government officials play politics; should organizations with war contracts insist upon huge salary bonuses; should well paid workers in war factories refuse the President's wage freezing plan; should farmers who toil from dawn to dusk fail to do their best, regardless of parity, then morale will be shattered and rancorous factionalism increased.

What Won in 1776?

Was the American Revolutionary War won by politicians who thought only of remaining in office? Was it won by those who fought hardest for big profits?

No. Big profits, high wages, high farm prices did not win the American Revolutionary War. Neither will they win this war. It was the Valley Forge spirit of sacrifice which made that victory possible and laid the foundation for today's freedom and prosperity.

Unselfishness and wholehearted cooperation for the cause of freedom and democracy will win this war and stop the destruction of our wealth.

Since Jesus trudged the primitive highways of Asia Minor, doing good, this world has heard of no completely unselfish life. But there have been many memorable examples of devotion to human progress and freedom. If this war against the Axis powers is to be won and democracy saved we must immediately have unselfish leadership at the helm in every department of civilian life.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Fritz Feld, who has a comedy role in 20th Century-Fox's musical hit, "Iceland" has just about completed the roster of "roles around the world."

In "Iceland," a torrid story about America's outpost in the frigid zone Fritz for the first time becomes an Icelander. Since he has portrayed in other pictures, a Swede, a Dane, a Norwegian and a Finn, he has completed the Sandinavian cycle. Also, he has played the roles of twenty-nine other nationals in various films during the past fifteen years. And he believes he has a world's record in portrayals of different nationalities!

"Iceland," staring Sonja Henie and John Payne, with Jack Oakie and Sammy Kaye and his Orchestra heading an excellent supporting cast comes to Gayety.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Bonita Granville is a child actress no more.

She plays the first adult role of her highly successful screen career in Washiel Hammett's mystery-romance, "The Glass Key."

Bonita keeps good company in her graduation from a fledgling.

Stars Brian Donlevy, Veronica Lake and Alan Ladd head the cast of this Paramount thriller. Bonita does more than hold her own. She has one of the most dramatic parts in the picture, playing Donlevy's sister who gets involved with a playboy.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Earthquakes came to be old stuff to Rosalind Russell and Janet Blair by the time they finished work at Columbia in the movie version of "My Sister Eileen," uproarious new comedy with Brian Aherne also starred.

The explanation is that the basement apartment set, in which the action of the sensational stage play took place, was built at the studio entirely on rockers. Every time the dynamite blast was set off as called for in the script, workers began jerking levers and the walls, floor and even the actors bounced and jumped as if a real earthquake had hit the place.

Director Alexander Hall had the set put on rockers for the sake of realism, and to get as many laughs as possible from the dynamite sequences. But the Misses Russell and Blair became so black and blue from bumping into dancing chairs and table they hired a masseuse for the duration of the film.

Why Be Old At 40?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedeviled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is really no end of the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of the body.

What can you do about it?

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided, "There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to arise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngster of eighteen. You will not be old at forty. There is no secret to it. You do not have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simplest things in life bring the greatest joy.

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery, aches and pains due to foot comfort.—Adv.

REPORT BIG RETURN FROM 22-ACRE FARM

Live-at-home records gathered by County Agent Clay A. Colson in Estill county include the 22-acre farm of Mrs. Cal Abney. Thirty kinds of vegetables were grown and 377 quarts of fruits and vegetables canned for home use. Milk and butter sold this year brought $106.85, and alfalfa hay $280.10. Large amounts of phosphate and limestone were used, and five acres made more productive by installing a drainage system. Hybrid corn increased the production of home feed.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Nell Kottmyer for their December meeting. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Alice Kenyon, with singing of "America" and salute to the flag. There were fourteen members, two visitors and Mrs. S. Moore, the Home Demonstration Agent present.

Due to the fact that the two foods leaders were unable to attend the meeting at Burlington, Mrs. Moore gave the lesson on foods. She stressed that we plan our meals and eat the foods canned at home.

At noon a lovely Xmas dinner was served by the lunch committee and the hostess.

The afternoon was taken up by the annual Xmas party, consisting of games and exchange of gifts.

We want to thank our hostess for a lovely day. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lena Fritz.

KENTUCKY SHEEP GRAND CHAMPIONS OF CHICAGO SHOW

Once again the University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station captured the high prizes at the annual international livestock show in Chicago. This year the Station's winnings included the grand champion single lamb and the grand champion pen, all breeds competing. Kentucky-bred Southdowns won these top places.

The Experiment Station sent only 16 sheep to the Chicago show. Its Southdowns won the two grand championships, also the championships on both single wether lambs and pens of lambs, and placed first, third, fourth and eighth on single lambs, and first, sixth and seventh on pens of Southdowns.

The Experiment Station also had the champion Cheviot wether lamb and first and second-prize lambs.

Prizes which the Experiment Station won on Hampshires included third on pens and fifth, seventh, eighth and 12th on single wether lambs.

All the sheep were fitted by Harold Barber, veteran Experiment Station shepherd and showman.

HOMEMAKERS EQUIP MEDICINE CABINETS

With a threatened shortage of doctors and nurses due to the war, members of homemakers' clubs in Calloway county are equipping cabinets with approved medicines and supplies to meet emergencies. To share the joy and happiness of that precious hour.
If they are not permitted to be with us on that day,
We will wait to have Xmas with you, is what we all will say;
So sons don't be downhearted, hold your chins up high,
We're going to celebrate Xmas together, sometime bye and bye.

COUNTY WINNER HAD 11 NEW VEGETABLES

Eleven new vegetables were among the 29 varieties grown by Mrs. Jim Lee, winner of the canning and storage contest in Carroll county. She canned 564 quarts of fruits and vegetables for her family of three and stored 11 different kinds, with six still in the garden. Katherine Russell, home agent, reports that quite generally there is a greater use of vegetables, milk and enriched bread.

About 1,300,000 women are members of AFL unions, and 1,500,000 belong to CIO unions. The Railroad Brotherhoods also have women members.

MACHINERY TO HELP FARM LABOR PROBLEM

Greater use of machinery is suggested by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics as one way to solve the farm labor problem. The suggestion does not mean to buy more machinery, but to make better use of machinery already on farms.

Most of the 12,000 tractors on Kentucky farms are not used as much as they should be, says the College's statement. The same might be said of combines, corn pickers, balers, ensilage cutters and other machinery. Some farm tractors are used less than 10 days in the year. Other farm tractors are used 100 days or more per year.

It may be necessary, says the College, for farmers to work out plans whereby machinery may be exchanged, lent or hired. In this way a farmer owning a tractor may do the plowing for several farmers. Balers, ensilage cutters and combines may be used for whole neighborhoods.

Where new machinery is purchased, it might be wise for several farmers to cooperate, thereby dividing cost and increasing the use of the machines.

Moreover, says the College's statement, it might be advisable to extend priority of purchase of new machinery to a few men who are particularly capable of handling farm machinery on a custom basis, by having these purchasers agree to do a minimum amount of custom work.

WOMEN COOPERATE IN CHEESE MAKING

A cheese making cooperative effort on the part of farm women in Trigg county is reported by Eleanor Whittinghill, county home demonstration agent. After saving surplus milk Mrs. Oscar Mitchell, Mrs. Burnett Mitchell and Mrs. Oscar Grisby joined forces and made 55 pounds of cream cheese.

A New Orleans furniture store is looking into the possibility of using mule-drawn carts to save tires on deliveries of orders.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET DESPITE RATIONING

That homemakers' clubs in Kentucky will continue to function despite gas rationing was brought out by home demonstration agents at the conference of extension workers at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The choice of centrally located meeting places will be generally practiced.

In Logan county the South Union Homemakers' Club secured permission to convert the old, unused South Union depot into a club room for its meetings. Another club rented a house in the country and fixed it up for use. Still another in the same county is making use of a nearby community building.

In Simpson county, two clubs arranged to meet at a central place for a joint program, then separated to hold the business sessions of the two groups.

Ride-sharing clubs in Henderson and Nelson counties save gasoline and provide ways for many club members to get to their meetings, while in Webster county, a number of members come by wagon and others arrive in horse and buggy style.

USES COAT MONEY

Edwina Carter, a 4-H club girl in Garrard county found a practical way of helping to win the war. Given a certain sum of money for the purchase of a winter coat, she turned over in her mind all the things that money might do to defeat the enemy. Going to the attic she found an old discarded topcoat. This she made over for her own use this winter and now Uncle Sam has another bond for victory.

By preventing purchasers of new electric motors from buying motors with more horse power than their work requires, the Government will save about 15 million pounds of copper, 55,000 tons of carbon steel, and 150,000 pounds of stainless steel annually.

Hog cholera outbreaks in Monroe county were blamed on trucks and stockyards.

KENTUCKY TO ENROLL 200,000 4-H'ERS TO UP FOOD PRODUCTION

A plan to enroll 200,000 members of 4-H clubs in war-time food production, and as an aid in the farm labor situation, is announced by Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The boys and girls will increase the size of their regular 4-H projects in food, feed and fiber, and then assist their parents in producing larger crops, more vegetables, dairy and poultry products and meat.

All 4-H club projects will be modified so as to encourage greater production, rather than products for shows and fairs. The club member that has been spending time washing, combing and training a calf to lead, now will produce more calves, more pigs, more poultry and other foods, that the fighting nations may have more to eat.

Many of the 4-H club boys, who range in age from 10 to 20, will make hands in the field, taking the place of brothers now in the armed forces. Girls will help in the garden, and in canning and storing food for the family.

"The most important task before the people of Kentucky in 1943 is to do everything within their power to help win the war," says the announcement. "The two great problems facing rural people are the production of food, feed and fiber, and finding an adequate supply of farm labor. The youth of Kentucky can do much to help solve both of these problems. Those living on farms can add materially to increasing needed production, and the rural non-farm youth can in many cases help in production. Those who are not situated so they can take a production project can provide a considerable part of the labor on the farm and in the farm home."

Census figures indicate there are 479,449 rural boys and girls of 4-H club age, 10 to 20 inclusive. Of this number 315,868 are rural farm and 163,581 are rural non-farm youth. The enlistment goal of 200,000 next year means an average of 1,666 per county.

Assisting in this gigantic 4-H club war-time project will be all county farm and home demonstration agents, 4,800 local club leaders, and several thousand neighborhood leaders. All the work will be under the direction of the 4-H Club Department of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

HOME EQUIPMENT MADE BY WOMEN

Take a wooden grape box, add shelves, top it with a cheese box, sand, then paint it to accent the kitchen color scheme. The result is a cabinet for storing cleaning or other kitchen supplies. Such an item was only one of 63 different pieces made by 18 leaders of homemakers' clubs in Madison county in their study of convenient and labor saving equipment.

The New Orleans fat salvage campaign stresses used fats by telling housewives that waste fat from a half-dozen fried soft shell crabs makes enough glycerine, processed into explosives, to fire one 37 mm. anti-tank shell.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Frank Bauers wishes to express her sincere thanks to the beloved friends of site and her husband, for their kindness and expression of sympathy during her sorrow.

$294,000 RAISED IN BOND DRIVE

NECESSARY TO SELL $196,000 MORE BONDS TO REACH OUR QUOTA OF $490,000—DRIVE WILL CLOSE DECEMBER 23RD.

Total amount of bonds sold in Boone County in the Victory Drive up to last Saturday night is $294,000.00. We will have to sell $196,000.00 between now and the close of this month in order to reach our quota of $490,000.00.

After December 23rd no further subscriptions can be made to the 2½ percent of 1963-68, the 1¾ or the seven-eighths percent bonds, but the drive continues on the Series E, F and G until the close of the month, which will count on our County quota.

Some precincts in the county have exceeded their quota, while others are having a difficult time in raising theirs. A lot of hard work will be necessary if we are to reach our goal.

Precinct chairmen are requested to put forth every effort this week to close the gap between our sales and our quota.

Don't wait for a solicitor to call on you. Go to your bank and make your subscription.

What will the final report be?

Auto License Stickers On Sale At Clerk's Office

Sale of "stickers' 'which will replace auto license tags for 1943 in Kentucky started Monday of this week, according to C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk.

Automobile owners will be required to use their old 1942 rear tag, while the sticker is to be placed on the right-hand corner of the windshield. The old front tag is to be removed and retained by the owner in the event of the loss or damage to the rear tag.

Persons applying for their 1943 stickers are urged to bring their 1942 certificate in order to speed up the work in the Clerk's office.

The same $5 license charge will be assessed for 1943 stickers.

Utopia Club Presents Christmas Program

A special Christmas program was presented by the Utopia Club in a meeting at Burlington last Thursday evening. The program included Christmas songs, reading and reports. Special rememberances were mailed to eight Utopia Club members now in military service.

The 1943 Utopia Club meetings were voted by the club to be changed from monthly to bi-monthly in order to cooperate more fully in the national transportation conservation policies. Special guest and local speakers will appear on each meeting program. The 1943 project plans are being reorganized into Victory War project work.

MANY PHASES OF PROGRAM LISTED

FOR NEIGHBORHOOD AND COMMUNITY MEETINGS SET FOR EARLY PART OF JANUARY, IS REPORT.

A series of neighborhood and community meetings will be held in all sections of Boone County during early January, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The meetings will be in two series.

Share the meat, tin can salvage, silk and nylon hosiery salvage and 4-H Victory Club enlistment will be discussed in one series. These meetings will be held in cooperation with the Home Economics Extension program and will deal with the national program of getting war information of a national scope to all families both urban and rural.

The second series will deal with community and neighborhood canning for increased agricultural production in the war effort. The county's production goals will be outlined and then the farmers will be called upon to advise on ways the local people can best serve.

The farmer will play a more and more important role in our war effort, the longer the war lasts. The farmer is a veteran in handling difficult problems. It is expected that he will be able to meet all reasonable demands in the war effort when a full understanding of the problem is secured.

RETURNS TO CAMP

Pvt. James Johnson, pictured above, returned to Camp Forrest, Tenn., after spending his furlough with his parents, Jas. H. Johnson, of Petersburg, Ky. He would like to hear from all of his friends in Boone County. His address: is Pvt. James Johnson, Jr., Bty. A., 315th F. A. Bn., APO No. 80, Camp Forrest, Tenn.

Mrs. Helms Joins Her Husband In Florida

Mrs. Margy Hodges Helms, wife of M-Sgt. Frank B. Helms, of Petersburg, left December 15th to join her husband who is attending Officers' Training School at Miami Beach, Fla. She will remain there until Sgt. Helms' graduation, which will be January 20, 1943.

Sgt. Helms recently returned from the Hawiian Islands, and enrolled in Officers' Training School October 29th, 1942.

Mrs. Helms wishes to extend her very best Christmas greeting to all of her, and her husband's good friends in Boone and adjoining counties.

Red Cross Chapter Meeting Held Wed.

Members of the Richwood Red Cross met at the home of president, Mrs. Cecil Robinson, Dec. 16th.

The meeting was called to order by the president who read a poem, "In the Land of Beginning Again," "And It's Answer." Mrs. Robinson told how she enjoys reading this poem as the old year nears its end and the joy and hope of a new year nears.

Members were very grateful to Mrs. Elmer Carpenter of Florence R. 1, for a very much needed Singer sewing machine. Work was turned out much faster—thanks to this kind friend.

The members worked on shirts at this meeting and hope to finish this project before the New Year.

Claude E. Harris

Claude E. Harris, retired general contractor, died early Sunday at his residence, 87 Thomas Street, Erlanger, following a long illness. He was 66 years old.

He was a member of the Erlanger Christian Church.

Mr. Harris is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary B. Harris; a son, Jay Harris, Memphis, Tenn., and a sister, Mrs. Maria Wadham, Bradenton, Fla.

Funeral services were conducted at the Taliaferro funeral home, Tuesday at 2:30. Burial was in Independence Cemetery.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Cordelia Craig

Mrs. Cordelia Craig, aged 78 passed away early Friday morning at the home of her son Walter Craig, 704 Dixie Highway, Erlanger, after a long illness. She had been a resident of Erlanger for 23 years. She was a member of the Elsmere Baptist Church.

Besides her son she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Dollie Bunch, Rossville, Ga., and one brother Fate Roach, Atlanta, Ga., and four grandchildren.

Following services at the Taliaferro funeral home, Saturday at 7:45 p. m., the remains were sent to Knoxville, Tenn., for burial.

Pallbearers were Ted Vastine, Chas. White, Marshall Easybuck, and Owen Hoard.

HOPE and PROMISE

LIKE all other American communities, ours has felt in full measure the impact of a year that for the most part has been filled with the desolation that is war.

Yet even such somber days cannot wholly detract from the hope that the New Year traditionally echoes. For in this new Year of 1943, as always, is born anew —the HOPE and PROMISE of the ages.

HOPE that our world will in the coming year be made a better place in which men may live and PROMISE that with free men aligned on the side of right—such HOPE cannot help but be fulfilled.

Blood has been spilled by our sons'to v eight emphasis on such HOPE and PROMISE. To those American boys who have perished in the wilds of Bataan, in the depths of the seven seas, and on the reefs of the Pacific's coral islands, must we dedicate ourselves in the coming year.

We must pledge ourselves to the cause that the loss of these heroes will surely result in humanitarian gain for the more fortunate world which now benefits from their acts. 1943 must be a constant, living fulfillment of such a pledge.

For this is why these men of ours have died: That our country and the world may face the New Year—and every day—with the everlasting HOPE and PROMISE of freedom-filled days ahead...in 1943 and until the end of time.

FARM BUREAU TO MEET DEC. 31

ORGANIZATION MEETING WILL BE HELD AT BURLINGTON, ACCORDING TO LLOYD SIEKMAN TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN.

The Boone County Farm Bureau organization meeting will be held at Burlington courthouse on Thursday afternoon, December 31st at 2 p. m., eastern war time, according to Lloyd Siekman, temporary chairman. All farmers interested in having part in an active county, state and national Farm Bureau are urged to be present.

The meeting scheduled for December 12th was postponed on account of the weather. The postponement will give more farmers an opportunity to sign up with their local committeeman or at the meeting. Farmers need a strong organization more today than ever before. Every farmer is urged to secure membership in the new Farm Bureau organization.

Don't Forget To Buy Christmas Seals

Have you forgotten to buy Tuberculosis Christmas Seals? If you have, it is not too late. All school children have them to sell. Have you sent R. V. Lents, County Chairman of the sale the dollar for the seals he sent you by mail? If you have forgotten to do this, do it now.

Mr. Lents said, "The County's part of the proceeds will be 65 per cent of the sale if $410 is reached." Help to reach the goal.

Heavy Snow Falls Saturday Afternoon

The heaviest snow of the winter fell in this section of the state Saturday afternoon. Depth of the snow was estimated at 8 inches. Sunday night was registered as our coldest night, when the mercury ducked to four below zero.

Roads throughout the county were very slippery and travel was considerably reduced due to the hazardous condition of highways.

SUPERVISORS HOLD MEETING

TO OUTLINE 1943 SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM—MANY MEASURES RECOMMENDED FOR 1943.

The supervisors of the Boone County Soil Conservation District met at Burlington Thursday to outline their 1943 soil conservation program.

The supervisors, assisted by Mr. H. R. Forkner, County Agent, outlined a program whereby more farmers would be reached with simple conservation practices during the coming year.

The conservation measures recommended were, the proper selection of land to cultivate, contour cultivation, liming, phosphating, conservating and use of manure and tobacco stalks, proper grassland seeding mixtures, winter cover crops, pasture management and improvement, diversion terraces, and stock water development.

RECORDER WILL NOT BE ISSUED NEXT WEEK

According to the custom of this paper for many years, the Recorder will not be issued next week, as our office force will receive a week's vacation.

Correspondents are requested to hold their news until the first issue in January which will be January 7th. All news should reach our office not later than Tuesday afternoon to insure publication.

This week our paper goes to press one day earlier due to Christmas falling on Friday, which will insure our many patrons extending greetings to their friends and customers that the paper will arrive at all homes before Christmas Day.

We join our many advertisers in this issue in extending best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

TRIAL RESULTS IN HUNG JURY

FRIDAY IN COMMONWEALTH VS. IRA DIXON—COURT IN SESSION WEDNESDAY OF THIS WEEK.

The trial of Ira Dixon, charged with contributing to delinquency of a minor child, resulted in a hung jury Friday in Boone Circuit Court. Dixon was placed under $1000 bond following his arrest.

Kenneth Rucks, registering his address as Rosedale, Ind., was sentenced to two years in the state reformatory on a charge of issuing a cold check. His sentence was probated, according to officials of the court.

Judge Yager adjourned court Friday of last week and were in session Wednesday of this week. It is believed that all business of the December term will be completed Wednesday.

The December session has been very brief being in session only three days, with few cases being heard.

Frankfort Man Fined $100 And Costs Saturday

William League, Frankfort, was fined $100.00 and costs Saturday afternoon in Judge Cropper's court charged with wreckless driving. League was arrested at Florence Saturday afternoon by Sergeant Melvin Huff and Patrolman Astor B. Kinman.

Deferment Of Farmers Left To Draft Boards

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Keen Johnson was informed last week by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service system, that deferment of farm workers from military service would be left to the discretion of the local boards.

Gov. Johnson had sought the ruling in view of the critical farm labor shortage in Kentucky and other states where farms are comparatively small.

Gen. Hershey explained in a letter that deferment of Army draft for farm workers would be determined on the basis of what they produced in 1942 and that boards might grant such workers a maximum of six months in which to increase their production of crops needed for the war.

Union Boy Suffers Broken Leg Saturday

Raymond Doane, Union, suffered a broken leg Saturday night when he fell from a truck while loading tobacco. He suffered a broken leg three years ago when hit by an automobile.

FARM MACHINERY BEING RELEASED

UNDER RATIONING PROGRAM—FARMERS NEEDING NEW FARM EQUIPMENT MUST APPLY FOR PURCHASE CERTIFICATE.

Farm machinery in the hands of dealers that has been frozen since November 1st is being released under a rationing program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Farmers desiring to purchase machinery must first locate it in the hands of the dealer and then apply for a purchase certificate from the County Machinery Rationing Committee.

Machinery stocks in the hands of manufacturers and wholesale dealers remains frozen for the present. Indications are that this machinery may be rationed later on a county quota basis.

Farmers who have located the farm equipment they wish to purchase, in order to increase production in 1943, should file an application at the county office in Burlington. The machinery committee composed of Mark Cook, C. L. Hempfling and Will Smith meets on the first and third Thursday in the county office in Burlington at 2:45 p. m. Eastern War Time each month. John E. Crigler is secretary of the committee.

Hebron And New Haven Five Winners In County Basketball Games Fri.

Hebron trounced the Florence Knights Friday night, on the Florence floor by a score of 39-24. Bill Getker continued his one-man scoring spree, dropping in 15 points against Florence. Caudill matched his tally for the Florence Knights.

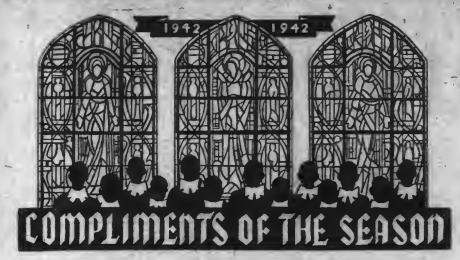
New Haven chalked up one in the win column Friday night when the trounced Burlington 40 to 31. New Haven took the lead in the first quarter 7-5 and maintained a safe lead throughout the game. Ryan was high point man for the winners with 21, while Jarrell collected 15 for the losers.

In a reserve game New Haven emerged with a 25-6 victory over Burlington reserves.

Tuesday night of last week, Walton's Bearcats turned back the Erlanger Lloyd team by a count of 41-30. Demoisey led the attack for Walton with 20 of his teams 41 points, while Wilmhoff, Schuchart, White and Perkins divided 28 of the losers' tallies evenly between them.

The Florence Knights were nosed out Tuesday night of last week by the Beechwood team 46-42 on the Beechwood floor. This game was hard fought throughout, and Beechwood's ability to hit the basket on free throws resulted in their victory. Caudill, Florence forward collected 19 points for the losers, with high point honors, while Beall of Beechwood collected 13 for the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Benson and family, Sunday.



HEMP YIELDS UNUSUALLY LOW

DUE TO HEAVY LOSS INCURED BETWEEN CUTTING AND THRESHING TIME — REPORTS 9251 POUNDS OF SEED.

Boone County hemp growers have secured unusually low yields of hemp seed in 1942, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The low yields were due to heavy loss incured between cutting and threshing time. The high wind during this period blew the shocks down and the continued heavy rains damaged the seed.

John E. Crigler, secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association reports that seven farmers who grew 38 acres for seed have turned in to the Commodity Credit Corporation 9251 pounds of seed. This makes an average yield of only 5.4 bushels per acre for which the grower received this year $8.00 per bushel or an average return of $43.20 per acre.

The growers as a whole are not discouraged with their misfortune this year. They feel that they have contributed something to the war effort and most of them are willing to give the crop a try again next year. The gross return however this year, was lower than they would have received on the same acreage of corn.

A Week of The War

Washington—An estimated 660,000 essential war workers in the Detriot area have been held at their jobs by an agreement announced by Montague A. Clerk, Michigan Director of the War Manpower Commission. The agreement—intended to prevent labor pirating and dislocations caused by shifting of workers to higher paying jobs—lists 34 categories in which employees may not leave their jobs without specific government authorization. President Roosevelt's executive order setting up the new War Manpower Commission under the chairmanship of Paul V. McNutt had provided that, when the effective prosecution of the war required it, all war workers be hired, rehired and recruited through the U. S. Employment Service, and had prohibited employers from retaining workers more urgently needed in a more essential occupation. Mr. McNutt said the new program embraces the allocation of manpower to the armed forces, war industries, agriculture, and other essential civilian activities, the efficient use of labor for war industries, the mobilization of the country's labor reserves, the transfer of workers from less essential activities to more essential activities, and the providing of labor needed for essential agriculture. He announced the establishment of a Bureau of Selective Service—to include the Selective Service System and to be headed by Selective Service Director Hershey—within the new WMC, and said that by the end of 1943 one out of every five men in the civilian labor force, instead of one out of every nine, as now, would be in the armed services.

The WMC and the Selective Service System are helping the country's war plants draw up Manning table forms to enable the employer to plan for his future labor need and give the Government information upon which to base the orderly withdrawal of workers who must be released to the armed services. Secretary of Labor Perkins reported 3,200,000 women employed as factor wage earners in mid-October, as compared with 2,700,000 in October, 1941, and said that in the same period total factory wage workers increased from 11,400,000 to 12,700,000. Under Secretary of War Patterson said the average work week should be raised in all wage and non-war industries from the present average of 42.8 hours to an overall average of 48 hours.

Agriculture

An executive order of December 7 gave full control over the nation's food program to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard. Mr. Wickard is to control all phases of the food program—requirements, production, distribution, priorities and allocations, purchases and procurement. To permit effective use of these control, the order provided for the procurement from WPB of farm machinery, supplies and equipment necessary to carry out the program, the power to order civilian rationing of foods through OPA, the determination of policies and procedures for the feeding of people in foreign countries, the issuance of directives relating to the importation of food, and the issuance of priority schedules for domestic transportation of food.

The functions, personnel, and property of certain agricultural bureaus and divisions concerned primarily with the production of food will be consolidated into a food production administration, with Herbert W. Parisius, Associate Director of the Office of Agricultural War Relations, as director, and the functions, personnel, and property of certain agricultural bureaus concerned primary with the distribution of food will be consolidated into a food distribution administration, with Roy Hendrickson, present AMA administration as director.

Secretary Wickard said prospects are good for meeting 1943 food requirements, but in order to meet those requirements, the U. S. must use fully and economically its production facilities and distribution system and exert economy in the consumption of foods. Some foods may be scarce, he said, but "no one will need to go hungry." The executive order will enable the Agriculture Department to set up a national "assembly line" in the production and distribution of food vitally needed to win the war and the peace.

Lend-Lease deliveries of American food stuffs for shipment to other United Nations, as reported by the Department, increased 93,000,000 pounds during October, bringing the month's deliveries to 645,000,000 pounds and the total since the program was started to nearly 8,000,000,000 pounds. The AMA delivery report showed increased deliveries of eggs, dairy products, meats, grains, and other products.

The War Front

President Roosevelt told Congress that American forces overseas will number more than 1,000,000 by the end of this month, and said "the Axis powers have, temporarily at least, lost the initiative." The OWI reported that from December 7, 1941, to December 7, 1942, the U. S. armed forces suffered 58,307 casualties—37,678 in the army and 22,629 in the Navy. Maj. Gen. A. A. Vendergrift, Marine Commander, stated that in the 4-months campaign on Guadalcanal, 7,000 Japanese troops have been killed, and 450 Japanese planes destroyed, with enemy losses exceeding U. S. losses by 10 to 1. During the first year of war (December 7 to December 7), U. S. communiques have announced the sinking in the Pacific and far East of 306 Japanese ships and 85 U. S. ships.

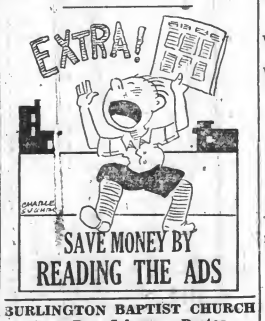
The Navy announced the 22,000 ton U. S. President Coolidge, transporting approximately 4,000 army troops, struck a mine in the South Pacific and sank with a loss of only four men, and also reported the loss through enemy action of the USS Alchiba, an auxiliary cargo ship.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced the complete occupation of the Gona area in New Guinea with allied forces advancing against the remaining Japanese forces in the Buna-Sanananda area. According to communiques, at last 95 Japanese have been killed and 4 captured in attempts to escape from their surrounded positions. On December 6 and 7, U. S. planes destroyed 21 Japanese aircraft, 18 of them in the Buna-Gona area.

Lt. Gen. Harry H. Arnold, commanding General of the Army Air Forces, said that in the air struggle over Tunisia, American planes and personnel are for the first time in this war going up against first class air power, engaging the best planes the Germans possess. If the U. S. can continue to destroy the enemy plane for plane, we will come out ahead, he stated, as U. S. production is at least twice that of the Axis.

Production

WPB Chairman Nelson described October arms output as "disappointing" as it was only 3 per cent over September, the smallest monthly increase this year. He gave the October box score for major categories of war production, airplanes were down 5 per cent, mainly due to special factors affecting deliveries, merchant vessels were down 10 per cent, but still ahead of schedule, ordnance was up 3 per cent, army and Navy vessels were up 4 per cent, other munitions were up 9 per cent, and machine tools were up 8.3 per cent—a new high for machine tool production.



Because of the conflicting essentiality of many phases of the war production program, said President Roosevelt, the final decision as to what is most needed remains with the Army and Navy.

Lend-Lease

In the three months ended December 11, Lend-Lease assistance to the nation's allies totaled $2,367,000,000, the President told Congress. This represents an increase of more than one-third over the previous quarter and more than four times the lend-lease total for the quarter immediately preceding Pearl Harbor.

Civilian Supply

Civilian goods will diminish steadily in 1943, and every effort must be made to insure continued production of civilian supplies thru the concentration of output in a few plans, said Joseph L. Weiner, new Director of the Office of Civilian Supply.

A new Permanent . . . or a becoming Feather Bob can make your Christmas a merry one.

DYNAMIC CHRISTIAN LIVING

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12:1-3, 9-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.—Romans 12:21.

Dynamic—there is a word with an attraction for both young and old. It speaks of power, but not just brute force. There is personality with its winsomeness, challenge, accomplishment, all around attractiveness and usefulness as the essential element of this kind of power.

It may surprise some of us to hear that this is the kind of life every Christian may, and ought, to live, by the grace of God. Not that each one will have the gifts of leadership, or the personal qualifications which mark some for places of public service, but that each may have divine power working in and through his life.

Such a life can be lived only as God's power is able to flow through a surrendered life. This must begin in the individual, and in the depth of his own heart. Then it will appear in his relationship to his brethren in the church, and ultimately in his life in the world.

I. In the Heart (vv. 1-3).

It is only the believer who is ready to serve God. The unregenerate man needs cleansing, not consecration. Having that, he is ready for the transforming work of God which will bring him out into a place of freedom and spiritual strength. Notice that this is brought about by an act of the will. We are to present ourselves as a living sacrifice. That is our part, God will respond in blessing.

Conformity to this world (v. 2) is the blight on the church and on the individual believer which so hampers the work of Christ in the world today. The worldly Christian is an anomaly.

The call then is for non-conformity to the world and surrender to the transforming grace of God. Then there will be both true humility (v. 3) and full confidence in God's power.

II. In the Church (vv. 9-16).

The dynamic living of the Christian is not something to be paraded before the world, a thing of which we may be proud. It begins, as we have seen, in the heart, and then gives itself in gracious, affectionate, earnest living within other believers.

Here we note that being dynamic does not mean only being a "live wire." It may express itself in quietness which is graciously powerful; in goodness which overcomes evil; in love which weeps with the sorrowing; or in humility which is willing to touch the lowly.

These verses are full to overflowing with the kind of instruction which, if heeded, would make the fellowship of the church well nigh heavenly. For example, "in honor preferring one another" would put an end to church "fights"—blessed thought! If all were "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord" there would be no problem about getting the work of the church and Sunday school done, and done well.

If Christians were "patient in tribulation," would continue "instant in prayer," and rejoice "in hope," we would at once be free from complainers, and weak or unhappy church members.

We could go on, but the teaching of the Word is so plain that what we need to do is to practice it.

III. In the World (vv. 17-21).

"Take thought," that is, plan to have "things honest in the sight of all men." Bishop Moule's comment is particularly acute. He says the Christian "is to be nobly indifferent to the world's thought and word when he is sure that God and the world antagonize. But he is to be seriously attentive to the world's observation, were the world more or less acquainted with the Christian precept or principle, and more or less conscious of its truth and right, is watching, maliciously, or it may be wistfully, to see if it governs the Christian practice."

How then does the Christian behave toward the world? He does not return evil for evil. How often Christians have failed at that point, becoming involved in a "blow for blow" conflict with some worldly man or institution. How much better to "live peaceably with all men" as far as it is possible to do so.

The Christian is not to seek revenge. The injustice suffered may be confidently left in the hand of God. He will make it right in due season and in His own way. He will judge righteously, where we might be prejudiced. We might be too severe; He will be fair. The way to deal with such situations is by the "coals of fire" method (v. 20). It really works. We ought to use it more frequently.

Verse 21 sums up the whole matter. Instead of letting the evil of this world get the best of him, the Christian will "overcome evil with good." It seems just now that such a plan does not work, that evil has taken the upper hand, but let us wait a bit. The final accounting has not yet been made.

Christmas Greetings

TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

IN times like these, friendliness and neighborliness take on a new and deeper meaning. We are all drawn closer together and we realize anew that cordial and mutually helpful relations with our fellow men have a value far above material things.

It is with this thought in mind that we extend our thanks to you, not only for your patronage but for the friendship and courtesy you have shown us. We have enjoyed the privilege of serving you and we hope we have done it well.

Our warmest best wishes go out to you and yours this Christmas season and in our hearts is the hope we know finds an echo in yours—that 1943 will be the year of final victory and that "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" will again be restored to the world.

Why Suffer With Your Feet?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Our years of research have proven that foot comfort depends on foot balance.

For years men have been guessing about foot balance, putting steel supports under feet and elastic bands around feet, all sizes and shapes, corn pads, plasters, callous plaster, etc. Yet people continue to suffer with their feet, legs, back and with various other aches and pains, resulting from feet in numerous cases, because they have never had their body weight properly balanced on their feet with shoes.

Your feet may look regular to you, but, naturally you cannot detect weakness or have any way of testing for unbalance. But remember: "Fat on the ribs" is by no means an adequate criterion of physical well being.

Don't take chances, if you are suffering with leg pains, knee pains, stiffness, backaches or severe headaches, or sleep poorly and are always tired. Your feet may be the cause.—Adv.

WITH OUR BOYS

Among those sent from the Reception Center at Ft. Thomas, on December 14th is Stanley McMurmay, Burlington, who was sent to Camp Crowder, Missouri. He was inducted into the United States Army at the last Boone County call.

• • •

Kenyon Clore, Constance, newly inducted personnel of the United States Army has been sent forward from the Reception Center at Fort Thomas, Ky., to Fort Bragg, N. C. He will be with the Field Artillery, RTC, according to the Public Relations Officer, Ft. Thomas.

• • •

The Recorder force received a Christmas card from Pvt. Edson Maurer, who is stationed in England. We appreciate this card and extend our best wishes to Edson and all the other boys in army camps, and on battle fields thruout the world.

• • •

Pvt. Henry Lee Bell, of Camp Swift, Texas, who has been spending a few days' furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bell of near Burlington, left Sunday morning for camp. His address is Pvt. Henry Lee Bell, Co. A, 337th Engineers, Camp Swift, Texas.

• • •

Among the newly inducted personnel of the United States Army sent from the Reception Center at Fort Thomas to Camp Phillips, Salinas, Kansas is Harvey B. Hughes, of Verona. He will be a part of the 94th Infantry Division, at Camp Phillips.

A large number of hogs are being fattened on mash in Leslie county. One man bought 60 head to feed on nuts.

CARD OF THANKS

While our hearts are filled with sorrow we cannot forget the many kind acts bestowed upon us by our friends and neighbors in the great loss of our dearly beloved wife and mother,

Lucy Ann Yealey (nee Rouse)

In particular do we thank Rev. Robert Carter for his words of consolation, the friends who rendered the songs, the pallbearers for their service, the beautiful floral tributes and sympathy cards. 1c
